RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. WEISS and LOVETT. RESOLUTION No. 69.

In the House of Representatives, April 17, 1939.

Whereas, The Department of Public Assistance is requiring persons on relief to execute bonds in the sum of $5,000 conditioned upon the repayment to the Commonwealth of any moneys received by them from the Commonwealth in case they should hereafter acquire any property, or in case of death, should leave any property; and

Whereas, The requirement of such bonds works a hardship upon such persons and upon those who survive them as heirs; and

Whereas, Such practice is contrary to the spirit in which such assistance should be rendered to our unfortunate unemployed; therefore be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the Department of Public Assistance of the Commonwealth should cease such practice and should hereafter administer relief to the needy without thought of or intent to afterwards receive from them to their last penny, to the end that the Commonwealth shall not become a money lender instead of a protector of its people; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be immediately transmitted to the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance by the Chief Clerk of this House.

Referred to the Committee on Welfare.

REQUEST FOR CONSENT TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I ask the unanimous consent of the House to make a statement at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair suggests that the gentleman from McKean yield until we get further along with the business of the House.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I do not like waiting until the end of the calendar, because I have done that repeatedly, and Committee meetings and other things have prevented this statement's being made.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The attention of the Chair has been called to the fact that we have two groups of citizens, one from Schuylkill County and one from Delaware County, visiting the Legislature. It is always a great pleasure to have citizens of the Commonwealth interested in seeing the Legislature in operation, even though the operation at the moment doesn't seem to produce a great deal. However, if it would be possible for you to stay for a while you might hear some of the Demosthenes and some of the great orators of the House explaining their theories of government. There are, however, a great many other points of interest which we are sure you will wish to see. It is a pleasure to have you with us today.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1057, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2688) entitled "An act to provide for the conservation protection improvement and profitable use of agricultural land resources in the State of Pennsylvania and for cooperation with the governments and agencies of other states and of the United States pursuant to the provisions of section seven of an act of the Congress of the United States known as the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act to assent to and accept the provisions of said act to constitute and establish the Pennsylvania Agricultural Conservation and Adjustment Committee and in conformity with the provisions of said act to designate and authorize said committee as the State agency of this State in conformity with such provisions to formulate submit to the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States and administer State plans to carry out the provisions of this act to define the powers and duties of said committee as such State agency to provide for the administration of this act and making an appropriation"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend sec. 1, page 1, line 6, by striking out the words "advise, request or induce"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The second section and title were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

An Act relating to unlawful practices in the procurement of retainers for attorneys

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 193, entitled:

An Act relating to the assessment of real and personal property and other subjects of taxation in counties of the first class providing for the appointment of members of the board of revision of taxes by the judges of the courts of common pleas providing for the appointment by the board of personal property assessors real estate assessors and assistant real estate assessors clerks and other employes fixing the salaries of members of the board assessors and assistant assessors and providing for the payment of salaries and expenses from the county treasury prescribing the powers and duties of the board and of the assessors the time and manner of making assessments of the revision and notice of assessments and of appeals therefrom prescribing the records of assessments and repealing existing laws

The first section was read as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 That the Board of Revision of Taxes in counties of the first class shall consist of seven competent and qualified citizens who shall be appointed for terms of six years The salary of each member of the Board shall be Ten thousand dollars per annum except in the case of the chairman of the Board whose salary shall be Ten thousand five hundred dollars per annum

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 3, by striking out the word: "who" and inserting in lieu thereof: "three of whom shall be members of the minority party and all the members."

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 7, by inserting after the word "annum" the following: "Any member of the board, or officer or employe thereof, shall be removed for political activity of any kind."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this amendment is one of a series of amendments which I have just handed up to the desk. This particular amendment is to Section 1 of the bill. Although we of the minority, especially from Philadelphia, are opposed absolutely to this bill, we feel that since the sponsor is pressing its passage, we at least should point out some of the bad features of the bill and if possible remedy some of the conditions.

In the first place, this amendment provides that there shall be minority representation under the Board of Revision of Taxes, the amendment making it a by-partisan, non-political board of revision, because it is necessary to the taxing public of Philadelphia. They have the full power of assessing real estate. and you all realize, I know, that unless the assessment features of real estate are taken out of politics, equalization in taxation cannot be had.

This amendment will provide, if passed, that three out of the seven members of the Board of Revision of Taxes, must be from the minority political party, whichever that party may be. Last year, the Democrats were in the majority and the Republicans were in the minority. This year the Republicans are in the majority and the Democrats are in the minority, so that in due time, an equalization should be possible; next year the reverse will be true.

The second part of the amendment to Section 1 provides that no political activities shall be engaged in by the members of the Board of Revision of Taxes. I think that is very essential to good government, in Philadelphia especially, where taxes or the assessment of taxes are concerned, and I will ask each member of this House to vote for this amendment.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I just want to call to your attention the fact that when the Democrats were in power and attempted to rip out the Board of Revision of Taxes, they did not at that time think of giving the Republicans a minority representation. You see, it all depends which foot the shoe is on. My friend from Philadelphia now thinks it ought to be done.

I am absolutely opposed to any amendment of that sort. We feel that the appointing power will appoint men who will perform their duties faithfully and well.

So far as the other part of the amendment is concerned, I am also against it for the same reason, when in the last session they passed the bill, they didn't think it was necessary to put that in and they didn't put it in. Now, they feel that ought to be put in. We feel that the Board of Revision of Taxes has never been in politics and any man who is going to be a member of that board will do nothing but attend to his business. I therefore ask the members to vote down these amendments.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I had not intended to answer the gentleman from Philadelphia, because if you will refer to my amendments you will find that his argument is fallacious. However I want to say this, that the only way that he has agreed with me is in the principle that the Board of Revision of Taxes should be out of politics. He claims it is out of politics, but the only way we can ascertain and make certain that that will be so, is by voting for these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read as follows:

Section 2 The members of the Board of Revision of Taxes in counties of the first class holding office on the effective date of this act shall continue to hold office until the expiration of the terms for which they have been appointed After the effective date of this act all appointments of members of the Board in counties of the first class shall be made by the Governor who shall appoint a member of the Board for the full term of six years whenever after the effective date of this act any vacancy shall occur whether by reason of the termination of an incumbent's term his death resignation or removal

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 16, by striking out the words: "the Governor who" and inserting in lieu thereof: "a majority of two-thirds of the judges of the courts of common pleas of the county and said judges."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this amendment was made necessary because the committee, it seems, did not agree with the sponsor of the bill. When the sponsor first introduced the bill, you will note on page two, section two, that he had in the bill the provision a majority of the Board of Judges of the court of Common Pleas of the county "shall appoint."

The committee apparently, not knowing the situation in Philadelphia, or perhaps ignoring the possibility of home rule, inserted the amendment that the Governor shall make the appointment of the members of the Board of Revision in Philadelphia, and eliminating the appointments by the Board of Judges. I think that absolutely violates the doctrine of home rule. Now, I know my friends on the other side will say that we perhaps in the last session were advocates of that very principle and ignored, in some instances, home rule. That may have been true, not because we were in the majority then but because in those cities where we advocated appointment by the Governor it was not purely a local matter. This bill is purely a local bill, and even if perchance we did make an error in 1937, that is no reason for the majority advocating this bill, to invest the appointive power in the Governor instead in the Board of Judges; it is no reason why they should, if we made a mistake, make the same mistake. I think further that this amendment provides that the appointive power shall be in two-thirds of the Board of Judges instead of the majority. We have today a Board of Judges composed of twenty-one members, and this amendment would mean that two-thirds of the Board of Judges should decide who the appointees to the Board of Revision of taxes shall be, and while there is a lot of back scratching, yet when you have a two-thirds majority you will get the proper type of men for this type of work. Therefore, I ask the membership of this House to vote for these amendments.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I oppose this amendment and I want to say that the sponsor of this bill has agreed to the change from the Board of Judges to the Governor, and it is not a fact that the sponsor did not agree to that. I am authorized to say on behalf of Mr. Hamilton, the sponsor, that he is in accord with the bill as it is at the present time.

I want to say further that in the last session the Democrats didn't give the Board of Judges the right to appoint members of the Board of Revision of Taxes, they selected two Democratic officials to do that, the Treasurer and the City Comptroller.

We have confidence in our judges in Philadelphia, every one of them is a man of integrity, justice and fairness, but we think the Board of Judges have enough to do without being burdened with additional duties, and we feel that if these appointments are in the hands of the Governor that the people of Philadelphia will have competent men who will properly attend to their duties. Therefore, I ask you on behalf of all Republican members from Philadelphia to vote down these amendments.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, just a short reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia. He says that he has, and I suppose the majority membership of this House have the highest regard for the integrity of the Board of Judges, but it reminds me of the fellow who says to another fellow, "I trust you but I want to count my change." They trust the Board of Judges but they want to take the appointive powers out of the hands of the Board of Judges of Philadelphia and put it into the hands of the Governor, where possibly the appointments can be dictated as far as Philadelphia's Board of Revision of Taxes is concerned.

In 1937 we passed a bill providing for appointment by two county officials of Philadelphia, who were elected by the citizens of Philadelphia alone, and who know the problems of Philadelphia, and therefore that bill has a home rule proposition, where this is absolutely not so. Therefore I ask the membership of this House to vote for these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The third section was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 3 The Board shall organize each year by selecting a chairman vice chairman and secretary from among its members Each member of the Board shall give bond in such amount and with surety or sureties as the tax-levying body of the county shall approve conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties as a member of the Board

The fourth section was read as follows:

Section 4 The Board shall appoint for terms of six years each a chief personal property assessor whose salary shall be Seven thousand five hundred dollars per annum eight personal property assessors each of whose salaries shall be Five thousand dollars per annum thirty-six real estate assessors each of whose salaries shall be Five thousand dollars per annum and thirty-six assistant real estate assessors each of whose salaries shall be Two thousand five hundred dollars per annum Upon the occurrence of any vacancy in any of said offices the Board shall appoint a successor for the full term of six years The Board may from time to time increase the number of personal property assessors real estate assessors and assistant real estate assessors appointed by it as it shall find necessary subject

however to the approval of the tax-levying body of the county The Board shall also appoint such number of clerks stenographers and other office employes as the Board shall find necessary to serve at the pleasure of the Board whose compensation shall be fixed by the tax-levying body of the county

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 7, by striking out the word: "six" and inserting in lieu thereof: "three."

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 8, by inserting after the word "be" the following: "not more than"

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 10, by inserting after the word "be" the following: "not more than"

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 10, by striking out the word: "thirty-six" and inserting in lieu thereof: "fifteen"

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 11, by inserting after the word "be" the following: "not more than"

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 12, by striking out the word: "thirty-six" and inserting in lieu thereof: "fifteen"

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 13, by inserting after the word "be" the following "not more than"

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 16, by striking out the word "six" and inserting in lieu thereof: "three"

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 21, by inserting after the word "appoint" the following: "with the approval of the tax levying body."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, of the series of amendments which I offer to this bill this is one of the most important, one of the most economizing amendments that we have, and if the majority members, the Republican members of this House, will give not only lip service to economy but actually put that lip service into practice, they must vote for these amendments. If they are not only going to give lip service to the new city charter of Philadelphia, as it has been alleged that they have given belated support to this new city charter, they must vote for these amendments to show their good faith and intentions on the city charter.

These amendments provide that instead of having thirty-six assessors appointed by the Board of Revision of taxes at a salary of five thousand dollars a year for a term of six years, and instead of having the appointive power for thirty-six assistant assessors at a salary of two thousand five hundred dollars a year for six years, and instead of having limited power to make any type of appointment outside of these assessors, as far as clerks, stenographers and what not are concerned, my amendments would limit the Board of Revision of Taxes in making those appointments. My amendments provide that instead of thirty-six assessors there shall be fifteen, and instead of thirty-six assistant assessors there shall be fifteen, so that there would be a saving, if those who are good in arithmetic can figure out exactly, there would be a saving of at least one hundred and sixty thousand dollars a year to the tax payers of Philadelphia for a term of six years, as this bill provides that these assessors shall hold office. That would mean at the rate of one hundred and sixty thousand dollars a year, a total saving to the citizens of Philadelphia, in six years, of nine hundred and sixty thousand dollars, and this is not guess work, it is actual figuring.

In addition to that, council will have the right to say whether these assessors shall receive five thousand dollars or less, because my amendments provide that the board of assessors shall provide up to five thousand dollars, whereas the bill as it stands today makes it mandatory that the salaries shall be five thousand and twenty-five hundred respectively. These amendments, if put into effect, in the case of emergency in the city of Philadelphia's financial dilemma, either the Board of Revision of Taxes or the City Council of Philadelphia will have the right to say whether or not they shall receive five thousand dollars, four thousand dollars or three thousand dollars a year. It is necessary, and we all know, not only those who live in Philadelphia but those who live outside of Philadelphia, that Philadelphia today is in a very bad financial situation. As a matter of fact, against the protest of every civic body, against the protest of financial people, against protest of Democrats, Philadelphia today is attempting to pawn fifty million dollars worth of assets to cover the deficit which is now pending in Philadelphia, thirty-six million of funded deficit and ten million dollars of future deficit, which will arise under the tentative budget for 1939, so that up until now you members have been asked and this Legislature has been asked to help Philadelphia solve its financial difficulty. This is one way of doing it without costing the state of Pennsylvania a nickel, by eliminating these thirty-six assessors who are unnecessary, because it has been proven in the past, under our present act, that the Board of Revision of Taxes is functioning properly with but thirty-one employees. My amendment will cut the eighty employees down to thirty-nine, so that while there is an increase of a few employees over what we have today, still the Board will be able to function properly.

Therefore, members of this Assembly, if you have ever been asked to aid the plight of Philadelphia, this is one amendment that you must vote for regardless of party, because it eliminates waste and it will at least cut down the shortage which Philadelphia has under the present budget.

In addition to that these amendments provide that Council, the tax levying body, shall have the right to say whether or not they shall have twenty-five stenographers or ten stenographers or fifty stenographers if necessary, and you know very well that Council will put on the people necessary to do the work properly. After all the local taxing body is in a better position to know how much they can pay out in matters of this kind. Therefore, members of this House, I ask you to vote for these amendments, because they will help Philadelphia, it will cost the Commonwealth not one cent and it is good government to put these amendments in a bill of this kind.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise to oppose these amendments. I want to say that the Republican members of the House are just as anxious and just as sincere in their efforts for economy as anybody. I want to say further that at the present time there are four Democrats and three Republicans on the Board of Revision of Taxes and all of them are for the bill in its present form.

Under the present bill, the Board of Revision of Taxes is practically unable to function. They had a budget of $498,000 last year and because they were tied down to a certain number of employees, they were unable to perform their duties properly and make a return of the taxes as required by law. They were required to get additional help, extra help, and they were required, in addition to the budget of $498,000 to ask the Board of Education for help. They also went to City Council for extra help, and I am informed by the entire Board that if this bill passes in its present form they will be able to function with the present budget of $498,000, because they will have these employees during the entire year and they will be able to do the work with this help without additional expense to the city of Philadelphia.

I want to call the attention of the House to the Registration Commission under Democratic rule. It has shown itself not only extravagant but also inefficient. That is an example of Democratic economy. This is only lip service and there is nothing sincere in their talk of economy.

We are against these amendments and I ask the members to vote them down.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am sorry the gentleman from Philadelphia saw fit to bring in a subject that is foreign to this particular bill. However he has mentioned the fact that the Registration Commission is inefficient and so on and so forth, did not economize. I believe you will find in fairness to the Registration Commission—and if the gentleman on the other side feels I am out of order I will consider myself out of order—but in fairness to the Registration Commission, they started last year for the first time under the new permanent registration bill. They had a hard task in the registration of close to a million people in Philadelphia, and under the set-up they had they certainly had a difficult task. You will find probably this year they will need less employees and they will be as accurate as it is possible for human beings to be accurate.

I think the gentleman from Philadelphia should have been fair and should have told you that last year was the first year that they worked under the new permanent registration act, which requires the registration of every citizen in Philadelphia.

As far as the Board of Revision of Taxes is concerned, I haven't heard a thing either for or against the bill from those gentlemen. I don't know what their political affiliations today are, but even if there are three Democrats and four Republicans they probably are for the increased personnel which this bill requires, and they probably are for the general provisions of the bill because as you know this bill keeps them in office for the duration of their appointed term, and naturally they would be for the bill. That doesn't say, however, regardless of whether they are Democrats or Republicans, that we who are interested in economy, who are interested in good government in Philadelphia, should be for a bill like this because the present body is for the bill.

I ask each and every member of this House to vote for these amendments because they are necessary to Philadelphia, they will save in the course of six years close to a million dollars, possibly more. I ask for a roll call, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The fifth to the twenty-fourth sections inclusive were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 5 The Board shall divide the county into personal property assessment districts and real estate assessment districts and may from time to time increase or diminish the number of such districts and change and alter the boundaries thereof and the Board shall make assignments of assessors to such districts which assignments may be changed in the discretion of the Board

Section 6 The Board shall establish records of real property assessments which shall include a complete survey of each parcel of ground and of each building and other improvement in the county and a record thereof showing in detail the description character and size of the land and buildings and other improvements together with the name and address of the owner or owners thereof and the amounts for which such land buildings and improvements respectively stand assessed and the basis upon which such assessments were made Such records shall be set up as soon as conveniently may be after the effective date of this act and subject to the provisions of this act shall be in such form as the Board shall determine After the completion of such records any change in the physical condition of the land buildings or improvements of any parcel any division thereof and any change in the ownership thereof and any change in the assessed valuation thereof shall be noted on the records Any taxable inhabitant of the county shall have the right at any time during office hours to examine such records The Board shall prescribe the duties of the assessors in connection with the establishment and maintenance of such records

Section 7 The Board shall issue annually at such time as the Board shall determine its precepts to the real estate assessors assigned to the various real estate assessment districts and the assessors shall upon the receipt of such precepts assess and value each parcel of real property located within the districts to which they are assigned and shall return such assessments to the Board upon such date as the Board shall provide Such return shall be in such form as the Board shall prescribe but shall require the assessors to assess separately the land and the improvements thereon in the case of each parcel of real property The assessors shall also ascertain and shall note in their returns any division of any parcel any change in the physical condition of the land or of the improvements located thereon including the destruction or demolition of improvements and the erection of new improvements and any change in the ownership thereof occurring after the last preceding return was filed for such parcel and such changes shall be noted on the records to be maintained by the Board as provided in Section 6 of this act

Section 8 Upon the date fixed for receiving the returns of the assessors the Board shall proceed to examine the returns and inquire whether the same have been made in conformity with the laws of this Commonwealth and whether all property has been valued as provided in this Act and may revise alter and amend the valuation by raising or lowering the valuations either in individual cases or by districts shall rectify all errors and make valuations where they have been omitted The Board shall complete its revision of the assessments on or before the third Monday of September of each year The assessments made by the assessors as revised and supplemented by the Board subject to appeal therefrom as hereinafter in this act provided shall constitute the assessed value for tax purposes of real property located in the county for the next ensuing calendar year

Section 9 As soon as the real property assessments shall have been completed as above provided the Board shall prepare a statement in such form as will show the assessed values of all real property within the county Such statement may be in book form and shall be posted or made available for public inspection at such places throughout the county as the Board shall deem necessary Copies of such statements may also be sold in such manner and at such price as the Board shall determine The proceeds of such sales shall be paid into the county treasury

Section 10 At least ten days prior to the first Monday in October of each year the Board shal give printed or written notice to the registered owners of all real property situated within the county the assessment upon which has been increased or decreased specifying the change made from the last preceding assessment and setting forth that an appeal may be filed from such assessment on or before the first Monday of October and stating as definitely as possible the time or times at which appeals will be heard by the Board Every such notice shall be given either by mailing or delivering the same to the address of the owner as shown upon the records of the Board or by posting upon the assessed property

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 772, entitled:

An Act to protect public health safety and morals and to promote the common welfare by regulating the use and occupancy reuse and re-occupancy and the renting and re-renting for use and occupancy of all buildings in cities of the first class planned in whole or in part for residential purposes and any living quarters connected with a business or commercial establishment by requiring the issuance of certificates of occupancy and by requiring owners agents and tenants to obtain such certificates of occupancy conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Public Health and upon the Department of Public Safety of cities of the first class providing for inspections and inspection fees and the institution of prosecutions for failure to obtain certificates of occupancy imposing penalties and repealing inconsistent acts or parts of acts

The first section was read and agreed to as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 This act may be referred to as the "Occupancy Permit Law"

The second section was read as follows:

Section 2 It has been found and it is declared by the General Assembly of this Commonwealth as a matter of legislative finding that

(a) There exists in cities of the first class in this Commonwealth an acute shortage of decent safe and sanitary dwelling accommodations for a large number of inhabitants of the Commonwealth which shortage has resulted from and been aggravated by the substantial cessation of new dwelling construction and the continuance of an excessive demolition program of unsafe residential structures necessitated by the numerous slums and insanitary areas located in the cities of the first class in the Commonwealth

(b) The existence of the above stated conditions has fostered the leasing of many thousands of dwelling accommodations to families of small incomes which dwellings are in violation of the health safety and sanitary laws and ordinances and have jeopardized the health safety and comfort of the families who compelled by necessity to have shelter have been forced to occupy them

(c) Present legal means of control over such conditions have proved insufficient to assure healthful safe and sanitary occupancy so that the danger to public health safety comfort and welfare is immediate and pending

NAYS—9

Ackermann,	Clark,	Haudenshield,	Leydic,
Andrews,	Dix,	Levy,	Long,
Christler,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 463, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two hundred and forty-six of the act approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1278), entitled "An act relating to counties of the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes and revising, amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto," changing the qualifications of the district attorney.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill was called up during my absence last night, although it is my bill. The amendments which have been made to it are not satisfactory to me in their present form and to a certain extent they do away with the efforts that I had—

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inquire of the gentleman whether he desires to debate the bill or whether he desires to make a motion before the bill passes third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I made some investigation in this matter and I intended to hold the bill on the second reading calendar for a while, subject to amendments. The bill is not in satisfactory form in its present shape, and I ask the members of the House to support me, the sponsor of the bill, in having it recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for further study and possible amendment.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, at the request of numerous persons, this bill was originally referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special, it was then reported out and re-referred to the Committee on Judiciary General after it passed first reading. It was reported from the Judiciary General Committee as amended, with several amendments, which were thought perfectly suitable at that time to the members of the Committee on Judiciary General.

At the request of the Judiciary General Committee we had the amendments prepared by the Legislative Reference Bureau and the bill was reported out as amended. It is now on the third reading calendar, Mr. Speaker, and if recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General now, of course, would die. I ask the members of this House to vote against recommitting this bill to the Committee on Judiciary General or any other committee.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I don't like to say this since this is the second time that I have spoken in regard to the bill, neither do I wish to state on the floor of the House some of my reasons for being opposed to this bill as it passed second reading. I say this, Mr. Speaker, that what the gentleman says is true. However I don't believe there is anyone that thinks this House is going to adjourn in a few days. It is not my habit, Mr. Speaker, to introduce bills in the House for the purpose of later recommitting them to the committee to die. I will say, Mr. Speaker, that if this bill goes to the Senate in its present form it will die there and that is not mere conjecture. I therefore advocate that those who favor any part of these amendments to the law support my motion to send it back to the Committee on Judiciary General because I know that it will die in the Senate in its present form.

Furthermore, Mr. Speaker, last year under the Democratic administration I succeeded in raising the salaries of the rural district attorneys, and at the same time raised the standards of the qualifications of district attorneys. I introduced this bill at the request of some people because I felt that perhaps those standards have in some cases been a little too exacting under particular situations in the smaller counties, including my own county, and would do away with the purpose I had in mind in raising the standards in regard to the qualifications of district attorneys and at the same time raising their pay.

I do not want to be in the position, Mr. Speaker, of going to the Senate and asking that my own bill be killed and I ask the members of the House to support this motion and recommit the bill to the Committee on Judiciary General in order that those who have in mind amendments can secure what they wish without having the whole bill killed on account of the insistence in passing an unreasonable measure.

Mr. ALSPACH. The gentleman from McKean has very wisely stated that if this bill goes to the Senate it may be killed there, and I say it is no mere conjecture that if this bill goes back to the Committee on Judiciary General it will be killed there.

I would like to state further that the Act which was sponsored two years ago by the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Kane, did raise the qualifications of district attorneys, and this Act, sponsored by Mr. Kane in this present Session alleviates certain harsh features which hurt the counties of the sixth, seventh and eighth classes, which it was designed to protect.

I oppose this motion to recommit, Mr. Speaker, and ask for a roll call. I ask the members of the House to vote against the motion to recommit.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I regret very much having to say this to the members of the House, but it is my opinion that insistence upon this matter violates a gentleman's agreement.

I introduced this bill for one purpose, and these amendments include this person, that person and the other person who desires to run for district attorney. I do not want to get down to naming names, places and times, but Mr. Speaker, if I am forced to do so, I will be glad to do it, and if it can't be done on the floor of this House it can be done in the newspapers, and if necessary I will do it.

I don't care to discuss the matter, and I ask the members who are interested in good legislation to support me, especially the members from sixth class counties, in sending this bill back to the Committee on Judiciary General. It was not my intention for the Committee on Judiciary General to kill the bill, but I am rapidly being forced into that position.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. ALSPACH. I would just like to make the statement, Mr. Speaker, that so far as I personally am concerned, I do not think I have violated any personal confidence in any respect. Everything that was done to this bill, Mr. Speaker, was done in full and open committee meeting.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman on his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Whereupon, a division was called for, one hundred and fourteen, or more than a majority, having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 952, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2123) entitled "An act imposing upon the Board of Revision of Taxes in cities of the first class the duty of reading water meters authorizing the employment of assistants for the performance of such duties fixing the salaries of such assistants and repealing inconsistent acts"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, will the sponsor of this bill explain to the membership of this House the purpose of it and what the situation will be as far as the present law is concerned.

Mr. CORTESE. Mr. Speaker, this bill secures the authority of the Receiver of Taxes in Philadelphia to continue reading water meters. Back in 1937 the Democrats, in their ardent and mad desire to defeat the elective will of the people of Philadelphia, by a bill introduced by them, attempted to parcel out the powers of the Receiver of Taxes in Philadelphia and to abolish that office. Under the parcelling scheme, the Board of Revision of Taxes and the Comptroller of the City of Philadelphia took hold of all of the authority theretofor exercised by the Receiver of Taxes.

The Supreme Court in passing on that enactment held that that law was unconstitutional and struck it down.

The purpose of this bill therefore is to clear the record and to remove a stain on the Constitution, a stain which now appears on our statute books.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if it were madness on the part of the Democrats to sponsor legislation, a series of bills which would have saved for the taxpayers of Philadelphia something like six hundred thousand dollars a year, and these figures are not fictitious, I would much rather be known as a mad legislator. Unfortunately the foul blow was not struck by the Legislature in passing this act but possibly by the Supreme Court in declaring this act unconstitutional. At present there is no reason for this bill to be passed, because the courts have declared this bill unconstitutional, and to take the time of this House and the Senate to pass bills just to make sure that when a man is down, you will kick him, I think it is unfair. It is a waste of the taxpayers' money.

It seems to me that this is another addition to the fuel of the Republican party to a bonfire which was promised to the taxpayers of this Commonwealth, and if they keep on adding to the bonfire, instead of relieving the taxpayers, not only of Philadelphia but also of Pennsylvania, they can go ahead because the complexion of this Assembly I am sure will be changed in 1941.

I ask the membership of this House, since the necessity is not here for the enactment of this bill, to vote "no" on it.

Mr. CORTESE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as a member of the bar, I resent any reflection upon the judiciary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I think it is wrong to try to destroy by criticism that branch of the government which protects to you, the minority group, your civil liberties.

The gentleman from Philadelphia knows that the people of Philadelphia at an election, by the expression of their constitutional will, decided that there shall be a Receiver of Taxes, and the Receiver of Taxes shall hold office for four years. The Court decided that no political instrumentality, preying upon the Legislature for the purpose of securing more jobs, can defeat that elective will so expressed.

So, Mr. Speaker, I ask the members of this House to put a shield upon the blackness cast by the Democrats themselves and to vote "aye" upon this bill.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, no debates that we have had on this floor heretofore have become personal. I think it is just as wrong to call a foul blow on the part of members of the Legislature, of a then majority that pass a bill, as it is to call a foul blow on the part of the Supreme Court. So that if the gentleman is wrong and takes me to task for calling a spade a spade, so far as the Supreme Court is concerned, he should be taken to task by the members of this House in calling a spade a spade as far as the members of this House are concerned.

However, I would like to say this, this is another wedge and another indication as to how the Republican majority, coming from Philadelphia, will line up against the city charter bill, because the city charter will take care of this very situation.

I might say this as far as mandates are concerned, it is true that Philadelphia held an election on November 8th, and the general mandate was to the effect that the Republican majority is now in control in the Commonwealth but as far as we are concerned in Philadelphia, we from the Eighteenth Legislative District, the mandate to us was to keep up the good work of the Democratic party, and that is why we are here.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair previously mentioned the fact that we have two delegations here, one from Delaware county and one from Schuylkill county. The Chair notes that the delegation from Delaware county is now at the rear of the House. For many years many members have wondered how the Speaker was returned to the House. They also wonder sometimes how we get those large majorities in Delaware county. All they need to do is to inquire of the visitors in the rear of the House, and they will know where we get our strength and our majorities.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 738, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections one two three four and five of the act approved the eleventh day of July one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 1032) entitled "An act providing for the abatement of nuisances caused by the improper grading or defective paving or encroaching fences in alleys in cities of the first class for the establishment of lines and grades for and the grading paving or repaving of said alleys and the grading of private alleys hereafter laid out and for apportioning the cost and for the filing of liens therefor" by extending the provisions of said act to retaining walls

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 868, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2778) entitled "An act providing that all appointments made by the county commissioners in counties of the first class shall be divided between the majority and minority commissioners"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, House Bill No. 868, if passed, is another indication of two things, first, that the Republican majority is keeping its promise to make the bonfire bigger, because this is another repeal of an act which was passed in 1937. Secondly, and which to my mind is the most important, is the fact that it indicates their attitude on the new city charter, because if they were for the new city charter, as it is presently advocated by its sponsors in the Senate, this bill would not be necessary. I ask the membership of this House to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, House Bill No. 868 is a bill to put Philadelphia back into the condition it was before the Democrats came to Harrisburg in 1937. As Mr. Woodside so aptly said about two weeks ago, it is not ripper legislation, but we are just "sewing up the rips" as we go along.

I ask the membership of this House to vote "aye" on this bill.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sweeney, has definitely indicated why the membership of this House who are interested in good government should vote against this bill. He says this bill if passed will put Philadelphia back where it was before 1937. I wonder whether he realizes that Philadelphia was low financially to the tune of thirty-six million dollars before 1937, and this type of legislation is the thing that did that for Philadelphia. We in 1937 endeavored to remedy it, whether you call it a ripper or whether you call it a sewing of the rip, but we tried to remedy it by cutting down waste and extravagance in the running of Philadelphia. If you are going to put it back where it was before 1937, you can vote for this bill, but we Democrats who are endeavoring to give Philadelphia a good government, an economical government, are against this measure.

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, just a moment longer. Mr. Ominsky's argument might be sound except for the fact that anyone reading this bill will see that no new jobs are created, no increase in salary provided for and consequently no increase in the expense of the City of Philadelphia.

Shall the bill pass finally?

An Act to repeal the act approved the twenty-eighth day of April one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven Pamphlet Laws 475) entitled "An act to amend the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred eighty-one) entitled 'An act for the better government of cities of the first class of this Commonwealth' by abolishing the department of receiver of taxes and transferring its powers and duties to the department of city treasurer and abolishing the office of receiver of taxes"

Section 1 The act approved the twenty-eighth day of April one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 475) entitled "An act to amend the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred eighty-one) entitled 'An act for the better government of cities of the first class of this Commonwealth' by abolishing the department of receiver of taxes and transferring its powers and duties to the department of city treasurer and abolishing the office of receiver of taxes" is hereby repealed.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House a reading of the title itself indicates that you must be against this bill because the title specifies this: "An act to repeal an act for the better government of cities of the first class of this Commonwealth." If you read it that way, and I am sure that the purport of the bill has that meaning, you must vote against this bill.

It is another indication, as I said before, even if I have to repeat it, because it is important——that it is adding to the bonfire of the burning of the bills which were passed in 1937, and it is still another indication because this bill, if passed, will increase the cost to the city of Philadelphia. It is another indication that the majority members on the Republican side are not for the city charter because the city charter bill provides for the elimination of certain things for the betterment of the government, and those who vote for this measure indicate that they intend to vote against the city charter bill.

I will ask the membership of this House to vote "no" on this measure.

Mr. CORTESE. I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Ominsky.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. OMINSKY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CORTESE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know how this bill will increase the expenditures of the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cortese, if he will read the act of 1937 that this act will repeal, he will find that one department in the city government of Philadelphia has been eliminated and that is the department of the Receiver of Taxes, the functions of which are to be under the Department of the City Treasury. Now, with the same personnel or with a very much smaller increase in the personnel of the City Treasurer's office, it was indicated by the special committee which investigated the city government of Philadelphia that the elimination of the Department of Receiver of Taxes would not harm the functioning of the city government, and at the same time would save several hundred thousand dollars. I believe he ought to read the testimony which was taken at those hearings.

Mr. CORTESE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Ominsky, what happened to the Act of 1937 which parceled out the authority vested in the Receiver of Taxes?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, I don't remember. I believe the courts have acted on that in some form, but did not declare it entirely unconstitutional. They did declare portions of it unconstitutional.

Mr. CORTESE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is a strange thing to feel that you can't do something, and then try to accomplish the thing that you know you can't do by nefarious, unconstitutional ways.

This bill clearly is corrective. It removes from the statute books an act struck down by the Supreme Court, and if the gentleman from Philadelphia is really interested in economy and efficiency, he ought to agree with me that a man holding public office ought to be secure in his authority, he ought to be secure in his tenure. This bill puts an end to all doubt. The Receiver of Taxes will function until the end of his term.

May I say this also, Mr. Speaker, somewhere in the hidden recesses of the heart of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Ominsky, there ought to be a spark always reminding him that the present Receiver of Taxes of the city of Philadelphia is one of the most efficient servants that Philadelphia has ever had. It is needless to say that the Republicans must now strike down what the Democrats did and which cannot stand on the foundation of the Constitution.

He speaks of a bonfire and I say this is a bonfire in the sense that it destroys statutory rubbish and I stand for that kind of bonfire. So I ask you, Mr. Speaker and members of this House, to get together and set a large flame to this rubbish and put an end to it once and for all.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I don't blame the gentleman from Philadelphia for feeling that way about the present Receiver of Taxes. Of course, the Receiver of Taxes is one of his constituents and he should feel that way about him. As a matter of fact I too feel the same way about the present Receiver of Taxes, but the measures that we are passing are not personal or individual measures, they are principle measures, measures which strike at certain principles of economy in state government and they do not intend to strike at any individual who is presently holding office.

Dix,	Lovett	Weiss,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. TIEMANN offered the following reasons for his vote:

The purpose of this bill is to amend an act put through in the 1937 session, which relates to Magistrates and the Magistrates' Courts in the County of Philadelphia, the clerks their duties and the fixing of their compensation.

The amendment provides for a $500 increase in compensation for the Chief Clerk, to be paid by the County of Philadelphia.

I favor this increase because of the additional duties required or imposed on the Chief Clerk by this bill, which requires he must keep a complete record of all cases filed with the Courts, the proceedings therein, and the disposition thereof, and to see that they are kept in good condition. He is a very able man, with much experience, having worked in this office since 1927 and being the Chief Clerk for the last 6 years.

Before the Act he had supervision over 30 clerks and 28 cleaners, now he has a total of 93 employees, as the act required the hiring of 35 additional people.

The Department now also has charge and supervision over the Traffic Court which formerly was under the Mayor. This Court has a monthly income of $25,000. His responsibility has more than doubled within the last two years. This is a worthy and deserving case. I ask your support of the bill. Thank you.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 559, entitled:

An Act to reenact and further amend section two hundred five of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by providing for the election of school directors in school districts made up of two or more cities boroughs incorporated towns or townships or any combination thereof.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 95, entitled:

An Act authorizing the sale of real estate under a judgment obtained on a tax claim or claims to be made by the sheriff free and clear of tax and municipal claims for a sum less than the total amount of delinquent tax and municipal claims under certain conditions and providing for the distribution of the sum realized upon such sales and for the procedure in such cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. CORTESE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inquire of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cortese, whether it is his desire to amend this bill.

Mr. CORTESE. Mr. Speaker, it is my desire to give to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Ominsky, an opportunity to study this bill. It is not a partisan bill, it deals with a technical subject, and I want to give him the opportunity to make a study of it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cortese.

The Chair inquires of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Ominsky, whether he desires to have this bill placed on the third reading postponed calendar or final passage?

Mr. OMINSKY. For the information of the Speaker, it is our thought and the sponsor's thought that it should be placed on the third reading postponed calendar for the purpose of checking the possibility of the introduction of certain amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 305, entitled:

An Act relating to fireworks defining fireworks prohibiting the sale offering or exposing for sale and use of fireworks except in certain cases authorizing cities boroughs towns and townships to issue permits for fireworks displays and to regulate the same imposing duties on the Pennsylvania Motor Police sheriffs police officers and constables and providing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, when this bill was up on second reading yesterday I overlooked the passage of it until it was too late. I am now asking the unanimous consent of the House to submit amendments.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout, asks unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time. Are there objections?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I object to the offering of amendments.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl, object to the amendments being read for the information of the House.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I do not object to having them read, but I object to the amendments going in.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout, asks unanimous consent to have his amendments read for the information of the House. Are there objections? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be read for the information of the House.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, before these amendments are read, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TROUT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, have the amendments in question been submitted to the editorial staff of The Philadelphia Inquirer and have they been approved?

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, they have neither been submitted to the editorial staff of the Philadelphia Inquirer nor to the editorial staff of The Johnstown Democrat.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that the gentleman from Cambria is out of order, because he should know, as a newspaper man, that no newspaper man ever reveals the source of his information.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 5, by inserting after the word "substance" the following: "These provisions shall not apply to the sale or use of toy paper cap pistols and toy pistol paper caps which contain less than .20 grains of explosive mixture, the sale and use of which shall be permitted at all times."

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout, asks unanimous consent for the consideration of the amendments. Are there objections?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Watkins.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, due to the fact that the sponsor of this bill has refused to accept amendments offered by Mr. Trout, I wish to make a motion to recommit this bill to the Committee from which it originated, due to the fact that these amendments have been considered by the sponsor and I have understood that they were acceptable and it was also understood that the Committee is aware that they are acceptable. I also have a note which I just received from Senator James of the Judiciary Special Committee in the Senate—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield? Is the gentleman making a motion or discussing the bill?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Corporations for further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker, I also wish to state that the Senate is now making arrangements for a joint public hearing. Senator James of the Judiciary Special Committee asked whether it would be satisfactory to have this joint hearing on Tuesday next. Because of this fact, I think the proper attitude for the House members to take is to send the bill back to our Committee, give it a public hearing, and then afterward give it consideration.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise to oppose this motion for this reason: This bill was introduced in February, and for weeks I begged the Chairman of the Committee to grant a public hearing and without success. After that bill had been in committee for a long time, and after the bill was forced out of committee by public opinion and demand for its passage, he seeks to delay and possibly destroy this bill by this dilatory motion.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, this is a very important bill, a bill on which the lives and the health of the children of Pennsylvania depend. This is not a partisan measure. There isn't anybody who wants a public hearing outside of the lobbyists. The people of Pennsylvania know what it is all about, only the lobbyists and the manufacturers of fireworks desire a public hearing, and desire to delay this matter.

I ask the members of the House to vote down this motion. Let us pass the bill and then they can have a public hearing over in the Senate if they so wish.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Watkins.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATKINS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Schuylkill accept an amendment to his motion that the hearing be set within a reasonably short time and that the bill after the hearing be sent back to this House.

Mr. WATKINS. I will, Mr. Speaker, as I understand the public hearing is supposed to be on Tuesday.

MOTION TO AMEND

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend the motion of the gentleman from Schuylkill, that the bill be sent back to his Committee, with the understanding that the public hearing be held next week, and that the bill be then sent back to the House for consideration.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to inform the gentleman from McKean that the Chair cannot accept a motion of that nature unless it is put in writing.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am very much interested in this bill. I am very much interested in the statement made by the gentleman from Philadelphia that this bill has been forced out of Committee by public sentiment. Like a late lamented philosopher, "All I know is what I read in the papers," and in picking up a Philadelphia Journal a few days ago I read in the opening paragraph that as a result of the prodding of the Philadelphia Inquirer the Committee has been forced to report this bill to the floor of the House. Now that is a peculiar birth. It is not a natural birth, it is more in the nature of a Caesarian operation, which would probably render the child a bit sickly and should not be promiscuously tossed about.

I can remember back in the latter days of 1937 when the brilliant correspondents of the Philadelphia Record stated that this bill and that bill, this policy and that policy had been promulgated on behalf of the Legislature by the Record, and that is fine. I presume newspaper men so seldom get into the Legislature that they are privileged to run it by remote control. Anyway the period of supremacy for the Philadelphia Record having passed, we are now in the days of the Philadelphia Inquirer, and it is something to think about, when a paper can openly announce to the public that as a result of its particular prodding this Legislature has passed any particular thing.

I would say to the membership of the House, in view of the leadership that has been established, it is probably a bit dangerous to interfere with the orders of the seat of authority. The newspaper men in 1938 elaborated the policies which eventually licked the Democratic party, and I have no doubt that given their head the newspaper men in 1939 will elaborate policies that will eventually lick the Republicans. So I think it will be dangerous for that side of the House to do anything with this bill but to let it lie on the calendar and vote it through in due order. You will be castigated, you will be held up to public ridicule and various things will happen to you if you do not take the orders.

I think, therefore, that I will submit to the rod. An editor is a better boss than a politician, and if an editor wishes this bill to pass, I think, even though he belongs on the other side, I will accept his directions, and run no risk. Therefore, I am very sorry that I cannot support the motion made by the gentleman from Schuylkill. I must remain true to the leadership of the profession.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inquire of the gentleman from Cambria whether that was a plea for leadership.

Mr. ANDREWS. No, Mr. Speaker, having spent nearly three months in search for the seat of authority in this administrtaion and in this legislature, and having now definitely located it in the office of a particular newspaper, I'm going to keep close to it.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not think those who are for this particular measure are for it because any particular newspaper has been prodding for the passage of it. I believe all the newspapers of Philadelphia, including the Philadelphia Inquirer, the Record, The Bulletin and the Ledger, and everyone I can think of, have been advocating the passage of this bill——

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lancaster will state his point of order.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, are we discussing Philadelphia newspapers or are we discussing the motion to recommit this bill?

The SPEAKER. The question is on the motion to recommit.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in discussing the motion to recommit this bill, and in opposing the motion, I ask the members of this House who have children and those who may have children in the future to oppose the motion to recommit. I say this, that the prodding was not the cause for the bills coming out of Committee, it was not because of the prodding of any one newspaper. It was because of the prodding by the parents of the children who are hurt on the Fourth of July, or before that time, by fireworks.

Therefore I ask all the members of this House to vote against recommitting the bill, because in doing so you and I know it will have its demise in the committee.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, for the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Ominsky, I happen to have a few children, and my gray hairs would indicate that I have a couple of grandchildren. I am just as much concerned about their safety as any other father or grandfather dare to be. However, we have an amendment here which I offered, which seeks to exempt paper caps and paper cap pistols and regulating the amount of explosives. I realize the danger of fireworks and I realize that this is good legislation. I am not saying this to appease the wrath of the Philadelphia Inquirer either, but I do think this, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that the sponsor of this bill should have permitted a vote on this amendment. I think it is unfair to simply object. I probably am to blame because of my oversight last night, but I do not see why the membership cannot express their opinion on this amendment.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, since the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl, states that the bill is not a political one, I feel that perhaps I am in position to state that I can agree with the motion of the gentleman to recommit the bill.

I make that statement for the reason that I understand the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout, had in effect been agreed upon, and through error had not been offered when the bill was on second reading. If there was such an agreement certainly no one should start welching upon an agreement, and I feel we are morally bound to see that the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout, has the opportunity to have his amendment acted upon.

For the second reason, on next Tuesday, as I understand, there will be a hearing for the purpose of discussing the merits of this bill and perhaps some other bills that have been offered. If the legislation now before us is so valuable, if it is so much in demand, if the public wants it so badly, certainly the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl, has no reason to fear the outcome of the public hearing. Instead of trying to rush and cram this bill through this House, certainly the members of the House have a right to accept and receive the same information, the same knowledge that is going to be transmitted to the Senate at the public hearing next Tuesday. Certainly we can pass more intelligently upon legislation after we hear their stories. Not only is the general public interested in this bill, as Mr. Tahl has stated, but also the manufacturers and many others.

If we were adjourning, Mr. Speaker, in a week or tw weeks, I could understand the hurry of the gentlema but I feel pretty certain that we will not adjourn withi the next two weeks and very, very likely, not on May 1 The gentleman will have an opportunity to get this bi out of Committee again if they do not see fit to send to the House. In the meantime the members of the Hous will have the benefit of the information that will be re ceived next Tuesday. In addition to that, the gentle man from Lancaster, Mr. Trout, will have an opportunit to present his amendment to the Committee. Therefor I ask the members of the House to support this motio to recommit the bill, not with the thought of killing th bill, but with the thought of trying to secure some perfec legislation.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the Hous I am supporting this bill to recommit for a public hearin not because of any influence by anyone. I may say, M Speaker, that I have had the personal experience of bein laid up in a wheel chair for a long time as the result of Fourth of July accident, but on the other hand, I thin everyone is entitled to have a hearing, and I would no want any personal prejudice to enter into the matte There will be no time lost by having this joint hearing o the House and Senate as quickly as next Tuesday. An the gentleman from Lancaster is one of those who has th least often been urging delay and he is in favor of allow ing the public rather than the newspapers to be hear although he himself is a newspaper man. I urge upon th members of this House to send this bill back as the ex pedient method of getting the actual facts known to bot the House and the Senate so that the bill may be enacte during this Session, and that we may not flunk out as w did in the other Session.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, think the gentleman from Monroe was in error when h made the statement that there was an agreement. Ther wasn't any agreement, nobody ever approached the spon sor and asked him to present amendments. I don't kno where they get that information. I speak for myself an for Mr. Hamilton when I say that we never agreed to an amendments because we feel that this amendment woul destroy the effectiveness of the bill, and we would no agree to it. Had we agreed to anything like that we migh as well have nullified the bill. This amendment is jus as dangerous, the sale of cap pistols is just as dangerou as any other fireworks.

Now, as to those interested in the bill as it is at pres ent, and in opposing this motion, I want to read you th names of those who are in favor of the passage of thi bill:

The American Legion; The Pennsylvania Association fo the Blind; The Women's Clubs of Pennsylvania; The Penn sylvania Working Home for the Blind; The Hospital As sociations of Pennsylvania; The Philadelphia Medical So ciety; The Chestnut Hill League of Women Voters; Th Philadelphia Federation of Women's Clubs, and man other civic associations.

Now, in this sudden plea for consideration of the bil there is nothing to it. The bill provides that the sale o any fireworks is prohibited except for exhibition purpose under proper regulation. There isn't anything else tha has to be said about the bill.

The old method has been to send a bill back to committee, which is equivalent to a sentence of death.

Now, I do not think that the members of this House want to defeat this bill. I think the members are entitled to express their views, I think the members are entitled to protect children from being maimed and crippled and blinded as a result of fireworks, and I therefore ask the members of this House to vote down this motion.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise to support this motion, but first let me say that I am very heartily in favor of the bill, and the main reason why I am supporting this motion is this: Entirely due to oversight by our colleague from Lancaster County, Mr. Trout, he did not offer this amendment last night on second reading, and if this amendment is important to Mr. Trout in his home community, he should be allowed to have the right to offer it. Merely because of oversight on his part last night in passing up the bill on second reading and not getting his amendment offered, is no reason why we should now be so unfair as to say that he cannot now offer it. The House has the right to vote down the amendment when it is proposed. You have the vote. If you don't want the amendment, vote it down, but for Heaven's sake treat the gentleman fairly, let us give him a chance to offer his amendment. I know that if we would be in a similar position, if a bill came up that was important to us—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, are we on the amendment or on the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. We are on the motion to recommit.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not speaking on the motion.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the motion to recommit.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I am speaking on the motion because I am explaining my reason for supporting the motion.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I say if we were in a similar position we would ask the members of this House to support us in asking unanimous consent to offer amendments. I consider it unfair for the sponsor of this bill to object to Mr. Trout offering amendments, and if he does not withdraw his objection I rise to support the motion to recommit the bill.

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if Mr. Trout's amendment is as advisable as he thinks, on Tuesday there is going to be a public hearing over in the Senate and the members of the House are all invited. You will hear the amendments and listen to the arguments pro and con. If the Senate of Pennsylvania feels that this amendment should be inserted in the bill then the bill will have to come back to this House for concurrence and the members who are anxious to vote on this amendment will have the opportunity at that time to do so. Why delay it now? If you don't want the amendment, you can vote it down, if you do want the amendment, you can vote for it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill was ordered to be transcribed for third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout, vote on the motion?

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Venango, Mr. McKinney, vote on the motion?

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I regret that I cannot accede to the motion of the gentleman from Lancaster. This is not a question of doing a favor. It is an important thing, it transcends things of that sort. This motion to reconsider is a dilatory motion, and I ask the members to vote it down.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAHL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, will Mr. Tahl concede that if this bill goes to the Senate, that the Chairman of the Committee in the Senate to whom the bill will go, if he desires a public hearing can hold one anyhow?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, that is correct.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman concede that the difference between the two procedures, the one that we advocate and the one that he advocates is that under the one that he advocates the bill will be in the hands of the Senate committee, whereas in the procedure that we advocate the bill will be in the control of the House committee. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia concede that?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from McKean, I would say this: We have duties to perform and we perform them in the manner we see fit. What the Senate does is a matter for them to determine.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, that is not an answer to my question. It having been at the request of the Senate Chairman that a joint hearing be held for the purpose of explaining the bill as I understand it, will the gentleman from Philadelphia concede that he is only holding up the enactment of the bill that he is sponsoring by insisting upon these dilatory tactics, when the thing could be considered in the House of which he is a member rather than in the Senate, of which he is not a member?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I do not agree with the gentleman from McKean. It is his method that is dilatory and delaying consideration of this bill. I have been trying for weeks to get this bill out of Committee, and now when the bill is before the House, various motions are made to send it back for reconsideration. Mr. Speaker, I cannot agree at this time to reconsider the bill. This bill is before the House for final passage, and I ask that the motion be voted down.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I want to correct the statement made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl, that these are dilatory tactics. They are not, but we do believe that we should be permitted to present this amendment and have the House vote on it. If it is defeated I am perfectly satisfied, but the dilatory tactics are displayed by the sponsors of this bill, not by those who are trying to get fair play by a vote on this amendment.

As I stated before, I am in favor of the regulation of fireworks but I am not in favor of passing on this bill as a whole without the House having an opportunity to vote on this one amendment. If it is defeated I am perfectly satisfied but I don't think it is fair to ram the thing through without giving an opportunity to the members to express their views on the matter.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in supporting the motion of the gentleman from Lancaster to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed second reading in the House, I wish to state that I have good reasons not to support the amendment offered by the gentleman from Lancaster. I am, however, determined to help him in his fight as far as I can to give an opportunity in the House, of which he is a member, for consideration of his amendment, rather than in the Senate of which he is not a member, and I request the members on the Democratic side particularly who consider themselves to be liberals, and the members of the Republican side have had the recent experience of having their suggestions voted down, sometimes in a very undesirable manner, (and it was that very type of tactics to a large extent which contributed in the defeat of the Democratic party) to support him in getting consideration. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I urge the members of this House to give to a member of the House an opportunity to have his amendments presented to the House and heard here rather than to continually shove our mistakes and misfits over into the Senate to be cleaned up. This has been a continuous record of disgrace to the membership of this House. I have the utmost respect for the membership of this House and I think we have character and ability to consider amendments and then vote for them or else vote them down. My personal intention (for the information of the opposition) if we can come to a show-down is to vote against the amendment. But I do think that we should go through the maneuvers as quickly as possible, put this amendment to the test, make our own decisions rather than accede to the pressure of certain newspapers in Philadelphia.

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, this problem that we are dealing with today is a problem that I think ought to be approached from the standpoint of reasonableness. I think the spirit of doing unto others as we would have others do unto us is a good rule by which our judgment should be swayed today. I cannot reconcile myself to feel that the splendid qualities of the members of this House, as I know them will be lowered because of refusal on their part to listen to a reasonable request. The granting of that request does not necessarily imply or guarantee that the suggested amendment that the gentleman from Lancaster has in mind will be made part of the bill, but in fairness to the gentleman who has made this request, I feel that we ought to be in position today to grant that request.

Personally as I feel at this time, I am not in favor of the amendment offered, because I do not believe that it avoids the appearance either of evil or danger along the line of the use of fireworks, but irrespective of my personal judgment in the case, I believe that the House ought to be in full accord. I feel we are capable here today to deal with this situation from that standpoint. The gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout, in all fairness ought to have the opportunity of having this matter deferred until his amendments can be put on the floor of the House. It will then be up to the good judgment of the members of this House to determine whether this amendment should pass or whether the bill in its present form should pass, and I think that we will all gladly acquiesce. The spirit of fairness and the manifestation of that spirit I think ought to prevail among the men and ladies of the House. I believe that we ought to accord to the gentleman from Lancaster the courtesy of acceding to the request he makes.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the House agreed to the bill on second reading be reconsidered.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the title was agreed to be reconsidered.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the various sections were separately agreed to be reconsidered.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The first section was read as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The term "fireworks" shall mean and include any combustible or explosive composition or any substance or combination of substances or article prepared for the purpose of producing a visible or an audible effect by combustion explosion deflagration or detonation and shall include blank cartridges toy pistols toy cannons toy canes or toy guns in which explosives are used the type of balloons which require fire underneath to propel the same firecrackers torpedoes skyrockets Roman candles Daygo bombs sparklers or other fireworks of like construction and any fireworks containing any explosive or flammable compound or any tablets or other device containing any explosive substance

The term "municipalities" shall include cities boroughs incorporated towns and townships

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 1, Page 2, Line 5, by inserting after the word "substance" the following: "These provisions shall not apply to the sale or use of toy paper cap pistols and toy pistol paper caps which contain less than .20 grains of explosive mixture, the sale and use of which shall be permitted at all times."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise to oppose this amendment for the reason that these toy pistols, I am informed by doctors and others who are more familiar with fire burns, are just as dangerous as any other fire cracker. Any burn from a pistol cap causes tetanus which is poisoning and requires antitoxin. I am informed by the Marshal in Philadelphia that most of the children who were injured last July, approximately three hundred, their injuries were caused by cap pistols and that some of them died.

Now, members of this House, I don't want to take up any more time speaking on this bill and this amendment, but I feel that you want to have an effective bill, a bill that is going to do the things that you want done, namely, to save the children of Pennsylvania, and I ask you to vote down this amendment.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not propose to continue this discussion. I do want to express my appreciation to the members of the House for permitting a vote on this amendment. I want to say to you, ladies and gentlemen of the House, use your own judgment and vote as you feel, and I will be perfectly satisfied and the rest of my colleagues from Lancaster will also be satisfied.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as the sponsor of a similar fire-works' bill in the last extraordinary session of the Legislature, I rise to oppose this amendment to the bill, but on different ground than the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl.

This bill does not contain any severability clause as to the constitutionality of the bill and I am afraid that arbitrary classification as to the amount of explosive to be used in toy paper caps would affect the constitutionality of the entire bill. It might spoil the good work of the Committee on Municipal Corporations, the press, the public and all others concerned in this humane piece of legislation. I therefore think it will be much preferable to pass the bill as it is.

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I feel that I owe it to myself to make a statement at this time, because I am placed in the position where I will have to take the opposite view from that of my good friend, Mr. Trout, from Lancaster. The amendment offered in my judgment does not control the element of danger involved in the use of fire-works. The limitation by which the amendment sets up certain uses of fire works by limiting the powder content might bring about the same situation as prevailed in prohibition days when three per cent beer prevailed. More often it was over loaded and there was hardly a method of regulation.

I speak from personal experience. I know of several cases in the past several years in my own community where children were seriously injured, some suffering from tetanus, because of the use of pistols, toy pistols and paper caps. Therefore much to my regret I am not in a position to support the amendment and will necessarily have to vote, "No."

Mr. VAN BELLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as one who would not have objected to Mr. Trout's offering his amendment, at the same time I rise to oppose this amendment. I might state further that I have never doubted for a minute that he was motivated by the most honest and sincere thought of serving the constituents of his community to the best of his ability.

There is one angle in connection with the use of these toy cap pistols that I haven't heard anyone discuss yet, I have children. Aside from the possibility of being injured by these toy cap pistols, I will be perfectly frank in telling you that I want my children to get out of the habit of playing with cap pistols or any other type of firearms, and I think most of the members of this House feel the same way. That is an angle that I think we should consider. I don't want the kids to get into the habit of playing with guns. I therefore ask the members of this House to vote down this amendment.

Mr. SHEARER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, House Bill No. 305 is practically the same bill that was introduced into the 1937 special session and was defeated by only a few votes. This bill was largely originated by the Shippensburg Post of the American Legion two years ago. Public opinion has demanded a safe bill. The amendment makes it an unsafe bill. I ask that the amendment be voted down.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Tahl and Mr. Tiemann and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendment was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth sections and title were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2 Except as hereinafter provided it shall be unlawful for any person copartnership association or corporation to offer for sale expose for sale sell at retail or use or explode any fireworks Provided That the governing body of any city borough town or township shall have power under reasonable rules and regulations adopted by it to grant permits for supervised public displays of fireworks to be held therein by municipalities fair associations amusement parks and other organizations or groups of individuals Every such display shall be handled by a competent operator to be approved by the governing body of the municipality in which the display is to be held and shall be of such a character and so located discharged or fired as in the opinion of the chief of the fire department or such other officer as may be designated by the governing body of the municipality after proper inspection shall not be hazardous to property or endanger any person or persons Application for permits shall be made in writing at least fifteen (15) days in advance of the date of the display After such privilege shall have been granted sales possession use and distribution of fireworks for such display shall be lawful for that purpose only No permit granted hereunder shall be transferable

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 755, as follows:

An Act validating certain proceedings and elections of municipalities had and held pursuant to the provisions of an act approved the twentieth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws 65) entitled "An act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities to provide for the redemption of the same and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof" and the amendments and supplements thereto and validating bonds issued or authorized to be issued in pursuance of such proceedings and elections and in case any bonds have been sold by a municipality and the publication of notices of the sale have been defective to cure such defective publication of sale notices and validate the sale thereof

Section 1 All proceedings and elections heretofore had and held by any county city borough township school district or other municipality or incorporated district within this Commonwealth to increase its indebtedness under the method of procedure specified by the provisions of an act of Assembly entitled "An act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities to provide for the redemption of the same and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof" approved the twentieth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws 65) and the acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto where the majority of votes cast at such election was in favor of the increase of indebtedness be and the same are hereby ratified confirmed and made valid notwithstanding such election was held within ninety days after the general election notwithstanding the date of the ordinance or vote deciding such increase was within ninety days after a general election and notwithstanding any defect or informality in the manner of holding mode of conducting or giving notice of such election or in form of the ballot and notwithstanding that the polls at such election were not open a full number of hours provided by law and notwithstanding any patent error of orthography or of numerical statement on any or all of the ballots

All of the bonds securities and obligations issued or to be issued in pursuance of every such election are hereby made valid and binding obligations of every such county city borough township school district or other municipality or incorporated district and also in case any municipal bonds have been sold by a municipality and the publication of notices of the sale have been defective all such bonds securities and obligations sold under defective publication of the notices of such sale are hereby made valid and binding obligations of every such county city borough township school district or other municipality or incorporated district Provided That all the other requirements of law concerning such procedure election and issue of bonds have been complied with And provided further That the provisions of this act shall not apply in any instance where the validity of such election or any issue of bonds or other security based thereon has been made the subject of litigation in any court of the Commonwelath prior to the approval of this act nor to any litigation in any court of this Commonwealth instituted prior to the passage of this act and still pending and undetermined

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1063, as follows:

An Act to add section six hundred twenty-one and one-tenth to and to further amend section six hundred twenty-nine of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws 682) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" defining and regulating group accident and health insurance and extending the exclusion of certain standard policy provisions to ticket policies sold to passengers by common carriers

Section 1 Article six of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws 682) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" is hereby amended by adding after section six hundred twenty-one thereof a new section to read as follows

Section 621.1 Group Accident and Health Insurance (a) Group Accident and Health Insurance is hereby declared to be that form of accident and health insurance covering not less than twenty-five employees or members and which may include the employees or members dependents written under a master policy issued to any governmental corporation unit agency or department thereof or to any corporation copartnership individual empolyer or to any association or organization of employees of one employer its affiliates or subsidiaries or to the members of any labor union or to any oganization or association of Federal or State employees or school teachers or school employees or nurses where officers members employees or classes or departments thereof may be insured for their individual benefit

(b) Any insurer authorized to write accident and health insurance in this State shall have power to issue group accident and health policies No policy of group accident and health insurance may be issued or delivered in this State unless a copy of the form thereof shall have been filed with the Insurance Commissioner and approved by him in accordance with section six hundred sixteen of this act No such policy shall be issued or delivered unless it contains in substance the following provisions

(1) A provision that the policy the application of the employer or executive officer or trustee of any association and the individual application if any of the employes or members insured shall constitute the entire contract between the parties and that all statements made by the employer or the executive officer or trustee or by the individual employes or members shall (in the absence of fraud) be deemed representations and not warranties and that no such statement shall be used in defense to a claim under the policy unless it is contained in a written application

(2) A provision that the insurer will issue to the employer or to the executive officer or trustee of the association for delivery to each employe or member who is insured under such policy an individual certificate setting forth a statement as to the insurance protection to which he is entitled to whom payable and such limitations or requirements in the master policy as may pertain to the individual insured thereunder

(3) A provision that to the group or class thereof originally insured shall be added from time to time all new employes of the employer or members of the association eligible to and applying for insurance in such group or class

(4) A provision stating when the insurance takes effect and when it terminates

(5) A provision that all premiums are payable to the insurer at its home office or to its duly authorized agent if so provided on or before the due date thereof that premium adjustments corresponding to changed conditions shall be granted at the premium due date next succeeding such change after the insurer has had due notice thereof

(6) A provision that written notice of injury or sickness on which a claim or claims may be based shall be given to the insurer at its home office within ten (10) days after the date of the accident causing injury or within twenty (20) days after the commencement of disability from such sickness in event of accidental death immediate notice thereof must be given to the insurer provided that failure to give such notice within such time shall not invalidate any such claim if it shall be shown that such notice was given as soon as reasonably possible and without unnecessary delay

(7) A provision that affirmative proof of loss must be furnished to the insurer at its office in case of claim for loss of time from disability within ninety (90) days after the termination of the period for which the insurer is liable and in case of claim for any other loss within ninety (90) days after the date of such loss

(8) A provision to the effect that no action at law or in equity shall be brought to recover on such policy prior to the expiration of sixty (60) days after proof of loss has been filed in accordance with the requirements thereof nor shall such action be brought at all unless brought within two (2) years from the expiration of the time within which proof of loss is required by such policy

ADDRESS BY MR. KANE

Mr. KANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, on March 28th, I made a serious speech here outlining some defects in our educational system and proposing remedies. Since then I have received plenty of mail denouncing me as a foe of teachers, thereby showing they did not finish reading my speech.

Last week, we had with us another pressure group with little badges on, saying "Defeat S-45." I didn't find anyone who could explain S-45, but all these callow youths and determined-looking lassies were against it just the same. At a public hearing in the Forum of the Education Building, they behaved worse than any group of spoiled children and yet their purpose here as a pressure group was to instil fear into the hearts of any timid lawmakers they met and to be sure that they—ill-mannered and ignorant as many of them were—would be maintained by our silly Life Tenure Bill in charge of our children. I have held hearings attended by the much-abused boot-leg miners and also the C.I.O. miners, but I never heard them hoot and stamp and hiss at any speaker the way these so-called teachers did last week.

Well I think Senate Bill 45 is nonsense and may vote against it because on page 8 it recognizes permanent tenure in so many words but discriminates against a married teacher for maintaining a home.

I noticed with a good deal of pride that there were not many from around McKean County here to protest S-45 and I spent a very pleasant evening, after the hoodlum element got tired talking and went to bed, with a fine old teacher who had worked in the mines when twelve years old and who wanted to know what could be done for others—not himself. A man who had taught judges and senators, he still taught each day. He was proud of his long service as a teacher, but asked no favors of anyone. And it is a pretty bad comment on the teaching profession of today that this fine old fellow would occasionally pause to state: "You know, Mr. Kane, I wouldn't have to teach. I could earn a living if they didn't want me teaching. I have always been proud of the fact that no one would know I was a teacher unless someone told them." He had no objection to a contract of any reasonable term, but he thought life tenure a little bit absurd. But the lesser men in the pressure group wanted lifetime jobs by law. Why? Because in their hearts they doubted if they were worth their pay.

We are not here to pull any chestnuts out of the fire for any pressure groups. I am not for "life termites" anywhere in any public job. And there can be no greater error than supposing a person who was a good student can be hired by anyone with or without investigation and necessarily turn out to be a good teacher. Degrees earned as students mean nothing as to ability to teach or handle students.

This reminds me of a story of a professor of Columbia University with the Degrees of B.S., M.S. and Ph.D., professor Fiddlebunk, who was invited to deliver a lecture in a Wisconsin Norwegian lumber town. When the professor had finished after an hour and a quarter, the toastmaster arose and said, "If anyone here desires to ask the professor any questions, he may do so now." Whereupon one big Norwegian arose and said, "I would like to ask the professor, Mr. Toastmaster, what all dose ledders after his name mean." He said, "Vell, ve all know vot 'B.S.' mean; 'M.S.' means More of Same, und 'Ph.D.' means Piling Higher and Deeper."

If they must have this whole Life Tenure Bill question presented as the ridiculous proposition it is, I am going to help them do it and I am going to compare life tenure for teachers with tenure for court house politicians, who are public servants, but whom every teacher will agree ought not to serve for life.

So here you have it.

The title of this doggerel is:

"SCHOOL HOUSE AND COURT HOUSE TENURE" or "AN OLD OCCUPATIONAL DISEASE OF DEMANDING ADDITIONAL COMPENSATION"

THE TENURE BILL

I.

Time was when teacher knew no joys,
Her lot was work and strife,
But now she's rushed by all the boys,
Her job will last for life.

II.

Time was when teacher dared not wed
For fear she'd lose her job,
Her boy friend had to work instead
While she must frustrate, sob.

III.

The teacher had to try to please,
The school board all had axes,
But now she tells the board to go
To Hell—just raise more taxes.

IV.

Ambition soon will flee our schools,
Why work! What does it gain ya?
If you are smart, you'll hire away;
If dumb, there's Pennsylvania.

V.

Here is a state, both great and free,
The Keystone of the Nation,
Whose people keep us living soft
Though they go through starvation.

VI.

And now, ye teachers, so secure,
Your life is one long Sunday;
And yet on last Election Day
You did not work for Mundy.

VII.

When good old Leo took the count
And lost in his ambition,
The Legislators all took note,
And you slid toward perdition.

VIII.

When our schools are choked with aged drones
And we don't know where to turn,
We'll owe it all to Leo—
The Lion of Luzerne.

IX.

So let's look to our firesides
And let's look to our kids
And give this gang we can't afford
The Legislative skids.

X.

Let's jail the crooks on school boards,
Keep their relatives off pay—
Take from those who never passed
Sixth grade, scholastic sway.

XI.

Let's turn our schools to good account
And train our kids for jobs
And get away from lazy,
Highly cultured little snobs.

XII.

Ashamed of Dad and Mamma,
But still too proud to work
They turn to petty banditry
To pay the soda clerk.

XIII.

A man should feel that when he's spent
His last sou on his daughter,
That she could earn a living
Using what her teacher taught her.

. . . . . .

XIV.

Do doctors hold their jobs by law
If they don't succeed or please?
Is teaching more important
Than the curing of disease?

XV.

Can lawyers or can dentists
By law retain a post
They either please their clients
Or soon give up the ghost.

XVI.

Who hires a carpenter for life
If he doesn't like his work?
We taxpayers must all perform
Or wind up with a jerk.

XVII.

I still say that the question
Is not, should teacher marry
But what kind of a teacher's brain
Does little teacher carry.

XVIII.

We have no right to fire her
If a husband comes her way.
But we have a right to fire her
If she doesn't earn her pay.

XIX.

The beauty of Life Tenure is
It only works one way
Poor teachers can hang on for life
But we can't make good ones stay.

XX.

When vacancies cannot occur
There's no chance for promotion
Young profs who want to get ahead
Had better cross the ocean.

XXI.

Why keep a teacher in a school
And everyone berate her,
Protected by a Tenure Law
When all the children hate her.

XXII.

Why keep a teacher till she dies
Of School House Silicosis;
The children simply will not learn,
If she has halitosis.

So much for Life Tenure for Teachers. Now we come to—

LIFE TENURE FOR COURT HOUSE POLITICIANS

I.

Now Court House drones get running fits
From dust off ancient books
That makes them run for office,
Regardless of their looks.

II.

With hand extended, go about
Clad in their Sunday togs
To kiss the babes and kid the girls,
And shake hands with the dogs.

III.

Some win upon their whiskers,
While others pull the cork,
They pass out cards in endless streams
From Erie clear to York.

IV.

Some ask us to elect them
To get them off relief
While others say their grandpap died
And campaign on their grief.

V.

They seem to think the public
One thing alone should know
"We've held the job for 20 years"
So "Re-elect Old Joe".

VI.

Swift movements in a Court House
Look strangely out of place
Some dare not hurry lest they stare
Their maker in the face.

VII.

A sort of Court House Asthma,
They never call it quits,
Until at last their party
Either rots or blows to bits.

VIII.

There comes a time we ought to give
These loafers all the gate;
These firm believers that they serve,
Who only stand and wait.

IX.

These ancient men who strode Palm Beach
Upon election day,
Now claim that they elected us
And we the debt must pay.

X.

That we who survived Roosevelt
Were carried in by James,
They clamber from the catacombs
To announce their long-dead names.

XI.

They climb out of the pyramids,
Surprised that we survive,
And climb into our chariot,
And now, they want to drive!

XII.

They say that this Assembly,
Just as they claim are "nuts",
We'd get ourselves some tenure,
If we only had the "guts".

XIII.

Though teacher needs a decent chance
I don't see where she rates
One longer than the President
Of these United States.

XIV.

Let's get through this Assembly
An old age pension plan
For aged politicians
And for the teaching clan.

It is time the sensible teachers called a halt to the monkeyshines of their organized inferiors.

There was once a zookeeper who loved children. There was a monkey in that zoo which was a favorite with children and with parents. The night before a lot of children were scheduled to visit the zoo that monkey died. The zookeeper didn't want to let the children down so he hired a jobless friend and got him a monkey-suit to perform in the cage. The children liked him and he liked the job. But he got swinging pretty high and fell into the lion cage. There he faced the lion and screamed and screamed for help. The lion let out a little roar and said: "shut up you fool or we'll both lose our jobs!"

And when you worry about the influence of these pressure groups, remember that Senator Leo Mundy of Luzerne came all the way to my little town as a candidate for Lieutenant Governor. He is a fine gentleman and a distinguished surgeon. He had just become notorious as the author of the Teachers' Lifetime Tenure Act. He was the regular Democratic candidate and he was accompanied by a very fine Pittsburgh lawyer—Charles Alvin Jones.

There are over a hundred teachers right around the borough and fifty more, at least, in the townships on each side and 106 members of the regular Democratic Committee. The candidates were distinguished men. One was the author of the Tenure Bill, Senator Leo Mundy, of Luzerne—the other, the candidate for Governor, who was to uphold it. The meeting was held at noon so everyone could come. There were only 29 persons there to welcome Jones and Mundy and the Republican Assemblyman was one of those. The teachers were conspicuous by their absence. The candidates were embarrassed. The Democratic County Chairman called on me and so I made a speech for Leo Mundy and Charles Alvin Jones, as very fine gentlemen, professional men of excellence and I said that I was sorry I could not vote in the primary for Charles Alvin Jones and Leo Mundy, the regular candidates, and against Senator Guffey's ticket and everything he stands for.

But the teachers all were busy elsewhere, eating dinner, when Mundy came to town. He was a State Senator. He was a distinguished surgeon—the regular candidate of the Democratic organization and the author of the Tenure Act—but the teachers, who claimed they needed Tenure—those teachers let him down.

The worthwhile teachers weren't interested in Lifetime Tenure. The others had no influence on November 8th. The grade school children couldn't vote but the taxpayers could and they did.

ADDRESS BY MR. DENMAN

Mr. DENMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the remarks of the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Kane, were quite interesting and they reminded me of a few articles that I read in the newspapers as I came down here this week, to the effect that the administration is very greatly interested in the plight of the real estate owner and his taxes, and desires to do something for these real estate owners who are having trouble with their taxes.

Mr. Kane spoke about the Tenure Bill, the plight of the teachers. I wonder if we have ever stopped very long to give thought to the cause of this trouble and why these teachers are complaining. Certainly we have somewhat of a cancer here in the State when we cannot pay the teachers who are trying to teach our little children the way they should go. We have teachers in places where hundreds of thousands of dollars are owed to them in back salaries. We say we are going to give them the tremendous sum of one million dollars to overcome this back pay. That is just a drop in the bucket. What Pennsylvania needs and needs quickly is to do something to increase the increment which goes from the State into the various school districts to pay for public school support and reduce school taxes.

We have in this House a number of bills introduced which can take care of this situation and which, if they are reported out on the floor of the House for the consideration of the members of the House, will to a great extent alleviate this hardship on the part of the real estate owners back home. In the Education Committee of this House there are a number of good bills. I admit I have one. I will not say it is a good bill because that is for the membership of this House to say. We propose to help these people back home in lowering taxation on their real estate, especially lowering the school taxes on their real estate. They are being told by the Educational Administration here in Harrisburg that they must build buildings that are monuments to the future, which cost far more than the local communities can afford to pay, and yet the Educational Department at Harrisburg says to them, "You must build a half a million dollar building," but does not say that the money will come from this particular place. It leaves it up to the local board of education to reach down in their pockets and try to make good. We have been very free to pass bills which provide that when a man cannot get a job and cannot get money to pay his taxes and must see his home sold by the sheriff because he cannot pay his taxes, and then in the next breath we will say, "Well, it is too bad, old top, we sold your home because you could not pay your taxes, you just go out in the gutter and be a good boy and a good citizen." Those two things will not work together.

Mr. Speaker, in the Educational Committee in this House there are bills that should come out on the floor for deliberation, and I submit to you that the real estate owners of this State have the right to know from the Chairman of the Educational Committee of this House why they do not bring out the bills from that Committee which will reduce the taxes to the taxpayers back home. He wants to know why you do not. Mr. Kane said something about somebody being given the gate. I am not so sure that if we do not do something in this session of the Legislature, in this session of the House, this spring to consider these bills, that are now being pickled in the Education Committee, I am not so sure but what the real estate owners back home will give us the gate next year, and when he does I am not so sure but what it would have been the right thing to do.

THE SPEAKER (Ellwood J. Turner) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Stockham.

ADDRESS BY MR. BONEY

Mr. BONEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, after sitting and listening to Mr. Kane's discourse, I just happened to come upon an editorial that was written by a very distinguished newspaper man from Luzerne County, Colonel Ernest G. Smith, and for your information and with your kind attention I shall read this article:

ATTACKING TEACHERS' TENURE

"Home school authorities have not been entirely at rest since the Teachers Tenure bill passed into the body of the law of this State. This was the Mundy measure. One high in political councils and influence and perhaps as anxious as any other to perpetuate the status quo, as to regnancy of political party, still sponsored and put through a law that protected teachers from the invasion, humiliations and dominance of politics, gave them back a measure of self respect, and permitted them to give the hours even during campaigns and other disturbances, to their work. No longer were they at the beck and call of the dominant faction. No longer were they in fear of displacement at a change of complexion of the school board.

"Hardly any legislation recently has done more to provide public servants of years and experience and increasing value with that satisfaction and serenity, under which the most generous return can be made in public service.

"Terrific and wide spread abuses led up to this necessary reform. When the status had become so noisome that it could not be worse, reform came. Legislators were moved to sympathy with the purpose of the bill.

"There are those who think the teachers could have been protected in their positions without certain other features of the bill which they earnestly asseverate has interfered with the discretion of the boards. They think protection has gone beyond the reasonable and has tempted the unreasonable. In this not many will agree though there is color for the thought that upright boards should not be robbed of all disciplinary sway over the teaching force. However, since this law concerns tenure, importantly and chiefly, and does effect wider fields of board control like contracts for supplies, and first selections of teachers, nor filling such vacancies as are likely to occur, it is asserted, and plausibly, that the boards can well measure up to a reasonable ambition in their work and have a certain pride in it. This view is formed by the fact the scheming boards were largely responsible for the law, because they had so often and so palably abu d discretion, and had lent themselves to these many degrading political tricks. It is easily seen now that with the loose methods heretofore prevailing, boards sometimes were utterly lost to decency or held by the urge of making dollars out of the unfortunate, and they did profit by kick backs in naming new teachers to posts or in holding a threat of dismissal over them along the way.

"Because such things were done, and in certain instances almost expected to be done, and because the new law has cured them, there should not be alteration or amendment in these respects. Legislature will realize that in this act thousands of public servants lived more freely and that the school system had a new infusion of justice and dignity and right.

"Perhaps amendments somewhat altering the period of probation are well enough, not harmful to the spirit of the law itself but favorable to it. As to the ruling features, the essential genius of the Teachers' Tenure Act, there should be no change, and to permit any change in essentials would stultify the legislators and return them to a class of opportunists willing to connive in political rottenness."

RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL NO. 439

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 439, Printer's No. 302, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and two of the act approved the fourth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (Pamphlet Laws 127) entitled "An act relating to adoption" as amended by authorizing nonresidents to adopt persons within the Commonwealth and validating certain adoption proceedings heretofore decreed passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. GILLAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Gillan, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. GILLAN. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend bill, page 1, line 1, by inserting at the beginning of said line the following: "Section 1."

Amend bill, page 1, line 1, by striking out the words: "Section one"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Legislative Journal.

Session 1939. 133d of the General Assembly.

Vol. 23 HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 19, 1939. No. 40.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, April 19, 1939.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, p. m.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS, offered the following prayer:

O King of Glory, Lord of Hosts, in deepest unworthiness we approach Thy holy Throne this day because we have followed too much the devices and desires of our own hearts. We have not sought Thy will as we should neither have we desired too much interference with our own plans. We have strayed from Thy ways like lost sheep.

Father of Mercy, deal not with us after our sins nor judge us according to our iniquities, for if Thou dost, O Lord, who shall stand?

Help us to be men strong in courage, definite in purpose, honest in endeavor and consecrated in spirit that this day we may serve Thee in this legislative chamber as workmen approved unto Thee.

For Thy name's sake. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. OWLETT and Mr. GELDER, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

RESOLUTION OPPOSING TWO BILLS, SENATE BILL No. 134 AND HOUSE BILL No. 56

Mr. KILGALLEN offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

Whereas, There are now pending in the State Legislature, two Bills, S. 134 and H. R. 56, requiring all aliens residing in this State and not possessing a valid Declaration of Intention, to register and pay an annual fee of five dollars, subject to fine and imprisonment, and,

Whereas, We, the Members of the Catholic Radical Alliance, believe enactment of such measures to be unnecessary, unreasonable, and of doubtful constitutionality, in view of the fact that supervision of alien entry, residence, and registration is already vested, by Act of Congress, in the Commissioner General of Immigration, United States Department of Labor, and,

Whereas, Such alien entry is still further supervised by quota-control officers of the Consular Service, United States Department of State, residing in foreign countries, who examine information given on questionnaires, eliminating from lists of admissibles all those excluded by law, and,

Whereas, The Commissioner General of Immigration in this Country and Consular Agents abroad, cooperate in carrying out the provisions of Federal Immigration Acts, in order to protect the rights of citizens of the States and of the United States, to protect the natural rights of alien persons and to safeguard the general welfare of the individual States and of the United States, and,

Whereas, Alien residents of this State are subject to Immigration Laws of the United States, including examination by Agents of the Consular Service in foreign ports of embarkation, scrutiny by Public Health and Immigration Officers at the Port of Entry, registration and examination to determine probable fitness for American citizenship, and

Whereas, To guard against illegal entry and residence, the National Congress has broadened the authority of the said Commissioner General of Immigration, vesting that office with power to deport criminals, incompetents, imbeciles, illiterates, and undesirables, and,

Whereas, We recognize the necessity for proper enforcement of existing regulations governing alien entry, residence, and registration, we believe the processes by which existing Alien and Immigration Acts were written into law and are now being enforced, adequately provide for any emergencies arising out of alien entry, residence, and registration, and,

Whereas, The power to collect fees, impose fines, and inflict imprisonment, in a field of policy which the custom and usage of one hundred and fifty years of Constitutional procedure have assigned to the Federal Government, ought not to be multiplied, duplicated, exaggerated, or usurped by State governments, and,

Whereas, The proposed Bills with their schedules of fees, fines, and imprisonment, contemplate an unwarranted and unjustifiable exercise and extension of the police power, susceptible of vicious, malicious, and tyrannical misuse and abuse, dangerous alike to the natural rights of alien residents and the civil and political rights of citizens of this Commonwealth, and,

Whereas, It is a fact of history that during periods of hysteria, many innocent aliens were subjected to brutal inquisition, held in jail without warrant, and released only when no case could be established to justify their continued detention, and,

Whereas, It is the consensus of opinion of this Membership that the said Bills are not only legislative persiflage. but violative of the sanctuary this Nation has always offered refugees from political or religious persecution, regardless of whether such refugees came by way of Ellis Island or Plymouth Rock, and,

Whereas, The said Bills are themselves ALIEN to the traditions of the State in which the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States were adopted, and ALIEN likewise to the spirit and intention in which a liberty-loving people ratified that Constitution, therefore be

Resolved, That We, the Members of the Catholic Radical Alliance, oppose their purpose and resist every attempt to enact them into law, and,

Further Be It Resolved, That the next of these Resolutions be entered upon our Minutes, that copies be forwarded to our Representatives and Senators in the State Legislature, and copies be forwarded to the Pittsburgh Catholic, the Pittsburgh Press, the Sun-Telegraph, and the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

FRANCIS G. HENSLER
Rev. CHAS. OWEN RICE

Rep. HOLLAND also has a copy of the Resolution.

JOINT RESOLUTION REGARDING SUSPENSION OF PRODUCTION OF BITUMINOUS COAL

Mr. MALLERY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

Whereas, The present economic crisis in the Commonwealth has been seriously aggravated by a suspension in the production of bituminous coal; and

Whereas, This suspension has now continued for a period of almost three weeks and there is a grave uncertainty as to when the differences between the operators and the miners will be amicably adjusted; and

Whereas, The bituminous coal industry of this Commonwealth furnishes direct employment to 125,000 men and furnishes direct support to approximately 600,000 people and indirectly for thousands of other citizens of the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The welfare of the people of this Commonwealth requires that the existing differences be speedily adjusted and it is the duty of everyone to unite and strive for the accomplishment of this end; and

Whereas, the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania representing all of its people realizes the necessity for rehabilitating the basic coal industry and has legislation pending in the General Assembly to aid it in regaining its former industrial position; and

Whereas, a continuation of the present lack of production will result in permanent harm to the future production of bituminous coal because of the use of substitute fuels; Now Therefore Be It

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby urges the conferees representing the operators and miners to perform a patriotic duty in the interest of all the people and reconcile their differences immediately for the common good so that the production of bituminous coal may be resumed at an early date and the wheels of industry be kept turning; And Further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted by telegraph by the Chief Clerk of the Senate to the conferees now meeting in the city of New York.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 34, entitled:

An Act to further amend section five hundred eight of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by further regulating the incurring of temporary indebtedness and the repayment thereof

Section 1 Section five hundred eight of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws 309) entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as last amended by section three of the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 2860) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 508 Any school district having no indebtedness or whose indebtedness incurred or created without the assent of the electors thereof is less than two (2) per centum of the total valuation of the taxable property for school purposes therein may at any time for the purpose of providing funds in any fiscal year for current expenses and debt service for permanent improvements or in anticipation of proceeds from a bond issue already officially authorized and approved by the Department of Internal Affairs with such limitations and for such length of term as hereinafter provided by or through its board of school directors incur in addition to any bonds therein authorized a temporary debt or borrow money and issue an obligation or obligations therefor under the seal of the district if any properly attested by the president and secretary thereof and bearing interest not exceeding the legal rate but no such obligation shall be sold for less than par Provided That the incurring of any such temporary debt or borrowing money upon such obligation shall receive the affirmative vote of not less than two-thirds of the members of the board of school directors therein

The total amount of temporary indebtedness incurred for current expenses and debt service shall at no time exceed an amount equal to the State appropriations not received but payable during the fiscal year and the tax levied upon taxable property within such school district for school purposes and remaining uncollected and unpledged for the current fiscal year Provided That for a period of five years from the effective date of these amendments any temporary indebtedness incurred for current expenses and debt service may equal but not exceed the State appropriations not received but payable during the fiscal year and all taxes levied upon taxable property within the school district for school purposes for past years as well as for the current fiscal year and remaining uncollected and unpledged All such loans shall be paid out of the receipts available or pledged for the repayment thereof when and as the said funds are received Provided That the total amount of the temporary indebtedness for such purpose remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year shall become an obligation upon the following year's budget and be included therein

The total amount of temporary indebtedness incurred in any school district for the purpose of permanent improvements shall at no time in school districts of the first and second class exceed one-half of one (1) per centum of the last assessed valuation of taxable property for school purposes therein and in school districts of the third and fourth class two (2) per centum of such assessed valuation Provided That at or before the time of incurring such indebtedness for such purpose provision shall be made for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest and also the principal thereof within the term of such indebtedness as hereinafter provided Provided That the total indebtedness in any school district of the first class including all bonded indebtedness and temporary indebtedness shall never exceed two (2) per centum of the last assessed valuation of taxable property for school purposes therein and in school districts of the second third and fourth class shall not exceed seven (7) per centum of such assessed valuation

The total amount of temporary indebtedness incurred in anticipation of proceeds from a bond issue already officially authorized and approved by the Department of Internal Affairs as hereinbefore provided shall not exceed seventy-five (75) per centum of the full amount of bonds authorized by such bond issue

All money borrowed for the purpose of current expenses and debt service as hereinbefore provided and remaining unpaid at the close of any fiscal year shall be paid out of the receipts of the following fiscal year for school districts as heretofore provided but in all events not later than the first day of July of such following year in school districts of the first class and not later than the first day of November in school districts of the second third and fourth class Provided That all temporary indebtedness for such purpose existing prior to the first day of July one thousand nine hundred [thirty-seven] thirty-nine shall be payable at any time not to exceed three years thereafter.

All money borrowed for permanent improvements for which no bond issue has been provided and for which an obligation or obligations other than bonds have been issued shall be paid within three years from date of issue of such obligation together with interest and at least one-third of the total principal of the original loan shall be paid annually Such obligation or obligations may be paid in full or in part each year when the taxes are received and reborrowed again the latter part of the fiscal year Provided That the amount reborrowed is less than the amount borrowed the preceding year by at least one-third of the total amount of the original loan Provided further That each time the money is reborrowed the date and purpose for which it was originally borrowed shall be restated Provided further That the amount of the original loan shall be paid in full within a maximum term of three years from the date of the original loan for such purpose

All obligations other than bonds issued by any school district in anticipation of proceeds from a bond issue already officially authorized and approved by the Department of Internal Affairs shall be paid in full together with interest out of the proceeds of such bond issue within one year six months from the date of authorization of such bond issue

In case of an emergency any school district in this Commonwealth in any fiscal year after incurring temporary indebtedness for current expenses and debt service to the full extent of the provisions hereinbefore provided and finding the receipts from said temporary loans together with all other receipts to be inadequate to meet the expenditures of the official fiscal year's budget may appeal to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction for permission to increase the temporary indebtedness of such school district beyond the amount hereinbefore provided and shall present to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction or his agent such financial statements or reports as he may require to give him adequate facts relative to the necessity of such increase in indebtedness The State Superintendent of Public Instruction is hereby authorized after due examination of the need of such school district either to refuse or grant permission to such school district to borrow additional funds beyond the provisions hereinbefore provided and in case of approval he shall set a maximum limit of the total amount of additional temporary indebtedness that such school district may incur during the fiscal year in addition to all temporary indebtedness outstanding at the time of such approval Provided That such additional amount of temporary indebtedness together with all other temporary indebtedness at any time for the purpose of payments on current expenses and debt service in school districts of the first [and second] class shall not exceed four-tenths of one (1) per centum and in school districts of the second class shall not exceed three-fourths of one (1) per centum and in school districts of the third and fourth class shall not exceed one (1) per centum of the total amount of taxable property in such district and the total indebtedness for such purposes together with all other indebtedness incurred without authorization by vote of the electors of the district shall at no time exceed two (2) per centum of the last total assessed valuation of the taxable property therein All temporary indebtedness remaining unpaid at the end of the fiscal year shall be paid in the same manner as hereinbefore provided

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon its approval by the Governor

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 389, (House Bill No. 574) on third reading, entitled:

A Supplement to the act, approved the second day of July, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven, (Appropriation Acts, page seventy-four), entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and the support of the public schools for two years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven; and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven," providing for deficiencies in certain appropriations for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine and providing for the payment of certain of the deficiency appropriations out of revenues of the fiscal biennial period beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I find that Senate Bill No. 389 is not in my file; but I understand that it is in the files of some of the other members.

I should like a page to bring me a copy so that I may familiarize myself with the amendment.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I move that the Senate Bill No. 389, go over in order.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I understand that this bill will just go over in order temporarily, and will be considered in a short time.

The PRESIDENT. It has been suggested that Senate Bill No. 389, go over temporarily, until the Senator from Montgomery has had an opportunity to read it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 518, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one, and a part of section two of the act approved the thirteenth day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three (P. L. 119) entitled "An act for the promotion of medical science by the distribution and use of unclaimed human bodies for scientific purpose through a board created for that purpose and to prevent unauthorized uses and traffic in human bodies" changing the membership of the board and the functions of the Secretary of Health with reference thereto requiring audits by the Auditor General and reports of the activities of the board and increasing the maximum amount that may be expended for burial of unclaimed bodies unfit for anatomical purposes

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Warren, Dr. Chapman.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Warren, Dr. Chapman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I do not know enough about the anatomical situation to get mixed up in that, and I am not interested in the disposition of dead bodies from the morgue, but why it is necessary to increase the minimum from $50 to $75 to the Coroner of Philadelphia for the purpose of burying bodies They seem to get along very well with the $50 maximum. Why do they need $75.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, the minimum was $35.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, is there any real reason to increase the amount to $75?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I think that may be remedied.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I move that this bill go over in order, so that it may be amended.

I have not heard any clamor from those gentlemen in Philadelphia, who remove those dead bodies from the morgue, for more money. The minimum is $35, Mr. President, but they always get the maximum.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 518, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one, and a part of section two of the act approved the thirteenth day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three (P. BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WALKER, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 543, on second reading, entitled:

An Act providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of all subjects of taxation in counties of the second class creating and prescribing the powers and duties of a Board of Property Assessment Appeals and Review imposing duties on certain county and city officers abolishing the board for the assessment and revision of taxes in such counties and prescribing penalties go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 544, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to promote uniformity in the assessment and taxation of properties and persons within the territorial limits shall be assessed levied and collected upon the basis of the county assesements imposing duties on county taxing authorities abolishing the department of assessors in cities of the second class and transferring certain property to county taxing authorities go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the Senator from Delaware tell the Senate whether the name of John Bauer of Delaware county is known to him.

Mr. HEYBURN. Yes, sir, Mr. President.

Mr SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the Senator from Delaware tell the members of the Senate who John Bauer happens to be.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, he is Secretary to John J. McClure, my predeccessor.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, is the gentleman familiar enough to know whether it is not so that this is the man who was convicted in the Federal Courts for the crime of collecting from bawdy houses.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, Yes, I believe he was convicted in the trial of 1933.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, was the gentleman consulted at all prior to his appointment as Registrar of Vital Statistics in Delaware County?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the first I knew about it, I saw it in the local papers last Friday or Saturday.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Then the gentleman had nothing to do with the appointment?

Mr. HEYBURN. No, indeed, Mr. President, I did not.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am glad to know that no member of this Senate had anything to do with that appointment.

MOTION TO CONSIDER SENATE BILL No. 404.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resume consideration of Senate Bill No. 404, on second reading postponed for the present.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 404, as follows:

BILL ON SECOND READING

An Act providing for a uniform commission to fire insurance agents prohibiting additional compensation or excess commission in any form providing for the enforcement of the provisions of this act by the Insurance Commissioner and imposing penalties

Section 1 In order that rates for insurance against the hazards of fire shall be reasonable it shall be unlawful for any fire insurance company association or exchange licensed in this Commonwealth to directly or indirectly pay or allow or offer or agree to allow any commission or other compensation or anything of value other than a standard commission of twenty-five per centum of the premium paid to any person for acting as its agent in respect to any class of such insurance On the written complaint of any insurer or any agent licensed in this Commonwealth that there has been any violation of the provisions of this act or when the Insurance Commissioner deems it necessary without such complaint the Commissioner shall inquire whether or not there has been any violation of the provisions of this act in the commissions paid or payable on such risks in this Commonwealth

Section 2 Any fire insurance company association or exchange and any agent expert person copartnership association or corporation violating any of the provisions of this act shall be subject to a penalty of five hundred dollars ($500) for each violation to be sued for and recovered by the Insurance Commissioner or by any citizen of this Commonwealth and paid into the State Treasury through the Department of Revenue

Section 3 All acts and parts of act inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the second time.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 404, the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on Insurance for the purpose of further study.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Westmoreland will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have here a page from the Congressional Record which I know will be of interest to all of the members of the Senate. Rather than take up the time of the Senate I would like to ask that it be printed in the Journal, and the members of the Senate may read it, if they so desire. It happens to be the speech of Senator Guffey before the House of Representatives and the members of the Senate several weeks ago.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I object to it being printed in the Journal. I have no objection to the clerk reading the speech again, if that is what the Senator from Westmoreland wants.

Mr. DENT. The Senator from Montgomery has asked for it and he is going to get it. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, I will read every word of it.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, in order to avoid the necessity of forcing the Senators to listen to the speech again I would ask if the Senator from Montgomery would be willing to withdraw his objection.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Westmoreland.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, may I ask the Senator from Westmoreland whether this is literature.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, Sir?

Mr. EDMONDS. Is it literature, Mr. President?

Mr. DENT. Yes, Mr. President, it is literature.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, is it classic?

Mr. DENT. Yes, Mr. President, it is classic.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, is it truthful?

Mr. DENT. Yes, Mr. President. I am only putting the Democratic speech in, so it is true.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, just exactly as an actual matter of fact, what good comes to the State from putting it into the Journal?

Mr. DENT. Well, Mr. President, I might refer you to the gentleman who sponsored the resolution asking these men to come here, and give their version of conditions as they are; and if they wanted them here, I think not only the General Assembly ought to know exactly what they said thought the condition of the nation, but everybody should know.

Mr. EDMONDS. Well, the Senator from Tioga suggests that if I continue my objection the Senator from Westmoreland will read the speech.

Mr. DENT. Word by word, Mr. President, in full.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I think I could stand it as a sort of musical performance, but it would take a lot of time, and, therefore, I will withdraw my objection.

The PRESIDENT. The speech of Senator Guffey, which the Senator from Westmoreland requests be spread upon the Journal, will be spread upon the Journal as requested.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I would suggest that both speeches be printed, so that we may be able to distinguish between "classical" and "jackassical."

ADDRESS BY SENATOR JOSEPH F. GUFFEY

Mr. GUFFEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have inserted in the Congressional Record an exact copy of Resolution No. 14, passed by the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, and the address I delivered in response thereto.

Resolution 14

The whole world is distressed and waring and following strange dogmas.

Our own country continues in the grip of the severest economic depression and financial panic in our history.

The federal administration by its domestic policy has engendered an unhealthy class consciousness within our borders.

Secret diplomacy a policy strange to our Republic threatens to embroil our Nation in the dangerous and viscious disputes of Europe.

The policy of reciprocal trade tariffs seem to build up our unemployment roles rather than spur trade.

The dangerous "isms" of Europe appear to be fostered and encouraged by certain federal bureaus threatening the overflow of our government.

The whole New Deal has created the largest debt in our history makes no effort to balance its budgets and threatens inflation.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has a large interest in these problems and a great stake in the economic affairs of the United States, therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Speaker of this House of Representatives be directed to communicate with the two United States Senators the Honorable Joseph F Guffey and the Honorable James J. Davis the Keystone State's ambassadors to the seat of the federal government at Washington and invite them to appear together at an agreeable time before this House and give to its members a report of the state of the Nation to the end that Pennsylvania may be fully and authentically advised of the things which threaten our people and that this great Commonwealth may be the better guided in the farmulation of a legislative policy that shall protect her best interests and the quicker relieve her distress.

Address of Hon. Joseph F. Guffey, of Pennsylvania, before the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on the evening of Monday, March 27, 1939, in response to House Resolution No. 14 of the session of 1939.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House of Representatives, I wish to express my gratitude to your honorable body for affording me this opportunity to render a report on the problems of the Congress and their relationship to your own legislative program for our Commonwealth.

All of you are familiar with the reports given to Congress by the President of the United States, in which he outlines the major issues facing our Nation. These reports have been supplemented from time to time by numerous hearings, both public and private, before the various committees of the Senate and House. It is on the basis of Presidential messages and the information furnished at committee hearings that the Congress necessarily must base its actions.

Above all, the legislative bodies of the Nation, both in Washington and in the State capitals, from coast to coast, view with ever-increasing anxiety the steady advance in foreign lands of political principles alien to our American concepts of democracy.

Communism and fascism, both based upon the theory of the individual's subordination to the state, have gathered force and momentum during the years since the World War. They are dominant today in Russia, Germany, and Italy. They are contending against each other for domination in Spain. They lie at the root of the warfare that is still raging in China. They are beginning to play an important part in the affairs of our southern neighbors—Mexico and the republics of South America.

We fear, and with good reason, that the present state of affairs in Europe is such that any untoward incident may be sufficient to embroil the great powers in another World War. The very thought of such a conflict fills our American people with foreboding. They naturally fear, because of the economic interdependence of the nations of the world, that such a conflict inevitably will involve the United States.

There are some who dare to assert that the President has not been entirely frank and candid with the people in his foreign diplomacy; some people who profess to believe that secret negotiations have been under way to aline the United States with Great Britain and the other great democracies of the world in anticipation of a life-and-death struggle with the advancing dictatorships.

Nothing could be further from the truth. Nothing could be more typical of the numerous efforts that have been made, sometimes in malice and sometimes in ignorance, to cast doubt upon the policies adopted by the President of the United States. America may well feel gratified that its ship of state has at the helm a man not dedicated to the interests of the international financiers who bred war, not imbued with the old doctrine that the American flag follows the American dollar.

While President Roosevelt has firmly and resolutely protected our American nations in the war areas abroad, he has just as firmly and resolutely resisted all efforts of impassioned partisans to involve the United States in diplomatic incidents. There is no doubt in my mind that on more than one occasion his concern for the peace of this Nation has impelled him to act contrary to his own sympathies.

There is no foundation whatever to the repeated partisan cries that the national administration has been engaged in secret diplomacy contrary to the best interests of the Nation.

I make reference to this because the resolution extending the invitation for me to speak here flatly asserts that such "secret diplomacy" is being practiced. I need only mention that the former Republican Secretary of State, Hon. Henry Stimson, has clearly and unmistakably refuted these claims, and has upheld in the strongest terms the position taken by the President and Secretary Hull.

It should be obvious to everyone that in all diplomacy there are some cries which must be handled without fanfare. Everyone knows that no formal and binding agreements have been, or can be, made until they are publicly presented to and ratified by the Senate of the United States.

If I was surprised at the resolution of this House flatly asserting that "secret diplomacy" was a definite policy of the Roosevelt administration, I was even more amazed to find this House asserting that "the dangerous 'isms' of Europe appear to be fostered and encouraged by certain Federal bureaus threatening the overthrow of our Government." The mere suggestion that any Federal bureau is threatening the overthrow of our Government or fostering and encouraging alien political principles contrary to American traditions of government is so fantastic as to fall of its own weight.

I cannot think that any Member of this House would lend credence to such idle gossip, which has been repeatedly investigated and repeatedly found to be false. Nor is any refutation of the charge necessary, for no evidence of any kind whatsoever has been brought forward to support it.

I say flatly, and I want you to mark my words, that if dangerous alien "isms" gain ground in this Nation they will do it because of our failure—your failure and my failure and the failure of the American people—to meet the great economic problems that confront us today.

The seed of discontent does not grow until the soil is fertile. One grasping, avaricious employer who denies elementary justice to his workers, one State legislature unmindful of its duty to defend the rights of labor and agriculture and the average man, can do more to promote fascism or communism in this Nation than a whole army of agitators backed by all the gold in Moscow. Your resolution says that "the Federal administration by its domestic policy has engendered an unhealthy class consciousness within our borders." Such a statement is utter nonsense. Class consciousness does not arise from any Federal policy. It arises from wretched working conditions, from low pay and long hours, from unemployment and distress, from the hunger of women and children. It arises from the primary instinct of self-preservation. And it reached its peak, not under the administration of President Roosevelt, but under the administration of Herbert Hoover, when this Nation was as close to class warfare and revolution as it has ever been in all its history. President Roosevelt, by his inspiring leadership, saved us from that ultimate disaster, and for that achievement of statesmanship we all owe him our undying gratitude.

If, on the other hand, your resolution means that the Federal administration, by its labor policies, has made the worker conscious of his dignity as a man and his rights as a citizen, then I am sure the administration will gladly plead guilty.

What policy, or what legislation, I ask, has brought about this so-called unhealthy class consciousness? The Wagner Act, that protects the fundamental right of labor to organize into unions and bargain collectively? The Wage and Hour Act, that establishes absolute minimum conditions for health and decency? The Social Security Act, that guarantees the worker against hunger and destitution in old age? The burden of proof, ladies and gentlemen, rests not upon the accused but upon the accuser.

The same applies, and with equal force, to the accusation that the policy of reciprocal trade tariffs seems to build up our unemployment rolls rather than spur trade.

Without burdening you with figures, which are available in great detail in the United States Department of Commerce, I merely point out that the reciprocal trade agreements have tremendously increased the dollar volume of American trading abroad, without proportionately increasing imports of manufactured goods. Through the trade agreements program, employment in the United States has been increased and business activity stimulated.

We now approach, ladies and gentlemen, some of the fundamental questions raised in your resolution. The first is that our own country continues in the grip of the severest economic depression and financial crisis in our history. The second is that the whole New Deal has created the largest debt in our history, makes no effort to balance its Budgets, and threatens inflation.

Let us consider a few simple facts. Our country scraped bottom financially in 1929 as the logical outcome of policies followed by three successive Republican Presidents—Harding, Coolidge, and Hoover.

After the dizzy speculative inflation of that period there was a still dizzier descending spiral of deflation that almost wrecked the country. President Roosevelt stepped into the breach in the emergency and saved our country from bankruptcy. His emergency measures were met with loud acclaim by business, because business was scared to death. Those measures gained for this country the most precious thing in the world at the moment—time. They allowed time to proceed with the second phase of economic reconstruction, the reform of evil practices, the establishment of new safeguards to eliminate the factors responsible for our economic collapse.

You all know what happened then. Once the storm had passed the special privileged interests immediately wanted to lapse back into the old ways that had proved so disastrous. Knowing full well that the exploitation of labor and agriculture had resulted in destruction of purchasing power, which is in a real sense the fuel that makes our economic machine go, they insisted upon going back to the "good old days."

They not only went on a sit-down strike by refusing to cooperate with the President, but also took an active part in the movement to destroy the New Deal in its entirety.

After the President has pulled them out of the rut they not only got off the bandwagon but tried to pull it back the way it had come. They wanted rescue, but not reform. They were enjoying the new purchasing power that the New Deal has created, but they didn't want to pay for it either in wages or in taxes. They wanted the cake and the penny too.

Instead of purchasing power, they wanted lower rates. Instead of reform, they wanted confidence. They proclaimed that there would be no recovery until they got what they wanted. They conveniently forgot that they had been given all kinds of tax reductions, not to mention "confidence," during those dizzy years that ended with such a bang in 1929.

They insisted upon Budget balancing, with the result that the first move in that direction abruptly ended the comparative prosperity of 1937 and brought on the recession of 1938. Cause and effect followed quickly and surely. Now they are at it again, and, our recent history shows that if they succeed they will get just what they asked for—a still further business slump and more taxes to meet the relief needs it will create.

Your resolution, ladies and gentlemen, says, that the New Deal has "created the largest debt in our history." I believe it would be fairer to say that the debt was created before the New Deal came into existence, because the New Deal's expenditures have been made to restore a structure that was practically destroyed by its predecessor.

If you took over a house that was not habitable and had to spend large sums to prevent it from collapsing altogether, would you not say that the debt had been created by the neglect of the former owner and that you merely assumed it? For that is what the New Deal did; it assumed the debt that was its heritage from the Harding-Coolidge-Hoover crash.

The question is, Has the New Deal made no effort to balance its Budgets? You all know that the President has made a careful and proper distinction between normal and emergency expenditures. The Nation's normal budget is balanced.

The emergency budget, the budget for the care of the victims of depression, has not been balanced. You are perfectly familiar with that distinction, for you are doing the same thing here in Harrisburg.

You have before you a balanced budget for normal expenditures of departments and a highly unbalanced budget for relief. In fact, your relief budget is shortchanged at least $110,000,000, and everyone seems to be accepting the fact calmly. As I said in Washington recently, your Governor is betting $110,000,000 that President Roosevelt will lick the unemployment problem before he leaves office.

You would have no thought, I am sure, of balancing your budget by refusing to provide for the hungry. Neither has the Roosevelt administration, and the plain fact is that the Nation's emergency budget probably will remain unbalanced until the need for relief disappears.

Unbalanced budgets are not unfamiliar to Pennsylvania, even without a relief problem. In the States largest city, Philadelphia, the third largest city in the country, the Republican Party has been in power for a century, and the city's budget hasn't been balanced for as far back as I can remember. Although it has provided little or nothing for relief at any time, its funded debt, today is well over a half billion dollars, its employes go unpaid, and in spite of its recent sales tax it is talking of pawning the gas-plant revenues.

I am sure the Republican members of this House from Philadelphia must have had their tongues in their cheeks when they voted to accuse the New Deal of failing to balance its Budget.

Ladies and gentlemen, you should give thanks that the Federal Government's relief budget is unbalanced, for your problem would be far greater if it were. Let us suppose for a moment that the Senate were to take you seriously in the matter of Budget balancing and suddenly turn the relief problem entirely back to the States. It would be utterly appalling.

With your own budget more than $110,000,000 out of balance, with your principal city practically bankrupt, with your business establishments and industries complaining of taxation, with your real estate groaning under an already insupportable loan, you would have to go out and double—yes, more than double; triple and quadruple—your present emergency taxes.

Just think that over when you speak of Federal Budget balancing. And I warn you that your Pennsylvania friends and political supporters are in Washington right now fighting to have the Budget balanced. God help them—and you—if they should succeed, for the problem would then be yours, and any new taxes you might levy would be theirs, either directly if you taxed industry or indirectly if you attacked purchasing power through a consumers' tax.

The blunt fact is that the relief problem has to be met, and if Congress balances the National Budget by shirking its responsibility you will have to step into the breach.

I hope I may be pardoned if I remind you, since the political campaigning is over for the present, that the Republican Members of this House, and your Republican Governor, solemnly pledged to reduce taxes when elected. In fact, your Governor as a candidate charged that the Democratic administration had established a little New Deal—as if that were something dishonorable—and that the Democratic taxes were "punitive" taxes against business.

Yet today you have before you a budget which not only levies the same amount of taxes but the very same taxes, the identical taxes item by item, and it is freely admitted that even these will not be sufficient.

Now that the campaign is over, of course, the situation is different because you are faced with realities. I would like to ask that you face another reality, the need for continued Federal appropriations for the unemployed. Naturally Republican candidates were expected to fire away at the unbalancing of the Federal Budget while they were candidates, but it's time now to come down to earth. If you want to make good Governor James' implied budget prediction of recovery, and if you want to avoid the necessity for levying tremendous additional taxes a year from now, you should cooperate to the limit in the effort that we are making to provide adequate Federal aid to the needy.

As one of the two representatives from Pennsylvania in the upper House of Congress I am doing everything in my power to bring that about. I want to declare now that I am going to vote to restore the $150,000,000 that was cut out of the W. P. A. relief appropriations bill some weeks ago. This will make available to Pennsylvania an additional sum in excess of $10,000,000 for W. P. A. relief purposes. If my associates and I should fail, you will have to take up the burden, and therefore it is of greatest importance to you that we succeed.

I offer you my fullest and heartiest cooperation. I'm down in Washington fighting for Pennsylvania's best interests, and I'll welcome your help. If you will approach the problems facing our State and our Nation with sincerity and candor, if you will consider the interests of all our citizens rather than a few, if you will concentrate on real issues rather than some of the ward politics' bugaboos that mark your resolution, we will make real progress.

Your request for guidance in the formulation of legislative policy may seem somewhat ironic when addressed to me, accompanied as it is by an attack upon policies to which I am unalterably committed, but nevertheless I am going to take it at face value.

My advice is simply this:

Defend and amplify the liberal statutes enacted by the legislature that preceded you, see to it that they are administered faithfully and well, fix your tax levies on the basis of ability to pay, cooperate with the New Deal in its effort to restore prosperity by restoring purchasing power, meet your legislative issues squarely instead of dodging them with a maximum of concern for public welfare and a minimum of politics.

If you can do that the platforms of both parties will be carried out and you will go down in history as one of the greatest legislatures ever to sit at Harrisburg.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce bills at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. OWLETT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 612, entitled:

The House met at 1 P. M.

The SPEAKER (Ellwood J. Turner) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas George Baxter, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, bend low, and whisper to us the language of the eternal, that we may know the things that are of infinite value. Reveal to us Thy plan that we may keep in harmony with it. Transport our manhood to its highest peak of thought and action that we may do the best we know. Give us breadth of vision, depth of thought, and solemnity of life, that we may think and act in accordance to Thy will. Help us to know that obedience to vision is dedication to duty. May loyalty to country be exceeded only by loyalty to God. O Lord, be near us, to guide, even to the last mile. Through Jesus Christ, our Lord, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. DENMAN. RESOLUTION No. 70.

In the House of Representatives, April 18, 1939.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania cannot sell itself to manufacturers outside its borders or induce those who have left to return unless it offers some inducement; and

Whereas, The Government of the Commonwealth itself purchases many articles for use in its various activities and institutions, but in such purchases shows no preference for articles grown, mined or manufactured in Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, Many purchases are made by or through the Department of Property and Supplies of goods grown, mined or manufactured without the Commonwealth, and with no thought of the benefit that would accrue to Pennsylvania if some preference was given to the growers, miners and manufacturers of Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, Pennsylvania imposes upon and collects from its manufacturers taxes which help to keep its activities and its institutions functioning, and in fairness should assist in every way to promote business for them; therefore be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth, That the Secretary of the Department of Property and Supplies, in making purchases of goods and materials for use in the various departments and institutions of the Commonwealth, shall select and purchase, whenever possible, only such goods and materials as are grown, mined or manufactured within the Commonwealth or made from materials grown or mined within the Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be immediately transmitted to His Excellency, the Governor, and to the Secretary of the Department of Property and Supplies.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Allen asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. REYNOLDS for today's session.

Unless the county treasurer shall so determine and publicly announce an extension to a date not later than November first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine of the last day which under this act a taxpayer may make his first installment payment and be entitled to the benefits of the act in order to receive the benefits of the installment system of payment provided by this act twenty per centum of the delinquent taxes due for the delinquent taxes due for the tax year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight and all previous years and of of the accured interest due on the one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six and one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven and one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight taxes shall be paid on or before the first day of August one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine twenty per centum on or before the first day of August one thousand nine hundred and forty twenty per centum on or before the first day of August one thousand nine hundred and forty-one twenty per centum on or before the first day of August one thousand nine hundred and forty-two and the final twenty per centum on or before the first day of August one thousand nine hundred and forty-three and all such taxes for the years subsequent to the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine during such installment periods assessed and levied by such taxing authority shall be paid before they become delinquent For the purposes of this act a tax shall be deemed to become delinquent on the date when a penalty attaches to the tax If and whenever any of the said current taxes or any of the said installments are not paid when due and payable as herein provided then and in that event there shall become due and payable for such year a sum equal to one-fifth of the total amount of the abated penalties and interest in addition to the other payments required to be paid under this act during that year which said additional sum shall be payable and must be paid at the time the next succeeding installment payment becomes due under this act If such additional sum is not so paid then the total amount of the abated penalties and interest less the aggregate of any such additional sum theretofore paid shall be revived and added to the unpaid taxes with the same force and effect as if such abated penalties and interest or portion thereof had never been abated and the taxpayer shall not thereafter be entitled to any further benefits or privileges under this act If the county treasurer announces a date later than August first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine for receiving the first installment payment in such case each annual installment shall be due on or before that day and month of each following year

Section 2 Any taxpayer or owner having the right of redemption may anticipate the payment of the unpaid delinquent taxes for the tax year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight and previous years at any time on or before August first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine by paying the entire amount of such unpaid delinquent taxes and interest due on the one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven and one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight taxes and receive the benefit of this act

Section 3 This act shall be construed to apply to all such taxes penalties and interest whether or not such taxes have been returned or liens therefor have been filed in the office of the prothonotary of the county or proceedings for the collection thereof have been instituted in any court in said county or where real property has been sold to a county city borough town township school district or poor district at a tax sale or on a tax lien and the period of redemption has not expired but this act shall not be construed to apply to cases where real property has been sold other than to a county city borough town township school district or poor district at a tax sale or on a tax lien and where the period of redemption has not expired The taxpayer shall be liable for the payment of all costs incurred except the solicitor's fees where liens for such taxes have been returned for nonpayment or have been filed in the office of the prothonotary or proceedings for the collection thereof have been instituted in any court

Section 4 The benefits of this act shall extend to and accrue to any successful bidder or purchaser at sheriff's or other judicial sale grantee transferee mortgagee or owner having the right of redemption under a tax sale or other party in interest in the parcel or parcels of real estate against which the above mentioned taxes have been assessed and levied whether separated or not

Section 5 Any taxpayer or owner having the right of redemption shall have the right to pay the unpaid delinquent taxes assessed and levied against any parcel or parcels of real estate without being required to pay the unpaid delinquent taxes assesed and levied against any other parcel or parcels of real estate in the same ward district or other municipal subdivision

The county commissioners of any county may at their discretion and at the cost of the county cause to be published two times in not more than two newspapers of general circulation throughout the county a notice to the taxpayers giving a synopsis of the terms of this act setting forth the benefits provided by the act and the necessary conditions required by the taxpayers in order to receive the same Upon application either in person or in writing by any taxpayer or owner the tax levying authorities the tax collector the receiver or receivers of taxes or the person or persons charged with the collection of such unpaid delinquent taxes or the person or persons in whose custody the records of such unpaid delinquent taxes are kept shall furnish to such delinquent taxpayer or owner a statement of the unpaid delinquent taxes owned by him to such municipal subdivision showing the face amount the penalty if any the interest if any and any costs or other charges in detail against such real property as shown by the records in his custody

Every collector of taxes whose duty it is to send to the respective taxpayers any notice or statement of their annual taxes shall include in each such notice or statement an additional notice of the date when the next installment payment is due under the provisions of this act

Section 6 In order to enable the taxpayer or owner having the right of redemption under a tax sale to receive the full benefits of this act no real property shall be sold for nonpayment of taxes before August first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine and any tax sale shall be adjourned or readjourned or right of redemption extended as often as may be necessary for this purpose If a county treasurer extends the date on which taxpayers may make their first installment payment and receive the benefits of the act in such case no sale shall be held by such treasurer before the date of extension fixed by him but all properties upon which such delinquent taxes are due and owing and which are not being paid under the installment plan herein provided shall be sold by such treasurer within three months after such extended date If any tax sale is adjourned or readjourned or right of redemption extended after advertisement or sale no additional advertisement or notice shall be necessary for the adjourned or readjourned sale or right of redemption No such adjournment or readjournment or redemption failure to advertise or hold any such tax sale shall invalidate the lien of any tax due and unpaid or sale had subject to redemption but the lien of all such taxes shall be fully preserved during the entire installment period herein provided for if the taxpayer avails himself of the privileges or benefits of this act Provided however That in every case where a taxpayer avails himself of the privileges or benefits of this act the period during which payment of said unpaid delinquent taxes is postponed or continued under this act shall not be included in computing and determining whether or not any right of the tax assessing and levying authority has been barred or lost by reason of the provisions of any statute now existing or hereafter enacted limiting the right of the said tax levying and assessing authorities to file preserve or maintain the lien of the said taxes

Section 7 The provisions of this act are severable and if any of the provisions hereof are held to be unconstitutional the decision shall not be construed to impair any other provision of this act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provision not been included herein

Section 8 Except as qualified by section nine of this act the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (Pamphlet Laws 129) as amended by the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (Pamphlet Laws 444) the act approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six (Pamphlet Laws 10) the act approved the fourteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 302) and the act approved the twenty-fifth day of October one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight (Pamphlet Laws 84) shall continue in full force and effect as to any and all taxpayers who have taken advantage of and are not in default in the provisions thereof All other acts and parts of acts general local or special inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby suspended during the time this act shall be in effect

Section 9 Any taxpayer who on the effective date of this act is making payments on delinquent taxes under any of the acts referred to in section eight and any taxpayer who has made any payment or payments under any of the said acts but who defaulted in any payment required by such act may secure the benefits of this act by making payments on the balance due on all taxes covered by this act whether or not covered by the abatement act under which he was previously making payments

Section 10 Any taxpayer who on the effective date of this act is making payments on delinquent taxes under any of the acts referred to in section eight and any taxpayer who has made any payment or payments under any of the said acts or any taxpayer who avails himpay to the county treasurer and the county treasurer shall receive at any time during the year amounts less than twenty per centum of the total amount due and payable under this act or any act referred to under section eight Provided however that the total payments made in any one year shall be equal to or in excess of the total amount due on any one contract or agreement to the county treasurer under the terms and provisions of this act

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 698, as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws 207) entitled "An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therefrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly" limiting the said act so that it shall not be effective in any city or in counties other than counties of the first second and third classes as to the future filing of tax claims removing the right to revive extend or continue existing liens of tax claims in cities and in counties other than counties of the first second and third classes prescribing the time for selling properties for the nonpayment of such claims and in certain cases extending existing liens

Section 1 The act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws 207) entitled "An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therefrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly" is hereby amended by adding thereto after section one a new section to read as follows

Section 1.1 (a) The provisions of this act in so far as they relate to tax claims and tax liens hereafter entered or filed or revived or extended shall be effective only as to cities and as to counties of the first second and third classes and the various political subdivisions therein or coextensive therewith

(b) The provisions of this act in so far as they relate to municipal claims and municipal liens other than tax claims and liens shall continue to be in full force and effect as to all municipalities

Section 2 The said act is hereby further amended by adding after section fifteen a new section to read as follows

Section 15.1 Every such claim for taxes which has heretofore been filed in any county other than a county of the first second or third class or by any city or any political subdvision therein or coextensive therewith shall remain a lien upon said property for a period of five years from the date it was entered as a lien or from the date such lien was last revived extended or continued unless fully paid and satisfied or compromised and satisfied as provided by law or the property on which such tax was assessed is sold as herein provided within said period and such liens shall not be revived extended or continued beyond such period and all property subject to any such lien shall be sold within the period of five years from the date such lien was entered or was last revived or extended except in cases where such sale has been or shall hereafter be adjourned or readjourned beyond such period of time under the authority of any other act of Assembly Provided however That in all cases when a lien of any such claim would under the provisions of this amendment expire or be lost before the first Monday or August one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine such lien is hereby revived and extended and shall remain a valid lien upon said property until sold on the first Monday in August one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine or as adjourned from day to day thereafter until all such sales shall be completed at which time all property subject to such lien shall be sold or the lien of such tax shall be wholly lost

The provisions of this section shall not apply to tax claims where there has been or shall hereafter be an appeal taken as provided by this act but in all such cases the lien of such tax claim is hereby revived and extended in full force and effect for a period of six months following the final judgment upon such appeal during which period the property subject to such lien shall be sold.

Section 3 The provisions of the act to which this is an amendment are hereby repealed as to all political subdivisions other than counties of the first second and third classes and cities and the political subdivisions within or coextensive with cities and such counties in so far as such provisions relate to tax claims and tax liens to be hereafter entered or filed or revived or extended in accordance therewith

Section 4 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 305, entitled:

An Act relating to fireworks defining fireworks prohibiting the sale offering or exposing for sale and use of fireworks except in certain cases authorizing cities boroughs towns and townships to issue permits for fireworks displays and to regulate the same imposing duties on the Pennsylvania Motor Police sheriffs police officers and constables and providing penalties

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to call to the attention of the members of the House on page four, line ten, "This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment."

My reason for voting against this bill at this time in its present form is because of its effective date. The manufacturers, and I speak particularly for the manufacturers of Lancaster county, have invested many thousands of dollars in merchandise to be sold between now and the Fourth of July. If this bill passes finally and becomes effective immediately upon its enactment it will mean a loss of a great many thousand of dollars to our people, which cannot under any circumstances be recovered. I question the advisability and the justice of legislation of this character which stops in the middle of the season, just a few months before the merchandising season, the business which to all purposes has been thoroughly legal up to now.

I just want to make that statement, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that the Lancaster county delegation will be compelled to vote "No" on the bill because of that fact.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not intend to take much time in the discussion of this bill. I think the members are well acquainted with it, but I want to call the attention of the members of the House to the fact that when it was on second reading yesterday the gentleman was given an opportunity to offer amendments. The question as to the effective date was not raised by him. He never said that his objection was because it was going into effect immediately.

Furthermore, for several sessions the fire works manufacturers had notice that the people of the state were endeavoring to pass such a law. This bill and other bills have been in Committees since the early part of the year, and it was notice to them that there was a possibility that such a bill would pass. Therefore it is not an objection at this time to say that the reason they are against the bill is because they did not know such a bill would pass. They had ample notice that such a bill would pass and they certainly can not now complain about it.

I want to say further members of the House, this bill provides for public displays and I believe that the possible loss that the manufacturers might sustain because the children are prevented from buying fire crackers will more than be over-balanced by the fact that there will be a number of public displays which I feel certain will absorb the possible loss because the children won't be able to buy. So far as that is concerned, I don't think that objection is valid.

I also want to call attention to the fact that last year there were eight persons who died as the result of fire works, twice as many as in any other state. There were sixteen blinded for life, hundreds were injured, many of them were children who were maimed and scarred for life. The purpose of the bill on the coming Fourth of July is to prevent such tragedies if possible and prevent shattered limbs and the loss of eyes and possibly death. I say that we ought to pass this bill. The people of Pennsylvania have demanded that this bill be passed. We never know whose children may be affected, maybe yours or mine. God forbid that any such thing will happen! If it does, we will feel morally guilty for having failed to pass this bill. The people of Pennsylvania are pleading with you to pass this bill, and the kiddies of Pennsylvania are pleading with you. I am sure you are not going to fail them. I ask you to vote for this bill.

Mr. TERRY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAHL. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TERRY. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman from Philadelphia tell us how many people are killed by the use of automobiles in the State of Pennsylvania?

Mr. TAHL. No, Mr. Speaker, I cannot tell that, but frankly, there is no comparison. That is not analogous to this at all. Children don't drive automobiles, Mr. Terry.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 193, as follows:

An Act relating to the assessment of real and personal property and other subjects of taxation in counties of the first class providing for the appointment of members of the board of revision of taxes by the Governor providing for the appointment by the board of personal property assessors real estate assessors and assistant real estate assessors clerks and other employes fixing the salaries of members of the board assessors and assistant assessors and providing for the payment of salaries and expenses from the county treasury prescribing the powers and duties of the board and of the assessors the time and manner of making assessments of the revision and notice of assessments and of appeals therefrom prescribing the records of assessments and repealing existing laws

Section 1 That the Board of Revision of Taxes in counties of the first class shall consist of seven competent and qualified citizens who shall be appointed for terms of six years The salary of each member of the Board shall be Ten thousand dollars per annum except in the case of the chairman of the Board whose salary shall be Ten thousand five hundred dollars per annum

Section 2 The members of the Board of Revision of Taxes in counties of the first class holding office on the effective date of this act shall continue to hold office until the expiration of the terms for which they have been appointed After the effective date of this act all appointments of members of the Board in counties of the first class shall be made by the Governor who shall appoint a member of the Board for the full term of six years whenever after the effective date of this act any vacancy shall occur whether by reason of the termination of an incumbent's term his death resignation or removal

Section 3 The Board shall organize each year by selecting a chairman vice chairman and secretary from among its members Each member of the Board shall give bond in such amount and with surety or sureties as the tax-levying body of the county shall approve conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties as a member of the Board

Section 4 The Board shall appoint for terms of six years each a chief personal property assessor whose salary shall be Seven thousand five hundred dollars per annum eight personal property assessors each of whose salaries shall be Five thousand dollars per annum thirty-six real estate assessors each of whose salaries shall be Five thousand dollars per annum and thirty-six assistant real estate assessors each of whose salaries shall be Two thousand five hundred dollars per annum Upon the occurrence of any vacancy in any of said offices the Board shall appoint a successor for the full term of six years The Board may from time to time increase the number of personal property assessors real estate assessors and assistant real estate assessors appointed by it as it shall find necessary subject however to the approval of the tax-levying body of the county The Board shall also appoint such number of clerks stenographers and other office employes as the Board shall find necessary to serve at the pleasure of the Board whose compensation shall be fixed by the tax-levying body of the county

Section 5 The Board shall divide the county into personal property assessment districts and real estate assessment districts and may from time to time increase or diminish the number of such districts and change and alter the boundaries thereof and the Board shall make assignments of assessors to such districts which assignments may be changed in the discretion of the Board

Section 6 The Board shall establish records of real property assessments which shall include a complete survey of each parcel of ground and of each building and other improvement in the county and a record thereof showing in detail the description character and size of the land and buildings and other improvements together with the name and address of the owner or owners thereof and the amounts for which such land buildings and improvements respectively stand assessed and the basis upon which such assessments were made Such records shall be set up as soon as conveniently may be after the effective date of this act and subject to the provisions of this act shall be in such form as the Board shall determine After the completion of such records any change in the physical condition of the land buildings or improvements of any parcel any division thereof and any change in the ownership thereof and any change in the assessed valuation thereof shall be noted on the records Any taxable inhabitant of the county shall have the right at any time during office hours to examine such records The Board shall prescribe the duties of the assessors in connection with the establishment and maintenance of such records

Section 7 The Board shall issue annually at such time as the Board shall determine its precepts to the real estate assessors assigned to the various real estate assessment districts and the assessors shall upon the receipt of such precepts assess and value each parcel of real property located within the districts to which they are assigned and shall return such assessments to the Board upon such date as the Board shall provide Such return shall be in such form as the Board shall prescribe but shall require the assessors to assess separately the land and the improvements thereon in the case of each parcel of real property The assessors shall also ascertain and shall note in their returns any division of any parcel any change in the physical condition of the land or of the improvements located thereon including the destruction or demolition of improvements and the erection of new improvements and any change in the ownership thereof occurring after the last preceding return was filed for such parcel and such changes shall be noted on the records to be maintained by the Board as provided in Section 6 of this act

Section 8 Upon the date fixed for receiving the returns of the assessors the Board shall proceed to examine the returns and inquire whether the same have been made in conformity with the laws of this Commonwealth and whether all property has been valued as provided in this Act and may revise alter and amend the valuation by raising or lowering the valuations either in individual cases or by districts shall rectify all errors and make valuations where they have been omitted The Board shall complete its revision of the assessments on or before the third Monday of September of each year The assessments made by the assessors as revised and supplemented by the Board subject to appeal therefrom as hereinafter in this act provided shall constitute the assessed value for tax purposes of real property located in the county for the next ensuing calendar year

Section 9 As soon as the real property assessments shall have been completed as above provided the Board shall prepare a statement in such form as will show the assessed values of all real property within the county Such statement may be in book form and shall be posted or made available for public inspection at such places throughout the county as the Board shall deem necessary Copies of such statements may also be sold in such manner and at such price as the Board shall determine The proceeds of such sales shall be paid into the county treasury

Section 10 At least ten days prior to the first Monday in October of each year the Board shal give printed or written notice to the registered owners of all real property situated within the county the assessment upon which has been increased or decreased specifying the change made from the last preceding assessment and setting forth that an appeal may be filed from such assessment on or before the first Monday of October and stating as definitely as possible the time or times at which appeals will be heard by the Board Every such notice shall be given either by mailing or delivering the same to the address of the owner as shown upon the records of the Board or by posting upon the assessed property

Section 11 With regard to the assessment of personal property the Board and the personal property assessors shal have as heretofore all the duties provided in the act approved the seventeenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and seven) entitled "An act to provide revenue for State and county purposes and in cities coextensive with counties for city and county purposes imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property providing for the assessment and collection of the same providing for the duties and compensation of prothonotaries and recorders in connection therewith and modifying existing legislation which provided for raising revenue for State purposes" and the amendments and supplements thereto

Section 12 It shall be the further duty of the Board when necessary to provide for the valuation and assessment of all subjects of taxation which may hereafter be made taxable by the county or any city or other municipal subdivision of the Commonwealth located in or coterminous in its boundaries with the county to prescribe the duties of the assessors appointed by it in connection with such valuation and assessment to supervise and revise such assessments and to give such notice as the Board shall consider reasonable of such assessments and of the time for appeal therefrom

Section 13 All property within the county now or hereafter made taxable by law shall be valued and assessed by the assessors and by the Board at the actual value thereof In determining the actual value of property the price at which the same would separately bona fide sell shall be considered but shall not be controlling

Section 14 Any person aggrieved by any assessment as the same shall be fixed following revision of assessments by the Board may file an appeal therefrom with the Board Appeals from real estate assessments shall be filed on or before the first Monday of October Other appeals shall be filed within the time fixed by law or in cases in which no time is provided by law within such time as the Board shall prescribe. The Board shall set a time or times at which it shall hear all appeals which have been properly filed The Board shall either affirm the assessment or shall make such revision thereof as shall appear to the Board to be just and reasonable The Board shall complete its hearings of appeals and shall dispose of all appeals before it as promptly as possible

Section 15 Any person aggrieved by the disposition made by the Board of any appeal may file a petition for review of the assessment in the court of common pleas of the county and may appeal from the decision made thereon by the court of common pleas to the Supreme or Superior courts as is now provided by law

Section 16 The Board shall on or before the first day of October of each year report to the tax-levying body of the county its estimate of the aggregate of the assessments of all subjects of taxation within the county and as promptly as possible after all appeals have been heard it shall certify to the tax-levying body the aggregate of all such assessments as they appear upon the records of the Board

Section 17 The Board shall have exclusive custody and control of all books and records relating to the assessment of subjects of taxation within the county In addition to the records prescribed in Section 6 of this act the Board shall prepare and maintain books or other suitable records of the assessments made upon all subjects of taxation within the county which records shall include a description of the property or other subject of taxation the amount of the assessment thereof and the name and address of the person or persons taxable In the case of real property assessments such book or records shall be in conformity with the book of plans furnished by the Chief Engineer and Surveyor or similar officer of the county and shall be arranged according to wards and dates Upon completion of the annual assessment the Board shall prepare copies of such books or records and shall transmit copies thereof to the officer or officers charged with the duty of collecting taxes in the county and to the county controller

Section 18 The Board shall receive and have custody of duplicate copies of all official surveys made within the county

Section 19 The Board may prescribe such duties of assessors and others appointed by it in addition to the duties prescribed in this act as the Board shall find necessary in order to carry out the provisions of this act The Board may prescribe such qualifications for assessors and other appointees of the Board as it shall find desirable So far as possible the Board shall in making appointments advance existing appointees or employes of the Board

Section 20 For the purpose of performing the duties prescribed by this act or otherwise prescribed by law each member of the Board each assessor and such other employes of the Board as the Board shall designate shall have authority to administer oaths and affirmations

Section 21 All salaries provided for in this act and the proper expenses of the Board shall be paid out of the treasury of the county

Section 22 The following acts or portions of acts and the amendments thereto are hereby repealed

Section 24 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, since this bill was debated on second reading yesterday, when numerous proposals from the minority were defeated by the majority, proposals which we thought might make a more workable and better bill out of this enactment, I don't suppose what I may have to say at this time will sway sufficient votes of the majority to defeat this legislation, despite the fact that the former Speaker is on the rostrum, which makes it look like old times.

However, I do want to say, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that there has been some comment on this legislation, not by any political group particularly, but by independent non-partisan agencies in the city of Philadelphia, and I refer to the Committee of Seventy, which has for many years adopted a non-partisan viewpoint on city administration, and to the Bureau of Municipal Research. They have for many years given valuable service to the citizenry of Philadelphia. They have pointed out such things as were not good for the city, and have always fought for the elimination of waste and extravagance in the operation of the city.

I would like to read what appeared in the columns of a Philadelphia newspaper recently, which tells of the viewpoint of both the Committee of Seventy and the Bureau of Municipal Research.

"The Republican proposal to add to Philadelphia's already overburdened budget by increasing the assessment staff of the Board of Revision of Taxes was assailed yesterday.

"Joining in condemnation of the bill, which passed first reading in the House at Harrisburg yesterday, was the Committee of 70.

"The bill, it was pointed out, not only opens the way to a possible increase of more than $250,000 a year for jobs—in violation of Republican economy pledges during the recent campaign—but it flouts the principal of home rule.

"During its sojourn in the House Committee on Cities First-Class, the measure, which originally provided for appointment of Revision Board members by the Board of Common Pleas Judges here, was amended to shift appointments to the Governor.

"The new bill, sponsored by the Republican delegation from Philadelphia, calls for 36 real estate assessors at $5000, 36 assistants at $2500, a chief personal property assessor at $7500, and eight deputies at $5000—total, $317,500. Others may be added with approval of City Council."

Both of these independent agencies have on occasion, as I stated before, pointed out not only to City Council but to the House and Senate various economies which could have been effected either by City Council in its own management of cities' affairs, or in its appeal to Harrisburg to allow Philadelphia the full measure of home rule. They have fought against these extravagances and today protest against such a measure, which was pointed out yesterday so clearly by my colleague from Philadelphia, would certainly add to the troubled financial waters of the city of Philadelphia.

With this statement, members of the House, I ask you seriously to consider your vote for this proposal, and ask that you vote against the bill.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I won't take up much time answering the gentleman from Philadelphia, but I want to say this: That this bill will not add one dollar to the expense of the Board of Revision of Taxes.

As I stated yesterday, and which I repeat now, at the present time the budget is $498,000 and because the act of 1937 hampered the Board of Revision of Taxes in discharging its duties, it was obliged at the end of the year to hire additional help and additional assistance because it could not do the work during the year, and as a result of that, it cost them additional money. If this bill is passed, they will be able to work within the budget of $498,000. They will have employees during the entire year and those employees will do the work without additional cost to the city, and they will not be obliged to hire extra help. As a matter of fact, this bill will save money to the citizens of Philadelphia.

I want to say further that the members on the majority side are just as anxious, if not more so, as our friends on the other side to save money for the taxpayers of Philadelphia. This bill has the support of the entire Board, including Democrats and Republicans, and they feel that it will prove very economical and very efficient.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am glad that for once I find myself in agreement with the gentleman from Philadelphia, the gentleman upon my right, who voices so eloquently and forcibly the views of the majority.

This bill is part of a legislative program in force during the last twenty years, gradually transferring the actions of local government in Philadelphia to the State Capitol. Under this bill the Governor appoints the members of the Board of Revision of Taxes. The citizens know that as the years go by the members of the majority group from Philadelphia are becoming more and more distrustful of their own ability to govern their own affairs. They are gradually presenting legislation which in effect creates the Governor of Pennsylvania as sort of a city manager for Philadelphia. In view of the history, financial, political and otherwise, I cannot imagine a governor who would not make a better city manager for Philadelphia than anyone that Philadelphia has yet produced, and so Mr. Speaker, I say in this gradual transfer, if we want to buy uniforms for Philadelphia policemen, we introduce a bill, if we want to raise the salary of some obscure employee in Philadelphia five hundred dollars, we introduce a bill, and if want to get good members of the Board of Revision of Taxes, we shun the courts of Philadelphia, we shun all the regular legislative agencies in Philadelphia and we name the Governor.

Now, I must support this bill, hoping that there will appear a series of other measures which will completely divest the local authorities of Philadelphia of control over their local government, and end once and for all this campaign, this series of unending bills from Philadelphia which frankly, Mr. Speaker, have been enough to make anybody tired.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this measure.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Hamilton, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HAMILTON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, I have noticed in reading the bill that some ten Acts of Assembly and some ten or twelve sections of other Acts of Assembly, dating from 1854 to 1937, have been repealed. I would like to know from the gentleman from Philadelphia if he could enlighten me as to just what has been repealed, and just what regulations of the Board of Revision of Taxes are being repealed by this bill?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, a number of them are old obsolete Acts, that really date back to 1874, and the repeal of these acts is for the purpose of making sure that this bill, if passed, will be the only bill that will govern the conduct of the business of the Board of Revision of Taxes.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, if it is possible for the gentleman from Philadelphia to answer me, I would like him to be a little specific. For instance, the first repealer is of section 17 of the Act of February 2nd, 1854 P. L. 21, "An Act to consolidate the City of Philadelphia," and if the gentleman has information available I would like to know just what is provided for in that Act and therefore, what has been repealed.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I am glad to give the information. Under the Act of 1854 the Assessors were elected by the voters in the different precincts of the City, and this bill repeals that.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, sections 4, 6 and 7 of the Act of May 13th, 1856, P. L. 567—

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman want to know what that does? In answer to that, I will say that that section provides that the Assessors shall receive their assessment books on May 15th and that is repealed because that is done in September.

Mr. LONG. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia have the information in regard to the repeal of previous acts up to 1937?

Mr. TAHL. I have, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, in regard to the Act of April 28, 1937, P. L. 473, I would like to know just what qualifications were provided for under that Act for members of the Board of Revision of Taxes in the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that: That Act provided off hand that some of the members of the board were to be real estate men, some brokers and some—I think one of them was to be a lawyer and I think one an engineer.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, what does the present bill which is now before the House provide in regard to the qualification of members of the Board of Revision of Taxes of the city of Philadelphia?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, this Act provides that the Governor shall appoint the members of the board, and I am sure that the Governor will appoint men capable and competent to discharge their duties.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, the Acts of 1937 also provided, I believe, that members of the Board of Revision of Taxes of Philadelphia should be one-job men. I would like to know if there is any provision in the present act to prevent them from holding two or three jobs, as they have done in the past?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, there is no provision, any more than there is a provision that none of the other officers are to hold two offices at the same time, and I feel satisfied that when the Governor appoints these men, they will give their full time and attention to the duties of the Department.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I desire to call the attention of the members of the House to several facts in regard to the repeal of the act of 1937, concerning the Board of Revision of Taxes in the city of Philadelphia. The qualifications of the members of the Board, are as follows:

> "Two of such members shall be attorneys-at-law and members of the bar of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and of the county."
> "One of such members shall be a construction engineer, licensed as a professional engineer under the laws of this Commonwealth.
> "One of such members shall be a civil engineer, licensed as a professional engineer under the laws of this Commonwealth."
> "One of such members shall be a real estate appraiser and shall have had at least five years practical experience."
> "One of such members shall be a real estate broker, licensed as such under the laws of this Commonwealth and shall have had at least five years of practical experience."
> "One of such members shall be a business man or an accountant with at least five years of practical experience."

I call the attention of the members of the House to the provisions of that act which provided that the members of the Board of Revision of Taxes of the city of Philadelphia must be competent and qualified men, capable of handling the job and experienced in such work. That act is to be repealed by the bill now before us today.

Let us see what is provided by this bill in regard to the qualifications of the members of the Board of Revision of Taxes.

Section 1 page 2 of the act, line 1, provides that "the Board of Revision of Taxes in counties of the first class shall consist of seven competent and qualified citizens."

There is no provision in this act for any qualifications of members of the Board, which would qualify them to perform duties they are called upon to perform. The qualifications which were provided by the act of 1937 are to be repealed, and in their place there is to be no provision for any qualifications in relation to the work to be done by the Board.

I would also like to call the attention of the members of the House to the provision of the act of 1937 which is to be repealed by this bill before us today. That act provides that members of the Board shall not during their terms of office engage in any other employment or hold any other public office or other public employment. It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that when we set up a Board of Revision of Taxes for the greatest city of the Commonwealth, with a population of over two million, with a diversity of assets, both real and personal, property of all types to be appraised, the act that sets up a Board should provide that those men be qualified and competent both by experience and training to do the work for which they are being paid. It also seems only reasonable to me, and I believe it would also be reasonable to the rest of the members of the House, regardless of political affiliation, that a job that pays ten thousand dollars a year should have the full time and the full efforts of the men that hold the jobs. This is no place for a two-job man or a three-job man, as we have had in the past in the city of Philadelphia. It is a highly technical work, it is a work which should be performed by trained and experienced men, devoting all their time and effort to the job at hand.

I direct the attention of the members of the House to these one or two provisions which are to be repealed to show you the very loose and very poor piece of legislation which is before you at the present time. I do not think that any member of this House would care to assume the attitude that we should not provide that these men be trained and experienced men. I do not think there is any member of this House who would assume the attitude publicly that these men should hold more than one job while being members of the Board of Revision of Taxes in the city of Philadelphia.

This bill increases the number of statutory employees of the Board of Revision of Taxes in the city of Philadelphia from thirty-one to eighty. It is needless for me to say that at the present time Philadelphia is in dire financial condition. Every effort is being made by the city council of Philadelphia to try to balance the budget, which is practically impossible to balance. The future assets of the city of Philadelphia have been mortgaged; proposals for the mortgage of the future assets of Philadelphia have been taken up time and again. The floating debt of the city of Philadelphia, in addition to its funded indebtedness, is over thirty-nine million dollars. The current deficit for the year is in excess of nine million dollars. With all the financial straits that the city finds itself in, we have here a bill increasing the number of statutory employees with statutory salaries. One difficulty that confronts council in trying to arrive at a balanced budget, in an effort to economize, is the number of statutory jobs and statutory salaries imposed upon the city of Philadelphia with which the tax-levying body has no right or power to deal.

We have here an organization which controls city council and which complains of such statutory enactments and statutory salaries, planning to increase them and further hampering their efforts to balance the budget. We find that same organization in the same breath delaying, obstructing and sidetracking in every possible manner a real, constructive, well-planned and thought-out method of revising the government of the city of Philadelphia. We find that same organization trying to prevent the people of Philadelphia from voicing their own opinion as to the type of government they should have. We find that organization doing everything within its power to block the passage of the city charter proposals in the Senate.

It seems rather inconsistent that this one method which has been proposed and which might really help the city of Philadelphia to reorganize its government and to really economize is being obstructed. We find proposals such as this, upon which we are going to go on record today, a direct denial of the city charter support, which is presumed to come from the majority party of this House. We find here today, if you vote for this bill, a refusal to take the recommendation and the studied report of the City Charter Committee in regard to revision of taxes. The city charter proposal is diametrically opposed and the exact opposite of the provisions of this bill. If we put ourselves on record for this bill today, we put ourselves on record against the provisions of the charter recommendations which are contrary to this.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 772, as follows:

An Act to protect public health safety and morals and to promote the common welfare by regulating the use and occupancy reuse and re-occupancy and the renting and re-renting for use and occupancy of all buildings in cities of the first class planned in whole or in part for residential purposes and any living quarters connected with a business or commercial establishment by requiring the issuance of certificates of occupancy and by requiring owners agents and tenants to obtain such certificates of occupancy conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Public Health and upon the Department of Public Safety of cities of the first class providing for inspections and inspection fees and the institution of prosecutions for failure to obtain certificates of occupancy imposing penalties and repealing inconsistent acts or parts of acts

Section 1 This act may be referred to as the "Occupancy Permit Law"

Section 2 It has been found and it is declared by the General Assembly of this Commonwealth as a matter of legislative finding that

(a) There exists in cities of the first class in this Commonwealth an acute shortage of decent safe and sanitary dwelling accommodations for a large number of inhabitants of the Commonwealth which shortage has resulted from and been aggravated by the substantial cessation of new dwelling construction and the continuance of an excessive demolition program of unsafe residential structures necessitated by the numerous slums and insanitary areas located in the cities of the first class in the Commonwealth

(b) The existence of the above stated conditions has fostered the leasing of many thousands of dwelling accommodations to families of small incomes which dwellings are in violation of the health safety and sanitary laws and ordinances and have jeopardized the health safety and comfort of the families who compelled by necessity to have shelter have been forced to occupy them

(c) Present legal means of control over such conditions have proved insufficient to assure healthful safe and sanitary occupancy so that the danger to public health safety comfort and welfare is immediate and pending

Section 3 The following words and phrases when used in this act shall have the meanings respectively ascribed to them in this section

1 "Building" shall mean any structure used or designed to be used in whole or in part for residential purposes as a dwelling two-family dwelling rooming house tenement house lodging house apartment apartment unit or any living quarters connected with a business or commercial establishment

2 "Certificate" shall mean a certificate of occupancy to be issued as hereinafter provided

3 "Department of Public Health" shall mean the Departments of Public Health of cities of the first class

4 "Department of Public Safety" shall mean the Departments of Public Safety of cities of the first class

5 "Board" shall mean the Boards of Health of cities of the first class

6 "Division" shall mean the Divisions of Housing and Sanitation in the Departments of Public Health of cities of the first class

7 "Bureau of Police" shall mean the Bureaus of Police in the Departments of Public Safety of cities of the first class

8 "Person" shall mean a natural person co-partnership unincorporated association or company limited partnership or corporation

9 "Owner" shall mean the holder of the legal title to a building whether as absolute owner trustee or otherwise

10 "Shall" is to be construed as mandatory and not discretionary

11 The singular shall include the plural and the masculine shall include the feminine and the neuter

Section 4 It shall be unlawful in any city of the first class for any person to newly use and occupy or re-use and re-occupy cause or permit to be newly used and occupied or re-used and re-occupied any building until a certificate therefore shall have been issued by the division provided that nothing in this act shall be construed to apply to the first occupancy of any newly consructed building

Section 5 Application for such certificate shall be made in writing by the owner of the building or his duly authorized agent and the division shall grant or reject such application within forty-eight hours from the filing thereof except as hereinafter provided

Section 6 No certificate shall be issued for any building until it shall appear that the condition of such building is in complete conformity with the provisions of all acts of Assembly ordinances of council rules regulations and resolutions of all governmental agencies pertaining thereto

Certificates shall be issued in triplicate The original thereof shall remain on file in the office of the division and shall be open to public inspection during regular business hours One copy thereof shall be handed to and kept by the tenant upon the premises for which the same was issued and shall be subject to inspection during regular business hours by any authorized representative of the Department of Public Health The second copy thereof shall be given to and kept by the owner of the premises or his duly authorized agent

Section 7 It shall be the duty of the division to cause an inspection to be made of each building for which a certificate is sought within twenty-four hours after application for such certificate has been made It shall issue a certificate forthwith if the building shall be found to comply with the provisions of all acts of Assembly ordinances of council rules regulations and resolutions of all governmental agencies pertaining thereto If inspection shall disclose that such building is defective in or contrary to any particular as to the aforesaid provisions over which the division has jurisdiction it shall forthwith notify the person making application for such certificate of the nature of such defect or defects or contrary conditions

If there is any other defect or condition constituting a violation of building requirements of cities of the first class or constituting a fire hazard it shall notify the Department of Public Safety which department shall forthwith inspect such aforesaid violations and shall issue orders to correct or abate the same forthwith

The division shall withhold the issuance of said certificate until a re-inspection shall show that the defect or defects or other violations have been corrected

City council of cities of the first class shall make necessary appropriations to employ a sufficient number of special inspectors to carry out expeditiously and continuously the purposes of this act

Section 8 Each applicant upon the filing of the application for said certificate shall pay an inspection fee in the amount as fixed by ordinance of council of said cities said fee shall be paid into the City Treasury Certificates shall be valid for and during the period in which the building shall be continuously occupied by the same lessee and in no case for a period less than one year unless sooner revoked for cause by the division or other legally constituted authority having jurisdiction in such cases In cases where a certificate is denied and the conditions which cause the rejection are subsequently corrected by the owner or occupant the original fee shall prevail No additional fee shall be paid where a re-application is made within six months from the original date of application

Section 9 The bureau of police and the owner of the dwelling unit shall make a report in writing to the division of all vacated buildings which are the subject of this act within twenty-four hours after vacating the bureau of police may require each party or person when taking possession of any of said buildings to exhibit a certificate therefor

Section 10 Any person causing or allowing any building to be occupied without having obtained a certificate shall upon summary conviction before a magistrate or court having jurisdiction be subject to a fine of not less than five dollars ($5.00) nor more than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) for the first offense and of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) for any subsequent offense said fines being recoverable with costs together with judgment imprisonment not exceeding thirty (30) days if the amount of said fines and costs shall not be paid into the court imposing the fines within ten (10) days from the date of imposition thereof All fees and fines shall be payable into the office of the treasury of such cities Neither the lessor nor the lessee of such building shall have the right to enforce the provisions of the lease nor resort to any legal process or distraint for the collection of rent until the terms of this act are complied with

Section 11 Should any part of this act be construed as invalid or unenforceable the remaining parts of the act so far as they are valid or capable of enforcement shall stand with the same force and effect as if the parts found to be invalid or unenforceable had been omitted

Section 12 This act shall become effective ninety (90) days after its final enactment

Section 13 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act be and the same are hereby repealed but no such acts or parts of acts shall be considered as inconsistent with this act merely because its provisions or any of them cover or relate to the subject or subjects of this act if it does not conflict with or interfere with the enforcement of any of the provisions of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mrs. FAUSET. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I desire to state briefly some of the implications of this bill and to give a few of the reasons why its passage at this time is so important to the people of Philadelphia.

This bill applies only to cities of the first class. It requires an inspection of a dwelling house, once vacated, before it may be re-occupied. If the dwelling house is found to comply with the building, housing, sanitation and fire safety laws relating to dwellings, the owner or his agent is given a certificate stating the house is fit for occupancy. If however, it is found upon inspection to be in violation of such laws, the issuance of the certificate is withheld until repairs have been completed and the structure made fit for family life.

It is understood in House Bill 772 that the power to charge an inspection fee will be used by City Council and the fees thus obtained will approximate between twenty-five and thirty thousand dollars per year, which is sufficient to employ the needed inspection and clerical help. In the Real Property Inventory of 1934 about thirty thousand family accommodations were found in Philadelphia to have less than one-half of the sanitary conveniences required by law. These were all in properties renting for less than twenty-five dollars a month. There were another fifty-thousand houses that lacked one or more of the sanitary requirements.

This same survey showed that there were 20,768 accommodations needing structural repairs and 21,379 houses unsafe for use, besides thousand of other houses structurally sound but needing minor repairs, or lacking adequate sanitation, lighting or heating equipment. Included in these were over seven thousand cases of obstructed plumbing, about six thousand cases of flooded cellars, almost 15,000 cases of accumulations of rubbish.

There has been a demand for this type of legislation for a number of years. It has been advocated by Mr. Packer, Chief of the Division of Housing and Sanitation and by the Philadelphia Housing Association. Imperative need of such legislation was brought sharply to the attention of the citizens of Philadelphia in December, 1936, when several houses on South 15th Street collapsed, killing seven persons and injuring thirteen others. A representative committee of city officials, heads of the Building Bureau, the Department of Health, the Department of Safety, prominent realtors, builders, architects and housing specialists was appointed to investigate the cause of the accident, and to plan for the prevention of similar accidents in the future.

This Committee unanimously recommended the prior inspection of all houses vacated and for rent, to make certain they comply with the building, housing and fire safety laws of the city.

In their arguments for the support of this legislation the members of the Committee called attention to the large number of unsafe houses in Philadelphia, to the lack of repairs in older structures, to the prevalence of insanitary conditions. They pointed out that a grave housing shortage existed in the city, making it impossible for famlies, particularly in the lower income groups, to choose suitable houses for rent, because the number of suitable houses was too small to supply their needs, thereby compelling them from sheer necessity, to accept houses maintained in violation of the law.

Members of the Committee further pointed out that the law as it stands on the statute books does not permit the Division of Housing and Sanitation to issue orders to correct unsafe conditions while a house is vacant, except where the whole building is unsafe and may collapse.

The existing laws for fire safety, sanitation and housing apply only to occupied structures. Families wishing homes are therefore forced to rent these poor structures, trusting that the city will issue repair orders after they have moved in. This does no always follow because the city does not make original inspections. If, therefore, a complaint is not filed against an unsafe house, the city has no knowledge of its unsafe or insanitary condition.

In the case of the South Fifteenth Street houses which collapsed, the agent was arrested, tried and convicted. The public hearing in this case brought out the fact that none of the various city bureaus had any record of the occupancy of the buildings. The conviction of the guilty party renting the houses did not save the lives of those who were the victims of the collapse.

This bill does not require an inspection of all the houses in the city, but only those houses that are offered for rent after having been vacated. While there are approximately five hundred thousand homes in Philadelphia, only about two hundred sixty thousand are rented. Studies of lower-rental houses, made annually over a long period of years by the Philadelphia Housing Association, show that in normal times about thirty-five percent of the families in industrial areas move at least once during each year. At the present time this moving rate has dropped to about fifteen percent. By means of this legislation we have a reasonable expectation that the worst houses—those in the poorest structural condition, or most insanitary—will be brought up to the standard set by laws enacted by previous sessions of the Legislature, for decent housing in Philadelphia.

Mr. Speaker, it is my earnest hope that the members of the House will vote for the passage of this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 853, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (c) of section thirty of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 814) entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in cities of the second class as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens parties political bodies registration commissions commissioners registrars inspectors of registration and other appointees of registration commissions county election boards election officers municipal officers departments and bureaus police officers courts judges prothonotaries sheriffs county commissioners peace officers county treasurers county controllers registrars of vital statistics certain public utility corporations real estate brokers rental agents and boards of school directors and imposing penalties" by eliminating certain provisions requiring municipal officers departments bureaus and certain public utility corporations to make certain reports to the registration commission

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Boose.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Somerset permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOOSE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Somerset the reason for this amendment.

Mr. BOOSE. Mr. Speaker, Section C of the act provides, or sets up, two provisions in reporting removal of tenants. One is mandatory and the other optional with the Registration Commission. This removes the mandatory provision.

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman familiar with the workings of this act in cities of the second class?

Mr. BOOSE. Mr. Speaker, I cannot say that I am.

Mr. O'KEEFE. Does the gentleman know that this amendment will tend to weaken the present election law?

Mr. BOOSE. Mr. Speaker, I do not think so.

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in the city of Pittsburgh we have found that this provision has been very effective in keeping down the so-called phantom voters. This amendment would tend to weaken the present election law, and I think therefore it should be defeated.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to direct the attention of the members of the House to the provisions in the permanent registration acts adopted during the last session of the Legislature. Most of the acts provided that the public utility companies and other municipal officers and departments may periodically report to the Registration Commissions the removals or renewals of service or stopping of service. That was made mandatory on the part of the utilities and government agencies. In regard to real estate operators, moving companies and others, it was made optional on the part of the Registration Commissions. In other words, the Registration Commissions did not receive reports from real estate brokers, moving van men and others unless they requested them and needed them. On the other hand, the reports of public utilities and of governmental agencies were mandatory. Those reports had to be made by the utilities and by the governmental agencies at different periods.

It is my contention that if the reports are not used by the Registration Commissions, it is unfair to ask the utilities or governmental agencies to go to the expense and trouble of preparing reports which are never used. However, the bills which are before us today strike out entirely the provisions in regard to reports of utility companies and governmental agencies. In other words, they take away from he Commissioners not only the regular reports which were mandatory, but on the other hand they do not even give the Commission a chance to ask for reports and get them if they want them. It seems to me only sensible that if we are going to keep in our Registration Act throughout the state the provision for real estate brokers, moving van men and others to make optional reports at the request of the Registration Commissions, it seems only logical, reasonable and fair that the Registration Commissions throughout the State of Pennsylvania, should have the power to request the same reports of the utilities or from the governmental agencies and the Bureau of Vital Statistics, if they need them in order to purge the list.

I believe that the intent of the gentleman introducing this series of bills was to do away with the unnecessary reports which were never used by the Commissions, but in doing that he has taken away from the Commissions, the power to get reports which they actually need and use.

I therefore think that in order to do this job properly this bill should be held up or sent back to committee, where provision can be made giving Registration Commissions the right to ask for these reports when they deem it necessary in order to purge the voting lists of phantom voters.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House Bill No. 853, Printer's No. 284 was passed over at the request of Mr. FLEMING.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 851.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that it appears to be the unanimous opinion of all the members of the House that these election laws should be enacted after due consideration and study, I feel in view of the possibility of objections being raised to this series of bills and the desire for further opportunity to consider them, that the bill that we just passed should be re-considered.

Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 851, Printer's No. 282, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (c) of section twenty-nine of the Act approved the twenty-ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 487) entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in boroughs towns and townships as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors requiring the county commissioners of the various counties to act as a registration commission therefor and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens parties political bodies registration commissions commissioners registrars inspectors of registration and other appointees of registration commissions county election boards election officers municipal officers departments and bureaus police officers courts judges prothonotaries sheriffs county commissioners peace officers county treasurers county controllers registrars of vital statistics certain public utility corporations real estate brokers rental agents and boards of school directors and imposing penalties" by eliminating the provisions requiring certain municipal officers departments bureaus and public utility corporations to make certain reports to the registration commission on page 22 of today's calendar, passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Greene, Mr. Furman vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of information

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Dauphin will state his point of information.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, in the first place is the motion in order inasmuch as there has been no business transacted between the vote on the bill and the motion to reconsider.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that there has been business transacted. House Bill No. 853 having been discussed and passed over.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I will withdraw my objection.

Mr. Speaker, I ask the members of this House to vote down the motion to reconsider. The situation with reference to boroughs and townships, so far as members who have resided in them is concerned, they are well aware that this act has not worked out well and is not effective in carrying out what was intended to be carried out. It is a burden which is not helpful in any way and I see no reason why this bill should be held up.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the question of whether or not these reports are of any use to the Registration Commission in boroughs or townships is not really the point at issue. If any reports at all are of use to the boroughs and townships Registration Commissions then surely the reports which come from reliable sources, such as utilities, and the Bureau of Vital Statistics and other governmental offices are the reports which would be of some value. Therefore, in order to pass good legislation we should not provide that the Commission have the power to request reports from real estate brokers, moving-van men and others, which reports are of practically no value, or of very little value, and on the other hand and at the same time strike out the provisions giving to the Registration Commissions the power to request from time to time real reports which might be of some value, if they desire them and if they think they might be useful.

I therefore think that in order to frame a real act we should vote for the motion to reconsider so that we may get the bill in proper shape before its passage through the House.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the issue is a very simple one. I quite agree with the sponsor of the bill that the mandatory provision in the law requiring the forwarding once a month of removals and the addresses of new customers and users of appliances, is a burden upon the utilities and means the correlation of a mass of information that possibly the Registration Commissions would not require on a month to month basis.

However, I do feel, as the gentleman from Philadelphia has said, that the Registration Commissions in the various boroughs and townships and cities of the various classes should have the opportunity, once a year or once every six months, or whenever they wish to rectify the lists by calling upon the utilities for the changes of addresses and removals of users of appliances. That would not be too great a burden to impose upon the utilities and I feel that they would be glad to comply with it in an effort to get an honest registration list.

I am asking for reconsideration of the vote by which this bill passed so that the power may be given Regsitration Commissions, when it deems fit to call upon utilities for this particular information, and for the further reason that if the House decides that the particular amendment making it available when called for is a proper amendment to be placed in the other two bills introduced by the same sponsor, it would tend to give uniformity to Registration Acts, and apparently would impose upon the utilities no greater burden in making these reports for cities of the second and third class and for the boroughs and townships. I feel in order to rectify this bill and to keep the registration lists as accurate as possible, the membership of the House should support my motion to reconsider the vote by which we passed House Bill No. 851, printers No. 282.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection House Bill No. 854 Printer's No. 285 was passed over at the request of Mr. LONG.

There being no objection House Bill No. 855 Printer's No. 286 was passed over at the request of Mr. LONG.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 927, entitled:

An Act to amend section three hundred and eight of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2017) entitled "An act creating in each county (except of the first class) as a separate corporation and in each city of the first and second class as a part of the city government an institution district for the care and maintenance of certain indigent persons and children prescribing the powers and duties of county commissioners county treasurers city departments of public welfare the State Department of Welfare and the State Department of Public Assistance in respect thereto abolishing certain poor districts and terminating the terms of directors overseers guardians and managers of the poor and poor district auditors and providing for the temporary employment of certain of them providing for the transfer vesting sale and disposition of the property of poor districts and the payment of their obligations imposing certain existing obligations on institution districts and on the Commonwealth regulating the affairs of poor districts until abolished revising amending changing and consolidating the law relating to the care of the poor and repealing existing laws" providing for the issuance of bonds to fund notes or other floating debt or evidences of indebtedness of the institution district

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Moser.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Northumberland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FRANK S. MOSER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Northumberland explain to the House whether this bill has anything to do with the return of institutions back to the local authorities?

Mr. FRANK S. MOSER. Mr. Speaker, it has not.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 680, as follows:

An Act to further amend the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by changing the provisions for compulsory attendance and for enumeration of illiterate children and alien residents changing provisions relating to employment of children providing for the education of physically and mentally handicapped children and for the care of uneducable children and changing the provisions for the required number of days schools shall be kept open

Section 1 Paragraph one three and four of section one thousand four hundred and thirteen of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as amended by section three of the act approved the first day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 2560) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1413 It shall be the duty of the secretary of the school board teachers school enumerators home and school visitors and attendance officers in every school district in this Commonwealth in accordance with rules of procedure prescribed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to secure information and report to the district or county superintendent of schools on or before the fifteenth day of October of each year and thereafter as cases arise every child within said district between the ages of eight (8) and sixteen (16) years who is gravely retarded in his or her school work or any child between the ages of six (6) and sixteen (16) who because of apparent exceptional physical or mental condition is not being properly educated and trained and as soon thereafter as possible the child shall be examined by a mental clinic approved by the State Council of Education or by a person certified by the Department of Public Instruction as a public school psychologist or psychologist examiner and also by any other expert which the type of class and the child's condition may necessitate and a report shall be made concerning his fitness for special education In school districts of the first second and third class having a district superintendent of schools said report shall be made to the superintendent of the district In all other districts the report shall be made to the superintendent of schools of the county

Section 7 Section one thousand six hundred and one of the said act as last amended by section twenty-two of the act approved the first day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 2560) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1601 [During the school year beginning the first Monday of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine and each school year thereafter each public elementary and high school in all of the school districts of this Commonwealth shall be kept open at least one hundred and eighty (180) days each year] All public elementary and secondary schools in this Commonwealth shall be kept open each year for at least one hundred eighty (180) days provided that until the beginning of the school year one thousand nine hundred forty-one one thousand nine hundred forty-two (1941-1942) all public elementary and junior high schools in districts of the fourth class may be kept open for any number of days not less than one hundred sixty (160) days for each school year Unless otherwise provided by this act the board of school directors in any district may keep such other schools or departments as it may establish open during such time as it may direct

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this measure, the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Sollenberger.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor the purpose of this bill.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, there are several sections to the bill, and I would like to ask the gentleman who wants to have it explained, what particular sections he would like to have explained, because it would take quite a bit of time to explain all of them.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, all I want are the sections that have been amended.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, on page 3, section 1, line 23, the word "shall" has been changed to the word "may," leaving it to the discretion of the local boards as to whether they care to report to the Department of Welfare those children in the district who are what we term demented or who at least are not in a mental condition to be educated.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, on page 4, line 26, is the gentleman intending by the bill to reduce the age level to 16 years instead of 17 years?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, that is correct.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, what is the purpose of that?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, there have been many calls coming in from all over the state relative to this age limit and at least ninety percent of those requests have been to have it reduced from seventeen to sixteen, for two reasons, the first one being that a lot of those boys and girls are in school at the age of sixteen which means up to seventeen, who do not care to be there are gaining little or no knowledge and are causing a lot of trouble in the school. Another reason is that the schools, that is the smaller schools, are not prepared to take care of an added number if that number is increased to any great extent.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, on Page 8, Section 1416, beginning with line 7, isn't it the intention to reduce the limit there to fourteen years?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, this section has been changed for the purpose largely of adhering to the wishes of those who would like to have their children educated only in the elementary or the first eight grades. It does not affect the sending to school of children who want to go, it is only for those who would like to have their children in the first eight grades and when they finish that work, they want to keep them home on the farm, in their home, and do not want them to go to high school. This gives them a chance to do that very thing. It affects no child who wants to go to high school or wishes to obtain a secondary education.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, on page 11, Section 1601, does that reduce the school year to one hundred and sixty days?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, that is a postponement for the next two years of the compulsory one hundred and eighty days for the districts that would like to have their schools in operation only one hundred and sixty or one hundred and seventy days, whichever they elect. That of course is in the fourth class, if I am not mistaken.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am going to keep you very long on this measure, but I am sure that the information given by the sponsor of this bill as to its provisions is sufficient reason to vote it down.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the previous speaker made a statement that if a father does not want his child to go to high school, then the father could take the child out. What if the pupil wants a higher education? Are we going to allow ourselves to go backward instead of forward? After all I believe this bill is being introduced to help a certain class of people in Pennsylvania who want their children to work on the farms. However, we people who come from the cities realize more so today than ever before that one of our greatest problems in the cities is taking care of boys who have been denied an education back on the farm and who eventually come into the city. You will find that the relief rolls that we are talking so much about in our cities are crowded today with men who are not equipped to do any kind of work except laboring work. There is no abundance of laboring work due to machinery, with the result that we people in the cities have a problem. I believe that if we pass this bill the progress we have made in education is going backward instead of forward, because this means that you are going to have thousands of kiddies, not only on the farm but in the cities, working at fourteen years of age, and I ask the members of this House to vote against this bill.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, this will give any boy or girl fourteen years of age the privilege of doing domestic work on the farm. We are not talking about cities, this does not affect the cities. There is a provision in this bill by which this will be done in a legal way. It is necessary to have a permit to do this, and we have it outlined here in the bill. We do not want to interfere with any group in any way, but if there are farmers who need their children at the age of fourteen and they have gone through the eighth grade work and they do not care to go on, why not allow them to work on the farm? If we had more people working on the farm today we would have less relief. I ask the members of the House to vote for this bill.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Sollenberger.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, is it the understanding of the gentleman from Blair, that any child that has completed the elementary course prescribed or afforded in the particular district in which he lives may, if he has reached the age of fourteen years, be permitted to stay at home to help on the farm?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's question I think if he reads that section he will find that the parents of the child must have a permit.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I understand that, but with such a permit issued by the county superintendent, is it the correct understanding that if the child has completed the elementary instruction afforded in that district, that with this permit, he is then able to leave school in order to work on the farm?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, so long as the permit is in force. They have the wrong idea Mr. Speaker as to that section of the bill. That section was placed in there for those people who made a special request, and in answer to both gentlemen from Allegheny, Mr. Harkins and Mr. Holland, may I state that the people who have asked for it will not bother about their children being in Pittsburgh or Allegheny County, so far as work is concerned. They will have them on the farm, the thing for which they asked that that part of the bill be written.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I take it then that the answer of the gentleman is yes, that having completed the elementary instruction afforded in the district that a permit will be granted?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. No, Mr. Speaker, a permit may be granted.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman from Blair whether in a district having the six-three-three plan, whether a pupil fourteen years of age, having completed the sixth grade, there being a junior high school there, would then be able to, without completing the junior high school course, obtain such a permit?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I cannot definitely answer that question, but I rather think in that case the Department of Public Instruction would have to settle whether that part of the agreement is meeting the thought and the purpose of this section of the bill. I think there is no answer to that question definitely.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to oppose this bill, not because I am opposed to allowing farmers to have the assistance of their children on the farm, if children desire to stay there, and to assist them, but because I feel that this bill is a backward step in the progress of education in Pennsylvania. Hitherto we have always felt that we should have uniform laws which would affect the education of the children of the State of Pennsylvania equally, regardless of what county or what district they came from. To me it seems a shame that we should today pass an act which possibly would permit a township or a rural section, having a school organization based on the six elementary grade system, with a three year junior high school and a three year senior high school system, to permit some children, merely because their parents needed their help on the farm or because their parents were opposed to higher learning or to the rudiments that you get in the junior high school, to take those same children out of the school after they had passed the sixth grade in the elementary courses.

I say to you, gentlemen, that the gentleman has clearly answered the question by saying that he does not know just what the words mean on page 8, and I call your attention to page 8 of the bill, where it says: "Provided that such a permit may be issued to any child who is at least fourteen years of age and has satisfactorily completed, either in the public or in private schools the equivalent of the highest grade in the elementary school organization prevailing in the public schools of the district in which he resides."

There is no compulsion there that the son of a farmer will henceforth have to have an elementary school education consisting of education through a grade school. Now, if you believe the rural communities wish their children not to be compelled to go to school through the eight grades, then it is all well and good to vote for this bill, but I say to you, that knowing as we all do, the progress that the people from the farms have made in Pennsylvania and the progress in our educational institutions, and I feel that this bill will severely handicap and will severely cripple the prospects of an equal educational opportunity for all the children of Pennsylvania, regardless of the district from which the child may come.

I might say in closing that for years it has been the aim of the educators of Pennsylvania to obtain equal educational opportunities and facilities for all the children of Pennsylvania, regardless of whether or not a child happens to live in the rural section or whether he lives in a city. I say to you that this particular bill will open up a loop hole under which many parents untrained and untutored, may arbitrarily deprive their children, sons and daughters of farmers, of the opportunity to obtain even the bare rudiments of an education.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I take it that all the people who live in the city do not always understand the country. We are talking about people in the fourth class districts. Mr. Harkins did not read all of page 8. He can see very well that it is necessary for that permit to be granted or agreed to by the State Superintendent. I want to say to you that there are many people who never went through the eighth grade work.

Hawley Smith said that man is educated who is on to his job. It seems to me we have in mind some people who have not advanced in education and done a lot of thinking that are making a better living today than some people who claim to have a lot of education. I want to say to you that the people who will be benefitted by this bill will be people whom we can respect, people who will not take advantage of not giving their children the right training. I tell you it is an important thing to train a young man on the farm to do things, to work with his hands. We must not lose sight of the fact that our aim is to make good citizens. I ask you to vote for this bill because it is a good bill.

On the question recurring,

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 487, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (a) of section one thousand two hundred and sixteen as added to the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws 309) entitled 'An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" changing qualifications for sabbatical leaves of absence for certain employes of school districts

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to call to the attention of the members of the House the fact that this afternoon we are pleased to have with us the candidate of the Democratic party in the last election for Governor. I remarked to the gentleman from York, Mr. Herbert B. Cohen, the minority leader, I felt like quoting those lines of Kipling, "Here but by the grace of God is the Governor of Pennsylvania.

It is a pleasure to welcome Mr. Jones, who has been a visitor many times in the House in the past, as a member of the bar of Allegheny county.

I would also like to mention that we have present a former member whom I included when I said, "The House will be in order. Members and former members will take their seats." He is very popular with the older members of the House. I refer to the Honorable John Longaker of Montgomery county. If John had not had the good sense to stay at home and practice law instead of coming down here a lot of you would have heard him many times on the floor during this Session.

ADDRESS BY MR. SCHROPE

Mr. SCHROPE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, Friday April 14, was a sad day for the friends of our Public Schools in part of Schuylkill and Northumberland Counties, a day to be regretted for the welfare of hundreds of children and a dark blot upon the reputation of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Past weeks' events almost forced our memory to recall the days prior to the time free public schools were established in Pennsylvania.

After many years of boasting of our natural resources, great industrial centers, fertile agricultural areas, all combining to make us the richest state in the Nation, we are now compelled to tell the world we are too poor to continue to have our public schools open. Only within the past few years, this Legislature appropriated $500,000 to the State Publicity Commission, this money to be spent to invite our fellow-citizens of the Nation to come and visit us, see our wonderful State with all its splendor and riches, but what a sad farewell we must give these guests when we are again forced to inform them that we can not afford to give an opportunity to all our boys and girls to acquire an education.

Today approximately 200 teachers have failed to return to their school rooms in Schuylkill and Northumberland Counties. They have been practically forced to quit and seek other employment in order to support their families, some to work in bootleg coal mines. Representatives of these teachers have repeatedly pleaded with this Administration to grant them financial relief, but their appeal has practically fallen on deaf ears except for the $1,000,000 appropriation that may be available in about ten days or two weeks. Only a week after this House had passed the million dollar appropriation bill, this same House passed a bill that will suspend for two years payment of approximately six million dollars that would have been due the school districts after July 1 of this year, by an act passed during the Earle Administration in 1937.

During the time that I have been a member of the House (since 1933), the State has appropriated for relief, old age and blind pension $393,370,562.00 and both Governor Pinchot and Governor Earle met the issue squarely and this Administration cannot evade its responsibility.

It appears rather unusual that during a period of about four years, we can provide approximately four hundred million for relief, but the present Administration admits it cannot provide two and-a-half or three million to continue to keep our children in school.

It is very evident that Governor James and his official family should now cease campaigning, stop informing the citizens of the Commonwealth how inefficient the previous Administration was. Even were it true or had Governor Earle's Administration been twice as inefficient as painted by Governor James and his friends, the fact still remains that Mr. James, as Judge of the Superior Court and Candidate for Governor, did have full knowledge of the financial status of the Commonwealth, because as a candidate he had complete knowledge of the affairs of every department of the Commonwealth. Yet with all his knowledge, Mr. James and his friends conducted a tireless and determined campaign, spending hundreds of thousand of dollars in order to inherit this so-called "mess."

The school problem is one issue that this Administration must meet. It cannot afford to evade the issue much longer and I call upon Governor James and his party, the party in power, to act.

I make this statement with the full knowledge that the one million dollar appropriation will be very inadequate to remedy the present situation.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 610

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 18, 1939.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed a resolution of the House of Representatives and Senate, recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 610, Printer's No. 126, for the purpose of amendment.

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. HABBYSHAW. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Habbyshaw vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. HABBYSHAW. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend page 1, line 1 of the title, by striking out after the word "the" and before the word "day" the word: "[twenty-first]" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "second"

Amend page 1, line 11 of the title, by striking out after the word "thirty-seven" and before the word "lapsing" the word: "[by]"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

SENATE MESSAGES

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 549.

An Act to amend section nine of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws 869) entitled "An act providing for the organization government discipline maintenance and regulation of the armed land forces of this Commonwealth" as amended by increasing clothing allowances and requiring a report by commanding officers

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 28, by striking out after the word "shall" the word "not"; also on page 3, line 1 by striking the light faced brackets before and after the word only"; also in line 2, by striking out after the word "are" the word "not."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

AMENDED SENATE BILL RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented for concurrence bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 34.

An Act to further amend section five hundred eight of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by further regulating the incurring of temporary indebtedness and the repayment thereof.

Said bill having been recalled from the Governor for amendment, the vote had on final passage and third reading reconsidered in the Senate and the bill amended, in which amendments the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 3, line 19, by inserting after the word "uncollected" the words "and unpledged;" also in line 20, by striking out after the word "That" the following: "and temporary indebtedness incurred for current expensed and debt service at any time during a period of five years from the effective date of these amendments shall at no time exceed an amount equal to the State appropriations not received but payable during the fiscal year and the tax levied upon taxable property within such school district for school purposes;" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "for a period of five years from the effective date of these amendments any temporary indebtedness incurred for current expensed and debt service may equal but not exceed the State appropriations not received but payable during the fiscal year and all taxes levied upon taxable property within the school district purposes for past years as well as for the currect fiscal year."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

BILL SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bill numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 549.

An Act to amend section nine of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws 869) entitled "An act providing for the organization government discipline maintenance and regulation of the armed land forces of this Commonwealth" as amended by increasing clothing allowances and requiring a report by commanding officers

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

RESOLUTION

RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 576 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. JACOB L. MOSER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, April 19, 1939.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), that House Bill No. 576, Printer's No. 162, entitled "An act to further amend section seven of the act approved the fifth day of January one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (Pamphlet Laws 223 1933-34) entitled 'An act providing compensation to certain persons who served in the military or naval forces of the United States during the World War the war between the United States and Spain the China Relief Expedition or in the Philippines or Guam providing the method of making payment to representatives of persons who because of death or incapacity cannot personally receive compensation imposing certain duties on the Adjutant General making an appropriation and repealing inconsistent legislation and providing penalties' as amended extending the time during which application may be filed for veterans' compensation," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

SENATE MESSAGES

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 19, 1939.

Whereas, the present economic crisis in the Commonwealth has been seriously aggravated by a suspension in the production of bituminous coal; and

Whereas, this suspension has now continued for a period of almost three weeks and there is a grave uncertainty as to when the differences between the operators and the miners will be amicably adjusted; and

Whereas, the bituminous coal industry of this Commonwealth furnished direct employment to 125,000 men and furnished the main support for approximately 600,000 people and indirectly for thousands of other citizens of the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, the welfare of the people of this Commonwealth requires that the existing differences be speedily adjusted and it is the duty of everyone to unite and strive for the accomplishment of this end; and

Whereas, the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania representing all of its people realizes the necessity for rehabilitating the basic coal industry and has legislation pending in the General Assembly to aid it in regaining its former industrial position; and

Whereas, a continuation of the present lack of production will result in permanent harm to the future production of bituminous coal because of the use of substitute fuels; now therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) that the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby urges the conferees representing the operators and miners to perform a patriotic duty in the interest of all the people and reconcile their differences immediately for the common good so that the production of bituminous coal may be resumed at an early date and the wheels of industry be kept turning; and further

Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be transmitted by telegraph by the Chief Clerk of the Senate to the conferees now meeting in the city of New York.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

ADDRESS BY MR. HERBERT B. COHEN

Mr. HEBERT B. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have just been informed that another promise of the James administration has gone to smash. It appears that through the delinquency on the part of the Senate that the bill appropriating moneys for relief has not been signed by the Lieutenant-Governor, and as a result the moneys appropriated are not susceptible to disbursement to the relief recipients throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. This is a sad commentary upon the Republican Administration and it typifies the same action that was taken in the 1936 special session when the then Republican controlled Senate also found it to their desires and likings to adjourn, leaving the relief recipients in the same predicament that they are now found, without the available moneys appropriated for the continuation of relief.

I make this passing notation on the record to indicate and call to the attention of the members the fact that it is about time the Legislature get down to the real business of the solution of the problem with which we are confronted. We have been twiddling our thumbs here on small, picayune bits of legislation for three and a half months or more. We have accomplished nothing towards the solution of the problem of the Commonwealth. This is in reality a do-nothing Legislature with a know-nothing administration.

ADDRESS BY MR. WOODSIDE

Mr. WOODSIDE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, my voice is not in very good condition to address the House.

I am going to disregard entirely the very improper remarks made by the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen. I do wish to call to his attention the fact that although what he said concerning the failure of the President of the Senate to sign the bill is correct, it probably would have been easier for the Department of Public Assistance to carry on relief had the bill been signed—nevertheless I understand that arrangements have been made, or are being made, by the Department of Public Assistance to carry on relief until next week. The bill will then be signed by the Governor and become effective, so that the relief recipients will not go without relief.

SYMPATHY EXTENDED

Mr. WEBSTER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 19, 1939.

Thomas J. Philips, widely known legislator, banker, historian and lecturer, died at his home in Atglen, Pennsylvania, Easter morning, April 9th, at the age of 93 years, having been ill only a few days.

He was born in what is now Atglen, Pennsylvania, on December 23rd, 1846, and he spent his youth there, attending public and private schools.

He entered Lewisburg College, now Bucknell University, from which institution he was graduated in 1867, and at the time of his death he enjoyed the distinction of being its oldest living graduate.

On his return to his home after graduation, Mr. Philips started on a career of service to his community and the Commonwealth. Among the various positions so capably filled by him in West Salsbury Township and Atglen Borough was that of Justice of the Peace.

In 1894 he was elected to the Pennsylvania Legislature where he served with distinction during the session of 1895-1898. Later he became a member of the then existing State Board of Agriculture in which office he also served the Commonwealth.

Mr. Philips was one of the organizers of the Atglen National Bank and the Atglen Water Company. He held positions as chairman of the board of directors and president, respectively, in these organizations at the time of his death, and since 1925 he had served as president of the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Chester County.

He had served as a lecturer for the Chester County Farmers Institute. He was a member of the Christiana Lodge No. 417, F. & A. M., and he was an active member of the Glen Run Baptist Church all his life; therefore be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, That this House notes with regret his passing from this life he loved and the sudden cessation of his work for the community in which he lived; and extends to the members of his family its most sincere sympathy; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of this House to his surviving daughters, Mrs. Emmor Marsh of Cynwyd, Pennsylvania, and Mrs. D. H. Plank of Atglen, Pennsylvania.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. ROSE from the Committee on State Government reported as amended, House Bill No. 845, entitled:

An Act to create a commission to act jointly with commissions appointed for like purpose by the States of West Virginia and Maryland, the Commonwealth of Virginia and the District of Columbia, which, together with three members to be appointed by the President of the United States, shall constitute the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin, with power to cooperate in the abatement of the existing pollution and in the control of future pollution of the waters of the drainage basin of the Potomac River within the States of Maryland and West Virginia, the Commonwealth of Virginia, and the District of Columbia; to authorize the Governor of the State to execute on behalf of this State a compact with representatives of other states for the purpose of forming the above mentioned commission and creating a Potomac Valley Conservancy District; providing for the appointment of the Pennsylvania members of said commission and their terms of office; and providing an appropriation.

COMMITTEE MEETING

There will be a meeting of the Committee on Forestry, Monday, April 24, at 5 p. m. in Room 147.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. TIEMANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, April 24, 1939, at 8 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 4:15 p. m.) the House adjourned until Monday, April 24, 1939, at 8 p. m.

SENATE

MONDAY, April 24, 1939.

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock, p. m.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Our Blessed Heavenly Father, a few days ago we were reminded of that brave band of patriots who in 1775 dared to stand in defense of the rights and property of our forefathers against the serious oppression of a tyrannical king.

We are reminded of the vigilance of one Dr. Joseph Warren in the interest of colonial defense and "the midnight ride of Paul Revere" arousing the peaceful countryside against the impending danger. We hear the reverberations from the shots fired by the 80 minute-men from Lexington and Concord and see the soil of Massachusetts made sacred by the blood of her noble sons in the opening battle of the Revolutionary War.

These are they, O God, who have adorned the sacred walls of our national consciousness with pictures of national defense painted with the brush of fervent patriotism dipped in their own blood. May they ever serve as the inspiration of our hearts in this advanced day to teach anew the necessity of national defense and the preservation of our glorious heritage.

We possess enemies both within and without our country and it can only be by reliance upon Thy guiding hand and keeping alive the altar fires of true patriotism that we shall be able to subdue our enemies and continue the blessings of constitutional government.

Each one of us is but an infinitesimal part of the whole of our people and our government yet may we honestly, honorably and patriotically perform our duties and we shall definitely strengthen the bulwarks of our nation and government and civilization.

And Our Father, we commend unto Thee the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, in this his hour of illness. If it be Thy will, grant that Thou wilt bring him again to speedy recovery and to his duties attendant here. We ask it in the name of Jesus. Amen.

ERATTUM

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to correct the Journal of Tuesday, April 18, 1939, on page 1502, in connection with my statement on the appointment of John Bauer, from Delaware County, as Register of Vital Statistics. I did not say this genetleman had been convicted of operating a bawdy house. The man was indicted for conspiracy to violate the Prohibition Laws, and in connection with that trial the question of collecting from bawdy houses came into the case. The record should be corrected, in fairness to the gentleman.

The PRESIDENT. The correction will be made.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. OWLETT and Mr. GELDER, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following petitions:

URGING APPROPRIATION OF FUNDS TO PAY SCHOOL TEACHERS OF SCHUYLKILL COUNTY

Petitions received from thousands of people and the following organizations:

The Rotary Clubs of Ashland, Frackville, Tamaqua, Schuylkill Haven, Tower City, Sacramento, Tremont, Pinegrove and Minersville; The Kiwanis Clubs of Pottsville and Ashland; The Lions Club of Schuylkill Haven; The Exchange Club of Pottsville and the Parent Teachers Association, urging an appropriation of funds to pay the salaries of school teachers of Schuylkill County.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. GELDER asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. GELTZ, on account of illness.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Tioga will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, the Senate Finance Committee is tonight reporting to the floor of the Senate House Bills Nos. 312 to 319, inclusive, as well as the tax anticipation note bill, House Bill No. 575. These bills are being reported by the Committee following a series of conferences on the Commonwealth's fiscal problems, which have been held during the last two weeks, and which were participated in by Governor James, members of both the House and Senate, and the fiscal experts of the Commonwealth, including the Budget Secretary. The enactment of these bills will continue the present emergency taxes for the coming biennium and are estimated to produce approximately $163,000,000.00.

When the present administration took office it found a deficit of over $50,000,000.00 to provide for. Since the convening of the Legislature recent developments have thrown some doubt on the constitutionality of the foreign franchise tax act. Consideration has been given as to whether there should be a change in the earlier announced policy of no new taxes. It is recognized that the Commonwealth's present taxes are not only high but, in many cases, inequitable and unfair, and that much harm has come to the Commonwealth from the manner in which they have been administered in the past.

The question which has had to be determined is whether we should proceed on the basis of no new taxes or, as an alternative, to revise the entire tax set-up of the Commonwealth. While there is much to be said in favor of this undertaking, the many uncertain elements in the situation make the adoption of the later course impractical at this time. The ultimate expenditures for the coming biennium and the revenues to be derived by the State are dependent not only upon uncertain conditions in the State, but also upon the uncertainty in the National and International situation. These uncertainties within the State involve the extent to which the present business pick-up may reduce the relief load, the percentage of the relief load which will be shared by the Federal government, the extent to which a business pick-up may increase revenues from current taxes and the legal status of a long list of the present current taxes which are under fire through some 5,000 tax appeals now pending.

All of these factors make it practically impossible to at this time enact such a new and comprehensive tax program as would relieve the present inequities and provide sufficient revenue for the needs of the Commonwealth. Since, therefore, neither revenue nor expenditures approach anything approximating a definite forecast it appears to be the better part of wisdom to await the final determination of these variable factors before attempting any radical change.

The futility of trying to plan at present is illustrated by a consideration of the situation with reference to the alleged unconstitutionality of the foreign franchise tax act. Suppose it was conceded at this time that this tax and other taxes now under fire are unconstitutional and that we attempted to levy new taxes to meet this additional burden, and then the Supreme Court finally sustained these taxes—we would find ourselves in the position of having levied a tremendous amount of new taxes made unnecessary by these final decisions. If the present taxes are ultimately sustained by the Court and if at the same time the relief burden is largely reduced through economincal administration and business recovery, Pennsylvania would have found itself in the ridiculous position of having vastly increased taxes just at the time when tax reduction was in sight.

It is further recognized that a comprehensive tax program requires a thorough and intensive study of the whole economy of the State's business, which can only be done in a haphazard and piecemeal manner at this session. It is therefore proposed to establish a Tax Commission which shall, before the convening of the next session of the Legislature, make the careful and sound study that the situation requires, so that a definite program may be ready to submit to the next session—a program which will relieve industry in Pennsylvania of such taxes as work an injustice to the Pennsylvania business man, relieve the individuals of the taxes which are now levied without consideration for the ability to pay, and will meet the whole problem in an intelligent and comprehensive manner.

In the new administration of the present taxes it is expected that sympathetic consideration will be given to such gross inequities as have arisen in the past through the arbitrary and unjust administration of these laws.

For the reasons given above, the various conferences have reached the virtually unanimous decision that the most advisable policy at present is to go through with the plan as originally announced in the budget message—the so-called Earle Emergency Taxes to be re-enactd substantially as now in effect for a limited time, economies in the administration of other governmental functions to be pushed to the utmost, business and industry expansion to be encouraged, every effort to be expended that every possible saving be made in the present immense relief expenditure.

There will be no new taxes enacted at the present session of the Legislature. Every attempt will be made by both the Legislative and Administrative branches of the present regime to bring governmental expenditures within governmental income. Under this plan there is hope that revenues will enable the administration to continue operations until the next regular Legislative session in 1941.

Should a special session become necessary due to the ultimate unconstitutionality of any of the tax laws, or due to the failure of the present reduction in relief to continue, or due to the final adverse determination of any of the present uncertainties, the cost of such a special ssssion is small by comparion with the immense saving to our people should we succeed in our plan to live within our present income.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, frankly, I did not expect to speak on the subject which my friend from Tioga has discussed but, listening to his remarks, I should like to say that I consider his confession of inability to meet the situation a very nice thing. But in order to claim injustice one must set up the measure of justice, and in order to set up a measure of justice he must know what justice is and ought to be able to do it. It seems to me that this four- or five-page alibi for the failure to live up to the platform of the Republican party, on which the present Administration was elected, is rather weak and inane.

"After making adequate provision for necessary functions of government, Public Relief, Assistance and Social Security, we pledge ourselves to reduce th tax load to the minimum, to abolish taxes that were imposed for political and punitive purposes."

Now, certainly those taxes should not be re-enacted and if we are re-enacting the whole Earle program—which I now take the privilege the calling the Earle-James program—we ought to eliminate from those the political and punitive taxes. I have not heard this mentioned; I should be very glad to hear that.

"We pledge ourselves to revise taxes according to equity and general welfare."

Now, I am for "making adequate provision for the necessary functions of government, Public Relief, Assistance and Social Security." The total tax income for two years is $372,000,000; the total necessary governmental functions cost $202,000,000; $170,000,000 is left for relief beginning June 1, 1939.

$42,000,000 of that sum comes off first, for the present—the end of the present biennium; and $128,000,000 is left for two years of relief, and we are spending at the rate of eleven or twelve million dollars a month. That is quite adequate in the minds of those that do not know and those who dodge.

The appointment of a tax commission now: the Governor of this Commonwealth was elected in November; it was then the time for him to appoint a body of men to look into this tax proposition and find those political and punitive taxes and remove them from the book, but, after three or four months' waiting, we are told, First, there will be no new taxes; then, that there will be reductions; and then, there will not be any new ones; and tonight again have the assurance there will not be new taxes—there will not be because we will not be here to levy them.

We will come back in 1941 says the Senator from Tioga, and I say we will be back in 1939 if we do our duty—after election, of course—because nobody expects this Legislature to be back here before November 7. You do not increase taxes before elections—that is not done by political parties. I say that is the lamest silliest excuse for failure to do a constructive job, as promised by the Republican party, that I have ever listened to.

The budget was unbalanced before they even made this plan. This program has been made, as you were told by the Republican members of the Finance Committee. Nobody on this side of the house was called or consulted and I charge now that if there had been better cooperation and consideration—that the Governor of this Commonwealth, and this Administration, is managing the affairs, is managing not only for the Republicans, and the Democrats as well, but for all citizens—they would have had a plan to eliminate some of those taxes.

I say now some of those taxes can be eliminated, and the application of a little common sense will bring about a plan; but the figures and the facts of the gentleman, as he presented them, are all for the Republican side of the house, and those of us who have any ideas about the matter are obliged to find our own figures and put in our own time, months, to get those figures and facts which should have been available within two weeks.

I say there is, there should be a plan proposed which will correct a situation which could not be helped then but can be now. Every man in public life has had four years' time in which to consider the taxes imposed by the previous Administration. Every man has had plenty of time to study their effects and to try to find ways and means by which those effects could be removed.

For four years the Governor of the Commonwealth has been an official in this Commonwealth for four years. Apparently he has studied these affairs because he criticised the fact that these were inequitable taxes; and now we are met with the inlane statement, "We do not have time now." He speaks of the international situation, and I suppose he means war; and war will boost business and business will aid employment and then we will not need any more relief—what a horrible thought to suggest!

I say to those gentlemen that there is a way and they have not adopted the proper method to find the way. This whole thing reflects itself in every thing we have done here this session. Last week I aroused the ire of the gentleman from Tioga because I suggested there was no important piece of legislation on the calendar. We were told by him very vehemently, I think, and with great emphasis that the various committees were working overtime and that they were all studying very carefully and cautiously and were selecting legislation with very much consideration—with one eye, I suppose, on the bill and the other on the Supreme Court.

Tonight on the calendar we have the result of those labor pains. Now, Mr. President, if you examine these brain children, as I have, I think you will arrive at the same conclusion that I did—that the mountain has labored and given forth a mouse.

Assuming we complete this calendar tonight, what will be the net result? As I see it it will be something like this, and I am reading from the calendar: Mr. Geltz will have shown Mr. Pew how to make friends and influence people with an 8 x 10 inch sign. Mr. Edmonds' abolition bill will have freed the oil industry from the fear of exposure; it will be unlawful to make a policeman for at least twenty-four hours in seven days even in a Second Class A city. Sheriff Weiglein will be taken off the ever-increasing Republican unemployment roll and we will have made an honest man out of a New Jersey weighmaster if a Pennsylvania weighmaster is reciprocally dishonest. The Harrisburg arsenal will be taken out of the reach of District Attorney Shelly and given to an Indian town; and we will have excited the interest of undertakers in bodies disowned by the Anatomical Board. Mr. Reese's jury-fixing bill, like the action of the Grand Jury, will be postponed again; the political activity and the existence of the Public Utility Commissioners will hang by the narrow thread of an Owlett; and the members of the State Authority will expire before their term—from the jitters. We will have made an honest girl of our Orphans' Court verdict. Industry will rush back to Pennsylvania by our releasing future inheritances from lien pains; fiduciaries will be able to accept the will for the deed; dividends will become part of the principal of an estate because a dead man said so; and a judge will be obliged to notice a conditional sale whether he likes it or not. Local lawyers will collect fees from foreigners; and Mr. Woodward will have the Constitution amended beyond recognition. Mr. Walker will have earned the undying hatred of the Pittsburgh city Assessors, and when the evening is done we forty-eight great big healthy Senators can use the word of the disappointed and disgusted young man who spent an evening with his lady, who said:

"You sing a little song or two,
You have a little chat;
You make a little candy, fudge,
And then you take your hat;
You kiss her hand, and say 'good-night'
As sweetly as you can.
Now, isn't that a hell of a night for a great big healthy man?"

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Westmoreland will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I am going to get away from the question of who is the goat.

I rise tonight to register my opposition to the proposed dismissals in the Motor Police and the Liquor Control Board.

I see by the papers that our economizing Governor is planning a cut of the police force. Statistics show an enormous increase in motor traffic violations in a ten-year period of over 400%. This is natural, when one realizes how many more vehicles are on the road every day at the present time, as compared to ten years ago. One can also compare the increased speed of the modern car, as compared with the car of yesterday and its direct bearing on the increased motor accidents. I am not sure whether the Governor intends to remove these men from the police force in order to make room for new men of a definite political alignment, or whether he figures in dollars and cents saved, regardless of increased peril and danger resulting from poorly patrolled highways. Whatever his reasons are, I can't at this time agree with him. I sincerely believe that the present patrolmen are needed and their services to the motoring public indispensable.

Therefore, Mr. President, in behalf of thousands of motorists who feel safer when they know the highways are being patrolled by our efficient motor police, I do register a protest against the removal of any large number of patrolmen from the present force. The motorist pays for this protection, and this savings will in no way reduce the amount of taxes paid by the motoring public. I repeat, the motorist pays for it and I, as one of the motoring public, intend to do all I can to see that the motorist gets what he pays for, namely, efficient, courteous protection from the speed maniac, drunken driver and traffic law violator, (also number of robberies along the highways) who are the only ones who benefit from a slash in the police force. I cannot urge too strongly the reconsideration by the Governor of this intended order.

Next, I wish to discuss shortly the cut in the Liquor Control Personnel. Early in his term of office, the present Governor cut the wages of some four hundred Liqcor Store employees. The increase of wages was made effective by Governor Earle, after a thorough and diligent study of over a year. It was considered a fair wage raise, because most of the raises were really adjustments in salaries long overdue to employees who had, during their term of service, been advanced to more responsible positions without receiving the advanced pay. Others received raises because of their length of efficient service with the Board. This is a sound principle followed by a vast majority of employers in Pennsylvania.

Governor James has gone far out of his way to stop increases in pay to thousands of workers in Pennsylvania, by setting up an example of getting the maximum from employees for the minimum salary, simply because the employees have no other job to go to and must accept the salary or go on relief. Not satisfied by cutting their pay, the Governor now proposes to remove from the Liquor Control Board payroll some two hundred and fifteen employees. A short analysis of this proposed wholesale dismissal discloses the following facts:

The Liquor Control Board is a self-sustaining public agency. It not only sustains itself, but it shows an actual profit. According to a report put out by the Anti-Saloon League, the Liquor Stores show a profit of over $62,000,000 for the last biennium. Most of the employees of the Liquor Board are receiving salaries far below the standards set up by private employers in positions of like responsibility. Most of the men who are going to be dropped from the payroll are in the lower salary class. The chances are very good that the majority of them will become relief cases.

The question I ask of this Governor is whether, in his judgment, it is a sound business policy for a successful concern that earns $62,000,000 in a biennium, to set an example of cutting wages and reducing working personnel in these days of unemployment and economic depression. We understand and sympathize with the Governor and his so-called program of economy and thrift. I do believe, however, that when economy threatens efficiency, it is far better to spend money than to sacrifice competency and working efficiency. If this agency made a profit of $62,000,000 with its present setup, then why remove these men who helped to create this enormous profit? Again, I point to the example being set by the Governor's actions. In effect, he says to Pennsylvania employers, "Go ahead—cut wages, drop all possible personnel from your payrolls, even if you did make an ernormous profit. You owe nothing to the men who helped to create your prosperity."

I say to you, Mr. President, that this example is bad at this time, or I may add, at any time. Many decent employers in Pennsylvania, who have seasonal industries, have felt that they have a moral obligation to carry on their payroll many employees who are not necessary, in a strict sense of the word, during the off-peak seasons. The Governor is telling them that they too may follow his example and make more profit and let the State carry the burden through its relief rolls. I believe in cutting down expenses and reducing overhead along the lines of good sound business and moral judgment. I do not believe, however, in drastic reductions which do not take into consideration profits made and the economic conditions of those affected by the reduction in operating expenses. I cannot subscribe to the policy of cutting out essential employment to satisfy a whim or a politically motivated economy program.

It reminds me of the story told me long ago by my father. He related the story of the miserly drayman, who owned a hard working mule that gave him an excellent financial return, with a very low overhead expense. He conceived the brilliant idea, which is something similar to the James Thrift Plan, of cutting down the overhead by reducing the amount of food he gave the mule. After working his program systematically for a period of time, one of his neighbors who also owned a mule asked him how the plan was working out. He said the plan had done fine for a while—he had the mule down to two straws a day. He said he would have had him down to nothing but the inconsiderate mule died.

I am wondering if the James policy of cutting employees off of the Public Utility Commission the Highway Patrol and the Liquor Control isn't going to do the same thing. I wonder if the P. U. C. can efficiently carry on its work with a reduced force. I wonder if the interest of the utility consumer can be served with a curtailed force of investigators. I wonder if the police can give the maximum amount of highway protection to the traveling public with a reduced corps; and whether or not the Liquor Control Board can continue to give efficient courteous service and still earn its enormous profits with a minimum number of employees. Maybe because of the nature of its monopolistic business it may continue to make an enormous profit but remember that it means a great deal more work to those who must carry on the business of the Board.

There is absolutely no need to increase the relief rolls in Pennsylvania by cutting out employment in agencies that are self-sustaining and profit making. The liquor consumer pays the wages of the Liquor Store employes. This dismissal will not save him one cent. The motorist pays for the protection given him by the Motor Police. Will the proposed reduction serve to cut his taxes? I predict it will not. The consumer of utility services pays the wages of the employees of the Public Utility Commission. Will the utility consumer receive the savings effected by the Governor's orders? I claim he will not.

In conclusion, I want to re-emphasize the bad example set by the Governor's policy, and I oppose these dismissals because of the aforementioned reasons and other reasons too lengthy to discuss here. I believe that this political program is one of false economy. I, therefore, cannot subscribe to any program that cuts out essential service to save a few dollars.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I am somewhat embarrassed by the absence of my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, so I think it would be better for me to yield to my colleague from Blair until the Senator from Philadelphia comes back.

I was about to call the attention of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, to the fact that we are now celebraing the birthday of Thomas Jefferson, and I thought he ought to be remembered somewhat in the prayer of the Chaplain, but he was not.

Every year, however, you know President Roosevelt makes a pilgrimage to Monticello and there testifies what a good Democrat what a good Jeffersonian Democrat—he Mr. Roosevelt is. One of the principles of Thomas Jefferson's scheme of government was that that government is best which governs least. I therefore, in reply to the remarks of the Senator from Philadelphia, wish to call attention to the fact that the Senate of Pennsylvania is endeavering to follow the footsteps of Thomas Jefferson by governing as little as possible, and these bills, while they might not be vital, are certainly interesting; and the bill which I had he honor of reporting out of committee is very interesting—that was Senate Bill 289, because it rips out a ripper it is called a "re-ripper."

I counted the bills on this calendar tonight and there are only 16 bills on the Senate Calendar; but I also counted the bills that are what the newspaper men call "looming" from the House of Representatives, and there you will find on Monday night's calendar 104 bills. I would say, therefore, if the Senate is to be in a receptive mood, it would be very wise to limit its efforts on its own bills and be prepared for 104 bills coming over from the House.

Also, in conclusion, I think we are looking forward, on the Republican side, to publishing only one volume of the laws of Pennsylvania, because, at present, if you ask for the 1937 laws it takes two pages to bring the two volumes up from the Senate Library. Therefore I still believe that the Republicans in their Senate calendar have displayed very good judgment and I am prepared for the worst when the 104 bills come over from the House.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to say to my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, it will only take two pages to read the constructive history of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania so far as this Administration is concerned. I do not think it will take two pages to put down the constructive Acts if you leave out the bills prepared and handed to this Administration by the Earle Administration, there will not be any books necessary at all, and then I can limit myself to one page.

And concerning the activities of the House I would say to the gentleman from Philadelphia that I read 117 bills over this weekend, and 70 came from the House and if that is an example of the Legislation we have here I certainly want to take back what I said about the calendar tonight, because that is even worse—there is not a bit of legislation of any importance in the 117 bills that were introduced since Monday night of last week until we left on Wednesday, and, as I said, it would have been funny if it was not tragic.

As I reminded by colleagues last week I want to remind them again that this Commonwealth spending $33,000,000 a month in relief in one form or another. The figures are easy—there are $12,000,000 by the Commonwealth; $15,000,000 or $16,000,00 by the Federal Government; $6,000,000 a month in unemployment compensation, and I don't think there is anything funny about that—I think it is very serious, and I think all of this money that we are wasting here in printing this nonsensesical legislation does not hold a candle to the two books if you talk about last year. If you look at those two books—the 1937 pamphlet Laws—you will find those two books, plus the first book, in 1935, is complete compliance with every platform pledge that the Democratic party made, and it is the first time in the history of this Commonwealth that every platform pledge was enacted into Legislation.

True, you can point to some unconstitutional laws; maybe next year we will point to some other laws that are unconstitutional; but a promise, even in political life, and every promise the Democratic party made in their platform was carried out.

Here is an important promise I just read:

"To provide for relief, to reduce taxes" You will not need any two volumes, or even one, to carry the legislation in that respect; you can write it in one word, not in one page, failure to keep promises. "Failure" is what will be written all over the book; and do not forget—the people of Pennsylvania are hungry and a hungry crowd remembers.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I agree with the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, that the state in which the Commonwealth is in is tragic. I believe in our present constituted form of government that of parties, and I also am concerned about good government no matter which party gives that good government; and I for one, welcome suggestions from any member on the other side of the house, and I am wondering and, if I may have the privilege, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, whose opinions on State matters are always welcome; although I do not always agree, quite often I do agree; and therefore I should like to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I should like to inquire from the Senator which one, or which ones, of the Earle tax bills he would recommend that we not re-enact or that we now modify.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Well, Mr. President, I am very glad to answer the gentleman from Blair. I think that the personal property tax and the tax on gross income are two taxes that bear no relation to profit or income and therefore, in my opinion, should not be continued beyond the point where absolutely necessary—I would eliminate those two taxes.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, are there any other taxes that the Senator from Philadelphia would eliminate or modify in part?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I can say to the gentleman that I have been making a study of the proposition and I think I can suggest the elimination of $147,000,000 in taxes If I am correct in the substitution that I want to make.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, what substitution would the Senator from Philadelphia make?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am not prepared to make any statement at this time because it requires a great deal more consideration than I have been able to give it in the time, although I have given it a whole lot of time; and that is why, if I had had opportunity to discuss it with the gentleman supposed to be in charge of the executive departments I would have been able to make the suggestion two months ago. As it is, I have got to get my own figures.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I should imagine that the Senator from Philadelphia would be able to enlighten the Senate more in detail after the Senate has been in session now some of three months.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to suggest to the gentleman from Blair that the Senate has been in session for three months and I have been working for three months but I did not think it was my burden to carry out the Governor's platform—I imagined the Governor of the Commonwealth, when he was making the speeches about cutting down taxes, knew what he was talking about. I thought he had, in his back pocket, a program; and that when he was elected he would hand it to us, and I was prepared to go along with him. As a matter of fact I made the statement as soon as I came on the floor of this Senate after the election that the gentleman was not my candidate but he was my Governor and I would be very glad to go along with any program he had that would cure the condition about which he complained. And now the only thing he complains about is his inability to carry out the correction of the condition he complained about. That is no excuse for failure to do what he promised. As a matter of fact, he has no plan, and will not have any for six months; and I do not see that I should be called upon at a moment's notice to give suggestions.

I made one suggestion last week, but nobody has paid any attention to it, and I would like to repeat it for the benefit of the gentleman from Blair, because I believe him when he says he is interested. I suggested that the Administration which has a budgetary expense of $372,000,000, and whose cash will not come in except over a period of two years, will find itself in a position where the cash position will prohibit it or prevent it from conducting business affairs.

I suggested that the method used by the Earle Administration—the sale of tax anticipation notes—could not be used this session to the same extent because there is a deficiency of $37,500,000 in the corporate franchise tax. There is a deficiency of at least $6,000,000 in the anticipated revenue from the net income tax on corporations. Instead of getting $51,000,000, according to Government collections, you will get about $15,000,000 less or $46,000,000. That means you will have $23,000,000 instead of $28,000,000 or $29,000,000 that was anticipated, so you are $6,000,000 short there, and $37,500,000 short on the corporate franchise tax; and if the formula set up in the corporate franchise tax is wrong it will also affect to the same extent, the corporate net income tax by several million dollars: you have facing you at least $45,000,000 deficit, which leaves $317,000,000 income, not $372,000,000; and when you divide that by two you have approximately $158,500,000 income for one year. Now, if your expenses for relief alone are $12,000,000 a month you have a $144,000,000 cash outlay facing you.

How in the world, under that kind of a situation, can you adopt a two-year budget? I think that the proposition is to adopt a temporary budget for a period of time less than two years, to make your cash position fit the situation; and I think you should sit down immediately—not in 1940 and not in September, when you will not want to be here because election is coming up, but now, and make your plans for the future, before the future makes them for you.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, modesty heretofore has prevented me from expressing my thoughts on this grave and serious problem confronting the Commonwealth. I have talked with my colleagues regarding this matter and, just to keep faith with my constituents at home, I want to now state what has been my opinion as to the solution of our financial problem.

In my own humble way I would suggest that all of the Earle taxes would either be modified in a great way or repealed. I do not mean repeal all of them but I would have modified every one of them; and people will suggest, "Well, what would you advocate to take their place?"

I would advocate the repeal of the tax on the capital stock of manufacturing corporations. I don't know of any municipality in the State where the people would not be willing, and have been for years, to take money from their pockets to bring industries into their communities, and I can not see the logic of taxing them out or making it impossible to do business after you get them into your community.

The State of Pennsylvania became a great manufacturing state—which my colleagues on the left should have realized, because of a Democratic Governor, who advocated that there should be no tax on the capital stock of manufacturing corporations, in order that they could be induced to come into this Commonwealth. The people of this Commonwealth will not object to paying taxes if they have the money with which to pay taxes. I know the people in my district, and they are no different from the people of any other district in Pennsylvania—the people of Pennsylvania will pay taxes if they have the money with which to pay taxes, and if they do not have that money no matter what laws we pass they can not pay. That seems to me to be common sense and we ought to do something in this State to encourage industry to put men to work.

We had the best mechanics in the world in the State of Pennsylvania; we could build and manufacture anything better than any country in the world can build or manufacture, right here in Pennsylvania—put these people to work and they will pay their taxes, we will not have to be concerned with tax abatement laws.

Another law that I would modify would be the personal property tax. I would put that tax back where it was at four mills. I think that all kinds of property should bear their share of taxation. It seems to me that with the legislation in the past, the only thing they knew to tax was real estate. I think that real estate should be fairly taxed and I see no reason why personal property should not be fairly taxed.

Now, as a substitute, I would put a tax on earned income. There are a lot of people in this Commonwealth today making good money and they are spending every cent of it and they are not paying any tax. I do not see any reason why there should not be a tax on earned income, and that is the suggestion I have to make.

Now, I am not jumping over the traces. I may be wrong and if my Governor and my party think that now is not the time to make a change, why, I will say that I am wrong, but I want to express my opinion as to what I think should have been done.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Blair.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Blair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Blair know how much would be the result of a tax on earned income, in dollars and cents?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I have no way of estimating that exactly but I have heard it might bring in as much as a hundred million dollars.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does the gentleman know at what rates he would fix the tax?

Mr. MALLERY. Two per cent, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does the gentleman know how much the total amount of taxes he suggested to be abolished would amount to.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, just off hand I don't know.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does not the gentleman think it is important to know the amount of the taxes to be abolished?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I did know but right now I am not prepared to state.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, it is expected that the tax on earned income will bring sufficient to pay the amount resulting from the elimination of the taxation on manufacturers and personal property tax.

Mr. MALLERY. I think it would, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, those two taxes amount to $15,000,000, if the tax on manufacturing is exempted and $34,500,000 on the personal property tax—that is approximately $50,000,000.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I think I said it would bring $100,000,000.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the gentleman from Blair said $100,000,000. I would like to know on what he bases those figures.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I talked this matter over with Mr. Fertig.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does Mr. Fertig believe you will get $100,000,000 in one year?

Mr. MALLERY. No. Mr. President, in a biennium.

Mr. GILSON. Mr. President, I think that we on this side of the house might say, briefly, we accept the apology of the gentleman from Blair county, for the tax program which the administration is introducing or has introduced. Some time ago in the Senate, I recall stating that in my opinion the crux of this whole situation is more than a matter of taxation. We find in Pennsylvania today the necessity of a tremendous amount of money, but as yet I have not seen any declared intention of solving the reason for the need of that large excess of money which confronts us today.

I think we can all look back to the time when in Pennsylvania there were certain industries which were active, which were the employers of our now idle labor, which were purchasers of tremendous quantities of materials from other industries. We find those industries today almost in a state of decrepitude; they are no longer producers, neither are they consumers. There has been a transition in the nature of Pennsylvania industry, which has changed the worker to an idle man; and as that transition has taken place we have lost a tremendous lot of earning power and purchasing power.

We have found, likewise, back for a couple of decades the growth of a tendency on the part of our municipal subdivisions to look to our State for subsidies in increasing amounts.

I think the answer is a perfectly natural and logical one, for the reason is a perfectly logical and natural one.

Back in 1920 to 1930 we found in almost any municipality of any consequence that everything was on the upgrade; people were not concerned very much with how much real estate tax they paid; the educational program was moving ahead by leaps and bounds; our State aided institutions were getting into the habit of demanding and getting tremendous sums for carrying on necessary advances. We have today great advancement in the arts, and as a consequence they are requiring a greater advance in the science of medicine, the treatment of people. Th automobile alone has placed a burden upon our state aided hospitals, which perhaps equals the normal load these institutions carried many years ago. Now, all through this psychology has been the necessity for greater State activity, more money from the State.

With the occurrence of the depression, and the collapse of real estate values, we find a demand from our local communities to take the burden off of real estate, and it is a necessary demand; but, just as that demand increases, so does the necessity for State aid likewise increase.

The point that I am trying to get at is that there are in Pennsylvania certain industries which are indigenous to Pennsylvania; that if those industries can be relieved, can be cured and placed back somewhere near to their pre-depression state, we will have solved a large part of our problem.

I take occasion again, tonight, to say that our colleagues from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, has been insistent ever since my experience in this Senate in trying to get a favorable action from both parties in this State as to a graduated income tax. Now, there are certain fundamental theories of taxation, which the present tax program seems to me to violate with reckless abandon. As I said before, it is not merely the subject of taxation which is confronting the people of Pennsylvania today. Were you able to settle once and for all the difficulties in the anthracite and the bituminous coal districts, were you able to put the railroads in the situation where they were the producers and consumers as they were ten or fifteen years ago, if you were able to put other industries in Pennsylvania in a situation of production, there would not be much concern with whether your capital stock tax was one mill or five mills; there would not be very much concern with whether your gross income tax was seven per cent or one per cent. People are not concerned with a tax, regardless of what it is in another state, provided their income is sufficient to pay the tax and a profit is left.

I think that we in the legislature, and those in the administration, who are confronted with these problems have become perhaps too tax conscious and have overlooked the thing that is fundamental, and I do not believe that we can go on year after year trying to invent some new way to get money where there isn't any, and avoid the responsibility of correcting the evils which have produced the lack of income.

Our schools are closing. I returned home last week and found a glaring headline about the school district of Erie—the recommendation of the school board on the one hand, and of the Economy Committee on the other, a situation which has never confronted the school district of Erie to my knowledge.

You find the same thing, in so far as every member of this Senate is concerned. Every school teacher, every school director is concerned, with how the State of Pennsylvania is going to find more money to keep the schools up to a percentage of their present standards. The farmers in the western part of Pennsylvania have been reduced by a change of policy to a status of object poverty, or will be shortly; and then we talk about a question of taxation; and find either that our indifference to the fundamental questions involved or our interest some place else precludes us from building up what is naturally Pennsylvania's kind of business; and if we have that, Mr. President, I am pretty well satisfied that we will not need to be so much concerned with the fractions of a tax that we are either going to impose or not impose.

I think we are all convinced that any kind of a tax which is called a capital levy is wrong in principle. Elimination of most of this kind of taxes requires simply the courage to say to the people of Pennsylvania that the only method of taxation is out of income, where the tax may be paid; and that that income can best be stimulated by finding out what is the reason for the ills of our industries, and then correcting those ills.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I am very much interested in the discussion by the various members on the floor of the Senate tonight on this very important problem. I think the most important problem presenting itself to the Senate of Pennsylvania, is the problem of ample care for those who are unable to secure employment, and to attempt to provide employment in some manner, or form, so that we may overcome and solve the relief load.

Tonight is the first night that I think this subject has been approached from the proper angle. The question on both sides of the House, both from the Democratic standpoint and from the Republican standpoint, up to this time, has been treated as a party matter, and, in my opinion, that is a serious mistake.

I was surprised to have heard the Senator from Tioga speak from the floor and state that in this session no new taxes would be levied; and was very much surprised to learn that the Senator had nothing constructive to offer in the way of solving this very perplexing problem. I was astounded to hear the Senator from Tioga say that certain things might be done, but, while he had a personal opinion on the matter—and perhaps a great many of us have personal opinions—we do not seem to get together and consolidate or pick the best out of all the opinions of all of the members of the Senate, so that we may do our duty in full to the people.

I am glad to hear them say this is a very complex problem. The more I hear it discussed the more confused I become in arriving at a conclusion; and tonight, after hearing the general talk from the different angles, I must confess I am further perplexed.

Take the situation back in 1931, as it presented itself when the President of the United States called together men from industry, and the most learned men from the various parts of the United States to come to Washington and sit down and talk this thing over, and a hundred and some men labored for several weeks and after they came out of that convention they decided they had nothing constructive to offer. This problem has taxed the best and most learned minds in the country since that time.

All we Senators from Pennsylvania are wont to deal with this either as a Republican or a Democratic matter. At no time since the beginning of this session has there been any attempt to get together, to pick a group from both sides, eliminate politics entirely and let each side assume a certain degree of responsibility for the program that is going to be presented to the people and industry of the State of Pennsylvania, so that, in the event anyone should fear that there should be any political repercussion in the matter, that fear will be removed by the very composition of the committee which will solve it.

In the primary, during our tour of the State of Pennsylvania, I listened at times to speeches and I thought this thing was very simple of solution. There were certain concise statements made. It was definitely established that the Earle taxes were supposed to be driving industry out of the State of Pennsylvania and, while I agree with Senator Mallery, I might say in the drawing up of the tax program in the early part, there were certain taxes which I opposed on some grounds which have later been established as facts.

However, this program is here. If it is an established fact that those taxes were driving industry out of the State of Pennsylvania I would say it is a mistake, a very serious mistake, to put this problem off for two years when we are here now in session, at the command of the Executive Department. We legislators should get together and make an honest effort to give to the people generally some program; and I repeat what I said last week that, so long as you postpone this tax program, you are going to continue to hamper industry.

As the Senator from Blair said, we must discover the "something" which is going to put men back to work. That "something" is a chimeric word, and we cannot find it in concrete; but if you get this committee together we can at least try to do something constructive in the way of solving this whole situation.

I do not see why any man on either side of the House should hesitate to go in and say, as legislators, we find it necessary, we have certain expenses, and that is what we have got to meet; here is the way we are going to meet it. It will solve a double purpose. It will do away with the suspense; industry will know what they are going to receive in the way of taxes and they, too, can pave the way in their budgetary selections to accept or absorb these taxes; and the people, generally, can be in a position to absorb the shock of new taxation. But while we stand here idle and in suspense and say, you are going to get something two years from now, but we are not just now in a position to tell you today what that is, you are going to further confuse this problem.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, this is perhaps not the time to discuss in detail these tax bills. I must confess, however, that I was much interested in the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Sapiro, complaining that we were not repealing the political and punitive taxes, when I realize that the taxes which are being continued temporarily are the taxes devised by Governor Earle, and all of them voted for by the Senator from Philadelphia, that certainly is a confession on his part that these were punitive and political taxes.

Now, Mr. President, I take it there is nobody in this Senate who does not agree that many of these taxes are punitive and political, and were so designed to be when they were enacted, but what they do not appreciate is this fact, it seems to me, that at this time, when we approach the problem of arriving at a definite tax program, we are confronted with many situations which must be considered.

First, we found upon taking over this government, and the management of it, on the seventeenth day of January, a deficit of $50,000,000. Had we not had that deficit, there would be a lot of taxes that today could be eliminated; and, in addition to that, Mr. President, when they say we should at this time devise a definite comprehensive program, and we ask them what it should be, they have no answer. When we say that by their own tax laws they have created a situation that nobody knows today what the obligations of this Commonwealth are and that there is a situation as to the doubtful constitutionality of some of those laws under which millions of dollars have been collected, and through which we may have to make refunds of millions of dollars, I ask if there is anybody in the body of this Senate that can say what our obligations are today.

Nobody can say until the constitutionality of these Earle tax laws is determined, which we, who were in the Legislature all admit and all know, were conceived in hatred and passed for the purpose of penalizing business in this State, and when you talk about business going out of this State, we all know it was labor acts—the Wagner Act and any number of other unfair regulations imposed upon industry, along with taxes, that put this State in the situation that we find it today. And do we have in Washington any cooperation whatever to return this business to Pennsylvania and other states of the union? An attempt is being made right now to amend the Wagner Labor Act that everybody agrees has hampered business and it is opposed by the New Deal in Washington.

Now, I say to you, frankly, Mr. President, that we fear the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, bearing gifts. We have sat in this legislature four months and seen him, the leader, in the blocking of every constructive move that this administration has tried to make. Nominations have been sent over here to fill positions that are necessary to carry out the policies of this administration; and the Senator from Philadelphia has been the leader in rejecting their confirmation.

Now, it may be unfortunate that we do not have the advantages of the Senator from Philadelphia's superior knowledge; but I am saying to you, frankly, that we doubt whether he is very much interested in the success of this administration. We know, Mr. President, from his actions on the floor of this Senate, that there has been nothing yet occurred here that would impress anybody with the fact that he is interested in the success of this administration, because his well-nigh every move has been to block the orderly functioning of this administration.

And now, we might as well be frank about this situation. We have had created for us a huge deficit. We have had passed in this State all sorts of punitive laws, not only tax laws, but other laws directed against industry until the point has arrived where industry in this State is prostrate.

The people, apparently, did not believe, as the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, stated, that the Democrats carried out their campaign pledges, because, after four years of their administration, they threw them out lock, stock and barrel. That is the best answer I know of in this situation, and the minute that this administration can function without the obstructionist tactics of the minority of this Senate, and can start to put its program in effect, put in office the men that have been selected to carry out this program, and the minute we can find out how many more of the Earle laws are unconstitutional, we can sit down and make some plans.

We know this much, Mr. President, that of those two large volumes of laws that were passed two years ago, at least half of them now are out the window because they were unconstitutional; and we know that there are five thousand tax appeals pending on those various tax laws.

And then, Mr. President, they come in here and complain because we are forced to the position of defending those tax laws to prevent millions and millions and millions of dollars of refunds.

Do you think it is a pleasant situation for this administration, after they pointed out the inequities of these tax laws and the impropriety of levying the taxes that have been imposed on business of this State for four years, to find they have to go to the Supreme Court and defend those various laws to prevent an absolute breakdown of this government. That is the position that this administration finds when it takes office; and I say to you, Mr. President, that we are doing the courageous thing in this Senate when we say that we will see how much of this money we can save from being refunded to the people from whom they took it. It has been paid into the State, and we are going to defend those tax laws that were imposed upon our people to prevent a breakdown of this government. We are going to find out where we are. We are going to try to find opportunities to put into effect some of those economies that are now beink talked about by the minority of this Senate. We are going to see if we can not cut down the relief load, cut out the chiselers, and see that those honestly entitled to relief are amply provided for.

Now, I say to you, frankly, Mr. President, that if that can be accomplished, if the appointees that have been named for the Relief Board, and the State Emergency Relief Board, can start to function and can get some of those policies of economies into effect—unless we get a body blow by the unconstitutionality of some of those Earle laws, I think we can get along for this next biennium; and then we will be in a position to know exactly what our obligations are and will be in a position to pass a comprehensive tax program that will relieve the present inequities of this vicious system that we have in this State now.

Now, I say without fear of successful contradiction, that that is the only sound way for this Senate to meet this problem; and I have no hesitancy at all in standing up here on the floor of this Senate and defending that program because it is the only thing that can be done under the circumstances.

We do not know what our obligations are, and we do not know what our net income is going to be; and you cannot know pending determination of some of those uncertain factors that now lead to this situation. We have nothing to apologize for in this situation. We are harassed, we are on the verge of a complete breakdown. Why? Because of the extravagance, because of the carelessness and other misdeeds of the past administration. We are going to try to clean this up, but it cannot be done in a day, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I had hoped that I could have listened to the interesting discussion without being impelled to say a word or so myself.

Of course, as usual, when the gentleman from Tioga speaks, he always speaks in a manner that must amaze anybody that hears him. We, who know the gentleman from Tioga, of course, are very familiar with his ability to build up a strawman and then like an A-1 pugilist, tear down the strawman.

He talks a lot about inheriting a deficit from the preceding administration.

Well, now, Mr. President, there has not been an administrstion elected to the government of this Commonwealth that, after it has gone in power, has not inherited a deficit from the outgoing administration.

The problem here is not whether the deficit was inherited, but whether the money that was spent was spent for a proper cause.

I have heard nothing from the gentleman from Tioga that would indicate that he agrees that the obligations that the outgoing administration incurred or fulfilled in meeting the blind pensions, mothers' assistance and direct relief of this Commonwealth was a proper obligation.

The gentleman from Tioga has not yet indicated whether he believes those obligations had to be met or not, and if those obligations had to be met, then, Mr. President, the deficit that he says that the James Administration has inherited, it was a deficit concerning an obligation that had to be fulfilled; and if you will admit that these obligations existed then, how in the name of common sense could those obligations be met unless taxes were imposed?

The gentleman from Tioga makes a lot about punitive and political taxes. Now, I say to you, Mr. President, and everybody else, every member of this Senate, that being a member of the Democratic party, or the Democratic philosophy, on the floor of this Senate, it was no pleasant duty for me, or anyone else, to vote for taxes. Nobody wants to vote for taxes. I do not like to vote to tax my fellow citizens anymore than I would vote to tax myself; but whenever you have certain conditions prevailing that require the raising of revenue in order to meet those conditions, then what else can you do but to find the taxes that can be met by the public more easily and impose those taxes?

I say to you, Mr. President, you are talking about government, good government; but hungry men and hungry women know no government. They need bread and butter, and they will have it.

We were faced with those conditions for many years here, and I am not here ready to accuse the presence of those conditions to the Republican party at all. I feel that those conditions that brought about the economic depression in this country were things that developed naturally because of the belief of big business and other interests in certain philosophies which, pursued constantly and over a long period of time, developed economic chaos and depression that has struck us and is still with us today.

I believe sincerely and honestly that we will never emerge from this chaotic situation, that we will never rise out of this economic depression, until we have changed many of these ancient philosophies of business and labor also.

I am not ready to say that labor in all its movements has been immaculate. They, too, have erred. But big business has been the most grevious offender, and, when we were faced with the hosts of hungry men and women who needed bread and butter, we had to raise these finances, these monies, and naturally we tried to tax those interests, those individuals who, over a long course of years, have enjoyed an exemption over their fellow citizens. And in that class came this large group of people of this state who had enjoyed the possession of millions and millions of dollars of stocks and bonds and other personal property in safety deposit boxes and every place else, enjoyed the possession of their property over a long course of years without any taxation, while the other persons, who owned a little home, or, a lot with a home on it, to house his children, his wife and his loved ones, who could not stick the home, or the lot, in his safety deposit box like the coupon clipper.

Therefore, the tax collector, and the tax levying power, always pyramided the taxes on this real estate.

Now, there were no places where this revenue could be raised except upon the people that were taxed by the Earle administration. You can look far and wide for other sources to tax and, if you are sincere and honest, you will come to the same conclusion that the Earle administration came to, and no other conclusion.

When it comes to knowing whether a law is constitutional or not, I would like to see that Solomon in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I would like to see the man on the floor of this Senate, or anywhere else, that can tell us when the Supreme Court of ours, or Superior Court is going to take a notion to declare an act unconstitutional. Who knows?

It is like going down to the river and casting your fish hook into that river. You don't know whether you are going to get a chub, sucker, eel, bass or a trout; and that is the situation with the Superior and Supreme Court today.

You can study an act as carefully as you want, and try to make it comply with the Constitution, yet you do not know the outcome of that law until it gets into the hands of this politically minded Supreme and Superior Court of our Commonwealth.

This Court that has been on the preferred list of the market, this Supreme Court that with one breath says that the State Authority Act is unconstitutional and then in less than a year, without any change having taken place in the Constitution, comes along and tells us they made a mistake, that the State Authority Act is constitutional. When this flimsy Supreme and Superior Court of ours might declare an act constitutional or unconstitional, nobody knows.

We passed the Workmen's Compensation Act, and the Supreme Court of this state has consistently held that the wisdom of a piece of legislation is absolutely in the province of the General Assembly, whether an act is a wise or an unwise act. Yet in its opinion, on this Workmen's Compensation Act, the only grounds that the Supreme Court gives for declaring it unconstitutional is that the Act is unwise and may run out of business some coal operators.

Now, how can we tell when the Supreme Court is going to declare an act constitutional or unconstitutional?

Look up the record and you will find that the gentleman from Tioga has voted on the floor of this Senate for Acts of Assembly that the Supreme Court has declared unconstitutional.

If we knew that the Supreme Court would once be consistent in its opinion upon a constitutional decision, then we, too, could be certain when we vote on an Act of Assembly and study it as to whether that Act is going to be constitutional or not.

The gentleman from Tioga wants to know how many Earle laws are going to be declared unconstitutional. I say to him to do the same thing that Moe Annenberg did. They told him in advance; and they will tell you in advance. Go and find out.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, some three hundred years B. C. there was an old Greek philosopher who put out his eyes so that ceasing to see he would be forced to think. I would not recommend that extreme measure to the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, but I do suggest that he adopt some measure that would enable him to think when he speaks.

I listened to a great many of his statements and I should like to answer them. First, he said that of the laws that were passed in 1937 half have already been declared unconstitutional. In 1937, according to my records, there were 967 Senate Bills and 495 House Bills. The Governor signed 602 of those bills—105 were appropriation bills, 26 were vetoed, 13 were Constitutional Amendments; so that there were 602 bills signed by the Governor.

If the gentleman's statement is correct, then the Supreme Court has decided 302 bills passed by the Earle administration were unconstitutional.

If that is the kind of information that the colleagues of the Governor, when he was a candidate, gave him, I am not at all surprised he has fallen into the position in which he finds himself.

Just imagine a man, who complains a tax is a vicious tax and he is going to abolish it, then comes and complains the Supreme Court has saved him the trouble by declaring it unconstitutional.

As I figure it, he never anticipated using that tax, that is one of those vicious taxes; and now the gentleman from Tioga, in explanation, comes in and says this tax has ruined us. Why, we do not know our figures, because we are out $37,500,000. If the gentleman from Tioga had followed the Greek philosopher and had thought, he would not have made that remark because that is what we call, in common parlance, leading with your chin.

He tells us and tells you the only reason there was not adopted a constructive program is because I, as the floor leader, have interfered with every constructive move. I would like to suggest to him that he give me the answer to the question that I asked Senator Woodward last week—what is your constructive move? Where is it on the calendar? Where is there any constructive move made by the administration that I have interfered with?

First, there has been no constructive move and, therefore, there could not have been any interference; but, if the gentleman means we have interfered with the appointments by the Governor, what is there constructive about removing from the Department of Public Assistance Board a man like Mr. Staples, President of the Bell Telephone Company, and replacing him with someone else? Why should we confirm that kind of an appointment? What is constructive about the wholesale removal of decent, respectable citizens from Public Assistance Boards and asking us to confirm that kind of action, to put on our stamp of approval by confirmation?

What can be constructive about appointing seven Republicans on a Relief Board, when the Governor, who made those appointments, promised that he would take relief out of politics; and the law under which they are appointed provides that they shall not and must not all be of the same political faith?

What is there constructive about a governor who, three months before he was elected, promised that he was going to install economies so that this tremendous $510,000,000 budget would be reduced, and who produced for our edification a $522,000,000 budget?

What is there constructive about a governor who promised that he will remove taxes and then sends his mouth piece here to tell us that he is very sorry, they are punitive, and they are vicious but they will have to be permitted to punish a little longer and we will have to join in the viciousness a little while longer because he can not think of any better substitute? Is that constructive?

And the only answer is that these gentlemen find themselves almost in a breakdown—and my friend left out the real word, nervous breakdown—because they do not know how to answer that question. They came in here with a flag flying and they said we are going to reduce taxes, and the only thing they tried to remedy was to remove an nonexistent oil burner from the Governor's mansion, and that did not work for them—they could not reduce taxes that way. Then they swore there would not be any increase in taxes, and then they told us, I cannot do that, I cannot decrease taxes, because you left me with a deficit. What deficit? We cannot tell what our obligations are so we cannot make up a budget. Then why adjourn two weeks to make up a budget?

I was told tonight that I am supposed to have superintelligence. Well, I want frankly to say I do not lay any claim to that, and it is no credit to me that I can figure out a plan better than the gentlemen who have charge because I think that would be a reflection on their ability. I pointed out to the members of this Senate the day before we adjourned for the two weeks recess that the budget would be in the neighborhood of $378,000,000. It was $372,000,000. I said it would be within five or three or two million dollars of that figure. Why? Everybody who knows anything about State affairs can read last year's budget and tell what the obligations are with the exception of one item and that is relief, and I say that those gentlemen did not think before they came in here. Before we got that budegt, we were told by Mr. Russell that our present obligations per month for relief are $12,000,000, and if you multiply that by twenty-four you know that at least $288,000,000 will be required for relief, and you had no right to attempt to fool the public and now attempt to continue that business by making a budget which did not carry out your obligations. Instead of adding $288,000,000 to the $202,000,000 and providing a budget of $490,000,000 for relief and governmental functions, they accepted a budget of $372,000,000 because that is how much they will get in.

They made this budget backwards this time, that is how they fulfilled their obligation. First they ignored them and then they said let us look at these figures and see how much will come in and you were told if everything went along as in the last four years you will get in $372,000,000, and then the Governor said how much does it cost to run the government without relief and they said $202,000,000, and he said I will give you $170,000,000 for relief, and they said well, Governor, it costs $12,000,000 a month, you will be short $110,000,000. Well, he said, that is all we have left and that is what we will give to relief. That is a new method of fulfilling an obligation. They said, wait a minute, Governor, you have got $42,000,000 staring you in the face that we are going to spend from now to May 31st, where will you get that? He said, I know I promised not to raise taxes so we will take that off some place else. You say you did not know what the obligation was. That is not true. The Governor of this Commonwealth knew and anybody who knows anything about figures knew that the expenditures so far have not deviated a million dollars between $11,000,000 and $12,000,000 every month and everybody knew that the budget requirements for relief were $288,000,000 maximum and $250,000,000 minimum, and this Govrnor has provided $128,000,000 and sends the gentleman from Tioga in with the lame, inane excuse that he did not know what the obligation is.

Now, he might say be does not know what the income is because those very taxes which he did not like, which he pledged to discard, have been discarded for him by a decision of the Supreme Court and now he does not know what to do. That is a vicious punitive tax, says he, so he sends to the Attorney General to hurriedly take an appeal and have that vicious tax declared constitutional. I never heard of such utter sheer nonsense or such playing politics with the poor and the hungry and with relief. I never heard of such dodging of obligations and it is just ordinary cheap tomfoolery to come in and say I stopped it.

How am I stopping the Governor who made such marvelous promises? I am beginning to believe that a revolution in politics is nothing more than an abrupt change of misadministration.

That is all it means. You can tell the other fellow he was no good and you are going to be worse and get away with it. What was there? The Wagner Act? Has that affected the budget; has the $37,500,000 affected the budget? Why, as a matter of fact, Mr. President, the $37,500,000 is not a $37,500,000 shortage this term at all, because $25,000,000 of this was for 1935 and 1937 and the return is not a matter of law, the money does not have to be given back, it is only a matter of grace, and so they are not fooling me because they are not short that $25,000,000 until they pay it. And of course if they can find an excuse so glibly for not reducing those taxes they can still find an excuse for not giving it back. They are doing the same thing now in giving back to the people who elected them the taxes they promised they would eliminate.

And now they complain about Washington. That is the finest thing of all. The gentleman who was a friend and colleague of the Governor on the ticket, Senator Davis, proceeded in Washington to divorce himself from his obligation to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and he voted to decrease the appropriation by $150,000,000 on W.P.A. His one vote removed that $150,000,000—that means $15,000,000 to Pennsylvania, that is how much less will be spent in Pennsylvania by that reduction, and then we were all treated to the spectacle, the Legislature convened and we were told to listen to the two eminent statesmen, the Senators from Pennsylvania in Washington, and one of those gentlemen—the same Senator, Senator Davis—unless my hearing is affected—made the statement that of that $150,000,000 which the president asked for for additional relief which we cut off from the first appropriation, when it comes up I am going to vote for it, and then he promptly went down to Washington and acted like the rest of the Republicans of this State—broke his word and went against it, and so Pennsylvania loses its proportion of that money —$5,000,000.

Look at the Russell report and you will see that in spite of the fact that we have taken off the relief rolls several thousand cases, people who have gone back to work, the greatest increase in applications to go back on relief came this week and the greatest number of cases were put back, some two thousand, by being dropped from W.P.A. and you men on the other side sit idly by while your mouthpiece tells us we are obstructionists.

You talk about politics in relief, when your man went down to Washington and cut the source of supply, and then complain about increased expenditures caused by that stoppage. I think some of you must have been listening to the Senator from Tioga with your tongues in your cheeks, if he did not have his. That is the most ridiculous argument the gentleman from Tioga has made. Usually he is clever, he is able to hide his excuses under some kind of logic, but this time he is met with a situation that he can not answer. He cannot quite cope with it. He knows very well—and if I know him as I think I do, his speech was entirely different from what he told the Governor. What he is doing, he is exercising and performing his duty as he thinks he should as the majority leader, and I say that is playing politics, and when he stops that we will get somewhere.

I want to recall to his mind and to the members of the Senate that the day before we adjourned I submitted a resolution that there be a non-partisan committee of six appointed to investigate relief, unemployment compensation and W.P.A., and my resolution read, and I said it on the floor, that anybody who has the sense with which he was born, knows that those three matters interweave, knows that one has an effect upon the other—I have stated then and repeated in the meetings of that committee that constructive work can be done and done now. I asked them in that resolution that we should meet in those two weeks and what happened? I do not claim to have all the brains in this Senate but I repeat that you do not need much brains to beat what we have been getting from the other side.

And then when they held their conferences they advertised themselves all over the papers as having programs the Friday before the Monday that we convened we were sent for, gathred together, five gentlemen came up here and then we were asked this question: what we thought should be done about relief—a very simple proposition to answer—just like that. What about the figures and the facts you were gathering for two weeks? How can we answer that now? Those are the things we wanted to discuss. We were told of course there is nothing you can do, we have it all worked out. That is what we got.

I have pointed out at that time and I still say there is $80,000,000 lying idle in the unemployment compensation fund, they get in $72,000,000 this year—at least they are spending some $70,000,000 to comply with all the provisions of the act—there is $80,000,000 that can be put to work, at least $40,000,000 can be, as I have repeatedly suggested here, by an act which will increase the period of compensation from thirteen to sixteen weeks, an amendment that will increase the maximum and minimum, an act that will decrease the waiting period, and then you will find that those figures in Mr. Russell's report which show that there were 780 cases taken off relief will increase to maybe 1400, 1500 or 2000.

I have said that the Assistance Department should make direct payment of cash to those cities which could not put up money to get W.P.A. projects. Has that been done? We have talked about it. Philadelphia today cannot put up $115,000 on a project for an airport to which the government proposes to give $500,000—I mean $600,000 would be spent in Philadelphia, and instead of $600,000 we would have to put up $100,000 and relief would be relieved of $500,000.

In fact, council in Philadelphia, which is another kind of a Republican administration, will not appropriate the money and at this time it has not got the money. My friend, Mr. Farrell, the Senator from Philadelphia, is waiting anxiously for the arrival of House Bill No. 193 which will increase number of the Board of Revision of Taxes from 36 to 72 men. In the City of Philadelphia we have cut down from 80 assessors, at $5,000 each, or $400,000 a year—we have cut them down to 30, and now the administration is very anxious to show economy, and so the administration, I charge, is back of this bill to increase the 36 assessors to 72 and to allow this Board of Revision of Taxes to increase the number of assessors from time to time and the number of clerks provided, however, they procure the consent of council—of course, a Republican council.

Why do I call that to your attention? I call that to your attention because I think I can give the Senator from Tioga some facts that may amaze him. I call that to your attention because the same council and the same Republicans who have been prepared to increase the expenditures of this city administration, which is now bankrupt by several hundred thousand dollars, has refused to put up $80,000 to install a modern system in the Board of Revision of Taxes, and I hold in my hand a photostatic copy of the proposal to furnish to the Board of Revision of Taxes by the Works Progress Administration, on July 6, 1938, by which the government of the United States offered to spend one million dollars in the City of Philadelphia to install the finest modernized system of tax assessments if the City of Philadelphia would put up $80,000, and the Republican council said we will not do it. Here are the figures, and let me tell you how many men would have been taken off the relief rolls—one thousand and ten men. There would have been employed in Philadelphia and taken off the relief roll one thousand men if the City of Philadelphia would have spent $80,000.

It is the same kind of administration that we have in Philadelphia that we now have in this State; it is the same kind of administration, in the face of those facts, that put out its mouthpiece to tell us that we are retarding them in constructive suggestions, and I charge that not a single constructive suggestion has come from them, nor have they accepted one that has been given to them, if it bore a Democratic label.

Relief has been thrown into politics, the Governor's promises have been broken and have not been fulfilled after four months of waiting and after three months of campaigning and he now tells us I need more time to find out what I can do.

Now, with all due respect to the Governor of this Commonwealth I now say to him—not as a Senator but as a citizen, I am sorry you were carried away by election promises and I am sorry you do not feel that there is now something more important than trying to excuse your inability to carry out your election promises.

I said before the election was over—and the Senator from Tioga had better recognize that another one is coming—he used the expression "lock, stock, and barrel"; as he puts it that may be a nice sounding phrase—but it will not help in answering people all over the State—and the time to answer the people is coming. We hear the rumblings now—right here in the Senate we hear the rumblings, and we cannot disregard the rumblings of ten million people. I do not believe some of the Senators on the other side are satisfied themselves. Why not say, "Let us join together and work together, as fifty men seated here in this Senate who are responsible for our laws—work together to solve this problem"? I am not talking to the wind. You can have your special session—it will not do any good. You don't need a special session.

The record will show I was right on the budget and it will show I am right now—you are sitting on a volcano and you will blow up with the rest of us; that is what I am suggesting to you.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, for the past two hours I have listened to the comments made by my colleagues on my right and left and they have brought out very constructive criticism relative to what is happening in our State; who shall pay taxes; whether or not we have constructive or destructive legislation on our calendar; but I was impressed most by the remarks made by the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery, when he remarked that back in his district he knew persons that were willing in the past and are now willing to give freely of their time and money to bring industry into their county, but, because we had imposed taxes on industry, later they left. That I believe, Mr. President, is the issue of tonight's campaign. If a person is building a house he must start at the bottom and set up a solid foundation, and the foundation of our government is in the ordinary man and woman; and we have frightened the ordinary man and woman, and I have tried last week to overcome that by bringing out Senate Bill No. 47.

Senate Bill No. 47, Mr. President, tends to relieve the ordinary man and woman to whom we must give assistance, at the age of 70 and, through no fault of his own, must apply for assistance, or so-called relief. But, Mr. President, we tell him that if he has a property he must assign that property to the government for repayment of any money he received. It has been the custom, and is today, for the ordinary man in the small community to give freely of his time and money to bring into his community industry, to help build up the community by building up industry; but what are we saying to him now? We are saying to him if he be aggressive, if he give freely of his time and money to help build up industry and to build himself a home, and if he applies for a pension he must give that back.

We are serving notice on him and we are serving notice on his children that if they should be aggressive they shall be penalized. Now, Mr. President, I understand that tomorrow the Committee on Welfare has a meeting scheduled, and I trust, and I ask them once again, to consider Senate Bill 47, to give the aged persons of our State a new lease on life, to assure them that if they should be found indigent at the age of seventy they can and they will receive pensions from this government—without paying back with their properties. And we do that we are setting up the foundation once again of our government, and we shall assure these people that they shall be free to build and build—build their own properties and build the properties of others, and we will not penalize those persons for being aggressive. So I trust that the chairman on the Committee on Welfare tomorrow will consider my bill, Senate Bill No. 47, and report it out so that this Senate might have the opportunity to base their decision on that most important measure.

Mr. SIPE. Just a word of comment, Mr. President, on one of the expressions in the recent debate. I am at a great loss, often, to understand when our friends on the Republican side are talking seriously and when they are merely joking. They have accused the Democratic side of obstructing the functions of the State Government by refusing to make certain confirmations, but only a few months ago they presented the same argument to us when they were pleading for the confirmation of Mr. Hamilton as Secretary of Revenue.

They plead weightly and tremendously that they needed his confirmation forthwith in order that he might help the Governor and all the other luminaries in the Administration to help get up the budget. Well, enough Democratic votes were furnished to confirm Mr. Hamilton a month ago—to be specific it was on the sixth day of February—and he has not taken his oath of office yet.

In making the plea to us then I am convinced that they were only joking, and I am wondering if they are joking this evening when they are further accusing us of obstructing the functions of government by not making the confirmations that we have been withholding. When are they joking and when are they in earnest?—that is the question.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows and which were laid on the table:

SENATE BILL NO. 12, RETURNED BY THE GOVERNOR WITHOUT APPROVAL

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 21, 1939.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 12, Printer's No. 27, entitled, An Act for the prevention of congenital syphilis providing for and regulating the taking of serological tests of women pregnant with child and requiring notation thereof on the birth and stillbirth certificates of their children imposing duties upon the Department of Health and upon physicians and other persons attending women pregnant with child.

Without attempting to pass upon the merits of the intended purpose of this bill, I find therein serious defects which lead me strongly to oppose it in its present form.

As introduced in the Legislature, the bill contained a penalty for violations of its provisions, However, the Legislature passed the bill without the penalty provision. Accordingly, the bill would be unenforceable, with the result that there would be a complete lack of uniformity in its application.

The bill, therefore, can be considered as nothing more than expression of legislative opinion.

I am further persuaded in my decision not to approve this bill by reason of the fact that ample opportunity will still be afforded the present session of the General Assembly to put into a practicable and sound enactment their thought in this matter.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

SENATE BILL NO. 13, RETURNED BY THE GOVERNOR WITHOUT APPROVAL

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 21, 1939.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 13, Printer's No. 19, entitled, An Act regulating the issuance of marriage licenses prohibiting the issuance thereof to persons infected with syphilis in certain stages requiring each applicant to produce certain evidence of freedom from such disease imposing duties upon the Department of Health and the clerk of the Orphans' Court of the various counties and imposing penalties.

This bill would prohibit the issuance of marriage licenses to persons infected with certain social diseases. As drawn, it does not apply to what is known as common law marriages.

Without entering into discussion at this time of the merits or demerits of such legislation, I find in the bill as enacted a defect which so seriously weakens it that I am unable to give it my approval.

The defect is as follows: The section imposing the penalty provides for a summary proceeding "before any justice of the peace or alderman of the county wherein such offense was committed." It will be noted immediately that the bill fails to note magistrates. Omission of the word "magistrates" raises sufficiently grave question whether this bill, if it became a law, could be enforced in the City and County of Philadelphia that I do not deem it proper for me to sign it in the present form.

Ample opportunity is afforded the present session of the General Assembly to re-enact this bill in such form as to assure that its purpose may be realized.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

HOUSE MESSAGE

JOINT RESOLUTION REGARDING SUSPENSION OF PRODUCTION OF BITUMINOUS COAL

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in Resolution from the Senate as follows:

Whereas, the present economic crisis in the Commonwealth has been seriously aggravated by a suspension in the production of bituminous coal; and

Whereas, this suspension has now continued for a period of almost three weeks and there is a grave uncertainty as to when the differences between the operators and the miners will be amicably adjusted; and

Whereas, the bituminous coal industry of this Commonwealth furnishes direct employment to 125,000 men and furnishes the main support for approximately 600,000 people and indirectly for thousands of other citizens of the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, the welfare of the people of this Commonwealth requires that the existing differences be speedily adjusted and it is the duty of everyone to unite and strive for the accomplishment of this end; and

Whereas, the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania representing all of its people realizes the necessity for rehabilitating the basic coal industry and has legislation pending in the General Assembly to aid it in regaining its former industrial position; and

Whereas, a continuation of the present lack of production will result in permanent harm to the future production of bituminous coal because of the use of substitute fuels; now therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) that the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby urges the conferees representing the operators and miners to perform a patriotic duty in the interest of all the people and reconcile their differences immediately for the common good so that the production of bituminous coal may be resumed at an early date and the wheels of industry be kept turning; and further

Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be transmitted by telegraph by the Chief Clerk of the Senate to the conferees now meeting in the City of New York.

HOUSE CONCURS IN AMENDMENTS TO SENATE BILL NO. 34 RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced,

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in amendments made by the Senate to Senate Bill No. 34, (House Bill No. 477), entitled:

An Act to further amend section five hundred eight of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by further regulating the incurring of temporary indebtedness and the repayment thereof

Said bill having been recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment. The votes had on final passage and third reading were reconsidered in the Senate and the bill amended.

BILL SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

Senate Bill No. 34, entitled:

An Act to further amend section five hundred eight of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. Section 13 The proper assessors shall between the triennial assessments revise any assessment or valuation according to right and equity by correcting errors and by adding thereto any property or subjects of taxation which may have been omitted or any new property or subjects of taxation which may have come into being since the last triennial assessment

They shall also add thereto the names of any persons who may have moved into such district and strike therefrom the names of any persons who have removed from such districts since the last triennial assessment

The proper assessors shall also revise assessments and valuations between the triennial assessments by increasing or decreasing the same where the value of the property or subjects of taxation assessed or valued has changed by reason of any change of conditions thereon or adjacent thereto or in the vicinity thereof or for the reason that the property assessed or valued has been subdivided or laid out into a plan of lots or other subdivisions or for the reason that improvements have been placed thereon or added thereto or for the reason that any public or other improvement has been made adjacent thereto or in the vicinity thereof or for the reason that the assessor and the majority of the board decides that the assessor erred in the value which he placed on the property or subjects of taxation when making the triennial assessment or where for any other reoson whatsoever the value of the property has changed and it seems to the board necessary and equitable to make a change in the valuation thereof The assessors shall also between the triennial assessments in all cases where it is apparent that any assessment is not in accord with the generality or uniform standard of assessment revise and correct the same by increasing or decreasing the same where the value of the property or subjects of taxation assessed do not conform to the generality or uniform standard of assessments

All assessments required to be made by the proper assessors in the year between the triennial assessment shall be returned to the board not later than the first Monday of September of the year preceding the one for which it is made

Section 14 At any time before such date any taxable person may apply to the board for the re-assessment of any subject of taxation which he considers incorrectly assessed or as to which he considers himself entitled to a change in valuation or to have mechanical or transcribing errors corrected

Section 15 At least thirty (30) days' written notice shall be given to any taxable person whose assessment shall be changed between triennial assessments setting forth any change which has been made and the time and place set for hearing objections thereto

Such notice shall be served by the board or any member thereof or by any assessor or by any other person authorized so to do by the board upon said taxable person if he or she can be found in the county or may be mailed to him or her or served upon an adult person residing upon the property in question in case the taxable person cannot be found in the county

When no service is made upon the taxable person or upon an adult person residing upon the property assessed said notice shall be deemed to have been properly served if tacked or conspicuously posted upon the property assessed and a copy thereof mailed to the last known address of the taxable person

No defect in service of any such notice shall be sufficient ground for setting aside any assessment so made but upon proof thereof being made the taxable person shall have the right to a rehearing before the board relative to said assessment and to appeal therefrom to the court of common pleas as hereinafter provided

Section 16 After the hearing of any objections to any change made or to the failure to make any change to which any taxable person considers himself entitled and the making of any changes that may be deemed proper the valuation as so ascertained shall unless changed in the manner herein provided or as provided by existing law stand as the valuation for the assessments for county and institution district taxes and for such other political subdivisions as levy their taxes on county assessments and valuations in such county until the next triennial assessment Provided That all taxes levied for the year one thousand nine hundred and forty-two or any fiscal year commencing during the year one thousand nine hundred and forty-two shall be levied and assessed on assessments and valuations made as heretofore provided by law

Section 17 Any taxable person dissatisfied with changes made in any assessment or with the failure to make any change to which he considers himself entitled in the years between the triennial may within thirty (30) days after the final fixing of the same appeal to the court of common pleas of said county and it shall be the duty of the court at once to hear and determine said appeal and if necessary make such changes therein as may be right and proper The action of the court thereon shall be final

Section 18 No appeal taken from any such assessments shall affect the validity of any taxes assessed but if such assessment shall thereafter be reduced an exoneration shall be granted or restitution ordered for the excess of taxes paid by reason of any improper increase in the assessment

The nineteenth section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 19 Any taxpayer may at any time during office hours have access to the records of taxable property and be permitted to copy therefrom a list of his taxable property

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, April 24, 1939

The House met at 8 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Ellwood J. Turner) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas George Baxter, offered the following prayer:

O Thou Eternal Judge of the Universe, make each of us feel very humble as we try to legislate for this God-blessed Commonwealth. Give each of us the spirit of the Great Pacificator, when he said "I have doubtless committed many errors and indiscretions, over which has been thrown the mantle of charity; but I can say, and in the presence of my God and this Assembly, I do say, that I have honestly served my country, that I have never wronged it—and that however unprepared I lament that I am to appear in divine presence on other accounts, I invoke the Justice of his Judgment on my official conduct without the smallest apprehension of His displeasure."

We thank Thee, Lord, that this body of honorable men realize that Government is a trust, and the officers of the Government are its Trustees, and that both the trust and the trustees are created for the benefit of the people. Make us strong in will. Help us to heed the convictions and ideals of our head and heart until we come into the stature of Him who came that we might have the more abundant life.

In His name we pray. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Wednesday, April 19, 1939.

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, March 28, 1939.

Whereas, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are keenly aware of the sad plight of thousands of families residing in the anthracite coal region of Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, it is their belief that the State and Federal Government should rehabilitate and revitalize the anthracite coal industry which has helped make this Commonwealth great, and thereby relieve the distress of many anthracite miners and their families; and

Whereas, the Members of the General Assembly are appreciative of the fact that rehabilitation of the anthracite coal industry will not only provide sustenance for many destitute families, but will generally revive all of industrial and agricultural Pennsylvania, therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact legislation, if necessary, to recreate gainful employment in the anthracite coal fields; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania review the study of the anthracite coal problem and if in their opinion legislation is necessary for the rehabilitation of the industry, give due and proper consideration to same at the present session of the Legislature.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I request unanimous consent of the House to have my remarks apply to both House Bill No. 584, Printer's No. 311, and House Bill No. 585, Printer's No. 310. They are companion bills.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Hoffman, asks unanimous consent to discuss both bills, as they are companion bills. Is these objection? The Chair hears none. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise to oppose the motion of the gentleman from Northampton, my colleague Mr. Jirolanio, for the reason that the purpose and object of the motion is really to delay and create the possibility of a contingency for the defeat of these bills.

I have carefully gone into every angle of these two bills with the parties interested, and am in position to state that there is no occasion for referring this bill to any

Committee for the purpose of a public hearing. These bills were presented to the House on March 20, 1939. On March 24, 1939, a notice was sent to the President of the Northampton County Bar Association, at Easton, Pennsylvania, and I desire to read the letter that was sent to him, and want it made a part of the record.

"Bangor, Pa., March 24, 1939.

"Hon. Wm. A. Frack,
President, Northampton County Bar Association,
Easton, Pa.

"My dear Mr. Frack:

"As Assemblyman of the Second District of Northampton County, I introduced on March 20, 1939 to the General Assembly at Harrisburg, H. B. 584, establishing a separate Orphan's Court in and for Northampton County, and also H. B. 585, abolishing the office of one of the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas, Third Judicial District, of Northampton County, and repealing inconsistent legislation thereto. Copies of these two House Bills were sent to you for your study and criticism.

"In order to give ample time for full discussion of these Bills both by your Bar association and other interests concerned, it is my present purpose to have these Bills advanced to Second reading and then placed on the Postponed calendar for about ten days, or more, if necessary. After the lapse of that reasonable period the Bills will be called out for Third reading and final passage subject to such consideration as the preponderance of public desire shall warrant.

"If you have any suggestions to submit to me, in the meanwhile, I will be glad to have you do so.

"Sincerely yours

"J. N. HOFFMAN, Assemblyman
2d District, Northampton County"

JNH:esr

Up to this time, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there has been no evidence on the part of the Bar Association or the judges of the courts of Northampton County indicating that they desired a public hearing on this bill. It is true that the Northampton Bar Association, on April 10 held a meeting for the purpose of considering these bills. At that meeting, there were thirty representatives of the Bar Association. I understand that the Bar Association of Northampton County has more than one hundred members. At that meeting, thirty out of the total membership were present, and voted on one of these bills.

They passed a resolution opposing the taking away of one of the judges of the Common Pleas Court, and very subtly made no reference whatsoever to the other bill which is for the purpose of establishing an Orphan's Court Judge. And now, Northampton County is the only county having two hundred thousand population that does not have an Orphan's Court judge. According to the census the population of Northampton County is one hundred and sixty-nine thousand, and therefore it becomes mandatory, when that population has been reached, for Northampton County to have an Orphan's Court.

In presenting the bill for the establishment of an Orphan's Court judge, the citizens of Northampton County feel that they are not only within their moral right, but certainly within their constitutional rights, and are asking only that which they feel is going to be for the best interests of the general constituency, in that it will save money in the operation of the Common Pleas Court of Northampton County.

It might be of interest for me to say at this time that Lehigh County, an adjoining county to Northampton County has two Common Pleas Court Judges and one Orphans' Court Judge, and Northampton County has three Common Pleas Court Judges and no Orphans' Court Judge.

In Lehigh County, in 1937, they had 144 civil cases and 737 criminal cases. Northampton County, in the same year, had 113 civil cases and 315 criminal cases. In 1938, Lehigh County had 159 civil cases and 832 criminal cases.

Northampton County, in 1938, had 128 civil cases and 551 criminal cases. In other words, Lehigh County operated with two Common Pleas Court Judges and one Orphans' Court Judge, as against Northampton County having a record of sixty more civil cases than Northampton County, and 703 more criminal cases in the years 1937 and 1938.

This proves that there is not a need, as the Judges now claim for three Judges of the Common Pleas Court, and that by establishing an Orphans' Court judgeship it would mitigate against the efficient operation of the Northampton County Court.

We are protesting against a continuation of the present practice of Northampton County being denied an Orphans' Court judgeship, for the reason that according to a tabulation of eighteen counties in the State of Pennsylvania, there is an average per Common Pleas Judge of eighty-five thousand eight hundred and eighty-two population, and on the basis of the civil cases, Northampton County is entitled to receive an Orphans' Court judgeship.

In the matter of economy, by establishing an Orphans' Court Judge, I merely want to say that in 1935, 1936, 1937 and 1938 there were distributed through auditorships in Northampton County, estates to the value of $2,239,307.40.

It cost to audit those estates, $71,434.48. The auditor's fees were $93,200.65. In the period of four years there were one hundred and three audits, and the total cost for the audits in the years 1935, 1936, 1937 and 1938 was $71,434.48, or an average cost per year of $17,858.62. The total cost of auditor's fees was $93,200.65 or an average cost per year of $23,300.16. One hundred and three audits were filed at an average cost per audit of $802.91 and for auditor's fees $693.53 incident to each audit.

I would say here also for the purpose of the record in the Wilbur Estate, for which auditors were appointed, a fee bill was presented of over forty-five thousand dollars, and the Superior Court of Pennsylvania refused payment of that fee and brought it down finally to about fifteen thousand dollars.

Pleading for my constituents of Northampton County for the right under the constitution for them to have an Orphans' Court Judge and dispense with one of the Common Pleas Court Judges, we feel that we are asking only that which is reasonable and right, and that there is no objective to be gained tonight by passing the motion made by the gentleman from Northampton to send this bill back to committee.

I, therefore, ask the members of the House, to vote the motion down.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Hoffman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Hoffman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Hoffman, whether it is not a fact that the bench of Northampton County is composed of both Democrats and Republicans?

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, that is true.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I further ask the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Hoffman, whether it is not also a fact that the bench of Northampton County desires a public hearing?

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, not to my knowledge. They made no request of anybody that I know of.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Hoffman, be willing to grant a public hearing if it were brought to his attention that the bench of Northampton County is desirous of having a public hearing in the House of Representatives?

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, the judges of the courts of Easton, have had notice of this bill and up to this time they have not directly indicated that they wanted a public hearing. In the absence of not having any direct information that they do, I oppose the motion to refer this bill back to the Committee for public hearing.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say that the answer of the gentleman from Northampton is not responsive.

My question was if it were called to his attention that the bench of Northampton County is desirous of being heard before the House of Representatives, whether he would oppose the granting of a public hearing to them?

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say for the information of the gentleman from Northampton County, Mr. Jirolanio, that I have here on my desk petitions from almost every section of Northampton County in which they strenuously oppose the action of the Bar Association in retaining three judges and take no action on an Orphans' Court. There are 532 names on those petitions and they were submitted voluntarily. I venture the statement that on a canvas seventy-five per cent of the citizens of Northampton County will endorse that petition.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to again ask the gentleman from Northampton County, Mr. Hoffman, if it is not possible to get an answer from him to my question as to whether or not he would be willing to grant a public hearing if the judges of the county he and I represent desire to have one? I think my qustion is plain and I have stated it three times.

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I think I have answered that question by stating that I oppose a public hearing because one of the reasons, as I stated, is that it is not essential to these bills.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Hoffman, whether it is not a fact that the only group that are in favor of the abolition of a Common Pleas Court Judge is the Bankers' Association of Northampton County.

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, absolutely no.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, may I further inquire from the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Hoffman, whether it is not also a fact that that petition is composed of ninety per cent of either bankers or employes of banks in Northampton County?

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would say no.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, doesn't the gentleman know?

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I said, "No."

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, has the gentleman spoken to any lawyer in Northampton County who has stated to him that they are in favor of both bills as they are now before this House?

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I might say that I spoke to one of Mr. Jirolanio's colleagues, a prominent attorney in Easton on Saturday, who called me on the telephone and asked me to have these bills passed.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman be kind enough to give to the House the name of the gentleman so that we might have it?

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I think that if the gentleman who is making this interrogation would circulate among his lawyer friends, he would soon discover that there are only about thirty lawyers who are not interested in this bill.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as my colleague, Mr. Hoffman, has stated these bills are companion bills, I feel that both should be discussed at one time.

I appear here before this "mike" not in criticism of these bills. What I am asking the House of Representatives to do is to give these bills a public hearing. As you well know, I am listed in the directory as a member of the bar, and after these bills were introduced the Bar Association met—I might add for the information of the members of the House, that the Bar Association of Northampton County is composed of about sixty-five per cent Republican lawyers and only thirty-five per cent Democratic lawyers. They met in the city of Easton and they considered all of the issues that they had before them. They went on record that at the present time they did not believe it would be to the interest of Northampton County to abolish a Common Pleas Court. They said they would not be against the establishment of an Orphans' Court in Northampton County, and in pursuance of that action, members of the House, the Northampton County Bar Association mailed to every member of the House of Representatives of Northampton County and to the Speaker and to the Chairman of the Judiciary General Committee, a letter protesting against House Bill No. 585, Printer's No. 310, which would abolish a Court of Common Pleas.

I might say to the members of the House of Representatives that in this very hall tonight there is a gentleman, a member of the Bar of Northampton County, who has a message to the members of Northampton County, and who will tell this House and the individual members that the Courts of Northampton County are desirous of having a public hearing. Let me say something to the members of the House. If ever a bill smelled bad, this bill smells bad, because it is an attempt to shove this proposition down the throats of the citizens of Northampton County and this attempt is being made by the Bankers' Association of Northampton County, and in particular the gentleman who is President of a bank in the Borough of Nazareth, County of Northampton.

I say to the members of the House that the judges on the bench of Northampton County and the members of the Bar of that county are only asking this Assembly the right to be heard and to present their facts. I don't think that is an unreasonable request to make of the members of this House. It has always been the custom of the members of the House of Representatives whenever a civic group, or a group of any nature, asked for a public hearing when it affected them individually, it was given to them, because in the interests of American government we should give to everyone his day to be heard.

All that I ask the members of the House to do for me tonight is to give this bill a chance to go back to committee together with House Bill No. 585, so that the judges of my county, both Republicans and Democrats, and the lawyers of my county and the people of my county, both Republicans and Democrats, can appear before you and prove to you in their humble way whether they feel the abolishment of a Common Pleas Court is advisable or not. I don't ask that you take my word to vote for or against these bills. All I ask, members of the House, is to give my constituents the same privilege you would want give to members of your constituency if they were placed in the same position.

I appeal to you as reasonable Americans and members of the House of Representatives not to "welsh" on people who want to be heard. Let these people be heard. There certainly isn't any danger whatsoever, if the members of the Bar and the people of Northampton County appear before the Judiciary General Committee and there state their views. After you have heard their views, then you can pass them if you wish. I ask in the interest of fair play that this bill be re-committed to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of study and for the purpose of a public hearing.

I have also been told by the co-sponsor of this bill that he is agreeable that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it seems strangely queer to me that the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Jirolanio, has gone to such great length in telling you how necessary it is on behalf of the judges of Northampton County to have a public hearing on this bill. There is nobody who wants to be arbitrary, and I submit to you that there is an ulterior motive behind this suggestion.

The judges of Northampton County are perfectly aware of the fact that this bill has been on first reading. They are perfectly aware of the fact that this bill is up tonight for second reading, and if they had such an intense interest and concern about having a public hearing on this bill, it would be only a small matter for them to telegraph to the members of Northampton County their desires to be heard in connection with the bill. Their silence gives proof of the fact that they are not so intensely interested as our good friend, Mr. Jirolanio, would try to have us believe. Now, the abolishment of one Judge of the Court of Common Pleas and the setting up of a Judge of an Orphan's Court is really to fill a vacancy which will occur as of January 1, 1940, which is the psychological time for this change to be made, and it interferes in no way with the present operation of the judges.

I therefore ask the members of this House to vote down the motion.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Hoffman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Hoffman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Hoffman, whether he will agree to have this bill appear on the second reading postponed calendar, and leave it there, in order that we can contact the judges of Northampton County in the next forty-eight hours?

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Northampton County has given this House definite assurance that the judges want a public hearing on this bill. He is not certain now that they do want it. I ask the members of the House to vote the motion down.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I made that suggestion so that any member of this House, if he sees fit, can telephone the Judges of Northampton County at my expense, especially the Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General, the majority Floor Leader or the Speaker of this House, and I will be bound by what those gentlemen tell me. Only in the interest of fair play do I make that suggestion.

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I really think that I have said enough about these two bills although I appreciate that the gentleman from Northampton County is very generous. I call for a vote on the motion and ask the members of the House to vote the motion down.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Jirolanio and Mr. Weiss and were as follows:

Messrs. Jirolanio, Weiss and Check asked for a verification of the roll.

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 584, Printer's No. 311, be placed upon the postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, for the same reasons that I have already given I reiterate my opposition to this motion and ask that the members of the House vote the motion down.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, my purpose in asking to have this bill placed upon the postponed calendar is so that the judges of my County and the citizens of my County can reach you within the next forty-eight hours and prove to you that they do desire a public hearing.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 585, as follows:

An Act abolishing the office of one of the judges learned in the law in the third judicial district of this Commonwealth and repealing inconsistent legislation

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The office of one of the three judges learned in the law in the common pleas court in the third judicial district of this Commonwealth composed of the county of Northampton as established and created by law is hereby abolished and vacated as of the first Monday in January one thousand nine hundred and forty and thereafter the said third judicial district shall have two judges learned in the law in the common pleas court

Section 2 At the municipal election held in November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine in said third judicial district there shall be no person elected to the office of judge in the common pleas court to fill the vacancy that would have occurred on the first Monday of January one thousand nine hundred and forty by reason of the expiration of the term of office of one of the three judges in the said court of common pleas in said district had such office not been abolished

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of further study and a public hearing.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would very much like to see this bill placed upon the postponed calendar.

Cambria County has a bill pending, designed to reduce the number of Common Pleas Judges from three to two. Unfortunately, Mr. Speaker, the Republican Executive Committee in Cambria County has not been able to make up its mind as to whether it wants three judges or two. I think if this particular bill were placed on the postponed calendar for a day or two, the Cambria County Executive Committee would be able to make up its mind and in that event it would be possible, Mr. Speaker, with the consent of the sponsor and the consent of the House to amend this bill providing for the elimination of a Common Pleas Judge in Cambria County and a Common Pleas Judge in Northampton County. By so doing, we would be ministering an economy and doing with one bill what would otherwise have to be accomplished with two bills.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, nobody in this House is more interested in the bill to which my colleague refers than I am, because it is my bill.

I would like to see the bill pass the House. I refrained from offering amendments to this bill for the reason that it was sudden and might embarrass the sponsors of the bill, but I think the proposition is worth consideration, inasmuch as this bill is presented in the interest of economy both to the state and to my County.

I, therefore, join with my colleague from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, in asking that this bill be recommitted for further consideration and possible amendment, which amendment I have already prepared. It is an amendment which will not have to be decided upon instantly and the members of the House will have the benefit of the consideration of the Committee.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to point out the fact that this bill, if passed, does not go into effect for quite a long time, it does not go into effect until January first next. There is no rush and there is no reason, gentlemen, why you should not accede to the request of my colleague from Cambria, and postpone immediate consideration of this bill for at least a day or two.

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have every consideration for any Representative of any county in the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who desires to fortify his interests, but I certainly cannot agree with the suggestion of the gentlemen from Cambria to postpone my bill until an amendment can be introduced which would link with this bill a judgeship from another county.

The bill from Northampton County stands upon its own merits. I do not think that the question raised by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, has any relevancy to the bill now before the House. If there are any changes to be made in the bill, they can be made later on in the Senate. The gentlemen have come too late with their requests for consideration, which we usually like to extend to our fellow members, but in this present instance I am quite sure that I am doing service in carrying out the best thought of my constituents from Northampton county.

I press for the approval of this bill as presented without amendments, and I respectfully ask the House to vote the motion down.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1138, entitled:

An Act requiring weighers and samplers of cargo of ships at ports in cities of the first class to be residents of such cities and to be licensed and providing penalties

The first section was read as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 No person shall be employed as a weigher or sampler of cargo of ships at any port of any city of the first class unless such person shall be a bona fide resident of such city and shall have first obtained a license from the Department of Wharves Docks and Ferries authorizing him to engage in the business of weighing or sampling the cargo of ships The license fee for any such license shall be five dollars ($5.00) Before any such license shall be issued the Department of Wharves Docks and Ferries shall be satisfied that the person to whom a license is to be issued is qualified by experience and competent to act as a weigher or sampler of cargo of ships and is a person of good moral character

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Cities—First Class for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Professional Licensure.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. CHECK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHECK. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin please tell the members of the House why he wants this bill recommitted?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, this bill is rather radical in its departure from the present law, and it is a matter which we feel should receive further consideration by the Committee.

Mr. CHECK. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Dauphin have any amendments to offer to this bill?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I have not any amendments to offer. If I had amendments I would have offered them instead of having it returned to the Committee.

Mr. CHECK. Mr. Speaker, why does the gentleman from Dauphin wish to recommit this bill if he had no amendments to offer?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, for further study of the bill. I did not say that I wanted to recommit it for amendments.

Mr. CHECK. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin inform the House what he does not know about the bill.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, it will not take very long for me to tell what I do know about the bill.

Mr. CHECK. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin agree to have the bill placed upon the postponed calendar?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I will not.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the noes appeared to have it,

Whereupon, a division was called for, one hundred and fourteen members, or more than a majority having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HABBYSHAW. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Professional Licensure for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. REGAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Habbyshaw.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Habbyshaw, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HABBYSHAW. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. REGAN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin tell me for what reason he desires this bill recommitted?

Mr. HABBYSHAW. Mr. Speaker, for further study and possible amendment.

Mr. REGAN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin agree to have this bill placed upon the postponed calendar?

Mr. HABBYSHAW. Mr. Speaker, my motion was to recommit the bill to the Committee on Professional Licensure for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lackawanna desires to know whether the gentleman from Dauphin will agree to have the bill placed upon the postponed calendar.

Mr. HABBYSHAW. Mr. Speaker, I will not.

Mr. REGAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill has been in the Committee on Professional Licensure since March 29th. I believe it has had good consideration by the Committee, and there has been plenty of time for any amendments that might be desired to be offered, and it has had all the consideration that anybody might want to give it. What is more, I wonder whether the members of the House realize that they have a piece of legislation before this House which will allow more people probably to be taken care of as far as employment is concerned. That is the most important question in this piece of legislation, and I believe no matter what your political affiliations may be, you are still interested in employment. I don't think there is a man, regardless of whether he is a member of this House or not, who is not in accord with that thought, and for that reason I ask the members of this House to vote down this motion to recommit.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the ayes appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, one hundred and thirteen members or more than a majority having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

Witness the Honorable ..... President Judge of our said court this ..... day of ..... Anno Domini 1....

Advertisement of such sale shall be made and the deed to the purchaser shall be executed acknowledged and delivered as in other real estate sales by the sheriff

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1156, as follows:

An Act relating to the grading and sale of certain farm products providing penalties for violations and imposing duties upon the Department of Agriculture

Section 1 The term "closed package" wherever used in this act shall mean a basket box bag or other container the contents of which cannot be adequately inspected without opening it The terms "shipment" or "ship for sale" wherever used in this act shall mean movement to market in a railroad car motor truck or other medium of transportation but shall not be construed to include process of delivery to a local warehouse or shipping station

Section 2 The Secretary of Agriculture of the Department of Agriculture of this Commonwealth is hereby authorized and empowered after investigation to establish and promulgate official standards of quality for grading classifying and packing apples grapes peaches and potatoes packed or repacked within the State and to change any of them from time to time The official standards so established and promulgated shall be the same in their requirements as the requirements of the official standards for corresponding grades of apples grapes peaches or potatoes as promulgated from time to time by the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States which standards are commonly known as "United States Grades"

From and after the establishment of specific grades or standards of quality as hereinbefore provided apples grapes peaches and potatoes in closed packages shall not be shipped for sale or sold or exposed for sale except by the grades or standards so established Provided however That apples grapes peaches and potatoes not graded and classified as to quality may be shipped for sale or sold or exposed for sale as "unclassified" is so marked in a conspicuous manner in accordance with rules to be adopted by the Secretary of Agriculture of the Department of Agriculture of this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided

Section 3 Apples grapes peaches and potatoes in closed packages if not definitely marked as unclassified as hereinbefore provided shall prior to shipment be marked in a plain and conspicuous manner with a statement of (1) the grade (2) the contents in cubic measure weight or count (3) the name and address of the person or association under whose authority the apples grapes peaches or potatoes are packed

In case the marking is changed the person making the same shall cancel the name and address included in the original marking and substitute therefor his own name and address When used containers are subsequently used by any other person than the original packer and the contents thereof are similar to that originally contained therein but are not the same such containers shall not be used for offering for sale or transporting for sale such similar contents unless the markings of the original containers be erased and the words "not original contents" be conspicuously marked thereon in letters one inch or more high

Section 4 (a) No person shall sell expose for sale or transport for sale apples grapes peaches or potatoes in closed packages if the package containing them the label on them or any advertising accompanying them shall bear any statement design or device regarding the apples grapes peaches or potatoes which shall be false or misleading in any particular

4 (b) No person shall sell expose for sale or transport for sale in closed packages apples grapes peaches or potatoes packed in such manner that the face or shown surface shall not be an average of the contents of the package

(c) When apples grapes peaches or potatoes in closed packages are delivered to a common carrier for shipment such delivery shall be presumptive evidence that the apples grapes peaches or potatoes are intended for sale

Section 5 Any person who violates any of the provisions of this act shall upon summary conviction thereof for the first offense be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) nor more than fifty dollars ($50.00) and the costs of prosecution and for subsequent offenses be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) and the costs of prosecution or in default of such fine and costs be imprisoned in the county jail for not less than ten (10) days nor more than thirty (30) days All penalties costs and fines collected under this act shall be paid to the Secretary of Agriculture of the Department of Agriculture of this Commonwealth or his agent and by him shall be paid into the State Treasury for the use of the Commonwealth

Section 6 The enforcement of this act shall be vested in the State Department of Agriculture and its officers employes and agents are authorized to enter upon the premises of any person within this State for the purpose of purchasing packages of apples grapes peaches or potatoes and securing evidence of violation of this act and the Secretary of Agriculture of this Commonwealth is hereby authorized to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary for enforcing its provisions

Section 7 The act approved the twenty-eighth day of March one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws 86) entitled as amended "An act relating to the grading and sale of grapes and potatoes in this Commonwealth providing penalties for violations and imposing certain duties upon the Department of Agriculture" and its amendments is hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. BOORSE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, I rise to oppose this motion. The bill has been in Committee for practically one month. It was amended in Committee. Various members of the Committee on Counties went back to their county governments and got suggestions on it. I know that happened in Allegheny County.

The question was raised as to whether or not it would become mandatory and it was changed to a "may" bill. No county need accept the bill except the counties who want it. There was a further objection raised tonight, and I proposed an amendment which would take care of that suggestion so that it would not make it a mandatory bill in any way, and affected only the counties that wanted it. I, therefore, ask the members of this House to vote against the motion and to leave it out on the floor for a vote.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the nays appeared to have it,

Whereupon a division was called for, sixty-three members having voted in the affirmative and sixty-six in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on State Government for the purpose of further study.

The motion was agreed to.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 484, Printer's No. 351, entitled:

An Act requiring the Department of Revenue to examine and audit the dockets and accounts of justices of the peace aldermen and magistrates and prohibiting any other department officer or agency of the State Government from so doing on page 30 of today's calendar, be recommitted to the Committee on State Government for the purpose of determining the doubtful constitutionality of this bill and for further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the ayes appeared to have it,

Whereupon, a division was called for, forty-one members having voted in the affirmative and one hundred and fourteen in the negative the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Mr. TERRY asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 786, Printer's No. 323, on page 27 of today's calendar, bill on second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 786, entitled:

An Act relating to and regulating the practice of the healing profession of chiropractic and the licensure and registration of practitioners therein creating a Chiropractic Board of Examination and Licensure in the Department of Public Instruction defining its powers and duties and providing penalties

The first section was read as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Whereas The healing art or profession of chiropractic being recognized and patronized by an increasing number o. citizens of Pennsylvania it hereby becomes necessary that there should be regulation of the persons practicing said profession so as to avoid danger to the public health from the pretentions of untrained practitioners holding themselves out as chiropractors therefore

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TERRY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Professional Licensure for the purpose of further study and possilbe amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ELLWOOD B. WELSH. Mr. Speaker, I had made a special request that this bill be put over. I had hoped to prepare an amendment for it and I ask a little time and trust that the Chairman of this Committee will permit that condition to prevail.

Mr. TERRY. Mr. Speaker, I would not take any action on the floor of the House except with the consent of every member of the Professional Licensure Committee. That is the reason I am asking for the bill to be returned to the Committee. If the gentleman wishes to offer amendments in Committee he can do so and we will be very glad to accept them. Thanking him in advance for the amendment.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 732, Printer's No. 324, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and one (Pamphlet Laws 493) entitled "An act providing for the examination licensure and registration of persons firms or corporations engaged or engaging in the business or work of plumbing or house drainage and prescribing certain rules regulations and requirements for the construction of plumbing house drainage and cesspools in cities of the second class and imposing fines penalties and forfeitures for violation thereof" as amended and extended to certain boroughs, incorporated towns, and townships of the first class by the act approved the thirty-first day of March, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 168), in so far as the same relates and applies to boroughs, incorporated towns and townships of the first class.

on page 23 of today's calendar, be recommitted to the Committee on Professional Licensure.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether this bill was called up by the sponsor and read the second time.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I understand it was.

Mr. TERRY. Mr. Speaker, I hate very much to see this bill returned again to the Committee on Professional Licensure. I think every bill that has come out has been returned, and I would like to have one bill stay out.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not think it is the function of this House to justify the action of this Committee if the Committee has been unanimously derelict in the attention which it has given these bills. I would say that if the Committee has been wrong in so many instances, the chances are possibly that they are wrong in this instance, and I ask that the bill be recommitted.

Mr. TERRY. Mr. Speaker, this is certainly a good bill and should be passed by the House. I wish that every member of the House who can conscientiously do so, would refuse to support the motion made by the distinguished gentleman from York.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE RECALLED FROM GOVERNOR

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. HABBYSHAW. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Habbyshaw, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. HABBYSHAW. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Elections for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 726, entitled:

An Act to amend the title and section one of the act, approved the fifteenth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and seven (P. L. 62), entitled "An act providing that in certain cases defendants may enter pleas of guilty, and be sentenced forthwith, without a bill of indictment being presented to a grand jury," extending the same to cases where pleas of not guilty are entered.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is not my intention to try to convince any member of this House as to the merits of this bill. I have talked with the majority floor leader. I am satisfied, first of all, that the bill has no political significance. It is an attempt to speed up our criminal cases and to that end the bill has, of course, the hearty endorsement of those who are familiar with the amount of time which is now consumed in the trial of criminal cases. However, it does change certain fundamental principles of our law and it ought to be given very, very careful consideration.

There are two questions which are perhaps raised by this bill, which is an amendment to the Act of 1907, P. L. 62. The first change is to allow a defendant the right to waive an indictment found by a grand jury. I do not believe that that is the serious part of the bill. However, there may be some law to sustain the fact that an indictment may be brought in by a district attorney and not by the grand jury. That of course is a very debatable point. If a defendant consents to an indictment being brought in by the district attorney, there may be ample authority, although there are no cases reported that such may be had.

However, the serious part of the bill arises in the amendment at the bottom of page two which can be resolved in this simple question: May a defendant waive an indictment by the grand jury and be tried with or without a jury upon an indictment prepared by the district attorney?

I believe we ought to consider very carefully whether or not a defendant may waive the right of trial by jury. I wish to call to the attention of the House the most learned opinion on this matter, cited in the case of Commonwealth vs. Hall, and reported in Pennsylvania Supreme Court Reports, Volume 291, page 341. In that very, very learned opinion by the Chief Justice, who was then Chief Justice von Moschzisker, decided January 3, 1928, the learned Chief Justice there lays down this premise and I quote from the decision:

> "Under the Constitution and laws of Pennsylvania, a Court of Quarter Sessions has no jurisdiction in a criminal case where the defendant has pleaded not guilty to try the case without a jury, and no waiver on the part of the defendant can confer such jurisdiction."

However, the court in this case left the question open whether or not the Legislature could pass enabling acts to give the Court of Quarter Sessions the right to try a defendant without a jury, and I presume this act is the act that came after this opinion and might be called the enabling act to make way for the Court to decide that which could not be decided by the case of Commonwealth vs. Hall. However, I think we should know, when we are dealing with this very fundamental question; we ought to be certain that we are right, and I simply throw out these challenges. I am sure the Majority Floor Leader can answer them to our satisfaction.

I am for the bill if it can be sustained, but it looks as though, from all the authorities that can be cited, that this bill stands on very dangerous ground.

I call to the attention of the House the fact that Article I, Section 6 of the Pennsylvania Constitution guarantees the right of trial by jury. That has been the organic, fundamental law of this Commonwealth; it was the organic law of Common law, and to change it by legislative enactment is very, very doubtful. However, the Chief Justice in the case of Commonwealth vs. Hall, makes a distinction between a guarantee of trial by jury under the Pennsylvania Constitution and a mandatory trial by jury, which is found in the Constitution of the United States, but at the same time, while making this distinction, he goes on to say that the right of trial by jury as guaranteed under the Constitution of Pennsylvania, is the right which is conferred by the organic, fundamental law of the land. If that is true, it seems hardly possible that such right can be waived by a defendant, notwithstanding the enabling act of this Legislature.

I call also to the attention of the Legislature another section of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which is article V, section 27, which reads as follows:

> "The parties, by agreement filed, may in any civil case dispense with trial by jury, and submit the decision of such case to the court having jurisdiction thereof, and such court shall hear and determine the same: and the judgment thereon shall be subject to writ of error as in other cases."

If it was found advisable, in order to dispense with a trial by jury in a civil case, that an amendment to the Constitution, as is found in article V, section 27, was necessary, I cannot see how we can, by an enabling Act of the Legislature, change our organic law, a fundamental principle that has been established since the founding of this Commonwealth, and by that enabling Act of the Legislature, change the right of trial by jury in criminal cases.

I say this because I feel the bill is a step in the right direction. However, I do not feel that this enabling act will accomplish the purpose which the Majority Floor Leader seeks to accomplish, and I therefore ask the Majority Floor Leader to give us some opinion either from this court or from some other court telling us how he expects this piece of legislation to be sustained by the court.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to thank the gentleman from Allegheny for his very diligent research in connection with the principle involved in this bill, and I wish to thank him for the very fine exposition he gave on the constitutional principles involved.

This bill was made possible as the result of legislation passed by a recent session of the Legislative in which the defendant is permitted to plead not guilty before the court, be tried by a judge without a jury. In order to do that, you must have the consent of the court, the defendant and the district attorney, so that there must be an agreement by all the parties who are in any way affected or connected with the case.

I understand in a large number of the counties they have not made very extensive use of this provision but in other counties, including my own, there has been very extensive use made of it, and very many trials have been held before a judge without a jury, and apparently to the full satisfaction of the defendant, the Commonwealth and the court, with a considerable saving of time and expense to the county.

This situation developed and existed, of course, before the passage of this bill but without the possibility of any remedy. We have four sessions of Quarter Sessions Court during the year. Between those sessions, which last only a week or sometimes two weeks, there is no petit jury nor a grand jury in session. As a result some person may be arrested the day after the session of court ends. A poor person who is unable to get bail will thereupon be compelled to remain in jail from the day he is arrested for a period which may be three months until he has an opportunity to be brought to trial. When he is brought to trial he may be found not guilty and immediately discharged. In the meantime he has been in jail for three months in default of bail.

On the other hand he may be found guilty. At the time of trial the offense may have been such that the court would not have sentenced him to three months in jail, nevertheless he has already served three months in jail because of his inability to secure bail.

The provisions of this bill make it possible to handle a case of that type in this manner: A man is charged with a crime and committed to jail without bail. While he is in jail, he can notify the district attorney that he is willing to waive the indictment, plead not guilty before the court and have his trial disposed by the judge in a week or two weeks after he has been arrested and committed to jail. As a result of that the court may try his case, find him not guilty and discharge him, thus preventing the injustice of staying in jail for a period of probably three months waiting for trial which would certainly be an injustice to the defendant.

This bill has been gone over by the Ruth Legislative Commission, the problem studied and this bill recommended. The bill was drafted by the Legislative Reference Bureau. It was subsequently submitted by me to the district attorney of my own county, and to President Judge Hargest. Judge Hargest has been President Judge of the Court of Dauphin County for over fifteen years, was a former deputy attorney general, and is a jurist whose opinion I think is very highly received. He went over the bill very carefully. He had a knowledge of the situation beforehand, because I had discussed it with him, and he stated that in his opinion the bill was constitutional and that it carries out the intention which we proposed to have carried out by it.

If I understood the gentleman from Allegheny correctly, he does not say definitely that he feels the bill is unconstitutional. He feels that it is a good bill and carries out a good purpose, with the exception of the fact that there is some doubt concerning its constitutionality. If any way can be pointed out to me in which the bill can be improved, so that the danger of its unconstitutionality may be removed, I shall be glad to accept amendments. I will be willing to hold the bill on the postponed calendar for several days, and if amendments can be offered which will carry what is intended to be done, I shall be glad to change the bill accordingly, because I think everybody will agree that it intends to carry out a purpose which will do considerable justice, and will save a number of counties a substantial amount in jury fees and expenses by cutting down the time of the petit jury attending Quarter Sessions Court, and enabling cases to be disposed of between sessions of the Quarter Sesions Court where no jury is required or requested by a defendant. I cannot see how anybody's right will be interfered with, because the consent of all parties and interests, namly, the Commonwealth, the district attorney, the judge and the defendant, is necessary to carry out the provisions.

For that reason I feel that the bill in its present form is as good as we can hope for at the present time. I believe the court after consideration of the bill will find it constitutional, and I ask the members to vote for it unless some member has suggestions whereby the bill may be improved. If he does, I will be glad to place the bill on the postponed calendar.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 555, entitled:

An Act abating certain tax penalties interest and costs on county city (except city of the first class) borough town township school district (except school district of the first class) poor district and institution district taxes prohibiting the sale of real property for the nonpayment of any such taxes for a certain period and preserving certain tax liens and providing for the extension thereof

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House Bill No. 698, Printer's No. 328 was passed over at the request of Mr. WOODSIDE.

THE SPEAKER (Ellwood J. Turner) IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Stockham.

ADDRESS BY MR. CHECK.

Mr. CHECK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to bring before you this evening a very vital and important matter, that deals, not only with my county, but with this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The subject that I wish to discuss deals with our moral and physical well-being. Tuberculosis, I know, has been a matter of great discussion before this House on many occasions, but it comes to me in such a way that I must express myself at this time, and try to prove to you that it is of vital importance to each and every one of us and to every citizen to whom we are indebted.

You all know that the State of Pennsylvania has been very lax so far as institutions for tuberculosis and free medical services are concerned. I understand, and I have heard from competent authority that our Governor has no intention of opening the institution at Butler in the immediate future, an institution which will be completed this year and upon which the state of Pennsylvania has expended great sums of money.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am a resident of the city of Monessen, which is in Westmoreland County, a wholly industrial community. When I return home every week from Harrisburg I see on the streets of Monessen horrible examples of living human beings trotting down the streets half dead and half alive, consumptives. These individuals cast their sputem upon the streets; in that way tuberculosis is contracted by people who would not have been affected had these people been sent to institutions for tuberculars.

I have made several attempts to have a number of citizens in my county hospitalized but to no avail due to lack of quarters, and the very few institutions that we have in Pennsylvania. In all the attempts that I have made the citizens or patients are in dire need of immediate hospitalization or institutional care. This matter has affected me so deeply that I have gone to the trouble and expense of bringing before you this evening the thing that we are confronted with in my district.

Now, Mr. Speaker, with your kind permission, I will ask Mr. Nick Figel, who is in the hall of the House this evening, to rise at this time and face the members of the House.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is advised by the Chair that such a procedure is out of order.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. CHECK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. CHECK. Mr. Speaker, has it not been in the hall of this House on numerous occasions before that the Speaker recognized certain individuals who were not members of the House?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has on occasion recognized former members who were present, who under the rules, are entitled to the privileges of the floor.

Does the gentleman from Westmoreland desire to interrogate the Chair?

Mr. CHECK. I do not, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman from Westmoreland desires to ask a parliamentary question, the Chair will be glad to answer it. The Chair, however, feels that the gentleman should not carry on side conversations with other members of the House during that time.

Mr. CHECK. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, I will point to Mr. Figel who is sitting over here. I ask each and every one of you to look at Mr. Figel. I ask each and every one of you members of the House without answering. Is that man a fit person to mingle with society, whether he be in Monesson, in Westmoreland County, or in any other part of the State of Pennsylvania? The man that you now see should be in an institution receiving treatment and care for tuberculosis and not be in direct contact with the general public. The man that you now see has been in the institution for tuberculosis at Cresson for the past several years. He was released from that institution several months ago and was sent to the Westmoreland County Home. Members of the House, can you imagine anything so asinine as to send a tubercular man to a County Home? The men that you now see does not have many days or months to live unless something is done for him. Can you members imagine the relatives and children of this man who have to live under the same roof with him? Without treatment, death is inevitable for Mr. Figel, and that is not the sad part of my plea. The sad part of my plea is that death will strike again in the home of Mr. Figel and in his community and once more the cause will be tuberculosis.

You members who come from the rural districts might not be as interested in tuberculos as we are who come from industrial districts, and that is because tuberculosis and other sickness is not as great in your district as it is in the industrial centers. I ask you to bear along wth me in this fight against Tuberculosis.

Now, in conclusion, members of the House, I ask each and every one of you to contact Governor James for the immediate opening of the institution at Butler upon its completion. Furthermore, if you members permit that man to be without assistance, you will be guilty of murder, murder in the first degree. No, not in the eyes of the law, but in the eyes of moral justice. I thank you.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland must understand that references of that kind are not in parliamentary language and are not permitted on the floor of the House.

ADDRESS BY MR. WOODSIDE

Mr. WOODSIDE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in connection with what has just been said by the gentleman on the other side, I wish to state that I have sent for the figures which I hope will be here before I am through with my remarks concerning the situation in relation to the sanitoria, and particularly to Butler.

The facts are that Butler is not today, and the gentleman who has just spoken knows that Butler is not today prepared for occupancy, that it would be impossible to use that institution today. It is being completed and when it is completed there will also have been completed a number of buildings at Hamburg, a number of buildings at Mt. Alto and I think some additional bed space at Cresson. The entire waiting list at the present time, if my recollection is correct, is six hundred and ten. They will be taken care of in the new bed space at Hamburg and at Mt. Alto. Every last man, woman and child in Pennsylvania who is now on the waiting list for admission into a sanitorium for treatment of tuberculosis will be immediately taken care of, whether Butler is or is not opened. There will be in addition space for approximately the same number in addition to those who are now on the waiting list. In other words, if the waiting list does not increase between now and that time, there will be bed space available in these institutions for about six hundred. I wish I had before me the exact figures but I do not have them at the moment. However, the figures which I have given you are approximately correct, so that it isn't a question of whether or not these people will receive treatment. The question of opening Butler is not a question of whether these people in need of treatment will receive it or whether they will not. The facts are that these institutions are being hurried and will be placed in such shape that all of the bed space necessary to take care of the waiting list will be available in the near future.

ADDRESS BY MR. HERBERT B. COHEN

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I refrained for the past two months from entering the altercation relative to the completion and the occupancy of the Butler sanatorium. I was in this House, and many other members were, and had an opportunity to study the figures that were submitted at that time which clearly indicated the need for extending the tubercular institutions. I was a member of the General State Authority, and to all intents and purposes still am a member, the bill being retained on the third reading calendar in the Senate, but nevertheless as a member of the General State Authority I had an opportunity to study the figures. I cannot understand how our present Secretary of Health arrived at figures that are so diametrically opposite to the figures that have been presented both by previous Republican administrations as well as the past Democratic administration. I cannot conceive that the same plea for the extension of the tubercular institutions should have been made by the previous Republican administration that has been made by the past Democratic administration, and the figures compiled by those two administrations clearly indicate the necessity for the completion of the Butler sanatorium as well as additional bed space in Hamburg, in Cresson and Mt. Alto. I do not by any means or in any manner wish to cast any reflection upon our Secretary of Health but I do say, and I sincerely believe and feel that after the Butler sanatorium is finished and this administration is confronted with the necessity of making a decision whether or not the Butler sanatorium shall be occupied, I feel if a thorough and honest analysis of the situation on tuberculosis in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is made, they will find that the Butler sanitorium of necessity must be occupied.

Tuberculosis is a peculiar disease and treatment in an incipient case is required immediately. It cannot wait for a month or two months or three months, as tubercular have been forced to wait in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the past. When one has the disease immediate hospitalization is the only thing that will prevent an incipient case from turnng into an aggravated and chronic case. If that hospitalization is not available the community loses a citizen, and imposes upon the rest of the people of maintaining that individual in complete disability without the opportunity of rehabilitation, so that he may take his place in society. As I have indicated before, after the completion of the Butler Sanitarium and the other tubercular institutions have been remodeled and enlarged, and honest analysis made by individuals with a humanitarian attitude, rather than a budget secretary's attitude, will find that the Butler sanitarium will have to be occupied.

ADDRESS BY MR. BAKER

Mr. BAKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to congratulate the Republican Party and to take some notice of the cure of unemployment and the nation's depression devised by one of that party's most prominent members.

As an American citizen, I suppose I should be overjoyed that at last the party—or a prominent member of the party—has gotten around to trying to do something constructive about the nation's economic problems. After almost 10 years of depression, I had almost given up hope that the Republicans ever would get around to helping us try to better the nation's plight.

I would truly be glad if it were not that the solution is branded with the same arrogant, flagrant and infamous carelessness of democratic and American rights exhibited by that memorable Republican President who called out the troops to drive the American veterans from Washington.

I would welcome any sincere suggestion to help the unemployed other than something indicative of the same vicious social irresponsibility which lead a certain alleged former breaker-boy to promise to cut taxes when he knew he couldn't and to promise to burn all the social legislation which recently civilized the laws of Pennsylvania.

But I cannot welcome the helpfulness of an industrial tycoon who would go whole-hog and deprive men and women of their rights as citizens just because they are poor.

Such a suggestion is worthy of the combined intelligence of Joe Grundy, Ernie Weir, Tom Girdler, Col. Estes, the Texas Bull, Breaker Boy James, Oil Man Pew and other silk-hatted fellow Republicans of the gentleman to whom I refer, A. W. Robertson, chairman of the Board of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

Now you must understand that this Mr. Robertson is quite a fellow. He may be seen any day, if you are a properly registered Republican with properly filled pockets and the proper entree to the so-called "better" clubs and other resorts of the rich.

When you see him you will not notice much difference between him and his companions if, indeed, you notice any.

They are what Mr. Herbert Hoover and probably Governor Arthur James would call the cream of America's rugged individualists.

Mr. Robertson, like Mr. Henry Ford, undoubtedly thinks he knows what is best for America.

Like Mr. Thomas Girdler, Mr. Robertson probably is sure he knows more about the needs of American Workingmen than the workingmen themselves.

And you probably would not have to wait long in his presence, anymore than in the presences of Mr. Hoover, Gov. James, or Messrs. Grundy, Pew, Ford, Girdler, and Weir, to hear him express his highly seasoned opinion of the unemployed.

These imminent leaders of American business and industry and Republican politics undoubtedly would snort in disgust and term the unemployed a "bunch of Communists," a "pack of parasites," or just plain "shiftless stumblebums."

To point my remarks on this subject, which I shall hastily conclude, allow me to call to your attention this Statesman—Robertson's recent suggestion to cure what ails this nation. He would deprive persons on relief of their vote.

He would take from them that very essence of Democracy, that keystone of freedom, the franchise.

Just because new inventions or depressed business had forced honest American workingmen from their jobs, this Mr. Robertson would deprive them of all voice in their own government.

I wonder if Mr. Robertson's new social philosophy is a product of the Union League Club, the Duquesne Club, the American Manufacturer's Association or all three? Or has Mr. Robertson been using one of his firm's new short wave radio receiving sets to listen to Messrs. Hitler and Mussolini?

RESOLUTIONS

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 483 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. CORDIER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, April 24, 1939.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), that House Bill No. 483, Printer's No. 296, entitled "An act regulating the appointment or election of deputy controllers in cities of the second class A and prescribing their powers and duties," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 546 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. TAYLOR offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, April 24, 1939.

Resolved (if the Senate concur) that House Bill No. 546, Printer's No. 268, entitled "An act to further amend section six of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws 869) entitled 'An act providing for the organization government discipline maintenance and regulation of the armed land forces of this Commonwealth' by eliminating certain provisions relating to retirement age of a major general in command of the National Guard," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

SYMPATHY EXTENDED

Messrs. FALKENSTEIN and MELCHIORRE offered a resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 24, 1939.

Whereas, On April 22, 1939, the father of our colleague, Anna M. Brancato, passed away; and

Whereas, Her father, Joseph Brancato, was engaged in the produce business in South Philadelphia for over forty years, and had won for himself an enviable reputation for industry, honesty, and sobriety, and had consequently the respect and love of every person in his community; and

Whereas, The many virtues of our colleague, are the virtues which she inherited from her father, and the glory which has been hers has been the glory of her father, and she, in that glory, has honored her father through her devoted and wide interest in civic affairs; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby expresses to our colleague, their sincere sympathy in these days of her bereavement, and this House does further extend its sympathy to the mother and to the brothers and sisters of the Honorable Anna M. Brancato; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transcribed and sent to our colleague, the Honorable Anna M. Brancato.

ADDRESS BY MR. HOLLAND

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in seeking permission to address the House tonight, I am asking your indulgence not on my behalf but on behalf of thousands of real estate tax payers throughout this Commonwealth who have expressed themselves in thousands of telegrams and in a petition presented to the Representatives of the 12th Legislative District in the County of Allegheny comprised of names of 700 tax payers, who by the way are not delinquent in taxes.

Before reading to you any farther, I want to first impress upon this House the type of people who have sent the telegrams, and particularly I want to impress upon the Republican rembers this telegram which I now hold in my hands which reads: "We urge that House Bill No. 78 be released from committee" and it is signed by the Northside Chamber of Commerce, P. H. Dillman, Secretary.

The other telegram is from the Hill District Taxpayers Association, William Landon, President, 331 Fourth Avenue, Pittsburgh. There are numerous others from just as prominent people and groups in the city of Pittsburgh.

If we, the Representatives of the people of this State, will not heed to their demands, I feel assured that at the next election there will be many members of this House who shall be asked by these same people to step aside and permit representatives to take their places who believe that the home owners—Pennsylvania manufacturers—and Pennsylvanian coal mine owners should not pay the untilities' share of local government in addition to their own share.

Tonight I am not going to offer you any of my own reasons on why utilities should not pay their just share of real estate taxes for local benefits received from local government. But, I am going to quote from the columns of a financial writer who has been quoted and considered an authority by the Republican party, for in the last campaign this financial writer was quoted time and time again throughout this Commonwealth. And I might add—was quoted throughout the entire nation and his reasonings were given as a basic fact on evils of our present taxation.

On Friday, April 21, B. C. Forbes assailed the tax loss in real estate taxes of the TVA in Tennessee. He states:

> "One upshot apparently was unforeseen and ignored. Investor owned Utilities pay local taxes today—while the government exempts its own projects from taxation."

He estimates that

> "the entire Tennessee tax loss by local governments is approximately $5,000,000 annually."

This loss in utility tax in Pennsylvania has existed one hundred and fourteen years and has amounted into the millions of dollars. And so far in this House no steps have been taken to bring to the floor of the House—House Bill No. 78 ending this tax injustice. Further he states:

> "Deprived of tax receipts formerly paid by private utilities, many counties near the center of TVA operations are faced with outright fiscal disaster and even with the forced closing of schools in some areas."

This same condition exists in Pennsylvania. Thousands of school teachers are teaching without pay and are being carried on relief rolls. Schools are being closed ahead of the usual closing of the school term—and what a disgrace it is to this wealthy State to read that teachers have to threaten strikes to secure wages due them—just because utility lobbies maintained here at Harrisburg are strong enough to kill legislation that is more just and justifiable to the people of Pennsylvania than any other legislation ever to come before this House.

Mr. Forbes further states:

> "The state government can take care of its needs for additional or replacement revenues through its power to tax, but county, school districts, and municipal governments should not be left to shift for themselves. Their only recourse to meet the threatened loss of revenues would be further increase in the already excessive property tax. Taking taxes off electric electric utilities and placing added tax burdens on homes, farms, and all other property would be inequitable and wholly unjustified."

I do not know how I could improve upon the words of this tax expert, Mr. Forbes when he states:

> "Taking taxes off electric utilities and placing added tax burdens on homes, farms, and all other property would be inequitable and wholly unjustified."

This is exactly what has been done in Pennsylvania since 1825. The figures that you have, as I have said before, on exempt utility properties in Pennsylvania are about one third of what they should be. About $22,000,000—exclusive of taxes on railroads—would be close to the amount of taxes collected through counties, cities, boroughs, townships and school districts.

Are you going to sit idly by and permit this evil to continue? Or, are you going to harken to the voice of the real estate tax payer for relief from paying the utilities' share of local taxation? Are you going to permit in order to gain the favor of the utility interests in Pennsylvania the closing of our schools? Are you going to permit Pennsylvania manufacturers to have their real estate taxes increased at the expense of out-of-State owned utilities? Are you going to let the owners of our coal mines to continue to pay their share of taxation and the utilities' share also?

Mr. Speaker and Members of this House—I now present to the gentleman from Bucks County, Mr. Stockman, Chairman of the Public Utility Committee of this House the request of thousands of real estate tax payers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that House Bill No. 78 be reported out of his Committee so that the members of this House can answer to their constituents back home whether or not they are following the utility lobby leadership in Harrisburg or representing the taxpayers back home who sent them here as their representative.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I received this communication last week. I think it is to my interest and will be of interest to the members of the House and the people of Pennsylvania. I will ask the Clerk to read it and have it recorded in the Legislative Journal.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has not stated his question of personal privilege.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I request that it be read by the Clerk for the information of the House. It is of great interest to my district and to the people of the state of Pennsylvania.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that the gentleman is out of order on his question of personal privilege in offering a communication and asking that it be read by the Clerk. The letter is in the form of a petition addressed to the gentleman from Westmoreland. If the gentleman from Westmoreland wants to ask for unanimous consent to address the House, and read the communication, he may do so, if he desires.

Mr. LOVETT. I would be very glad to read it myself, Mr. Speaker. The communication is as follows:

"April 15, 1939

"Hon. James E. Lovett
House of Representatives
Harrisburg, Pa.

"Dear Sir:

"At the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Westmoreland Public Health Association the following Resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas there were 4800 tuberculosis deaths in Pennsylvania last year and on the basis of nine (9) cases to every death there are approximately 44,000 active cases of tuberculosis in Pennsylvania at the present time and at the most conservative estimate, at least 12,000 of these are in need of hospital treatment and,

"Whereas there are but 4512 beds available in Tuberculosis Hospitals or sanatoria in the State at this time and,

"Whereas it is recognized by authorities on tuberculosis that the minimum requirements are two beds for each annual death, there is a dire need for provision for additional hospital beds and,

"Whereas this is but half of the amount actually needed and,

"Whereas it has been reported that Governor James is considering the curtailment of this program, especially in regard to the opening of the new State Tuberculosis Sanitorium at Butler,

"Be It Hereby Resolved that this association respectfully petition the Governor and his Secretary of Health to reconsider the needs for adequate provision for our tuberculosis sick and that a sufficient sum be included in the budget for the opening of the State Sanatorium at Butler and the proposed additional beds in existing State Sanitoria.

"Resolved, that a copy of this Resolution be sent to the Governor, the Secretary of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to the members of the State Legislature from the Westmoreland District and to State and County Tuberculosis Associations of Pennsylvania.

FRANK B. MILLER. President
JANE S. KENNEDY, Ex. Sec.

ADDRESS BY MR. HINDMAN

Mr. HINDMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of this House, I cannot refrain from answering some of the statements made by our esteemed friend, Mr. Woodside, of Dauphin County, regarding this tuberculosis situation. Sometimes we hear indications that a poltical issue is being made of this problem, and I submit to you Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that it is most unfortunate that politics should ever be dreamed of in such a matter as we have before us now, and I am really surprised at Mr. Woodside's submitting the figures that he has tonight.

Mr. Speaker and members of this House, I say to you in all sincerity that in previous talks I gave this House, the figures came from outstanding authorities in this state on tuberculosis, and I defy Mr. Woodside or any member of this House or any man in the state of Pennsylvania to successfully refute those figures. Just a few days ago I was talking to Dr. Harry Noah, who has been the head of the Tuberculosis Clinic in Pittsburgh, the State Clinic for several years. Dr. Noah made the statement to me that there were enough tuberculosis cases in the city of Pittsburgh to fill the five hundred fifty beds in the Butler Hospital immediately.

Ladies and gentlemen of this House, if we have a matter of theology to be determined to whom should we commit it except an expert theologian? If it is a matter involving legal questions, to whom should we commit it but to the leading members of the legal profession? If we have a matter that involves the health of the people of the state, to whom should we go except to the leading authorities of medical science in the state of Pennsylvania, and not only the medical authorities but to those who have specialized along the lines we are discussing, and whom you cannot refute successfully.

I would suggest this: I am willing in support of my statements, for you secure a list of, we will say, half a dozen of the leading authorities, the recognized authorities on tuberculosis in the State of Pennsylvania, and have them come here before this House and tell us what they have to say. Certainly that is a fair proposition, ladies and gentlemen.

I have quoted from Dr. Marcy of the Tuberculosis League of Pittsburgh in my previous talk. Dr. Marcy is a recognized authority. He has been in that work for almost a quarter of a century.

Are you going to turn down facts that he gives you or are you going to listen to some person who insists that a matter of something over six hundred beds is all that is needed in this state?

I want to say to you that the waiting list does not represent the people that should be in a tuberculosis sanitarium. Aliens under the Pennsylvania set-up are not admitted. People past fifty years of age are not admitted. Those are not on the waiting list.

I submit to you the one trouble regarding the waiting list is that these people do not tell you that there are hundreds and hundreds of cases that are not applying for institutional treatment simply because they know they cannot get in. I know absolutely there are some cases that applied last December, and they are still not able to get into the institutions. I would also submit to you the fact that Dr. Apple who in the Pinchot administration was Commissioner of Health, recommended additional beds for these tubercular cases, and he insisted that there should be a sanitarium in the Pittsburgh district, in the western end of the state.

Let us view this matter in its true light, members of the House. I am really surprised. I never thought that we would ever be called upon to defend such a position as this, regarding this matter of tuberculosis. It certainly is beyond me to understand how any individual can get up and take issue with this situation. I cannot for the life of me see why it should be done. It is a matter of such vital interest to a great number of people in this Commonwealth, and I would suggest to you that it has wider implications than the average or casual individual can see.

I submit to the members of the House that the tubercular indigent takes in a much larger field than does the average indigent, the individuals that we regard as indigents. It takes in the great majority of the people of the state, for this reason: If you had, we will say, a man who has an income of one hundred and twenty-five dollars a month, and suppose he has four or five children, and suppose a member of his family developed an acute case of appendicitis. The man I am talking about has never received any charity from any person, the man has taken care of his obligations and taken care of his family. Suppose it costs him a couple hundred dollars to take care of that individual. He will do it. It will crimp the family budget, but he will do it. I submit to you, ladies and gentlemen, that that same man, if tuberculosis developed in his home, it will be economically impossible for him to take care of that because it may last six months or it last a year or it may last three or four years. Not only that, but he is very fortunate indeed if he does not have other cases develop in his family. I submit to you that is one reason why this is such a very important problem. I venture to say that at least seventy-five per cent of the people of Pennsylvania, if they could not have their tubercular cases admitted to such a sanitorium, would be obliged to have them come in simply because of the great expense connected with it.

I would just like to read, in response to what Mr. Woodside said, from Dr. Dexter, but before doing so I submit to you that this arrangement was made when the general State Authority was authorized to build these institutions. They had gone into it at great length, to find the needs of the people of the State. This was not a fly-by-night affair, it was something that was studied out, not only by Dr. Dexter, but by all the authorities she could get. This is what she said:

> "Our 3 Sanatoria at present have a capacity of approximately 2400 beds, and we usually have a waiting list of from 700 to 1000 patients. In order to take care of these, we plan to increase our capacity by 1300 or 1400 beds. This will more than absorb our present waiting list and will provide facilities for the treatment of patients discovered by the new case-finding program in which the Department of Health is engaged.
> "Our building program under the State Authority includes a new sanatorium in Western Pennsylvania for 500 adult patients and a wing for 50 children suffering from the adult type tuberculosis."

That report was made after a great deal of study and deliberation. I have had at least two letters from Dr. Dexter in the last three or four weeks, and in one of those letters she informed me that in many of the present institutions some of the shacks that were being used had been condemned a long time age, but on account of the great need for beds they have been using the shacks and small buildings that are absolutely unfit for occupancy.

I do not wish to take any more of your time except to just read a portion of Dr. Marcey's statement, which, if we are going to accept tubercular authority, ladies and gentlemen, should give us the real picture. Dr. Marcy says as follows:

> "April 1, 1939
> "Dr. A. O. Hindman,
> House of Representatives,
> Harrisburg, Pennsylvania
> "Dear Dr. Hindman:
> "The proposal of the Governor not to operate the new institution at Butler came as a shock to Pennsylvania agencies and individuals, professional and other, who have been striving for years to secure provision on the part of the State of more adequate hospital facilities for the tuberculous. As a justification for this decision, it is stated in the Budget Message:
> "The entire present waiting list of the sufferer's from tuberculosis can be amply accommodated at the present sanatoria. To occupy the Butler institution would be unjustifiable expense.
> "It has been our understanding that approximately 738 new beds are being provided for patients at the Mont Alto and Hamburg hospitals. We have been informed by the Secretary of Health that the waiting list stood at 611 on March first.
> "The question occurs—is the size of the waiting list of applicants for admission to State sanatoria an accurate or even safe measure for the needs of hospital beds? We believe most emphatically that it is not and that it should not be so accepted. The number of deaths occurring annually is the guide used by competent public health authorities in determining tuberculosis hospital needs. At least two beds per annual death is regarded as the minimum requirement."

He goes on to say and gives his reason and makes the positive statement, ladies and gentlemen, that three thousand additional beds are needed to meet the standard requirements of two beds for each annual death.

I do not wish to take any more of your time, members of the House, but I do implore you to accept the authorities. As far as I am concerned, it does not matter to me whether the Democratic party or the Republican party or the Socialist party gets the credit for taking care of the unfortunates in this State. I will be willing to submit this to the leading tubercular authorities of the state and if they tell the members of this House, that a tubercular institution is not needed, why we will have to submit but I do think in all fairness to the members of the House that that is what should be done.

COMMUNICATION

RESIGNATION FROM MILK COMMITTEE

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication which was read by the Clerk as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
House of Representatives, Harrisburg, April 12, 1939.

Hon. Ellwood J. Turner
Speaker, House of Representatives
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Turner:

I appreciate your kindness in mentioning me for membership on the Committee to study the Milk situation.

I have introduced a Bill to set-up a Commission to study the Administration Law and Procedure and am very anxious to become a member of that Committee, when and if it is appointed.

Therefore, in accordance with my request of yesterday afternoon, I am asking that you substitute someone else in my stead on the Milk Committee.

Very truly yours,
ALFRED C. ALSPACH.

APPOINTMENT TO VACANCY ON MILK COMMITTEE

The SPEAKER. The Chair in granting the request of the gentleman from Lancaster appoints in his place as a member of the Commission the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Balliet.

ADDRESS BY MR. WOODSIDE

Mr. WOODSIDE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we have had from the other side a plea to the emotions concerning those suffering from tuberculosis. We have also been told that the bed space necessary in the sanitoria is based on the number of deaths. I think that we ought to get down to a matter of pure arithmetic and find out how many people are seeking admission to the state sanitoria, how much bed space there is now available and how much bed space there will be available, in order that we may know whether there is enough to take care of those people in this Commonwealth who need and desire treatment in these sanitoria.

The facts are that the sanatorium at Butler during the month of March was fifty-five per cent completed. At that time the General State Authority was consulted and it was determined that it could not be finished until late next fall. It was decided to finish the sanatarium at Butler at this time and those plans are being proceeded with, and if conditions warrant at a later date, ways and means will be found to equip and maintain it, if that should be found necessary. At the present time extensions are being made at Mont Alto and Hamburg which will be finished, equipped and ready for occupancy on October 1, 1939.

On March 1, 1939 the waiting list in the state was 611. Using the new buildings and the old buildings, with the exception of the children's hospital at the Mt. Alto Sanatorium, the Hamburg Sanatorium with its new extensions and the Cresson Sanatorium will give us a bed capacity on October 1, 1939 of 3,511. The present capacity of existing buildings at the three institutions plus the waiting list of 611 makes a total of 2,995 patients. Thus we will absorb the waiting list as of March 1, 1939 and still have 516 beds for any additional waiting list that may arise in the future months without considering the 550 bed capacity at Butler.

In regard to the quotations given by the gentleman in referring to the remarks of Dr. Dexter, I think some time ago she admitted that the bed capacity would more than absorb the waiting list that existed in the sanatoria. I think that clearly shows that at the present time it is not necessary to furnish and equip and operate Butler, but if it is found necessary at a future date, in order to take care of those who are suffering with tuberculosis, I am sure that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will meet that necessity. At the present time with the vast extensions which have been made to the other sanatoria and the additional bed space, taking into consideration too the fact that this additional bed space in these other sanatoria can be operated in a much more efficient manner than can be done by opening a smaller institution with only 550 beds, it seems to me perfectly clear that upon the completion of the additions being made to Hamburg and Mt. Alto there will be enough space to take care of all of those who seek immediate treatment in these sanatoria.

The SPEAKER. The newspaper correspondents desire the Chair to remind the members that Wednesday night is the big night. Get your tickets early.

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. The Chair would say to the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Hindman, he does not like to deny the gentleman recognition, he feels however that the matter has been extensively debated. The hour is now midnight. If the gentleman desires to make a statement at some other time he may do so. I feel that the gentleman should accede to the convenience of the members of the House.

Mr. HINDMAN. I thank the Speaker for his courtesy in the matter. I have just now realized that the hour is very late. I know quite a number of the members of the House are accustomed to going to bed very early so I do not wish to keep them here any longer. I would like however at some future time and answer the statement made by the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will be glad to recognize the gentleman and feels certain that the House will give its unanimous consent.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. ROSEBERRY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until tomorrow at 1 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 11:56 p. m.) the House adjourned until Tuesday, April 25, 1939, at 1 p. m.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Session 1939. 133d of the General Assembly.

Vol. 23 HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, APRIL 25, 1939. No. 42.

TUESDAY, April 25, 1939

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock p. m.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS, offered the following prayer:

O Father of love, Thou hast said in Thy Holy Word: "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night."

May our greatest delight today be in the "law of the Lord" and wilt Thou bless by the spirit of Thy law each member of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania. They are confronted by gigantic problems of economics and industry and unemployment and human need. They have been chosen by our people to guide our Ship of State into a more desired haven. O God of infinite power, give each member a deep sense of this great task.

Bless, with Thy presence of infinite wisdom, the chief helsman of our State, the Governor of this Commonwealth. Give him guidance in the faithful discharge of his arduous duties.

Bless the Lieutenant Governor, the presiding officer of this honorable body, that he may continue to direct its affairs with fairness and dispatch.

And, Our Father, may peace and harmony prevail this day in all our reliberations. We may have differences of opinion but one purpose. We may be motivated by various convictions but we labor for but one cause. This purpose and cause dare only be the well-being of all our people; we seek no other. We pray in the name of Thy Christ. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. OWLETT and Mr. WALKER, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

URGING HOSPITALS TO COMMEMORATE BIRTHDAY OF FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE ON MAY 12.

Mr. HALUSKA and Mr. MALLERY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

Whereas, Florence Nightingale was born May 12, 1820 and devoted the greater part of her natural life to alleviate the suffering of human beings by promoting the organization of Red Cross Units through the entire world, in time of war and as well as in time of peace, and

Whereas, Her devotion to such cause has contributed incalculably to the alleviation of suffering of human beings in the Hospitals and other similar institutions throughout the world, and

Whereas, The date of her birth is marked with memorial activities in Hospitals throughout many states of this United States, and

Whereas, It is fitting and proper that Hospitals and other similar institutions in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should in some degree commemorate her natal day as a tribute to her sacrifices.

Therefore Be It Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania urges the setting aside of May 12, as Hospital Day for the commemoration of the birth of Florence Nightingale and urges upon all Hospitals the planning of its celebration in a manner expedient and fitting, and

Be It Further Resolved, That the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is hereby urged to issue his proclamation further urging the Hospitals of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to join in such commemoration of Hospital Day.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection.

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution,

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrance.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. HOMSHER offered the following resolution which was twice read considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 25, 1939.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, May 1, 1939, at eight o'clock, Eastern Standard Time; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, May 1, 1939, at eight o'clock, Eastern Standard Time.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

REQUESTING USE OF SENATE FOR ADMINISTERING OATH OF OFFICE TO HONORABLE W. S. LIVENGOOD

Mr. OWLETT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 25, 1939.

Resolved, That the use of the Hall of the Senate be granted for Tuesday, May 2, 1939, at 12:00 noon for administering the oath of office to Honorable W. S. Livengood, Secretary of Internal Affairs Elect.

RESOLUTION URGING RECALL OF ORDER ISSUED BY MILK CONTROL BOARD

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, before offering this resolution, I desire to read into the record a resolution received by myself, as well as the chairman of the Legislative Committee investigating the milk question in Pennsylvania.

I desire to do this because I do not want any misunderstanding when I ask for immediate consideration of this resolution.

I have here a letter from Mr. Harry A. Rhodes, President of the Pennsylvania Milk Producers Association, substantiating his remarks before the Commission on Monday afternoon, which in itself is a resolution passed by that association.

Whereas, The Milk Control Commission has called a public hearing to be held at the Benjamin-Franklin Hotel in Philadelphia on Wednesday, May 3, 1939, and

Whereas, Information has come to us that the Milk Control Commission proposes, among other things, to reduce the price paid producers for milk supplying the Philadelphia Milk Marketing Area, abolish the store differential, reinstate the "Basic Surplus Plan," which has proven to be so ruinous to dairy farmers in the past, and do other things which in our opinion are to the financial detriment of the dairy farmers and unfair to the independent milk distributors and milk manufacturers operating in that area,

Therefore, be it Resolved, That we request the Chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee set up to investigate the activities of the Milk Control Commission, the Chairman of the Agriculture Committee in the Senate and the Chairman of the Dairy Industries Committee in the House of Representatives to use their influence with the Honorable Arthur H. James to the end that the said hearing to be held in Philadelphia be postponed until after the Joint Legislative Committee completes its investigation into the activities of the Milk Control Commission, and Further, Be it Resolved, That the Governor be requested to refrain from signing any further milk price orders until after the Committee completes its investigation.

Respectfully submitted,

Harry A. Rhodes, President
Pennsylvania Milk Producers Association.

Mr. President, and members of the Senate, this relates to the Philadelphia area. On February 16th an order was signed affecting the Pittsburgh district, and on April 1st an order was signed affecting the Scranton district. I believe that those orders are extremely unfair, just as the Philadelphia producers are anxious that they not be saddled with a ruinous order, and I am therefore, presenting the following resolution and ask immediate consideration of the Senate on the resolution, which I will now read.

Mr. DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

Whereas, There were recently put into effect certain orders by the Milk Control with the consent and approval of the Governor which have materially and drastically reduced the income of the Farmer-Producer of milk in Western and Central Pennsylvania and said orders are causing hardship and privation amongst this group of worthy citizens, and

Whereas, The aforementioned orders A-35, A-36, effective February 16, in the Pittsburgh Area, and A-37 effective April 1, in the Scranton Area, while cutting the price of milk to the consumers have taken the large percentage of the reduction from the farmer, producers and a very low percentage from the retailer dealer and that such a proposition is both unfair and unreasonable, and

Whereas, The Legislature has named a committee to study the various problems affecting the milk production and distribution in Pennsylvania and this committee is at this time studying this problem and all its ramifications therefore,

Be It Resolved and It Is Resolved, (if the House concur) that the Milk Control Board recall said orders pending the outcome of the Legislative inquiry, and Further Be It Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded immediately to the Milk Control Board and his excellency the Governor.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. Objection is made and the resolution will be referred to the Committee on Agriculture.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Tioga permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, will the Senator from Tioga kindly tell me just what is the reason for his objection.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, because we have not had a chance to consider the resolution and it has so many whereas clauses in it, and we do not know whether they state the truth or not.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, we have been considering this problem and it has been before the Senate since February 16th. There are numerous resolutions in the history that have come before the Senate, introduced by various members of the Senate, relative to this problem. I want you to know that this is a resolution sponsored by me at the request of the farmer producers of my district. I do not think they lied to me. I have read into the record here on previous occasions just how drastically this cut has reduced the income of the farmers.

I do not believe the objection comes in good grace when the Senator from Tioga says there are too many whereas clauses in the resolution, when there are only two whereas clauses in it. I will gladly give the Senator from Tioga a copy of the resolution if he will consent to lay the resolution on the table until we can discuss the matter more fully later on.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I believe that there is nobody in this Senate that has anymore producers of milk in his Senatorial district than I have. I live in a dairy section of the State, and I am as keenly aware of the problems which the senator mentions, and the distressingly low prices that the farmers are receiving for their milk a anyone here.

It is a really acute situation in the dairy sections of Pennsylvania; but the regular procedure of this Senate is that a resolution which—at least, if it contains, as does this resolution, a number of whereas clauses making statements of fact and involving, as this does, a controversial matter, that such a resolution be studied by a committee.

I want to assure the Senator from Westmoreland that I am sympathetic with the object of his resolution, and if there is anything in the world this Senate can do, or this Administration, in helping with the price of milk it ought to be done. I want to say that you can count on my support and I would suggest to the Senator from Westmoreland that we should not spend the time at this late date in a long discussion of this matter.

I, therefore, think that this resolution should be referred to a committee and be studied; and if the committee considers the resolution proper it can be promptly reported out. That is regular procedure in this Senate, and I do not see how it is going to avail anything, Mr. President, now to enter into a long discussion of the milk problem which we all know is a pressing matter now.

We have a committee of this Senate considering this matter, which I understand heard a number of people this week that have come before this committee investigating this whole problem. I do not think anything is going to be accomplished by having a long controversy here on the floor of the Senate on this milk question today; and I say that in all sincerity.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I believe the Senator from Tioga and I do not want to delay the workings of the Senate. However, I want to call the attention of the Senator from Tioga to the fact that the farmers in his district are not affected by this order, this seventy-six cent per hundredweight which affects the farmers out in my district. The farmers of the Senator from Tioga are not affected by that order and if they were affected the Senator from Tioga would probably be receiving the same type of complaint I am receiving.

The Senator from Tioga asks what good will it do. It will save the farmers in my area seventy-six cents a hundredweight for every hundredweight of grade-A milk; and I think that that is sufficient and that this resolution should be considered immediately.

I know what will happen to this resolution in committee. Our history book is full of resolutions. I put one in not long ago relative to a five thousand dollar bond and that resolution is still in committee. People are being forced to sign a bond, although many of the Senators on both sides of the house have told me personally that they do not agree with the Public Assistance Board in its procedure; but the resolution is still buried in committee.

When this resolution goes to the committee it costs every farmer in my community seventy-six cents per hundredweight on milk, and I say we are unfair to the farmer not to pass this resolution immediately.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I have too much respect for the ability of the Senator from Westmoreland to believe he believes that the passage of a resolution in this Senate is going to add seventy-six cents per hundredweight to any farmer's milk check.

Now, this problem is too big to be solved by the passage of a resolution in this Senate. Now, let us not, I beg the Senator, get into a discussion of this milk question now, which will consume the rest of the day, and when we are through we will not have helped the milk producer at all.

Personally, Mr. President, I do not see how anybody can vote for a resolution which is predicated upon a statement that the Governor approved of an order reducing the price of milk. Now, that resolution indicates that this was a scheme by the Governor to cut down the farmer's price of milk. We all know that is not so, and that is why I think the resolution ought to be studied by a committee so that we can alter the form of it or amend it so that we can all vote for it.

I say again, Mr. President, nothing is going to be accomplished here this afternoon by a long discussion on this matter. I appreciate that every Senator from a dairy district has, as I have, producers that are suffering because they cannot get a decent price for milk. He can make a speech of this kind on the milk question, send it home and get a lot of votes by it. We all have farmers who are affected in this manner.

The Senator from Westmoreland says the farmers in my district are not affected by this order. They are affected by the price that is being paid for butter, which is the lowest it has been for a number of years. The farmers are not, in any place, getting enough for their milk. Of course, they are not, but I say we are not going to accomplish anything on that grave problem by passing a resolution here this afternoon.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I stated in the first whereas clause that the Milk Control Board orders had the approval of the Governor. That is according to the law, and the Governor did approve those orders. That is not political, it is a fact. I stated that the farmers in the district of the Senator from Tioga did not receive the cut made effective by this particular order. That is also a fact. They did not receive the cut.

This resolution will serve the purpose of recalling those orders. It is nothing but an executive order of the Milk Control Board. The resolution will serve that purpose. The very passage of this resolution recalling those orders gives my farmers seventy-six cents per hundredweight regardless of how much talking the gentleman from Tioga will do. I know the gentleman from Tioga can out-vote me but he cannot out-argue a true fact.

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MALLERY read in place and present to the Chair Senate Bill No. 705, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph (a) of section one thousand two hundred one, as amended, and section one thousand two hundred four, and to add section one thousand two hundred five to
of the act, approved the twenty-eight day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1053), entitled "An act relating to the regulation of public utilities; defining as public utilities certain corporations, companies, associations, and persons; providing for the regulation of public utilities, including, to a limited extent, municipalities engaging in public utility business, by prescribing, defining, and limiting their duties, powers, and liabilities, and regulating the exercise, surrender or abandonment of their powers, privileges, and franchises; defining and regulating contract carriers by motor vehicle and brokers in order to regulate effectively common carriers by motor vehicle; conferring upon the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission the power and duty of supervising and regulating persons, associations, companies, and corporations, including, to a limited extent, municipal corporations subject to this act, and administering the provisions of this act; authorizing the commission to fix temporary rates; placing the burden of proof on public utilities to sustain their rates and certain other matters; authorizing a permissive or mandatory sliding scale method of regulation rates; providing for the supervision of financial and contractural relations between public utilities and affiliated interests, and supervision and regulation of accounts and securities or obligations issued, assumed, or kept by persons, associations, companies, corporations of municipal corporations subject to this act; conferring upon the commission power to vary, reform, or revise certain contracts; conferring upon the commission the exclusive power to regulate or order the construction, alteration, relocation, protection, or abolition of crossings of facilities of public utilities, and of such facilities by or over public highways, to appropriate property for the construction or improvement of such crossings, and to award or apportion resultant costs and damages; authorizing owners of such property to sue the Commonwealth for such damages; providing for ejectment proceedings in connection with the appropriation of property for crossings; conferring upon the commission power to control and regulate budgets of public utilities; imposing upon persons, associations, companies, and corporations (except municipal corporations) subject to regulation, the cost of administering this act; prescribing and regulating practice and procedure before the commission and procedure for review by the courts of commission action; giving the court of common pleas of Dauphin County exclusive original jurisdiction over certain proceedings; prescribing penalties, fines, and imprisonment for violations of the provisions of this act and regulations and orders of the commission, and the procedure for enforcing such fines and penalties; and repealing legislation supplied and superseded by or inconsistent with this act."
by establishing a revolving fund for the purpose of maintaining a permanent staff of employes, to be paid from such fund, to perform certain duties under the act, and providing for certain payments into the fund by public utilities.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Utilities.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Washington state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, last night there were introduced, in the Senate, revenue raising measures. They are on the calendar today. A long and interesting discussion was had last night concerning the question of finance and taxation, and I must say that the President was very patient in that discussion.

I wanted to add a few remarks to those made last night, but as the hour became very late I decided that I would put that task off until today.

With the permission of the Chair, I would like to say a few things on the question that was discussed last night.

Of course, as we all know, the fundamental question under our basic law is the welfare of the people. That should be the first consideration when we start out to raise money. Now, I have noticed in this Senate that every time this question comes up there is a corollary raised to that discussion, the basis of which is the flight of industry from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and that has been the cry for some years.

Now, I have given this matter some consideration and in order to treat it properly you must divide industry into two classes. I got a very true picture of this situation yesterday when I sat with my friend, the Senator from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, and others, down in the Senate caucus room and heard farmer after farmer come in before that Committee and tell their tales of woe, how they were three to five years back with their taxes, how they were about ready for bankruptcy because of the fact that the milk they were selling had come down to such a price that it did not pay them to put any energy into the subject at all.

Now, Mr. President, I say we must divide industry into two classes. There is one class that operates as the milk industry does in this Commonwealth. It was told there yesterday that the milk industry in Pennsylvania is not controlled by Pennsylvania industry, but that it is controlled by people in the city of New York, Borden and Company, the National Dairy Company, and one or two other large milk companies. Now, why do I mention that? Their operations are entirely selfish. They do not care for the farmer of Pennsylvania. They have no interest in the welfare of the people of Pennsylvania. Their sole interest is to pile up huge profits, which go to New York and into the coffers of certain people there.

Now, there is another industry that we must consider. When I was a young man in Washington County, along the Monogahela river, we had some small industries; and by degrees those industries have disappeared. Why? Because of such large consolidations that I spoke of, as applied to the milk industry—they have either driven those little industries out of business, or else they have drawn them into their own consolidated corporations.

Now, Mr. President, I say this: that the little industrialist should be protected because that industry is vital to the people of Pennsylvania. The little industry that I remember particularly was a little foundry that used to employ two or three hundred men. The man who ran that and controlled that little industry knew every working man that was in his employ. He tried the best he could to take care of the best interest of every one of his employees, and they all were intersted in the community. I can go on and cite other cases of little industries that used to be seen along the Monongahela river from Pittsburgh to Brownsville. They have all disappeared, and the communities in those sections have suffered very greatly.

I passed down the street in a town where there was at one time a fine butcher shop. It had been there for twenty-five years; and I made inquiry as to where that gentleman had gone. Just a short time ago a large food market opened across the street, controlled by people in New York, and this little man, who had been in that business twenty-five years, who had paid taxes consistently in that town, who had helped to build the town, who had helped maintain the town, who had helped with the schools and churches and everything that went into the welfare of that community, had to go out of business.

You might say, could not he have protected himself. He protected himself for years. He had raised a little bank account; but from day to day that bank account dwindled until he was forced out of business. No one in his capacity could have withstood the competition that was brought in and maintained across the street, because that is one of the industries that is injurious and detrimental to the people of Pennsylvania; and that industry has just one thought in mind, and that is huge profits. That industry has no interest in the community itself other than to get what it could of the people's money and to swell its profits in order that they might be sent to New York.

Now, I say to my colleagues, those are the industries, the little industry is the industry we must protect today. The big industry will protect itself. It is not flying from Pennsylvania—that is a myth. If you go into the state of North Carolina they will tell you the same thing; in the sister state of Ohio they will tell you the same story; if you go up to New York they will tell you the same thing there. I repeat, it is a myth. The only industries that are flying around Pennsylvania are those huge industries that are in New York and have their tentacles all through Pennsylvania in order to grab up the profits that are created by the people of this great Commonwealth.

We say, who is bearing the tax today? Is it the little industry or is it the big industry? The little industry has little protection; the big industry has the best lawyers and the best lobbyists and the best protectors, not only in the state but in the nation; and every day their power becomes greater, and I say, frankly, unless something is done to curb those huge monopolies, those powerful trusts, we have nothing else left to do in Pennsylvania but fold up and quit.

I have been reading with much interest the report of the oil industry in Pennsylvania, and I can say, frankly, that that falls within the same category. I read in this report that there are two huge oil trusts controlling the price of petroleum in Pennsylvania today—14,000 producers, most of them on the border line of ruin, in the western part of Pennsylvania, because they must be subservient, they must be slaves to those two huge oil monopolies that tell them what they must sell their oil for.

Now, those are some of the things, my friends, that we must consider, and it is a serious problem.

And, referring to taxation, Mr. President, I never couldd understand when the Democrats were in power why the amusement tax was always left out of the program. I cannot understand that today under the Republican regime, why the amusement tax is left out of the program. They work seven days a week, and yet, rather than take some of the huge profits they make, we take the profit from the farmer in the form of a gasoline tax, or from some poor little widow back in the country who has a $2,000 mortgage or a note in the form of personal property tax.

Mr. President, I just want to read, with your consent, a schedule taken from the Pittsburgh Press recently as to the salaries that come out of the moving picture industry.

Louis B. Mayer, motion picture executive, was the highest paid American in 1937. He received $1,296,503, one of the largest individual salaries ever reported. This was reported out by the House Ways and Means Committee. Mr. Mayer's compensation topped a list studded with notables from Hollywood and other industries.

Listen to this: of the ten highest salaries, seven were paid in the motion picture and entertainment world; of the top twenty, fifteen went to actors and actresses, motion picture and entertainment executives.

Now, Mr. President, if that industry can pay that kind of salaries, I would like someone in this chamber to tell me why that industry, with all its huge profits, cannot pay some part of this tax that is so badly needed in this Commonwealth today.

It is astounding. when we read that list of salaries, and there are many others in that list that I wish I had the time to read, when we read that list of salaries, when we consider that business, and at the same time consider the farmer, who rises before daylight and works till after dark, who is taxed, he has no protection; and here is an industry piling up money from the people of Pennsylvania, in the State of New York, and that industry pays no tax under our program.

I repeat again, I could not learn from the Democratic politicians in 1937 why we had no amusement tax and I would like to know today, from this administration, why this huge industry, that pays such powerful profits is not in the tax program of this administration.

Now, Mr. President, the tax on the little man is becoming serious; the tax on the little industry is becoming serious; and, unless some protection is afforded, I say that the whole structure of our State Government will collapse and break down. I was greatly worried last night, after I heard the statements some of those good Pennsylvania farmers made at this hearing yesterday.

This matter is serious and unless we can give those people who make Pennsylvania some relief and some protection, I say that the end is not far distant.

Today, Mr. Pesident, many of our people in the United States are seeking homes in Canada; and by the way, Mr.. President, while this nation is so interested in England's situation abroad, and while England is so charitable towards this country, and when so many of our people are going north to Canada, it may be a good thing in this country to make arrangement whereby England will give the United States Canada for the large war debt that she owes us. And, Mr. President, many other American citizens are beginning to inquire about homes in South America. That shows Mr. President, the serious situation that exists in this nation today, and we must lay aside many of the partisan difficulties, much of the partisan division, and many of the difficulties that rise up between parties and consider these basic and fundamental problems ere it is too late.

O tempora! O mores!

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. STIEFEL read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 706, entitled:

An Act to amend section five (a) as added to and section nine as amended of the act approved the seventeenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 224), entitled "An act preventing the manufacture, sale or transportation within the Commonwealth of adulterated or misbranded paris green, lead arsenates, lime-sulphur compounds and other insecticides and fungicides by manufacturers outside of the Commonwealth and changing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Agriculture.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this has nothing to do with the calendar, but I did not want to allow this occasion to go by.

I want to ask my colleague, the Senator from Washington, Mr. Reed, if he would not consider an amendment to his suggestion about Canada so that maybe we can trade Maine and Vermont for Canada.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 518 as follows:

An Act to further amend section one and a part of section two of the act approved the thirteenth day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three (Pamphlet Laws 119) entitled "An act for the promotion of medical science by the distribution and use of unclaimed human bodies for scientific purposes through a board created for that purpose and to prevent unauthorized uses and traffic in human bodies" changing the membership of the board and the functions of the Secretary of Health with reference thereto requiring audits by the Auditor General and reports of the activities of the board and increasing the maximum amount that may be expended for burial of unclaimed bodies unfit for anatomical purposes

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 214 entitled:

An Act requiring retail dealers in liquid fuels to display the price of liquid fuels on signs; specifying the location thereof, maximum size thereof, minimum size of lettering and figures thereon, conferring powers and duties upon the Department of Revenue; and imposing penalties.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this bill, in my opinion, is the kind of bill that ordinarily would be declared unconstitutional. I do not want to say that this bill is unconstitutional, because I have given up saying that; but this bill provides, as I stated last week, that signs on the highway, on oil stations, rather, shall be no more than 8 by 10 inches. It is designed as a bill to protect pedestrians using the highway.

In 1937 we passed an act which provided that signs must be placed in a conspicuous place on the station and they must be sufficiently large so that anyone can see them.

We regulate the fact that the price shall be so stated on the station; that it must be visible and plain.

That was the act of July 2, 1937, pamphlet laws no. 1193.

This bill can only help the large industries that my friend from Washington, Senator Reed, spoke of just now: and must of necessity affect injuriously, and to disadvantage, the small independent dealer. There is no reason and no good purpose for this bill.

I am quite sure that the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the independent oil dealer, and the public in general, would go on as usual if this bill were not passed; and I am equally certain that the business of some of those small places, to which my colleague, Senator Reed, has referred, will not go on as usual, but will be interferred with.

I complained about the Republican organization not carrying out its promises. My final word on this bill is, that this bill is the first promise the Republican organization is carrying out; the promise to the oil industries to protect them.

This bill, plus the following bill on the calendar, means the keeping of the first promise; and I call that kind of keeping promises to the attention of the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, during the four months it has been our pleasure to have been in session here most of the bills have been for the purpose of saving the City of Philadelphia. Unfortunately, I understand, and I tell my colleagues from Philadelphia, this bill will not save Philadelphia. This bill will save the little, small independent gasoline dealers back in the State of Allegheny that are interested in this bill. A great many of the small gasoline dealers, the home owner that has a gasoline station in the front yard, is interested and has asked us to pass this bill. They think that this bill will eliminate or tend to eliminate the gasoline wars in Allegheny County. This bill has received any number of endorsements of the independent dealers of our county.

Now, I do not know how it will affect big industry because we do not have many big industries. We have little industries in our county. I do not know how the bill will affect Philadelphia but this is the first bill that will not save Philadelphia; and I certainly urge its passage on behalf of the independent dealers.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, it is difficult to see how this bill is going to help the little gasoline dealer at all. You take the big concerns, like Gulf, Atlantic, Standard, and that bunch, they can afford to pay as high as fifteen hundred dollars a week to advertise their Sunoco, and everything else, over a radio program. They can spend thousands of dollars every week to advertise in newspapers —these fine newspapers that are giving the Republican party such a send-off now, who fit right in the picture of closing doors so that the public cannot get in to inquire or see what is going on—so that the newspapers can only print what has been beneficial to the Republican party. That all fits in, the thousands of dollars that are paid by the big dealer to the newspapers for advertisement; but the poor little fellow who has a small station along the way, the only method that he has of advertising and to attract trade is to put up a big sign in front of his place, big enough so that it will attract attention, the price of his product, his gasoline.

Now, you can laugh all you want but you cannot fool all of us. We have not just been born yesterday. We are very familiar with these very subtle arguments and we know just exactly what you are driving at. This bill prevents the little man from putting his advertisements out. You are not ready to pass a bill limiting Sunoco or Gulf from spending thousands and thousands of dollars for their advertisements, big advertisements in the newspapers and over the radio. It is hard to see, and we say to you very sincerely, to the gentleman from Allegheny, who was so much interested in this bill, we fail to see how this bill helps the little man. If you would say it gives him a boot in the pants, we can understand that; because the bill is aimed at that and does that very thing.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I can readily understand how the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, can say it gives a man a boot in the pants, if he does not understand what we are talking about.

I say what this bill proposes to do is to eliminate gasoline wars—that is what we are talking about. The big gasoline companies, so favorably mentioned by the Senator from Fayette—they are in a much better position to stand the gasoline wars than the little dealer; it is the little fellow, who cannot stand the gasoline wars, who is hurt by them; and this bill is for the protection of the little independent dealer, not for the protection of the big oil dealers who are being so bothered, according to the Senator from Philadelphia and the Senator from Fayette, by this bill, It is the little fellows who will be affected by this bill, and that is why we are in favor of its passage.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, will the Senator from Allegheny name one dealer, one big dealer like the Esso or the Standard or the Gulf, who have signs on their stations of the type that are being abolished by this bill?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, as I said to the Senator from Fayette, he knows we have nothing but little dealers, and they have to put out big signs in order to meet the competition of the big dealers. Right now we have the ludicrous situation in Allegheny County where on the south side of the Allegheny River gasoline is selling at fourteen cents a gallon, because of the gasoline war, and on the north side it is selling at sixteen and eighteen cents a gollon because they are not affected by the war. That is one of the things we are trying to eliminate. I can name several dealers small dealers—because my relationship is with the small independent dealers and not with the big industries.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the gentleman has very astutely evaded the question directed at him.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I think I have answered the question.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I asked the Senator from Allegheny to give the name of one of the big dealers who have signs on their business places larger than ones being abolished by this bill, or of the size of the ones you are going to abolish.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, to answer the question direct, the last time I drove down Bigelow Boulevard, just as the boulevard joins Seventh Avenue there is a Gulf service station, and there they had a large sign four feet wide and six feet tall advertising Gulf gasoline; and all the other stations leading into Grand Street followed that example.

That is the kind of thing we are trying to eliminate by this bill.

Does that directly answer the question propounded to me by the Senator from Fayette?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I do not think it does. Does the Senator from Allegheny mean that the Gulf Oil Company has signs of the type to be abolished by this bill?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, as I understood the Senator's question it was to name one big company.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the Senator from Allegheny can answer that question yes or no.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I named the Gulf Company and located the station for him.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Very well, Mr. President; does the Senator from Allegheny mean that the Gulf has signs of the type that would be abolished by this bill and that he has answered the question.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, specifically the Gulf has signs that this bill will abolish; and so have the independent dealers signs of the type that this bill will abolish.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, we passed an Act in the Legislature creating this sign business; prior to the Act of 1937 we had what was commonly known in the gasoline business as a "under canopy" prices. Those station operaters that enjoyed a close relationship with the mother producer or the parent company, received a sort of kick-back on the number of gallons they sold; and could as an offer inducement to the customers who came in a special "under canopy" price.

The Legislature, in its wisdom, passed an Act forcing them to post their prices, and one man posted his price and a neighbor across the way, who happened to be receiving a great deal of business because of prices under canopy prices put up a larger sign.

This particular bill does not help the smaller dealer in any manner whatsoever, because gasoline is sold on price, not on quality. Investigation will show that a great many of the tanks bearing different company signs have the same gasoline in them, coming from the same gas line. We can prove that without too much argument, that one particularly large company in western Pennsylvania fills the tanks of at least eight other companies, so it is not the quality of the gasoline it is the price that sells. There is now a gas war and for years I drove over the Lincoln highway, and from my home in Jeanette, where I pay twenty and a half cents a gallon for motor gas there was a difference of five-and-a-half cents from Jeanette to Chambersburg, and they did not have the big signs on the highway.

You do not object to the Senator from Fayette calling your attention—you do not object to the newspaper advertisements, or the radio advertisements, but you do object to the sign put up by the small independent dealer whose only means of advertising is, in many cases, a hand-painted sign calling attention to gas at fifteen cents.

Now, if the Senator from Allegheny has a situation in his "great state of Allegheny," I have a similar situation in the greater "state of Westmoreland" and my independent dealers do not want this bill to prevail, because the average motorist, if he does not have an inducement will drive up to the big elaborate stations put up by the big gasoline companies; and drive right by my little neighbors and go to the larger station, if the gas is not advertised along the road as an inducement to come in.

Let us get out of all misunderstanding; this does not help the little fellow, it does help the big fellow. So I ask those members of the Senate who are sincere not only in their interest in the gasoline dealers but the consumers and motorists—fifteen cents is a good price for gasoline, and you do not need to have a gyp price; if the gasoline companies will reduce their amount of profit, the dealer will receive a legitimate amount of profit and the consumer will get a good price. Therefore we claim that the sign is a good thing; the motorist knows where he can get good gasoline at a saving, and that means a lot to him.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to read the first section of this Act. I have been waiting for someone to tell me the real necessity of this Act. Last week I heard it was for safety, because some people who see big signs get distracted, and, being distracted, you may have an accident. Today I hear it is to help the little fellow because it will stop price warfare.

It is a new idea, that by limiting the size of the sign you stop a man from cutting the price of gasoline. That is new to me.

This Act, in section one, says: "Every person copartnership, association or corporation engaged in the retail sale of liquid fuels, as defined by law for purposes of taxation, shall display the price of such liquid fuels and also State and Federal taxes as separate items on signs in conspicuous place on each and every pump of other dipensing equipment. Signs displaying the price of liquid fuel shall not be larger in size than eight inches by ten inches."

Mr. President and members of the Senate, this book is about seven by twelve inches. You are going to say to the man who wants to sell gasoline that he shall confine the Federal, the State tax and the price of gasoline to a sign which is less than the size of the book that I have. Are you fooling anybody by that? Does not everybody know that the big companies on Thursday afternoon hold a meeting and decide that the price of gasoline shall be X cents per gallon, and that the prices are advertised in the newspapers sometimes at the cost of the big gasoline dealers and sometimes as news items.

Gas has been reduced to sixteen cents. All the larger companies today have agreed to cut the price to sixteen cents. If the little fellow wants to say "My price is fifteen cents," you will run into a telegraph pole looking for that little sign before you know it. We have had the spectacle of having these big gasoline companies tell us, four years ago, in 1935, that if we increased the price of gasoline one cent it would ruin the business; so we did not increase it one penny; and before the week was over the big companies got together and increased the price one cent, and they did it over night, and nobody moved out of Pennsylvania and no industry was run out of Pennsylvania.

Now, in order to make this thing dire, on the second page of the act it says, "No other price signs for displaying the price of liquid fuel so dispensed or signs relating to, indicating or intending to indicate the price of such liquid fuel shall be used or displayed on or about the premises where liquid fuel is sold at retail."

So, if a man wants to say, "My prices are lower than John Smith's" or "My prices are the lowest in this neighborhood" you don't even let him say that—He dare not use those words; and yet you say this is an act to protect the little fellow; and my friend from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, makes his point by talking about Philadelphia.

There is enough to talk about with regard to Philadelphia without dragging this bill into it, this "N.R.A.". as I called it. You have adopted the Earle taxes and now you are adopting the Federal Recovery Act. You are adopting the N.R.A. in Pennsylvania at the same time you are criticising the Federal government. What is this but an N.R.A. bill? What right have you to say a man shall not sell his gasoline at fifteen cents, and what right have you to say to people, "If you want to advertise, if you want to sell at 15c, you cannot do it. You cannot put it on the ground for which you pay rent, you cannot put up a sign, from which you draw your livelihood, but you must put it in the newspapers and compete with the big companies, and there say that when you are traveling through X City to this city you can buy gasoline for fifteen cents. It is utter nonsense. You were talking about the little little fellow; why should not the consumer have the right to go to the place where he can buy his article in the cheapest competitive price? You are telling me you want to cut out price warfare. Is there anything in this Act to say the man must not reduce his price?

There is a bill pending in commitee, the so-called Fair Trade Bill, where you do not allow the man to sell his article below six per cent over cost, but you don't stick it in here.

I repeat, this is neither a safety device nor a price fixing device, nor the stopping of price cutting. This is, pure and simple, the payment of a debt due.

I will bring Philadelphia into the picture for my friend, so he can say it is involved. A gentleman in Philadelphia who is one of the leaders of the Republican Party is named Mr. Pew and he controls one of the largest gasoline companies in the country, and he is a very large contributor to the Republican organization; and I say if you are honest about it and say, "Well, this fellow has done so much for us, and it is time we did something for him, and that is the reason we pass this bill. I could understand that; but this other argument I cannot appreciate, I think it is utter nonsense.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, now we have dragged Philadelphia into it I would like to drag Oakmont into it. At Oakmont we do not have Mr. Pew, we do not have any large contributor to the Republican party; we do have a fellow in the gasoline business by the name of Sidney Green, who comes from Virginia, and is a Democrat, and has a little gasoline station on the corner and is trying to make a living and pay his taxes; and we are buying gasoline there to help Sidney out, because he is a good Rotarian.

He said to me one day, "My God, we won't be able to stay in business because of all these price cutters."

I said, "Sidney, do you think this bill will help?"

He said, "Senator, this is the salvation for the little fellow. If you do not get this bill through we will not be able to stay in business."

That is my reason for asking for the passage of this bill. We do not know anything about Mr. Pew or about making big contributions.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am amazed. The gentleman almost had me shedding tears because the Republicans are taking care of the Democrats in Oakmont.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the Democrats in Oakmont are such a rarity we like to take care of them .

Mr. KILGALLEN. Mr. President, I drive through the Borough of Oakmont on occasion, and I dare say if the Senator from Oakmont would present a bill to this Senate limiting the signs on the large streamline groceries in the borough we would very quickly find his position in the matter.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I move that further consideration of Senate Bill No. 226, on third reading, entitled:

An Act abolishing the Oil Industry Investigation Commission terminating the terms of its members and lapsing the unobligated balance of any appropriation made therefor to be postponed for the present.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, it is well known that the original commission was set up by the Courts of this State; then a new commission was authorized by the General Assembly, and I am a member of that commission. We have attempted to gather the testimony and the data that was gathered by the old commission. That old commission chairman was Judge Ralph H. Smith, of Pittsburgh, probably one of the most brilliant minds on the Common Pleas bench of this State, and our own former Senator from this side of the body, Senator Thompson. These two men worked for over eight months taking testimony all over this State and they found some very interesting facts.

The oil and gasoline business in this state has reached such proportions that to my mind it is as important and vital as utilities or mining or transportation, and here is an industry that the New Deal has not touched.

We have heard a lot about regimentation and control and regulation but here is an industry that the people have not caught up with. Here is an industry that is running wild. It follows the old theory of the survival of the fittest, the law of the jungle, dog eat dog.

For a good many years in this State there has been a practice of posting crude oil prices. The testimony shows that two or three companies posted the price of oil in Pennsylvania by just merely posting it in their main business office, and for some reason, whether by agreement or by intuition, all the other companies followed. This investigation showed, too, that the producers of oil in Pennsylvania are losing money, every one of them.

In other words, the testimony showed that it cost around two dollars to produce a barrel of oil in Pennsylvania and the price has been running, or was at the time of this investigation, around $1.60 or $1.61, so that we have on one side of this picture the producer, the individual, the company, corporation or partnership that goes down into the bowels of the earth and brings this valuable product to the surface, that in Pennsylvania they are losing money and have been losing money for some time.

Then we have the pipe line companies. Those pipe line companies charge those producers a fair rate, we assume, but they also charge two per cent for leakage and evaporation; and there was no testimony offered to show that that was justified.

It costs eight-tenths of a cent to transport a gallon of gasoline from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia, or vice versa; and yet the wholesale price over the western side of the mountains, during the period of this investigation over seven or eight months—the wholesale price was one and one and a half cents higher west of the mountains than on this side, and the retail price was from one to four cents higher west of the mountains over the price east of the mountains.

Now, even if the oil or gasoline were transported, there should not be over one cent, or eight-tenth of a cent. But, as a matter of fact, they do not transport that oil or gasoline. They trade their gasoline. One company fills the pump of another, so that when you go up to a gasoline station in Pennsylvania you do not know whose gas you are buying because these men have such a clear understanding that they fill each other's tanks.

Then we come to the retailer. It used to be that those big companies sold their own gasoline, and, of course, when they did that they had to pay wages and then they soon learned what they called the I O W A plan. The I O W A plan is this: they do not hire people to sell their products. If they own stations, they lease them. If you have a little station they will lease you the equipment. If they want to favor you, they will subsidize you by giving you a hoist, or other machinery, such as pumps, and signs; so that, what has happened, Mr. President, they have these retailers to whom they pay no wages, because they probable would have the labor organizations on their back if they did that. So they have devised a scheme of leasing, so that, when you drive up to a station now, you will find men who are at work fourteen to eighteen hours a day and most of them are starving. There is a ferocious war on in this state among the retailers.

I just read Sunday that on Saturday night, on the Perry Highway, eighteen pumps were demolished, or broken up. This warfare has gotten so serious; and, when we have on the one hand in this state—where the first oil well was drilled—the producers losing forty cents a barrel on the average, and the retailers on the other, the lessee, working their souls out—then in the center there are concerns that by merely posting prices in their place of business determine the price of crude oil and the price of gasoline, the retail price. There are two or three concerns that do that.

Now, of course, if that thing could continue it is a bonanza for those in the middle; but it is a sad thing for Pennsylvania, or for any industry, or for any business where the producer is losing money, the retailer losing money, and a few men in the center, or a few corporations in the center, reaping the profits.

I just read in the Pittsburgh Post this morning, where one of the bills offered here last night that one cent on gasoline means $28,000,000 in a biennium to Penneyslvania. So, if those men in the middle can raise the price of gasoline one cent just by merely posting it, or two, or three cents, or four cents, or five cents, you can readily see the enormous amount of money that is drawn from the people and put into the hands of a few.

You know, Mr. President, I wonder why it was that Colonel Estes came to abide in Pennsylvania. I had heard for a while that his main purpose was to build our present Governor up as a presidential candidate of the United States. But, I feel quite sure, Mr. President, that by this time he has changed his mind, and has given that idea up, but I do wonder why he still stays here.

He is an oil producer in Texas, and, I understand, a big one; and there was an investigation in this state, the first in any state in this union. Here was an industry that grew up fast, it had grown that way. It is more or less mysterious, and it is intricate; and if they could keep it that way, keep it mysterious, those huge profits could go on indefinitely. But they perhaps, discovered in Texas, or Colonel Estes did, that here in Pennsylvania was an investigation with Judge Smith doing the delving that might gum-up the situation; they might tear the mask off this bonanza.

Therefore, that, at least, would be one good reason for him to come to Pennsylvania; and I am going to make an effort to have Joe Pew and Colonel Estes, at least, come and live part of the time west of the Allegheny Mountains, because the testimony in this investigation shows that every user of a car west of the mountains pays eight dollars a year more for his gasoline than they do down east here, and, yet the oil fields are on our side of the mountains so I hope that I can get Joe Pew and Colonel Estes to come and live on our side of the mountains for at least part of the time.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. REED. Senator, as a member of this commission, in the event the commission was not dissolved, what would be your duties?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I feel that the intention of the present commission, the only purpose it ever had, was to gather data and information.

The taxpayers of this state had coughed up $40,000 to learn something about what is going on, and, of course to frame legislation afterwards; but I do not think there is any idea of any member of the commission in the report that they are trying to prepare, or working on, to offer any particular solution. We feel that is a matter for the legislature. We make some recommendations, and, of course, I am just one member and cannot tell.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, are their duties at an end now?

Mr. McGINNIS. No, Mr. President; unless this bill is passed. If this bill passes here, I want to say to the Senator from Washington that the $40,000 would have been wasted, and some of the most interesting information the people ought to know would, perhaps, be buried. I do feel, inasmuch as we have spent this money and have had, especially the old commission, some very learned, energetic men digging into this thing for whatever information they could discover that whatever information they have discovered whatever we have discovered and assembled, ought at least, be shown to the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, has the Senator from Allegheny completed the investigation?

Mr. McGINNIS. Practically, Mr. President, yes. In fact our secretary, Dr. Ross, from the University of Pittsburgh, who was secretary to the old commission and is our secretary, has done an enormous amount of work on this problem. He has prepared a summary of all the data, all the testimony that was gathered by both the commissions.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire further to interrogate the Senator from Pittsburgh, Mr. McGinnis.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, if this bill passes, in what manner will it interfere with the completion of this work.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, it will end it, except, that I think the bill does authorize payment of bills which have been incurred. I might say the old commission incurred almost all of the bills, up to around $40,000. We have, perhaps, spent $1,000; so, there will be $9,000 go back to the State, as not being used. But, if this bill passes, the effect will be that we will pay what little bills we have and close up.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, if the bill does not pass, what other duties will be performed?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, to prepare a report and submit it to the Assembly of Pennsylvania.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I just want to say a word on this problem.

I have read this report and it is a very interesting one. I think it be well worth the time of any person who is interested in the petroleum cause to take an evening off and read this report.

It is one of the industries I have endeavored to picture in my remarks earlier in the afternoon. It shows conclusively what a chain can do. They can go into a community with a station and hammer prices in that community down so low that the man who has property there, the man who has a little business there, cannot stand up against the opposition.

Not only that, if you take the producer's cause, it is likewise shown in this report. As I said earlier in the afternoon, the small producer in this State, particularly in western Pennsylvania, is on the verge of ruin, due to the activities of the large oil companies, which the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis pictures as those who are in the middle. So I say, Mr. President, if the duties of this commission are completed, why then, of course, we should pass the bill and terminate their activities; but their duties are not yet completed. I believe that, for the welfare of the people of Pennsylvania, we should give them a little more time in order that they may complete their work and file their report, as I believe it would be an interesting report to anyone who is interested in this basic industry.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to end this debate and should like to ask two questions of the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, do I understand that the records of this committee, or commission, will show that when large companies, the Sunoco Oil Company for instance, puts oil into the tank of the Atlantic Refining Company, they sell it as each other's oil; is that correct?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I am not going to mention any names. Our summary does not mention a single name of any oil company in Pennsylvania. We do number them, and the testimony brings them forth in that way.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am quite sure the gentleman from Montgomery has no purpose in stifling a report which may be of value to the Legislature; and I would like to inquire whether the gentleman from Montgomery would not agree to place this bill on the postponed calendar in order to give this commission an opportunity to finish its work.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I have already suggested to the Senators on this side that the bill be placed on the postponed calendar for two weeks, with the hope that the committee can finish its report in that time. I want to say to the Senator from Allegheny that I did not understand that, by this bill, I was abolishing him with the bill. I thought I was reclaiming the fund for the use of the Commonwealth, which might be nine or ten thousand dollars. If there is a report in the making that could be submitted before we adjourn so that we can lapse the balance of that fund, I think it will be entirely satisfactory that the bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am quite sure that the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, will not be eliminated by abolishing the oil industry.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I thought the gentleman from Allegheny said I was trying to abolish him.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, in my short time here, in contact with the gentleman from Montgomery, I have learned to respect highly his integrity and sincerity in all matters; and I do feel that, if the gentleman from Montgomery will look over this summary report which is already prepared—I am satisfied the gentleman from Montgomery will not want to do anything that would keep from him, or any intelligent person, the contents of this report. It does not mention names, but merely what they have found, practices which are very enlightening and educational to every good citizen who is interested in this subject.

Mr. EDMONDS. I want to ask the Senator, if I may, Mr. President, where I may get a copy of that report; has it been distributed to us?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I think there are only two copies in existence; but I think the gentleman from Allegheny will gladly loan his report to the Senator from Montgomery so that he may study it.

The PRESIDENT. The sponsor of Senate Bill No. 226 requests that this bill go over and be placed on the postponed calendar.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 282, (House Bill No. 354), entitled:

An Act to amend clause (d) as added to section twenty-one of the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred seventeen (Pamphlet Laws 363) entitled "An act relating to the organization jurisdiction and procedure of the orphans' courts, the powers and duties of the judges thereof and appeals therefrom," requiring certification of verdicts and judgments entered in orphans' courts to the prothonotary and the filing docketing and indexing the same by him

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this is what was referred to as the ripper bill to rip a ripper. Mr. President, I move that further consideration of Senate Bill No. 289, (House Bill No. 282), on third reading entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the twenty-second day of September, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight (P. L. 37), entitled "An act relating to and removing the remaining additional persons now serving as Pennsylvania members of the Delaware River Joint Commission by virtue of appointment by the General Assembly under the act approved June twelfth, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws, five hundred seventy-five), entitled 'An act providing for joint action by Pennsylvania and New Jersey in the development of the ports on the lower Delaware River, and the improvement of the facilities for transportation across the river; authorizing the Governor, for these purposes, to enter into an agreement with New Jersey, creating The Delaware River Joint Commission and specifying the powers and duties thereof, including the power to finance projects by the issuance of revenue bonds, transferring to the new commission all the powers of The Delaware River Bridge Joint Commission; and making an appropriation,' and providing for the appointment of their successors."

be postponed for the present.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, as I had the honor of reporting this bill out from committee, I feel that I must defend it. This bill is to save the name of two good men who were fired from the Delaware Bridge Commission; and this bill will restore them and remove any stigma that may be upon them. I, therefore, object to the motion.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I withdraw the motion and ask that my colleagues vote the bill down.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I will

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I should like to know from my colleague from Philadelphia what this bill really does.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, it restores Mr. Weglein and Mr. Smith to their former offices.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, does my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, know that last year Mr. Weglein, he former sheriff of Philadelphia, and the fee-grabbing gentleman from Philadelphia, and Mr. Thomas B. Smith, the former mayor of Philadelphia, and one of our administration heads during the 5th Ward bloody murders, were asked to withdraw from the commission, and they have been attending meetings regularly in the face of an order? I should like to know whether the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, knows that.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I was only counting the Republican votes. I beg the Senator's pardon.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I should like to be enlightened on the subject, and that is why I am asking the question.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I thought I had answered the question.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, does the Senator from Philadelphia want me to repeat the question?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, all that I know about the bill, it is to remove any possible stigma now resting upon the names of those two men who served their city so faithfully.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I asked the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, whether it is not a fact that those two gentlemen, in view of the fact that they were ordered to withdraw from the commission, constantly attended meetings, I would like to know by what right these two men, who are known for their past record, continue to attend the meeings. Is it nepotism or what is it? After all, it is an honorary position they have. What is it they want to protect on this commission? Is it that they want to serve the citizens of Philadelphia; is it that they want to serve themselves; what is it? That is what I should like to know.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, in order to avoid any further discussion, I ask unanimous consent that the bill go over in order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I object.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, if this bill will go over in order I will be glad to take up the matter and try to enlighten the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward.

That is what I was trying to do, but, after all, I am only a young Senator here.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I will be delighted to have a private conversation.

The PRESIDENT. The question is on the final passage of the bill.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, has requested that the bill go over in its order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I objected, Mr. President

MOTION TO PLACE BILL ON POSTPONED CALENDAR

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 289 be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 306, (House Bill No. 376), entitled:

An Act to add paragraph four to clause (c) of section forty-one of the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 447), entitled as amended, "An act relating to the administration and distribution of the estates of decedents and of minors and of trust estates, including the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, liabilities, accounts, discharge and removal of executors administrators guardians and trustees herein designated as fiduciaries the administration and distribution of the estates of presumed decedents, widow's and children's exemptions, debts of decedents, rents of real estate as assets for payment thereof the lien thereof sales and mortgages of real estate for the payment thereof, judgments and executions therefor and the discharge of real estate from the lien thereof, contracts of decedents for the sale or purchase of real estate legacies including legacies charged on land the discharge of residuary estates and of real estate from the lien of legacies and other charges the appraisement of real estate devised at a valuation, the ascertainment of the curtilage of dwelling houses or other buildings devised the abatement and survival of actions and the substitution of executors and administrators therein, the survival of causes of action and suits thereupon by or against fiduciaries, investments by fiduciaries the organization of corporations to carry on the business of decedents the audit and review of accounts of fiduciaries, refunding bonds, transcripts to the court of common pleas of balances due by fiduciaries the rights powers and liabilities of nonresident and foreign fiduciaries the appointment bonds rights, powers, duties and liabilities of trustees durante absentia, the recording and registration of decrees, reports and other proceedings and the fees therefor appeals in certain cases and also generally dealing with the jurisdiction, powers and procedure of the orphans' court in all matters relating to fiduciaries concerned with the estate of decedents," as amended by permitting fiduciaries holding mortgage to accept deeds in lieu of foreclosures and prescribing the effect thereof

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move to amend Section 1 (section 17), page 23, line 25 by striking out with boldface brackets at the end of the line the following: S [SC except first class or nonprofit corporations]; amend Section 1 (section 17), page 23, line 28 by inserting after the word "therein" and before the word "are" the following: S except first class or nonprofit corporations; amend Section 1 (section 17), page 28, line 20 by inserting after the word "organization" and before the word "part" the word: S no.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The second section of the bill was read as follows and agreed to:

Section 2 This reenacting and amending act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

The title of the bill was read as follows and agreed to:

An Act to amend section three of article one and section forty of article four of the act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred nineteen (Pamphlet Laws 521) entitled as amended "An act providing for the imposition and collection of certain taxes upon the transfer of property passing from a decedent who was a resident of this Commonwealth at the time of his death and of property within this Commonwealth of a decedent who was a nonresident of the Commonwealth at the time of his death, defining and taxing transfers made in contemplation of death, defining as a transfer and taxing the right of survivorship in property as to which such right exists and making it unlawul for any corporation of this Commonwealth or national banking association located therein to transfer the stock of such corporation or banking association standing in the name of any such decedent until the tax on the transfer thereof has been paid and providing penalties and citing certain acts for repeal," providing for the release of lien of inheritance tax on remainder interests in real estate in certain cases by entry of security therefor and providing for the repayment of taxes paid in excess of amount due on future estates.

And said bill as amended having been read at length the second time:

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill as amended?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, for the enlightment of the Senator from Philadelphia, this bill provides a method for releasing liens on inheritance taxes and real estate, and the Act as drawn provides that the release be issued by the Auditor General.

The amendments I have inserted provide that the release shall be issued by the Revenue Department, because it is the Revenue Department that collects the inheritance tax and not the Auditor General's Department.

The Auditor General's office does the appraising, but the Revenue Department does the collecting. Therefore, the Revenue Department is the only department that can issue a release.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading as amended?

OVER IN ORDER

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, it seems to me that this bill ought to be further amended; and I suggest that it go over in its order, without second reading, so that it may be considered tomorrow if necessary.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, April 25, 1939.

The House met at 1 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Ellwood J. Turner) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev Thomas George Baxter, offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, Thou art blessing and trusting us. Make us worthy of Thy bestowed confidence. Let not evil darken the avenues of our souls. Enlarge our lives in humility, wisdom, and charity. May all our labors bear the mark of Christian consideration for our fellow man and love for our country.

Give us the spirit of the aged Barbara Fritchie. "When in her attic window the staff she set, to show that one heart was loyal yet," and shouted defiantly to the enemy host, "Shoot if you must this gray old head, but spare my country's flag, 'she said.' "

O God of nations, give Thy people grace and grit to save our country from the pernicious influences that are boring at her heart from within.

Through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. G. R. THOMPSON, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

Referred to the Committee on Counties.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. WEISS. RESOLUTION No. 71.

In the House of Representatives, April 24, 1939.

Whereas, the $1,800,000 appropriation recommended by the Governor, to meet all the needs of the Public Utility Commission for the 1939-41 biennium is insufficient to provide adequate funds and an adequate field force to investigate the many petitions by public utility companies for increased gas and other utility rates; and

Whereas, the people of this Commonwealth will suffer as a result of increased rates; and

Whereas, the Public Utility Commission has proposed the establishment of a $200,000 revolving fund from which to pay field force salaries; and

Whereas, this fund would be replenished during the biennium from money collected by assessments upon utilities which pay the cost of investigations made to establish rates and regulatory orders; and

Whereas, the money for carrying out this plan would not come from the taxpayers nor would it place a hardship on the Commonwealth by increasing its budget; therefore be it

Resolved, that the House of Representatives hereby urge the Governor of the Commonwealth to reconsider the budget submitted by the Public Utility Commission, adopt the plan of the commission setting up the revolving fund and assessing the public utilities for its maintenance and to increase the budget allowance to the Public Utility Commission to provide sufficient funds for the maintenance of an adequate field force to help protect the interest of the consumer before the commission and prevent undue increases in utility rates; and be it further

Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to his Excellency the Governor.

Referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

By Mr. JONES. RESOLUTION No. 72.

In the House of Representatives, April 24, 1939.

Whereas, there are at this time many so called investigators employed by the Commonwealth in the making of investigations in order to see that the laws of the Commonwealth are being properly enforced and observed; and

Whereas, such investigators employed by different departments, bureaus and commissions of the Commonwealth cover the same territory and visit the same places at approximately the same time in order to obtain information for the use of their special departments, bureaus or commissions; and

Whereas, this method of obtaining information for the various branches of the State Government is wasteful and far from being efficient; and

Whereas, the same results could be obtained by one investigator making the necessary visitations at the same places in the same territory in the interest of the different departments, bureaus or commissions, and save for the Commonwealth a considerable amount of money; therefore be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that the attention of the Commission on State Government is hereby called to this situation, with the request that they make a study of the existing law relative to various investigations conducted by the different departments, bureaus and commissions of the State Government with the idea of suggesting legislation at the next session of the General Assembly, which would eliminate the duplication now existing, provide for a merging of the investigations now made, and accomplish a great saving for the Commonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on State Government.

By Mr. STOCKHAM. Concurrent RESOLUTION No. 73.

In the House of Representatives, April 24, 1939.

Whereas, during the 1937 Session of the General Assembly there was passed a new law for the regulation of public utilities, known as the Public Utility Law, which Act superseded and repealed the Public Service Company Law which had been in effect since January 1, 1914; and

Whereas, a number of provisions of the Public Utility Law of 1937 have been the subject of judicial review and have been held by State or Federal Courts to be unconstitutional, as the result of which amendatory legislation was passed at the special session of 1938, designed to correct some of the unconstitutional provisions; and

Whereas, other provisions of this 1937 law are alleged to extend beyond the scope of reasonable and proper regulation of the utilities in that they unduly invade the field of management, impose upon utilities the burden of furnishing costly reports or conforming to procedures of doubtful value in the determination of reasonable rates and adequate service, retard the development and expansion of utility properties and facilities, discourage investment in utility securities, and present questions which may involve the Commonwealth and the utilities, and indirectly the ratepayers, in protracted and costly litigation, thereby retarding future reductions in utility rates; and

Whereas, the best interests of the Commonwealth, the rate payer, the utilities, and those who in good faith have invested billions of dollars in the securities of utilities doing business in this Commonwealth, require that a careful, comprehensive and impartial study of the Public Utility Law be undertaken in order to ascertain what changes, if any, should be made in said Law to make if fair, just and reasonable in its application to all concerned. Therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) that the Attorney General be and is hereby requested to undertake and prosecute a thorough and impartial study of the Public Utility Laws of this and other states, ascertain the viewpoints of the Public Utility Commission, other regulatory bodies, the public, the utilities affected, and others, as to the proper concepts to be applied in the field of utility regulation, consider the effect and trend of judicial decisions in the public utility field and the questions involved in pending litigation, and ascertain what, if any, amendments should be made to the Public Utility Law in order to secure adequate, proper and sound regulation of utilities in the public interest, which will, at the same time, encourage investment in utility securities and aid in a program of expansion and economic recovery in this Commonwealth.

Resolved that the Attorney General be requested to report the results of his study and investigation of the Public Utility law, together with such proposed legislation as he deems proper for consideration, to the next Regular Session of the General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Public Utilities.

The first section was read as follows:

Section 1 Section four of the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and eighty-nine) entitled "An Act relating to nonprofit corporations defining and providing for the organization merger consolidation and dissolution of such corporations conferring certain rights powers duties and immunities upon them and their officers and members prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers providing for the inclusion of certain existing corporations of the first class within the provisions of this act prescribing the terms and conditions upon which foreign nonprofit corporations may be admitted or may continue to do business within the Commonwealth conferring powers and imposing duties on the courts of common pleas prothonotaries of such courts recorders of deeds and certain State departments commissions and officers authorizing certain local public officers and State departments to collect fees for services required to be rendered by this act imposing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations" as amended by the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws one thousand nine hundred and eighty) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 4 Scope of Act This act does not relate to does not affect and does not apply to

(1) Cooperative associations whether for profit or not for profit

(2) Beneficial benevolent fraternal and fraternal benefit societies having a lodge system and a representative form of government or transacting any type of insurance whatsoever

(3) Any corporation whatsoever organized for any purpose or purposes involving pecuniary profit to its members or shareholders

(4) Any corporation which by the laws of this Commonwealth is subject to the supervision of the Department of Banking the Insurance Department the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission or the Water and Power Resources Board Provided however that corporations subject by law to the limited supervision of the Insurance Department may be incorporated under and in accordance with the provisions of this act for the purpose of establishing maintaining and operating a non-profit hospital plan whereby hospitalization may be provided to subscribers of such plan by any hospital with which such corporations have a contract for such hospitalization or for the purpose of establishing maintaining and operating a nonprofit medical service plan whereby medical services may be provided through any doctor of medicine registered with such corporation to subscribers of low income and their dependents

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. WINNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend section 1, page 4, line 11, by striking out at the end of the line after the word "nonprofit" the word "[medical]" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "healing arts"

Amend section 1, page 4, line 12, by striking out after the word "whereby" the word "[medical]" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "healing arts"

Amend section 1, page 4, line 13, by striking out after the word "any" the words "[doctor of medicine]" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "person"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise to oppose these amendments because the bill as it is is strictly a medical bill. We do not include all the healing arts. By this bill, which is a non-profit instrument, we are attemptng to give medicine to those who wish to have it, not all the forms of medicine, but just medical care. I therefore oppose these amendments and I hope the ladies and gentlemen of the House vote them down.

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise to oppose the amendments to this bill. This bill has been worked out very carefully, and while it may not be perfect, we feel it is a very good bill in its present form. We feel that to take in a broader scope at this time will defeat the purpose of the bill.

Since these bills have been introduced, there have been several groups who wished to be taken into the bill, but I submit to the members of the House that if these groups were taken in it wiuld defeat the purpose of the bill. In other words if we are going to take in the nursing profession, the dental profession, the osteopathic profession, the cost would be prohibitive. I would estimate roughly that the cost would be around six dollars or eight dollars per month, which would be too much of a burden on the great mass of people who would be benefitted by this bill. I would call to your attention that there isn't anything in this bill which will prohibit any of the members of the groups of which I have spoken from introducing a bill of their own in order that they may secure the same benefits under the provisions of a similar bill. There isn't anything in this bill to prohibit any of the others from doing the very same thing.

This is a trial to the extent that it has been worked out by the insurance department, and I submit to the members of this House that it would be actuarily impossible to take all of these groups into this bill. I do hope that the members of this House will consider it carefully and vote against any of these amendments, because as I previously stated, so doing would defeat the entire purpose of the bill.

There is one other thing I would like to call to your attention in regard to this bill and that is that this bill is voluntary. There isn't any compulsion about it whatsoever.

Another feature that I would remind you of is that under the provisions of this act, the relation of the individual and the physician remains the same as it has always been in private practice. This, ladies and gentlemen of this House, we feel is one of the very essential features which should be incorporated here. It will maintain the relation between the patient and the physician that has always existed.

I trust that you will consider these facts, remembering that these matters have been very carefully studied by not only one, but by large groups of medical men. It is an experiment and we feel that it will require at least two or three years to ascertain if it will work. It is the best plan, in our opinion, that can be worked out at the present time, and we believe and hope that at some future time we will be able to enlarge the scope of this service.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER declared the noes appeared to have it,

Whereupon, a division was called for, forty-seven members having voted in the affirmative and eighty-seven in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 4, line 11, by inserting after the word "medical" the following "or osteopathic"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 4, line 12, by inserting after the word "medical" the following: "or osteopathic"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page b, line 13, by inserting after the word "medicine" the following: "or osteopath or osteopathic surgeons"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker and members of the House; for the same reasons advanced before in our argument, we ask the House to vote down these amendments too. This is a non-profit medical plan. The medical group is advancing this idea so as to give everybody the option of entering this plan, and the freedom of choice of a medical man, because we are offering medical service. We are not offering any other type of service but medical service. I rise to oppose this motion for the same reasons advanced in the other argument and I hope the House will vote down these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

Mr. WINNER. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw the remainder of the amendments offered by me.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I wish to accede to the pleasure of the House and I therefore withdraw the remainder of my amendment.

The second section was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2 Said Act is hereby amended by adding at the end of Article two sectoin two hundred and nineteen to read as follows

Section 219 Special Procedure for Incorporation of Non-profit Medical Service Corporations

(a) Nine or more natural persons of full age and of either sex married or single all of whom are residents of the Commonwealth and citizens of the United States provided however that a majority of said persons are doctors of medicine may form a nonprofit corporation under the provisions of this act having for its purpose the establishing maintaining and operating of a nonprofit medical service plan whereby medical services may be provided to subscribers of low income who shall be determined as follows

1 In the case of persons without dependents

Any person in receipt of an income for the preceding Twenty-five weeks averaging not more than Thirty Dollars weekly

2 In the case of persons with one dependent

Any person in receipt of an income that together with the income of the dependent averaged during the preceding Twenty-five weeks not more than Forty-five Dollars weekly

3 In the case of persons with more than one dependent

Any person in receipt of an income that together with the income of all his income earning dependents averaged during the preceding Twenty-five weeks not more than Sixty Dollars weekly

(b) For the purposes of this act the terms stated below have the meanings assigned to them respectively unless the context otherwise requires

"Medical services" means the general and usual services rendered and care administered by doctors of medicine

"Persons with dependents" means any person who furnishes other persons with their chief support whether or not such dependent person is related to or living with him "Subscribers of Low Income" means persons of low income as determined in section 2 subsection (a) who subscribe to a nonprofit medical service corporation plan

(c) Whenever the articles of incorporation of any such corporation are filed with the Prothonotary he shall forthwith transmit the articles to the Department of Health Thereupon the department shall make a thorough investigation of the proposed corporation and the plan under which it proposes to operate and within thirty days shall certify upon the articles whether or not the proposed corporation meets with the approval of the department If the same shall be approved by the Department of Health the Prothonotary shall forthwith transmit the articles to the Insurance Department Thereupon the Insurance Department shall make a thorough investigation of the proposed corporation and the plan under which it proposes to operate and within thirty days shall certify upon the articles whether or not the proposed corporation meets with the approval of the department The court shall not approve such application unless and until the articles are returned by the Insurance Department and unless both the Department of Health and the Insurance Department shall have endorsed its approval thereon

(d) The articles of incorporation shall in addition to the information heretofore required by this article set forth the area in which it proposes to operate and the court shall be guided solely by public necessity and public interest and welfare in approving or disapproving the articles of incorporation

The third section was read as follows:

Section 3 Said act is hereby amended by adding at the end of article three section three hundred and seventeen to read as follows

Section 317 Requirements of Nonprofit Medical Service Corporations No nonprofit medical service corporation shall be incorporated under this act unless it has set up a minimum reserve of Twenty-five thousand dollars for the exclusive purpose of meeting the contractural obligations to its subscribers provided however that all or any part of said Twenty-five thousand dollars may be in the form of borrowed money to be repaid in whole or in part from surplus only when authorized by two-thirds of the duly constituted members of the board of directors of such corporation and approved by the Insurance Commissioner of the Commonwealth

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendrents will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 3, page 7, line 2 by striking out "$25,000" and inserting therein, "$5,000."

Amend Sec. 3, page 7, line 5, by striking out "$25,000" and inserting therein, "$5,000."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I might say that my amendment is sort of a minor one.

The bill sets up a minimum reserve of twenty-five thousand dollars. That amount is an arbitrary amount and it is an enormous sum. There isn't any reason why that sum should not be cut down to five thousand dollars. After all, we are considering something that is new, and we certainly want these non-profit medical corporations to function in various parts of the state. If they have a minimum sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, it is going to mean that there will probably be only one or two such organizations throughout the state. Medical organizations in the cities of probably Pittsburgh and Philadelphia may be able to scrape up that amount of money, but in the rural districts of this state, you cannot get a corporation started that will be able to scrape up twenty-five housand dollars. These doctors are not going to start building any hospitals, they are not going to start buying expensive medical tools with that amount of money, they just don't need it. All that they are going to give is free medical service, and all they should receive is the amount of money that is going to be alloted to these doctors in this special set-up for this service. I feel that five thousand dollars is too much, but if we do cut this minimum to five thousand dollars why we probably will be able to get a sufficient number of these organizations started throughout the state that will be able to do some good to the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, my colleague from Allegheny, I don't think willingly is giving you a wrong idea as to what this reserve of twenty-five thousand dollars means. This reserve of twenty-five thousand dollars is not for the protection of the medical profession, it is for the protection of the subscribers to this organization, which is optional. It is not compulsory and those figures have been arrived at by competent actuarial experts who figure that twenty-five thousand dollars is the minimum in order to protect the subscribers to this plan.

Many of you members know of insurance companies to whom people unfortunately have been paying money for years, and when they are injured or become sick that company is irresponsible. So, I submit to you ladies and gentlemen of this House that the reason for the twenty-five thousand dollars reserve instead of the five thousand dollars reserve is for the protection of the subscribers and not for the medical men who are connected with this organization.

I submit to you that it would work a greater hardship for the group that is applying for this non-profit corporation. As far as they are selfishly concerned, it would be very much easier for them to put up a reserve of ve thousand dollars than it would be to put up a reserve of twenty-five thousand dollars. For that reason, ladies and gentlemen of this House, I request the members of this House to vote against this amendment.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Hindman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HINDMAN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Washington, Dr. Hindman, does this association propose to be incorporated under the non-profit corporation act of this state?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, it does.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman what profit is allowed under that act as an incident to the business; twenty thousand dollars isn't it?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, there isn't any profit whatever.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, but if an organization should make twenty thousand dollars under the act as an incident to the business, would the gentleman consider it still to be a non-profit organization; that is, a twenty thousand dollar limit?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, twenty-five thousand dollars is the minimum.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, under the act, what does the act provide, the corporation act? Some of you lawyers may know.

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, under that act a reserve or minimum of twenty-five thousand dollars is required.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, that is under this bill?

Mr. HINDMAN. Yes.

Mr. HUNTLEY. But what does the non-profit corporation act allow you to make?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would not be able to answer that.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I was just wondering whether the act itself allows a profit. As I understand the act, the non-profit corporation act, it limits you to a certain amount, but some of these lawyers seem to think that is a mistake.

Mr. HINDMAN. I did not understand the question, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I understand that the act under which a corporation is organized as a non-profit association, would allow that association to make twenty thousand dollars as an incident to its business, but I am informed by some of the lawyers who are up in the matter that there is no limit?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I believe that that is correct.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, if there is no limit then it would be proper to put such a limit in this bill, is that the idea?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, the minimum amount of reserve is all there is. Being a non-profit corporation it makes no difference how much money might accumulate.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Washington how he expects to make up this twenty-five thousand dollars?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, that will have to be put up either by the individuals or by a bonding company, and that money must be in reserve before we can organize.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman, where does he expect to get the money for the reserve?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would inform the gentleman that I don't believe he understood me. I answered that previously. It would be up to the nine incorporators to furnish that money either through a bonding company or in cash.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I was wondering whether those nine incorporators would ask for a license to sell liquor in order to make that profit, in order to make up that twenty-five thousand dollars?

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules the question out of order.

Mr. HUNTLEY. I yield to the ruling of the Chair.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Hindman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HINDMAN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Washington, since this is a non-profit corporation, who is going to lend twenty-five thousand dollars to the corporation?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Allegheny, I thought I made that clear in answer to the interrogation of Mr. Huntley. It is up to the incorporators to get that money. As I stated before, they can either put it up in cash or it could be put up by a bonding company.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman from Washington name one source where he could borrow twenty-five thousand dollars for a non-profit corporation?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, in case the corporators would not be able to either furnish a bond or the individuals put up this twenty-five thousand dollars in cash, the organization would not be consummated. That is absolutely a necessary part of incorporation.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, in other words, the gentleman from Washington states that if a non-profit corporation attempted to organize and cannot scrape up twenty-five thousand dollars, there would be no medical corporation?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, under this bill that is true.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, a while ago the gentleman from Washington stated that the corporation would require twenty-five thousand dollars for the protection of the subscribers. Now, as I understand it, the subscribers are going to contribute to the corporation from the very beginning by paying some sort of an amount every month. All that the subscriber wants is medical service. What other protection would you give him?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, no other protection, just medical care.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman mean that it takes twenty-five thousand dollars to start with in order to give the subscriber medical attention?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I made that very clear before I think. The twenty-five thousand dollars is not for the protection of the doctors, it is not for the protection of the corporation, it is for the protection of the subscribers, just the same as insurance companies are required to keep a legal reserve, so under this act a reasonable amount of at least twenty-five thousand dollars is required in order that the subscribers will be taken care of by the corporation.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, I wish to inquire of the gentleman from Washington whether it is not a fact that the only reason for the reserve for insurance companies is for the payment of claims?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, that is certainly not the idea of this bill. I would inform the gentleman from Allegheny that it is a non-profit sharing corporation. It is not possible for the corporation to receive any financial reward out of it or declare any dividends. This reserve is merely for the protection of the subscribers. As I stated a while ago, I think all the members of this House are familiar with individuals who have gone into group insurance, only to find that when they had an opportunity to receive benefits that the company was not financially responsible. That, ladies and gentlemen of this House is the reason why this reserve is required, and I venture that the Insurance Commissioner of the state of Pennsylvania would not permit this corporation to be organized if they did not have a substantial reserve.

Mr. TRONZO. I wish to thank the gentleman from Washington.

Mr. Speaker and members of this House, the gentleman from Washington has failed to give one good reason why the minimum reserve should not be cut down to five thousand dollars. All that I have managed to get from him by my interrogation is that a minimum sum of twenty-five thousand dollars is required to protect subscribers. The subscribers do not want any dividends, all they want is medical service and that is all they are going to get. This reserve is not essential yet it is enormous. It does not make for decent progressive medical service in Pennsylvania, and my amendment to cut the reserve to five thousand dollars should be accepted.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, to preside.

MR. ACHTERMAN IN THE CHAIR

The fourth section was read as follows:

Section 4 Said act is hereby amended by adding at the end of article five section five hundred and ten to read as follows

Section 510 Board of Directors of Nonprofit Medical Service Corporations The business of every nonprofit medical service corporation shall be managed by at least nine natural persons of full age and of either sex all of whom shall be residents of the Commonwealth and citizens of the United States provided however that a majority of said persons shall at all times be doctors of medicine

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Hindman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HINDMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Washington, Dr. Hindman, whether this bill would not set up a corporation of a few select doctors who would be entitled to participate in this corporation, or this project?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Lancaster, I believe that is a very pertinent question, and I am quite pleased to be able to answer it by saying that any reputable physician in any county where such a corporation is formed is eligible, and that the relation of the physician to his patient remains the same as it is in private practice.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman whether the doctors who are not members of this group are entitled to participate and receive benefits therefrom?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, they are.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman under what circumstances they are entitled to participate?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, doctors do not become members of this group. It is really the public, the subscribers who become members, and as far as physicians are concerned, any regularly duly licensed physician in any community in the confines of the state of Pennsylvania can register and his patients can call on him just the same as they have always done.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman to say that if a patient desires medical service, the patient is a member of this group and secures this service through his own family doctor regardless of whether or not the doctor is a member of this group?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, he has the option of joining this association or not joining it. He can employ the family physician just the same as heretofore.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, if a patient employs his family physician, would he not have to pay his family physician out of his own pocket if his family physician were not registered with the corporation?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, he would not if he were a reputable man and was registered with this corporation.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire whether health insurance companies who write health insurance, group insurance and the like require their members upon becoming sick to go to any particular doctor or group of doctors who are specifically sponsored by the company?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, it is my impression that they do. That is the difference between many of the health insurance companies and this proposed corporation. It gives you free choice of your medical attendant.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, am I to understand from the gentleman from Washington if I am insured with health insurance, that I must go to the particular doctor designated by the insurance company to receive my medical service?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, that is true in many cases, but not under our act, as you understand.

Mr. ALSPACH. I am aware of that. Can the gentleman give me an illustration of any companies with which he is familiar which require that you go to any particular doctor to receive service?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I have known of such companies. I don't know that I, at the moment, can name one, but I do know that some of the insurance companies furnishing health insurance have designated physicians in the communities, just the same as they have designated physicians to make their examinations. I can give you a number of cases where insurance companies have designated medical examiners, and I think that is what they do with their health insurance.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman not confusing industrial physicians, physicians hired by industrial plants to treat accident cases arising from work, with this present situation?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, this has no connection in any way with such organizations or private companies.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I should like to further inquire whether if I chose to have a person who is a graduate of an osteopathic institution treat me could that osteopathic doctor register with this organization and treat me, or would he have to be a doctor of medicine?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, this is only medical insurance.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, would there be any provision under this act to allow nursing expenses to be cared for?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, as I stated before in my previous talk, it will not. This is to be purely medical service.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to call your attention to what seem to be inconsistencies in Acts 685 and 686. I refer to page 4 of House Bill No. 685, Printers No. 228, where it says,

> "Medical services may be provided through any doctor of medicine registered with such corporations."

And then in bill No. 686 it says,

> "A non-profit medical service corporation shall not provide medical service for its subscribers otherwise than through a doctor of medicine."

Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Washington.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether this section of bill No. 686 would not be in conflict, or seemingly in conflict with bill No. 685, which says that service shall be rendered only through doctors who have registered in this non-profit corporation.

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I don't think it would be.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, in reading this section of bill No. 686, I notice it says:

> "A non-profit medical service corporation shall not provide medical service for its subscribers otherwise than through a doctor of medicine."

It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that if that is the intent of the drafters, or the intent of the sponsors of this bill, to carry out the full intent and purpose of the drafters and sponsors of these bills, this section in bill No. 686 should be amended to specifically state or otherwise than doctors of medicine registered to do business under this particular act.

It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that there is a valid ground to question just what is meant by this act. In view of this and some other things, I would request the sponsor of this bill to let it go over for a day or so in order to iron out this thing. I do not think there need be any particular amount of undue haste, Mr. Speaker. I should like this bill to go over for a day to get it ironed out. These are rather important bills, as well as other legislation that we have been discussing, and they should be carefully considered and compared. These two bills should be compared, placed side by side, to see that there are no discrepancies or inconsistencies. That is my reason for the request that the bill go over.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill has been on the second reading calendar for about fourteen days. We have gone over this bill with the osteopaths, the nursing associations, the dental associations; we have gone over all of its different aspects in the past two weeks, and the House has had plenty of time to think over the bill. I would like to comply with the request of the gentleman from the other side but in view of the length of time that has been consumed and the amount of work that has been done on this bill, and in view of the importance of this bill, I think that it should be voted upon at this time. As you well know, it is a non-profit corporation and there is no compulsion whatsoever so far as forced medical insurance is concerned. It is strictly non-profit and an optional bill, and considering the length of time it has been on the calendar and on second reading, which has been ample time for amendment, and in view of these meetings with the other groups of the healing arts, I feel this bill has been given due consideration by this House and should be passed on to the Senate.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Hindman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HINDMAN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, on page four, section 219, lines twenty-four to twenty-six inclusive:

> "Having for its purpose the establishing, maintaining and operating of a non-profit medical service plan whereby medical service may be provided to subscribers of low income shall be determined as follows."

Will the gentleman answer me, does he consider a man earning fifteen dollars a week as having a low income?

Mr. HINDMAN. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman, why was he not included in the bill?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, because we do not feel that he can pay for it. Of course, it is optional.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, then the bill is not designed to help wage earners in the low income class?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, it is.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, if a man earning fifteen dollars a week is in the low income class and is not included in the bill, how does the gentleman reconcile his statement?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Blair, the bill has a limit on wage earners of sixty dollars a week where he has a family, and thirty dollars a week for individuals.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman cite me figures as to how many men in a given community today are making thirty dollars a week?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, it would be impossible for me to do that. I think the gentleman from Blair should appreciate that that would be like counting the sands of the sea.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman state whether it is not a matter of common knowledge that most wage-earners, or the average wage-earner in any given community today, is making less than thirty dollars a week and has a family?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would state to the gentleman from Blair that thirty dollars a week would be the maximum for individuals. Those who are earning over thirty dollars a week would not be eligible, but those earning under thirty dollars a week are eligible.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, may I then ask the gentleman from Washington whether a man earning fifteen dollars a week would be included in this group?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, sure he would.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, how would the gentleman reconcile his last statement with his previous statement?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I did not understand what the gentleman from Blair was getting at.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Hindman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HINDMAN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know whether this bill is designed for the interest of the medical profession or whether it is designed to administer to the common people?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am very glad indeed to answer the gentleman from Lancaster by saying that it is designed primarily for the interest of the common people.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know whether the doctor's interests are not also the interests of the common people?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I certainly would say so very fervently.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether nurses have the interest of the common people at heart?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, unquestionably they do.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether the dentists have the interests of the common people at heart?

Mr. HINDMAN. Undoubtedly they have.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, how about the osteopaths?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, we hope that they have.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to remark that there seems to be some kind of animosity between the medical profession and the osteopathic profession. I desire further to interrogate the gentleman from Washington.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I am wondering whether the doctor has any information available as to how the actual medical cost of the doctors' fees and bills, compares with the general cost of sickness or convalescence or whatever it may be. For instance, what is the proportion of the doctor's bill compared to the hospital bill, to the nurse's bill and the like?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would say generally it is the lowest. I might suggest to the gentleman that medical men are the last ones to be paid.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know, if the medical cost is the lowest, why should not some scheme be set up in which the greatest part of the cost is likewise borne for the benefit of these people?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, in response to that question, I might say that there is already a hospital plan, with which I presume you are all familiar, whereby the subscriber pays three cents a day, I believe it is, and is entitled to hospitalization.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether the doctor is considering including hospitalization in his plans?

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker, we have not, because as I have stated previously, this is purely a medical bill and is so intended. It may be that after the plan has been worked out, that even that could be combined with it.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that there seems to be considerable opposition to this bill, and in view of the fact that there seems to be an honest difference of opinion, I think this bill ought to be recommitted for a public hearing to find out whether there is any lack of harmony between the medical profession, the osteopathic profession, the nursing profession, the dental profession and the like. The bill should be recommitted to the Committee on Health and Sanitation for a public hearing and I so move.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SERRILL. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, as chairman of this Committee, I might say that this bill has been gone over pretty thoroughly in Committee. We have also been in contact with the osteopaths, dentists, and nurses, and I can't see where a hearing would be of any advantage or would give us any more light. I object to having it returned to the Committee.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is another one of the medical bills that has been thoroughly studied, has had the scrutiny and approval of all persons concerned and comes before this House about as clear as mud.

Mr. Speaker, I have listened to the discussion. I thought I knew something about the bill before the interrogation began, but as a result of the interrogation I find that I know very little about the bill and I haven't heard anybody on the floor who seems to be any better informed than I am. I presume the measure contains the provisions that actually protect the perseon who receives service, which is supposed to be somewhere around two dollars and a half a month, or something else. I believe since this association has a reserve this bill should also carry some definite limitation as to the amount that the person receiving the service should pay.

Therefore, I am in agreement with the gentleman from Lancaster that this bill should go back to the committee for the purpose of enabling the sponsor to find out what in fact it is all about.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am sorry that the gentleman from Cambria did not have the opportunity of being a member of this House in the 1937 Session, for had he had that opportunity he would have then become acquainted with the hospital bill and this bill which is now before the House for consideration.

In the past ten or fifteen years the growing burden of medical cost has been one that has concerned the people of the community to a very great extent and particularly the smaller income groups. In the case of hospitalization it has been ascertained that an individual receiving a small income is not in a position to bear the exorbitant cost that he is exposed to in modern hospitals, without placing an undue burden upon the individual's income. As a result, in the 1937 session, in order to alleviate the lower or medium income group from the attendant cost of hospitalization, there was passed by this House, practically unanimously, what is known as the "three cents a day hospital plan" whereby hospitalization can be secured by the payment of three cents a day by individuals and, for various other amounts, to include the entire family. I understand that the medical profession, becoming cognizant of its social responsibilities, is attempting by this bill to some extent to carry the burden of the social cost of medicine. It is very singular that those on relief, those who are wholly unemployed and those who are entirely without funds do not need this bill nor do they need the hospitalization bill because the state-aided hospitals are so equipped that individuals who are entirely without funds receive hospitalization entirely free. This bill provides the same relief to individuals who have some money but who cannot bear the entire cost of medication or hospitalization. This bill says to the individual who has some resources, the individual who would not be susceptible to admission to a hospital as a free patient and thereby receive free medication, the individual who has a certain amount of financial backing, "You have an opportunity to join a non-profit organization whereby the social cost of medication to those in the moderate or low income groups can be socialized to the extent that that cost will be borne by the individuals who are members of the organization."

Actuarial studies have been made to determine just what is necessary to be contributed by the subscribers to this particular nonprofit organization, and those studies have indicated that it will cost approximately two dollars and fifty cents a month a member, of if the member decides to have his entire family included in the non-profit corporation, he can have that service for his entire family for approximately three dollars and fifty cents a month.

The gentleman might say, "Well, why is that not written in the bill." It was to that particular question that I think the remarks of the gentleman from Cambria were directed. That is not written in the bill for the simple reason that the rates of any insurance company are not written in any bill. The rates of insurance companies depend upon the experience that the particular risk may be exposed to, and we are indulging here in an entirely new experience. The actuarial studies, as I have stated, have indicated the necessity for the payment of a crtain rate. Nevertheless only by actual experience will they be able to determine whether or not those rates are sufficient to carry the burden that these particular non-profit organizations are going to bear.

As I understand this bill, from my reading of it, it will entitle any individual having an income of thirty dollars a week to join this particular non-profit organization. For that membership and for the payment of the dues, that individual or his family, if they are subscribers, will receive medication, which medication will be paid for by the non-profit organization out of the accumulation of subscriptions. Any individual who is a member of that non-profit organization may select any medical practitioner of his own particular choosing.

Objection is made to the fact that the osteopaths are not included. The answer to that is this: if an individual is inclined toward the practice of osteopathy for the cure of a particular ill, the osteopaths undoubtedly should organize a non-profit organization that would apply to osteopathy.

The further question was raised, why not have the dentists included in this bill? There I can say to the membership of this House that dental organizations could not be included in the bill because there isn't any possible actuarial study that would indicate just how large an expenditure would be required to supply continual dental service to subscribers to this particular non-profit organization. Studies by the dental associations themselves have indicated that each and every individual on the average in a community requires anywhere from fifty dollars to seventy-five dollars, to a hundred dollars worth of dental work in order to put their oral cavity in the position whereby it would be brought up to normal. Bridgework and the high investment in gold required in bridgework, further complicates the situation and makes it impossible to make an actuarial study.

This bill was designed by the medical men in order to give to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the low income group the opportunity to prevent the hazard of sickness, and the opportunity to utilize medical men of their own choosing. No other solution is sought by this bill. No highly involved complicated system is presented to this House. It is on all fours with the system that has been established as the result of the passage of the hospitalization bill. This problem has been adequately studied and I recommend to the membership of the House its present enactment.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I don't believe any member of this House, after hearing what has been said about these bills, would dare to vote "no" on their passage. The bills are correct and proper bills. They were drawn so as to afford a comprehensive medical plan to the people of Pennsylvania who come under the purview of such a plan, and who would, if they so desired, be able to take advantage of it.

However, this bill has complications and I doubt if any member of this House today could give us an accurate and proper digest of what these bills mean either from an actuarial standpoint or from a social standpoint. Actuaries are really the only people that I think nobody can understand, and if any member gets on the floor and says that actuarial figures are thus and so I defy him to take these actuarial figures apart and prove them to any member of the House.

I feel also, Mr. Speaker, that if a public hearing were held on these bills by the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation that we ought to, out of respect for our own Insurance Committee, have the Insurance Committee invited to sit in and deliberate on these bills, because these bills are not only medical bills or health bills they are insurance bills and I think the Insurance Committee should at least be given the respect of being consulted and the result of their experience and their suggestions inserted, so that we may have a really comprehensive bill. If we have a real bill I will be the first to vote "aye" for it, but I can't in good conscience vote "aye" the way the bill stands today. I, therefore, support the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Alspach, in his motion to recommit this bill to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from York.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from York used the term "medication," or "cost of medication". I would like to have the gentleman from York point out where in the bill "medication" or "cost of medication" is referred to?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the bill applies to medical service, and of course the gentleman from Cambria realizes, and I am also taking this opportunity to reply in my answer to the question raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia, namely, that with the passage of this bill—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am interrogating the gentleman from York, and the gentleman from York is proceding to reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, my generosity extends further than from Cambria County to Philadelphia County, in fact I think I can answer the gentleman's interrogation by answering the problems of the entire state of Pennsylvania.

The word "medication" that I have utilized in my feeble efforts on this bill, appears in the act in the form of "medical service". The contract that will be entered into between the non-profit corporation established by this bill and the individuals who subscribe to this particular non-profit organization, is a contract that must, according to the terms of the bill, meet with the approval of the Insurance Commissioner. In all such contracts the terms will be definitely defined, the service will be definitely set forth, the problem that the gentleman from Cambria is concerned with will be definitely answered under the supervision of the Insurance Department, and the actuarial studies that by necessity must be made will be made under the supervision of our own Insurance Department.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think the gentleman from York has given the House a very good reason why this bill should go back to the Committee.

It contains the words "medical services", a phrase that may mean anything or nothing. It may mean service in a hospital, it may mean attention at home. He has ventured the opinion further that under the rules of the Insurance Dpartment "medical service", might be construed to mean medication, including medicine. If the Insurance Department sits in, as they suggest, it is the business of this House to give the Insurance Department a yardstick with which to measure the service which the physician is to give. I call the attention of the House to the fact that the physician isn't contributing any money. so he does not need to be interested in reserves and all that sort of thing. He is contributing service, the man on the street is contributing the money, and this bill as it is drafted does not protect the man on the street, because it does not guarantee him anything at any price.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I want to thank the gentleman from York for his very able exposition of this bill. I want to say to you that when people say the doctors are not contributing anything, they are just talking nonsense, because the doctors are contributing service and time and money to a class of people who under this bill would be able to pay for it themselves, and who would do so, if we provide means. Furthermore, when any great profession is ready to come forward with a bill of their own devising to enable them to keep up with the times, thereby offering the services they have at a price which people can afford, and not wait until such time that public resentment may break the barriers and enact legislation which is obstructive in character, when that profession comes forward with a non-partisan bill of this kind, sponsored by three doctors, two of whom are Democrats and one a Republican, I believe we ought by all means to give that profession every chance to perform the service it desires to perform at a reasonable cost.

If there are other groups or other professions who feel that they would like to do the same thing, then I say to the members of the House, let them bring forward their own bill and not try to ride along on the coat tails of our hard-working doctors. By all means we should refuse to recommit this bill, we should refuse to amend it. Let us pass it here in the House of Representatives, because we have one profession with us apparently willing to be in step with the times, that has devised its own bill and has introduced it. It is up to us to pass it and give them a chance. They will be able to work out statistics for it when it has had actual experience. I think all these things can be ironed out, the difficulties can be worked out later. The doctors want this bill. Let us give them a chance to try the thing out. I, therefore, oppose the motion to recommit this bill.

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as a member of one of the other professions to which reference has ben made, I rise to support the bill offered by the medical profession.

As a member of the dental profession, I do not feel that we as dentists have to ride on anybody's coat tails. The gentleman from McKean says there is some opposition to the bill from the other professions. I wish to state to the members of the House, that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McGarrity, and myself, are co-sponsors of two bills which include all of the healing arts professions in a plan similar to this. Personally, I want every profession to stand on its own feet and if, as has been stated, the various professions were trying to attach themselves to this bill, we would certainly have protested against the bill before this time. I feel that if the medical profession is going to give the people of Pennsylvania a service and they do not wish to unite with the rest of the healing arts professions, then they are entitled to their own bill and their own service. I as a member of the dental profession wish to give them that right and we in turn will try to pass the bill which will give us a similar right.

I therefore ask the members of the House to support the medical bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the noes appeared to have it,

Whereupon, a division was called for, twenty-eight members having voted in the affirmative and one hundred twenty in the negative the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The fifth and sixth sections and title were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 5 Said act is hereby amended by adding at the end of Article ten section ten hundred and five to read as follows

Section 1005 Dissolution No nonprofit medical service corporation subject to the provisions of this act shall be dissolved in the manner provided by law except with the prior approval of the Insurance Department No Court of Common Pleas shall enter a degree dissolving such a corporation unless and until a certificate of approval by the Insurance Department is filed with such court Any dissolution or liquidation of a corporation subject to the provisions of this act shall be under the supervision of the Insurance Commissioner who shall have all powers with respect thereto granted to him under existing laws governing the dissolution or liquidation of insurance companies

Section 6 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

(e) No contract by or on behalf of any nonprofit medical service corporation shall provide for the payment of any cash or other material benefit by that corporation to a subscriber on account of illness or injury nor be in any way related to the payment of any such benefit by any other agency

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend sec. 9, page 10, lines 6 to 11, by striking out all the words in said lines

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in going over this measure, I was absolutely surprised when I found that there was a section on page ten that does not belong in this bill. I am going to read it to you again, and please try to digest the meaning of these words:

> "(e) No contract by or on behalf of any nonprofit medical service corporation shall provide for the payment of any cash or other material benefit by that corporation to a subscriber on account of illness or injury nor be in any way related to the payment of any such benefit by any other agency."

As far as I can see this subsection does not belong in the bill and is actually no part of the measure. Surely a non-profit corporation is well enough regulated now through other sections of this bill. We will have the Insurance Department down on the neck of the nonprofit corporation along with the Health Department. This section will so tighten the grip on this non-profit corporation that they will barely be able to breathe.

There is a certain sort of set-up that I would like to see in the state under this measure. I would like to see a series of non-profit medical corporations set up and I know that in some sections of the state you would get a conservative corporation that would include the general line in the practice of medicine, and in other sections of the state you would get a progressive corporation that would probably want to sprout out, progress with the times and actually spend all of their time in an effort to do something for the masses of our people who are in need of medical attention. With this section in this bill they will not be able to do that. The medical association of the State of Pennsylvania will keep a throttle hold on every non-profit corporation that will sprout into existence and I do not believe that is fair. For that reason this section should be eliminated from the bill.

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, briefly in answer to the statement of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Tronzo, I would say that if we were to incorporate the amendment he suggests it would absolutely kill the purpose of this bill. We have repeatedly insisted that all we hope to do in this bill, is to provide medical care. Therefore I ask the members of this House to vote this amendment down.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The tenth section was read as follows:

Section 10 Limitation of Subscriber's Contract A nonprofit medical service corporation may as a condition precedent to entering into a contract with an applicant or group of applicants for medical service

(a) require a physical examination of the applicant and of each of his dependents if any and proof of his or their substantial freedom from any disease or condition requiring immediate medical service or likely to require it within the next twelve (12) months before a contract becomes effective or

(b) require a waiting period after a contract is entered into and before the subscriber is entitled to medical service or

(c) require that the subscriber or someone on his behalf shall pay the stated fee or fees for medical services in the case of any given illness or injury or other condition requiring medical service before becoming entitled to treatment under the terms of the contract

On the question?

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend sec. 10, page 10, lines 20 and 21, by striking out the words "or likely to require it within the next twelve (12) months"

Amend sec. 10, page 10, line 22, by inserting after the word "period" the following "of not more than seven days"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, kindly note that in section 10, under the heading "Limitation of Subscriber's Contract" it reads:

> "A nonprofit medical service corporation may as a condition precedent to entering into a contract with an applicant or group of applicants for medical service, (a) require a physical examination of the applicant and of each of his dependents if any, and proof of his or their substantial freedom from any disease or condition requiring immediate medical service,"—and note this "or likely to require it within the next twelve months."

Just imagine "likely to require medical service within the next twelve months." Would you not think that that was much too much time? Don't the physicians want to take any chance whatsoever with the people that are medically in need? I think that time should be deleted from the bill. It certainly has no merit and cannot stand on its own feet. If the doctors claim that they are out for humanity sake, for the sake of humanity they should not have this section in the bill at all.

Mr. HINDMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in reply to the gentleman from Allegheny, I would just say to the members of this House that if we were to do as Mr. Tronzo suggests in this amendment we would establish the precedent of an individual having his house insured while it was on fire. There is no intention to take advantage in any way of these individuals. I submit to the members of the House, you know the medical profession well enough to know that that is not their way of doing things, but, ladies and gentlemen, the insurance actuaries insist on something that has a semblance of ordinary procedure which must be carried out. That does not mean that an individual who has an acute ailment will not be taken care of, but it does mean that an individual who has chronic tuberculosis, an individual who has any number of chronic diseases such as cancer or a number of other diseases that I could mention, they are not eligible for this insurance.

I submit to you, ladies and gentleman of the House, it is not a matter that concerns the medical profession particularly, but it concerns the fundamentals of insurance that the actuaries have worked out.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to this section?

It was agreed to.

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 596, as follows:

An Act authorizing the annexation to an adjacent borough of a part of a township of the first class situate in the same county not exceeding one hundred (100) acres in area which is situate within the watershed of and drains into the borough and regulating the procedure pertaining thereto and providing for the adjustment and apportionment of the assets and liabilities of said townships

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Hereafter any borough may by ordinance annex a part of an adjacent township of the first class situate in the same county the area of which does not exceed one hundred (100) acres and which is situate within the watershed of and drains into such adjacent borough upon petition signed by a majority of the freeholders and by the owners of three-fourths of the assessed valuation of real estate of the territory proposed to be annexed

Section 2 Notice of the intended application shall be given to the burgess and council of the annexing borough and to the commissioners or supervisors of the township in which the petitioners reside Notice of such application shall also be given in two daily newspapers of general circulation in the county in which the annexing borough is situate at least once a week for three successive weeks immediately preceding the presentation of the petition

Section 3 The petition shall be signed by a majority of the freeholders and by the owners of three-fourths of the assessed valuation of the real estate of the territory proposed to be annexed The petition shall set forth a description of the territory to be annexed and be accompanied by a plot showing the courses and distances of the boundaries of the annexing borough before and after the proposed annexation

Section 4 A certified copy of the ordinance together with a description and a plot showing the courses and distances of the boundaries of the annexing borough before and after such proposed annexation shall be filed in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the county in which such borough is located A notice of such filing shall also be filed in the Office of the County Commissioners of the county in which said annexing borough is located Thereupon the territory proposed to be annexed shall be a part of the borough except when any ordinance or plot is filed in the office of the Clerk of the Court of Quarter Sessions within two months immediately preceding a general municipal or primary election in which case the property proposed to be annexed shall not become a part of the borough until the day succeeding such election

Section 5 Where a part of any township of the first class is annexed by a borough the township officers and the council of the annexing borough shall make a just and proper adjustment and apportionment of the assets and liabilities of said township When making such adjustment and apportionment the annexing borough shall share in a division of the assets and indebtedness of the township in the same proportion that the last preceding assessed valuation of the territory annexed bears to the total last preceding valuation of the entire township The adjustment and apportionment as made shall be reduced to writing in proper form and be duly executed and acknowledged by the proper officers of said township and annexing borough and be filed in the office of the Clerk of the Court of Quarter Sessions of the county in which said borough is located

Section 6 In the event the council of the annexing borough and said township authorities cannot make such amicable adjustment of the assets and liabilities of the township in compliance with this act within sixty days after such annexation then the council of said borough or a proper officer of the township may present a petition to the Court of Quarter Sessions of the county in which the annexing borough is located whereupon the Court shall appoint three disinterested commissioners residents and taxpayers of the county in which the borough is situate not residing in the borough nor in the township who after hearing notice of which shall be given to the borough and township interested as the Court shall direct shall make report to the Court making an apportionment and adjustment between the township and the borough of all the assets and liabilities of the township said report to state the amount if any that shall be due and payable by the borough to the township or by the township to the borough as well as the amount of indebtedness if any that shall be assumed by the borough or by the township or by both of them

Section 7 The commissioners shall give the borough and the township at least five days' notice of the filing of their report and unless exceptions are filed thereto by the borough or by the township within thirty days after filing thereof the same shall be confirmed by the court absolutely and any sum awarded by said report to the borough or township charged therewith and the amount of debt if any apportioned to any borough or township shall be a legal and valid claim against such borough or township charged therewith any property real or personal given and adjudged to the borough or the township shall become and be the property of the borough or the township to whichever one the same is given and adjudged and upon such report being confirmed such claim or indebtedness charged against any borough or against any township may be collected in the same manner as a judgment is collected against any borough or township Such commissioners shall be allowed five dollars per day for each day actually spent by them in the performance of their duties together with their acutal necessary expenses All costs and expenses of such proceedings shall be apportioned by the Court to and between the borough and the township as it shall deem proper

In case exceptions are filed to the report of such commissioners the Court shall dispose of the same taking testimony therein if deemed advisable and the decision of the Court thereon shall be final and binding on the borough and township unless an appeal is taken within thirty days to the Superior or Supreme Court as in other cases

Section 8 The following Acts and parts of Acts and their amendments are hereby repealed so far as they relate to the annexation by an adjacent borough of a part of a township of the first class located in the same county and not exceeding one hundred (100) acres in area that is situate within the watershed of and drains into said borough

The Act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws Two thousand eight hundred three) entitled "An act providing a method of annexation of townships of the first class and parts thereof to cities and boroughs and regulating the proceedings pertaining thereto"

The Act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws six hundred twenty) entitled "An act requiring the consent of the electors of a township of the first class when such township or any part thereof is to be annexed to a contiguous borough or city"

All other acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed

Section 9 This Act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section nine of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 207) entitled "An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therefrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims under other and prior acts of Assembly" as amended by section three of the act approved the fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (P. L. 733) and as amended in part by the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1212) and by the act approved the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2609) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 9 Claims for taxes water rents or rates lighting rates power rates and sewer rates must be filed in the court of common pleas of the county in which the property is situated on or before the [last day of the third calendar] first Monday of May of the first year after that in which the taxes or rates are first payable and all such claims which were first payable in the year one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight or prior thereto which have not hertofore been filed shall be filed within ninety days after this amendment becomes effective [and] All other municipal claims must be filed in said court within six months from the time the work was done in front of the particular property where the charge against the property is assessed or made at the time the work is authorized within six months after the completion of the improvement where the assessment is made by the municipality upon all the properties after the completion of the improvement and within six months after confirmation by the court where confirmation is required the certificate of the surveyor engineer or other officer supervising the improvement filed in the proper office being conclusive of the time of completion thereof but he being personally liable to anyone injured by any false statement therein Where a borough lies in more than one county any such claim filed by such borough may be filed in each of such counties In case the real estate benefited by the improvement is sold before the municipal claim is filed the date of completion in said certificate shall determine the liability for the payment of the claim as between buyer and seller unless otherwise agreed upon or as above set forth The legal rate of interest shall be collectible on all municipal claims from the date of the completion of the work after it is filed as a lien

Claims for taxes may be in the form of written or typewritten lists showing the names of the taxable and descriptions of the properties against which said claims are filed together with the amount of the taxes due such municipality Such lists may be filed on behalf of a single municipality or they may cover the unpaid taxes due any two or more municipalities whose taxes are collected by the same tax collector provided the amounts due each municipality are separately shown All tax claims heretofore filed in such form are hereby ratified confirmed and made valid subsisting liens as of the date of their original filing

A number of years' taxes or rates of different kinds if payable to the same plaintiff may be included in one claim Municipal claims shall likewise be filed within said period where any appeal is taken from the assessment for the recovery of which such municipal claim is filed In such case the lien filed shall be in the form hereinafter provided except that it shall set forth the amount of the claim as an undetermined amount the amount thereof to be determined by the appeal taken from the assessment upon which such municipal claim is based pending in a certain court (referring to the court and the proceeding where such appeal is pending) Upon the filing of such municipal claim the claim shall be indexed by the prothonotary upon the judgment index and upon the locality index of the court and the amount of the claim set forth therein as an undetermined amount

If final judgment is not obtained upon such appeal within five years from the filing of such municipal claim the claimant in the lien shall within such period of five years file a suggestion of nonpayment in the form hereinafter set forth which shall have the effect of continuing the lien thereof for a further period of five years from the date of filing such suggestion Such municipal claim shall be revived in a similar manner during each recurring period of five years thereafter until final judgment is entered upon said appeal and the undetermined amount of such municipal claim is fixed in the manner hereinafter provided

When the final judgment is obtained upon such appeal the court in which said municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed in such claim at the amount determined by the final judgment upon said appeal which shall bear interest from the date of the verdict upon which final judgment was entered and thereafter the amount of said claim shall be the sum thus fixed Proceedings upon said municipal claim thereafter shall be as in other cases

Where on final judgment upon said appeal it appears that no amount is due upon the assessment for the recovery of which such claim is filed the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order striking such municipal claim from the record and charge the costs upon such claim to the plaintiff in the claim filed

Where such appeal is discontinued the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed at the amount of the original assessment which shall bear interest from the date that such assessment was originally payable and thereafter the amount of such claim shall be the sum thus fixed

Section 2 Section fifteen of said act as amended by the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1001) and by the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 2808) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 15 [Such tax municipal or other claim] Such claims for taxes water rates lighting rates power rates and sewer rates if filed within the period aforesaid and all such claims which have heretofore been filed shall remain a lien upon said properties for a period of five years from the date they were or shall be actually entered as a lien or from the date such lien was last revived extended or continued unless fully paid and satisfied or compromised and satisfied as provided by law within said period and such liens shall not be revived extended or continued beyond such period except in cases hereinafter provided for All municipal claims other than for taxes or for said rates if filed within the period [aforesaid] hereinbefore provided for such claims shall remain a lien upon said properties until fully paid and satisfied Provided however That either a suggestion of nonpayment and an averment of default in the form hereinafter provided be filed either before or after judgment on the scire facias or else a writ of scire facias in the form herein provided be issued to revive the same within each period of five years following (a) the date on which said claim was filed (b) the date on which a writ of scire facias was issued thereon (c) the date on which any judgment was entered therein (d) the date on which a previous suggestion of nonpayment and default was filed thereon or (e) the date on which a judgment of revival was obtained thereon

The suggestion and averment shall be in the following form under the caption of the claim

And now ..... the claimant by .....its solicitor or controller suggests of record that the above claim is still due and owing to the claimant and avers that the owner is still in default for nonpayment thereof The prothonotary is hereby directed to enter this suggestion and averment on the municipal lien or the proper docket of the claim and also to index it upon the judgment index and on the locality index of the court for the purpose of continuing the lien of the claim

Such suggestion and averment shall be signed by or have stamped thereon a facsimile signature of the solicitor or chief executive officer of the claimant except in counties having a controller in which case it shall be signed by or have stamped thereon a facsimile signature of the controller The prothonotary shall docket and index the suggestion and averments directed therein and for such services shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar to be taxed and collected as other costs in the claim The filing and indexing of such suggestion and averment within five years of filing the claim or the issuing of any writ of scire facias thereon or of any judgment thereon or of the filing of any prior suggestion and averment of default shall have the same force and effect for the purposes of continuing and prescribing the lien of the claim as though a writ of scire facias had been issued or a judgment or judgment of revival had been obtained within such period Provided That no writ of levari facias shall be issued upon a claim for the purpose of exposing the property liened to sheriff's sale except after a judgment shall have been duly obtained upon the claim as provided in this section and such judgment must have been obtained within five years of the issuance of the levari facias Whenever the lien of a claim has been revived and continued by the filing and indexing of a suggestion and averment of default the claimant may at any time within five years therefrom and averment of scire facias thereon reciting all suggestion and averment of default filed since the filing of the claim and shall proceed thereon in the manner herein provided subject to the right of the owner to raise any defense arising since the last judgment

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 21), page 4, line 13, by striking out the word: "or"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 21), page 4, line 14, by inserting after the word "by-products" the following: "or the coal mining operations and business"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House these amendments are designed to serve two purposes. One, to bring coal companies within the purview of the act. We are proposing this measure to restore to certain manufacturing companies the exemption from capital stock tax which the manufacturing companies possessed prior to the legislative session of 1935. I am for the purpose of this bill, but I submit to the members of the House that every argument that is produced in favor of giving manufacturing companies exemption from the capitol stock tax can be put forward in behalf of the coal companies. In view of the distressed condition of the coal industry, if we are going to give any capital stock exemption to any class of industry, they should travel along with the rest. That is purpose number one: To give the coal companies a fair break with the manufacturing corporations.

Purpose number two: This act proposes to go into effect after 1940. In the present biennium it is a gesture of good will. You can not eat good will, you cannot pay dividends with it, you cannot meet payrolls with it. I propose by this amendment to have this exemption go into effect in 1939. It cannot be argued that the adoption of this amendment would unbalance the budget because the budget is unbalanced now, and everybody knows it. If we are not going to remodel and reconstruct the tax structure at this session, we will have to do some reconstructing at the inevitable special session, and so by having this exemption go into effect at the end of the present year, we will be in a position, and the administration will be in a position, and this legislature will be in a postion, to make the necessary provisions for presenting and financing an actual two year budget, which we do not have at the present time. We have given the manufacturing interests of this state a Department of Commerce, something that will probably cheer them along on their weary way, and now we are going to give them something after 1940. I say, let us give them something at the end of the current year, and when we are giving it to the manufacturing corporations let us permit the coal companies to travel along with them.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, inasmuch as these amendments very seriously interfere with the estimate of revenue for the next biennium, I ask that they be voted down.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to as follows:

An Act to further amend clause (c) of section twenty-one of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (Pamphlet Laws 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" restoring after a certain period the exemption of that portion of the capital stock of certain corporations joint-stock associations limited partnerships and companies which were formerly exempt

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 771, as follows:

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 222, as follows:

An Act to promote interstate cooperation for the conservation and protection of water resources in the Delaware River Basin

The General Assembly of the Commonwealtth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Preamble

(1) Whereas the States of New York New Jersey Pennsylvania and Delaware have each created and now maintain a Commission (or Committee) on Interstate Cooperation for the purpose of establishing and maintaining governmental machinery to facilitate communication negotiation understanding and cooperation between said states respectively and other states of the Union both regionally and nationally with power to establish such committees sub-committees and advisory boards as are deemed advisable to conduct conferences and to formulate proposals concerning subjects of intergovernmental cooperation to study the laws of the several states hold public or private hearings make findings and recommendations and to submit drafts of legislation to promote uniform laws for the elimination of the confusion and conflict between the several states of the Union and the Federal government in the matter of laws and administrative practices concerning conservation prevention abatement and control of pollution water supply public welfare flood control and other subjects and

(2) Whereas said Commissions (or Committees) on Interstate Cooperation of said states have organized and established and are now maintaining as an instrument of governmental machinery a joint advisory board known as "The Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin" as a regional commission composed of standing subcommittees of said Commissions (or Committees) on Interstate Cooperation respectively for the purpose of entering upon a program to study the conservation water supply pollution and other potential uses and benefits of and to develop integrated plans to conserve and protect the waters and other resources of the Delaware River Basin in the following specified particulars

A To serve as a fact-coordinating body and to develop the means and procedure by which the general plans and policies proposed for the development of the region may be carried out

B To sponsor the carrying out of properely developed plans which result from surveys and research concerning population land and water resources and uses and other related subjects

C To coordinate the activities of the Commission and Committees on Interstate Cooperation and their joint agency the Council of State Governments with the work of the appropriate state and federal agencies for the prevention and abatement of pollution for flood control and for the proper general use and control of the waters of the Delaware River

D To encourage interstate compacts and the enactment of uniform state laws for the abatement of water pollution for flood control and the proper general use and control of the waters of the Delaware River

E To advance perpetuate and outline the work recommended by its conferences and to develop and propose new objectives and

(3) Whereas it is the purpose of the Commissions (or Committees) on Interstate Cooperation of said four states acting through said Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin to eliminate confusion and conflict among said States by the promotion and enactment of uniform laws in said states to preserve in a safe and sanitary condition the waters and watershed of said Delaware River Basin and to provide uniform concurrent regulations for the control and the enforcement of the elimination of pollution in the waters thereof in said states respectively and

(4) Whereas said Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin in cooperation with the state health departments of said states respectively has made a study for the purposes above cited of said Delaware River and its tributaries in said Delaware River Basin and has formulated proposals for the intergovernmental cooperation of said states in the correction and control of pollution of the waters thereof which have been formally approved ratified and accepted by the health departments of said states respectively in the following form

Whereas a substantial part of the territory of the States of New York New Jersey Pennsylvania and Delaware is situated within the Delaware River drainage basin and

Whereas the increase in pollution of the various municipal areas situated within the Delaware River Basin and the growth of industrial activity within the Basin have resulted in increasingly serious pollution of the waters of the Interstate Delaware River and its tributaries and

Whereas such pollution constitutes a grave menace to the health welfare and recreational facilities of the people living in the Delaware River Basin and occasions great economic loss and

Whereas the control of future pollution and the correction of existing pollution of the waters of the interstate Delaware River and its tributaries is of prime importance to the people living in the Delaware River Basin and can best be accomplished through the cooperation of the representatives of the people in the basin in the States of New York New Jersey Pennsylvania and Delaware

Now therefore the State of New York and the State of New Jersey and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of Delaware agree and are bound as follows

ARTICLE I

Each of the signatory states pledges to each of the other signatory states faithful cooperation in the control of future pollution and in the correction of existing pollution of the waters of the interstate Delaware River and its West Branch from the New York-Pennsylvania boundary line down to the Atlantic Ocean In order to effect such objects each of the states agrees to enact adequate legislation if necessary to enable each such state so to require the treatment of sewage industrial waste or other artificial polluting matter as to place and maintain the waters of the aforesaid interstate Delaware River and of the tributaries thereof just above the confluence with the Delaware River in the clean and sanitary condition required by the provisions of this agreement Furthermore each such state agrees so to enforce the provisions of these requirements and other supplementary applicable legislation if any as to bring about the attainment of the objectives of pollution control and correction in accordance with such reasonable and effective programs as may be determined from time to time by the states in the manner prescribed herein

ARTICLE II

It is recognized by the signatory states due to such variable factors as location size character and flow and of the many varied uses of the waters of the interstate Delaware River and its aforesaid West Branch such as water supply recreation navigation industrial development maintenance of fish life shell-fish culture agriculture and other purposes that no single standard of sewage and waste treatment and of quality of receiving waters is practical for all parts of the river Therefore in order to apply minimum requirements for the attainment of correction and control of pollution which will be appropriate to the varied factors including the existing and potential quality and uses of the waters the interstate Delaware River is hereby divided into four zones to wit

ZONE 1 Zone 1 is that part of the Delaware River and its West Branch extending from the New York-Pennsylvania boundary line to the head of tidewater at Trenton New Jersey and Morrisville Pennsylvania

The drainage basin contributary to this zone excepting part of the Lehigh River Basin is relatively sparsely inhabited and contains few sewered communities and relatively few industrial establishments producing waste water The streams draining this area being in general relatively clean and of high elevation are well adapted as scources of public water supplies after treatment or purification

The principal uses of the waters of the Delaware River in Zone 1 are expected to be for water supply after such treatment or purification as may be necessary and for recreation bathing maintenance of fish and aquatic life agriculture and for other related purposes

ZONE II Zone 2 is that part of the Delaware River ertending from the head of tidewater at Trenton New Jersey and Morrisville Pennsylvania to a line drawn perpendicular to the channel of the Delaware River from the mouth of Pennypack Creek in Philadelphia Pennsylvania to the corresponding point on the New Jersey shore

The drainage basin contributary to this zone is somewhat more densely populated than that of Zone 1 and it contains more sewered communities and industrial establishments

The principal uses of the waters of the Delaware River in Zone 2 are expected to be for water supply after treatment or purification and for recreation navigation maintenance of fish and aquatic life agricultural industrial and other puposes

ZONE III Zone 3 is that part of the Delaware River extending from the aforesaid line connecting the mouth of Pennypack Creek in Philadelphia and the corresponding point in New Jersey to the Pennsylvania-Delaware boundary line

The drainage basin contributary to this zone contains populous metropolitan areas including Philadelphia Pennsylvania and Camden New Jersey

The principal uses of the waters of the Delaware River in Zone 3 are expected to be for navigation industrial water supply and other purposes

The water in this zone however should be of such sanitary quality that it will not be unfit for use as sources of water supply will not be harmful to fish life and will not adversely affect the quality of the waters of the tidal tributaries

ZONE IV Zone 4 is that part of the Delaware River extending from the Pennsylvania-Delaware boundary line to the Atlantic Ocean

The prinicpal uses of the waters of the Delaware River in Zone 4 are expected to be for navigation industrial water supplies commerical fishing shellfish culture recreation and other purposes

In order to attain conditions of cleanliness and sanitation of the waters of the Delaware River which will be consistent with the appropriate existing and future quality and uses of such waters the following minimum requirements shall apply to the several zones herein provided It is the purpose and intent of such requirements to apply to artificial (not natural) causes of pollution

ARTICLE III

In order to put and maintain the waters of the interstate Delaware River and its West Branch as aforesaid in a clean and sanitary condition no sewage industrial wastes or other polluting matter shall be discharged into or be permitted to flow or fall into or be placed in any respective zone of the interstate Delaware River as herein established unless such sewage industrial waste or other artificial polluting matter shall first have been so treated as to produce an effluent which will meet the following minimum requirements

ZONE I 1 Such effluent shall be free of noticeable floating solids color oil grease or sleek and practically free of suspended solids

2 Such effluent shall be sufficiently free of turbidity that it will not cause noticeable turidity in the water of the Delaware River

3 Such effluent shall show a reduction of organic substances of at least eighty-five (85) per cent as measured by the bio-chemical oxygen demand and furthermore such effluent in no case shall exceed a bio-chemical oxygen demand of fifty (50) parts per million and furthermore the discharge of such effluent after dispersion in the water of the river shall not cause a reduction of the dissolved oxygen content of such water of more than five (5) per cent The aforesaid reduction in dissolved oxygen content shall be determined by the average results obtained from dissolved oxygen tests made upon samples collected on not less than six (6) consecutive days from points in the river above and below the point or points of effluent discharge

4 Such effluent shall be of such quality that the most probable number of organisms of the Coli Aerogenes group shall not exceed one (1) per milliliter in more than ten (10) per cent of the samples of sewage effluent tested by the confirmed test and provided further that no single sample shall contain more than one hundred (100) organisms of the Coli Aerogenes group in one (1) milliliter

5 Such effluent shall be sufficiently free of acids alkalis and other toxic or deleterious substances that it will not create a menace to the public health through the use of waters of the Delaware River for public water supplies for recreation bathing agriculture and other purposes nor be inimical to fish animal or aquatic life

6 Such effluent shall be free of offensive odors and also be free of substances capable of producing offensive tastes or odors in public water supplies derived from the Delaware River at any place below the discharge of such effluent

ZONE 2 1 Such effluent shall be free of noticeable floating solids color oil or grease and practically free of both suspended solids and sleek

2 Such effluent shall be sufficiently free of turbidity that it will not cause noticeable turbidity in the water of the Delaware River

Such effluent shall show a reduction of organic substance of at least eighty-five (85) per cent as measured by the bio-chemical oxygen demand and furthermore such effluent in no case shall exceed a bio-chemical oxygen demand of one hundred (100) parts per million and furthermore the discharge of such effluent after dispersion in the water of the river shall not cause a reduction of the dissolved oxygen content of such water of more than ten (10) per cent The aforesaid reduction in dissolved oxygen content shall be determined by the average results obtained by dissolved oxygen tests made upon samples collected on not less than six (6) consecutive days from points in the river above and below the point or points of effluent discharge

4 Such effluent shall be of such quality that the most probable number of organisms of the Coli Aerogenes group shall not exceed one (1) per milliliter in more than twenty-five (25) per cent of the samples of sewage effluent tested by the confirmed test and provided further that no single sample shall contain more than one hundred (100) organisms of the Coli Aerogenes group in one (1) milliliter

5 Such effluent shall be sufficiently free of acids alkalis and other toxic or deleterious substances that it will not create a menace to the public health through the use of the water of the Delaware River for public water supplies for recreation industrial and other purposes nor be inimical to fish animal or aquatic life

6 Such effluent shall be free of offensive odors and also be free of substances capable of producing offensive tastes and odors in public water supplies derived from the Delaware River at any place above or below the discharge of such effluent

ZONE 3 1 Such effluent shall be free of noticeable floating solids oil or grease and substantially free of both settleable solids and sleek

2 Such effluent shall be sufficiently free of turbidity that it will not cause substantial turbidity in the water of the Delaware River after dispersion in the water of the river

3 Such effluent shall show a reduction of at least fifty-five (55) per cent of the total suspended solids and a reduction of not less than thirty-five (35) per cent of the bio-chemical demand (It is the intent of this requirement to restore the dissolved oxygen content of the river water in this zone to at least fifty (50) per cent saturation To accomplish this it may be necessary in the case of certain wastes to obtain reductions greater than those required under this item)

4 Such effluent if it be discharged within two miles of a public water works intake or within prejudical influence thereof shall at all times be effectively treated with a germicide

5 Such effluent shall be sufficiently free of acids alkalis and other toxic or deleterious substances that it will not create a menace to the public health through the use of the waters of the Delaware River for public water supplies or render such waters unfit for industrial and other purposes or cause the water of the Delaware River to be harmful to fish life

6 Such effluent shall be practically free of substances capable of producing offensive tastes or odors in public water supplies derived from the Delaware River

An Act requiring cities of the first class to pay portions of their compensation heretofore withheld to officers and men employed in the police department fire department and park guards

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Whenever heretofore and subsequent to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two any city of the first class for any reason shall have reduced the compensation regularly paid to any officers or men employed by it in the police department fire department or as park guards in the park service of such city for any period or periods of time such city is hereby required within six months after the effective date of this act to pay all such persons from whom any part of their compensation has been withheld or to the personal representatives of any such person who may have died the full amount of any portion of such compensation not heretofore paid Together with interest from the date the said compensation was due and payable Any such person who has not heretofore been paid the full amount of compensation due him shall be entitled to such payments notwithstanding the fact that he may have acknowledged in writing or otherwise receipt of the full amount of the compensation due him

Section 2 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 3 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, some years ago the policemen, park guards and firemen of the city of Philadelphia were requested, with a club in one hand, to accept a voluntary cut in their salaries. It has always been my feeling, and I think it always will be, that the servants of the people who take the greatest risks of any public servants, protecting property and life in our cities and towns should be paid more adequately than they are today or have been paid in the past. All this piece of legislation does is to give back to these men their so-called voluntary cuts in salaries which they had to accept some years ago. I believe the American Federation of Labor has expressed its feeling that the bill should be passed, because it is only doing the fair thing for this class of public employee, and for that reason I ask the Democrats on this side of the House to join with the Philadelphia Democrats and Republicans on the other side in the passing of this bill.

Mr. VAN BELLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think I can speak for Mr. Hamilton, the co-sponsor of this bill, in addition to myself, in thanking our colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Reuben Cohen, for lending his support to this very worthy measure. I appeal to the members of this House to vote "yes" on this bill.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 584, entitled:

An Act to establish a separate orphans' court in and for the county of Northampton

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, due to the fact that the Constitution in Article V, Section 22, provides that whenever a county has one hundred fifty thousand people the Legislature may, if it sees fit, establish an Orphan's Court. I am now asking the members of my political faith to go along with this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 585, entitled:

An Act abolishing the office of one of the judges learned in the law in the third judicial district of this Commonwealth and repealing inconsistent legislation

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise in opposition to the passage of House Bill No. 585, Printer's No. 310, which actually does this: it abolishes a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Northampton. At the present time we have three Judges of the Court of Common Pleas. You heard the statement made last night wherein many counties have more people and more business and have been carrying on that work with fewer judges. Of course, I did not want to take personal issue with the gentleman who made that statement, but when seated in this hall my eyes are often attracted to that good saying above, "And ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

Therefore I come before you this afternoon to give you what I consider to be the true picture of the County of Northampton relative to the question of whether or not this county shall lose one of its judges, and in that respect members of the House, I must give you a complete picture of our judiciary and I must give you some history. I must tell you about the county itself because those points and those facts you must know in order to vote intelligently upon this measure.

I do not stand before this microphone this afternoon as a Democrat. I appear before you this afternoon as a member of the Legislature, as a member of the Bar and as a citizen of the County of Northampton and of the state of Pennsylvania.

Let us go back to 1921. At that time the County of Northampton had two judges. The President Judge was the Honorable Russell C. Stewart, a prominent Republican of this State and a fine Judge if ever there was one. That gentleman appeared at that time before the Judiciary General Committee and stated to that Committee that, due to the fact that Northampton County was composed and had within it certain things and certain facts which I will enumerate later on, it would be necessary and important for that County to have three judges in the Court of Common Pleas instead of two. In pursuance to the appearance of Judge Russell C. Stewart the Legislature of the state of Pennsylvania saw fit to give to the County of Northampton an additional judge. Then we had three judges.

Let me give you a picture of what happened in my county in the years from 1929 until 1934 and 1935. In the April term of 1934 the civil list of the county of Northampton contained five hundred and eighty-six cases upon the dockets. In my county cases at that time from 1929 were not disposed of. The result was that if a citizen of that county had a just legal claim he would not institute suit because no matter what attorney he went to he was told this his case could not be heard under any circumstances for a period of two years, and the result was that citizens of Northampton county lost what was justly due them.

In 1935 there was elected a judge in my county upon a platform that if he was elected he would see to it that the civil court lists would be brought up to date, and in pursuance of that promise the bench of Northampton county pursued and carried out that promise. They worked diligently month after month with the result that they brought that list up to date.

Now, you may say, why is it that Northampton county with a population of one hundred and sixty-nine thousand people should have three Courts of Common Pleas, while other counties like the county of Westmoreland with a population of two hundred and nine thousand, Lancaster county with a population of one hundred and ninety-seven thousand, and Lehigh county with a population of one hundred and seventy-seven thousand, can carry on their work with only two judges of the Court of Common Pleas.

Ladies and gentlemen I want to give you the answer, and the logical reason why it becomes necessary for the county of Northampton to have more than two judges of the Court of Common Pleas. In the first place, members of the House, Northampton county is the greatest industrial county in the eastern end of the state of Pennsylvania. We have within that county the Bethlehem Steel Company. The Bethlehem Steel Company maintains its main office in that county. We produce in that county more cement than any other state in the United States. We produce in that county one-half of all of the slate mined in the United States of America. These facts which I give you are taken from the Ninth Industrial Directory, issued by the Department of Internal Revenue for the year 1938, and let me just quote to you the figures that appear in that very book. Although Northampton is less populated than any of the counties I mentioned, it has a primary horsepower of four hundred and sixty-eight thousand. Lancaster county only has ninety-two thousand; Westmoreland county one hundred and seven thousand and Lehigh county ninety thousand, so that you can see although the county of Northampton has less people it has more primary horsepower which is necessary for manufacturing than any one of those counties. Westmoreland with two hundred ninety thousand people has a less compensation wage than my county of Northampton to the tune of thirty-two million dollars a year. What does that mean? That means that Northampton county is highly industrial, and when a county is highly industrial it has more suits both civil and criminal in its terms of court.

Last night you heard statements and I do not want to take issues with those statements, I would never question the integrity of a member of the House, but I do believe that someone who was the originator of those very figures was careless with the truth. I believe that that carelessness with the truth was done with a malicious and wilful intent in order to pursuade the members of the House to see this bill, not in its true light but in the light in which a particular group that has seen fit to sponsoring this measure wants you to see it.

Let me tell you this, last year in the month of June in the County of Northampton, Judge William M. McKean, President Judge, died. Governor Earle did not see fit to appoint his successor until the first Monday in December of 1938, so for a period of six months Northampton County carried on its work with two judges in the Court of Common Pleas. Let us see what happened in those six months. During one of the criminal court terms I happened to be one of the attorneys in some cases, and a gentleman, a very prominent Republican by the name of Stanley Fehr also had some cases. I am told that he is going to be the candidate on the Republican ticket for the office of District Attorney for the County of Northampton. Three other lawyers also had cases in the court of Northampton County during that criminal court term. We had two judges sitting during the regular term, and when the end of the term came on a Friday, low and behold the courts of Northampton County did not have sufficient time to complete the criminal list. As a result Mr. Jirolanio, Mr. Fehr and the other attorneys, together with their clients, who were defendants, had to return home and wait until the following term in order to find out whether or not they were innocent or guilty of certain crimes. You may say "What happened?" Let me go back to the figures that I related from this book. There you will find that Northampton County has about twenty-nine to thirty percent of its population of foreign decent. That is in comparison with Lancaster County, where they only have two thousand of their total population of one hundred seventy-seven thousand of foreign decent, and in comparison with other counties, we exceed them by over four hundred percent. That has something to do with the fact that the criminal courts of our county are crowded on their dockets.
